

KILLING FROST.

Serious Loss to the Market Gardeners.

The heavy frost during the past week has caused quite a loss to the market gardeners in the Willamette Valley. While it will not seriously effect the potatoes, the melons and tomatoes will be a serious loss. On account of contracts with the new cannery, many farmers have planted a large acreage in tomatoes and we are informed by Mr. Taylor that at least 80 tons was the prospective crop. The season had just commenced and the crop looked fine. Perhaps not more than thirty or forty cases had been canned and very few more will come in.

The season has been very peculiar, as it is seldom that heavy killing frost occurs at this season of the year. As the spring was very late it made the season short for the maturing of fruits and vegetables, hence the result of the frost will be keenly felt. The new cannery will also feel the effects as it had expected a fine run from the heavy tomato crop, which would have made work for laboring people well into the winter season.

Farewell Reception.

Thursday evening, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Heckart, a farewell reception was tendered Rev. and Mrs. C. T. Hurd, a large number of friends being present. A pleasant social time was enjoyed by all. Mrs. Hurd and children left Friday morning for the new home in Portland, where Rev. Hurd has accepted a call to the Annabel Presbyterian church. Corvallis friends deeply regret the departure of this estimable family but wish them all success in the new home. Corvallis Endeavorers extend a hearty greeting to their co-workers in Portland and trust they will be as loyal to the State President, Rev. C. T. Hurd, in the future as the Christian Endeavorers of Corvallis have tried to be in the past. Rev. Hurd leaves this week for his new field.

Finn-Davidson.

Married—At the residence of Mrs. Mary E. Davidson, 7th and Van Buren streets, at 8 o'clock Saturday morning, John Waldo Finn of Polk county and Miss Jessie May Davidson of Corvallis, Rev. J. R. N. Bell officiating. The happy couple took the morning train for Newport to spend the honeymoon and will, in due time, return to the home of the groom in Polk county to make their future home. Both bride and groom were popular students at OAC last year, the latter having been a star player on the famous football team. They have the best wishes of many friends.

Back to the Farm

Mr. and Mrs. Charley Young have sold all their earthly possessions in Corvallis and have purchased an 80 acre ranch five miles above Elk City. They took the train for the new home yesterday. They expect to devote their time to stock raising, but when it comes to the trout season we predict that Charley can quite often be found paddling his little canoe along the stream and patiently waiting for a bite.

A FAMOUS PLATE.

The First Engraving Was Printed on a Laundress' Bundle.

Two groups of tourists were standing in the Pitti palace before the large plate of pure silver upon which Finiguerra, the great master of early engraving, had depicted his lovely "Madonna and Child" in a trellised arbor covered with roses. An Italian lady was telling her friends in an undertone the charming anecdote of Finiguerra and the laundress.

The artist, it seems, in mastering the new and difficult art of engraving upon metal had acquired a singularly keen eye and delicate touch, and he also possessed a number of very fine and sharp instruments, which he used in his work.

Being a kindly man, he sometimes placed both his sure hand and his fine tools at the service of his friends and neighbors in performing for them some of the simpler operations of surgery until he acquired quite a reputation for his skill in doctoring their hurts.

One day a poor laundress who had been washing clothes, in wringing out a garment in which a needle had been carelessly left, ran it deeply into her hand. Worse yet, it broke off in the wound, and a part remained imbedded in the flesh. She was in much pain, and on her way back from the stream where she had been washing she stopped at the house of the artist and was admitted.

Entering his studio, she hastily set down her wet and heavy bundle and held out the injured hand, begging his assistance. Finiguerra left his work to help her and after long and delicate manipulation extracted the broken needle. The woman thanked him and turned to go, lifting her bundle from its resting place.

Then he saw that she had set it upon one of his engravings. Like all others at that time, it was a plate of engraved metal, complete in itself and regarded as a single and sufficient picture, exactly as if it had been a painting.

But as the damp bundle was raised the quick eye of Finiguerra saw that it had received an impression from the engraved picture beneath, and his quick mind seized at once the suggestion of the possibility of indefinite reproduction from a single original. So that from the kindness of a great artist to a poor washerwoman sprang the discovery which has placed the beautiful products of the engraver's art within the reach of all of us today.

"Good Enough" Habit.

There is a habit, very easily contracted, which every one in business or otherwise should avoid. It is the "good enough" habit.

If you are building a house and use some faulty timber just because it looks quite right on the surface, what can you expect? Why, that ultimately the weak point will give way and a disaster may occur. So the cautious builder makes sure of using good material.

So it is with every phase of life. Don't be content because a thing is "good enough." Remember the time proved saying that "what is worth doing is worth doing well."

In these days of competition the thing or the man who is "good enough" is of no use. The best is none too good for modern business men and business houses.

Did He?

"I am reminded, boys," said the new teacher, "of the career of a boy who was once no larger than many of you whom I see before me.

"He played truant when he was sent to school, went fishing every Sunday, ran away from home when he was ten years old, learned to drink, smoke, chew tobacco, play cards. He went into bad company, frequented low taprooms and stables, finally became a pickpocket, then a forger, and one day in a fit of drunkenness he committed a cowardly murder.

"Children," he continued impressively, "where do you think that boy is now?"

"He stands before us!" cried one of the youngsters in a shrill voice.

More Than Truth.

Louise after being scolded could never be reconciled till mother had assured her that she loved her, which resulted on one occasion in the following dialogue:

"You don't love me."
"Yes, I do love you."
"Well, you don't talk like it."
"Well, how do you want me to talk?"
"I want you to talk to me like you do when you have company."—Delineator.

It Would Seem So.

"And does your husband still think you are an angel?" asked the privileged friend.

"I guess so," answered the bride of one short year. "At least he seems to think I don't need any new clothes."—Chicago News.
