In the selection of Rev. D. H. Leech as a member of the committee to erect a Methodist building at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition, the Methodist brethren made a wise selection. Rev. Things were lively around the Express office on Tuesday for a few minutes. Oscar Tom of Alsea brought in two "beautiful" porkers for shipment and delivered them to Agent Gray. His Hogship grew weary of confinement and rooting a board from the side of the box, started for the happy land of freedom with the little bench legs of Brother Gray in close pursuit. Distance, quarter of a mile; time, 10 seconds; prize, $5 worth of hog. Red ribbon to Gray on first heat with no competition.

The "jint" debate at the court house between Socialist Lewis and a college student afforded fine sport at the court house on Monday night. Packed by a loyal squad of rooster companions from OAC he spread the good old gospel of republicanism all around his socialistic brother. Like a bantam rooster he plucked the tail feathers from the old plymouth rock who had been on the streets for several days thirsting for blood and the bantam had the last crow. It reminded us of a pis-ant having hold of a loaf of bread and he never let go until the finish.
