

TRAINS ON NORTH BANK.

Starts From Portland and Fuller Service Nov. 23.

Announcement was made Friday by the officials of the new North Bank road that tickets over the new line between Portland and Pasco, as well as that portion of a transcontinental journey, will be placed on sale at the city ticket offices of the Northern Pacific and the Great Northern, on Third street, on November 23. On that date the new trains of the company will be placed in commission and the service to be operated will consist of two trains daily between Portland and Pasco.

Partial service, however, will be offered by the company into Portland on November 17, when trains will leave Portland at 8:30 a. m., returning at 4:45 p. m. On November 23, there will be two trains daily over the new line, leaving Portland at 9 a. m. and 5:30 p. m. and arriving at Portland at 7:30 a. m. and 5:30 p. m.

Independent passenger facilities will be maintained by the company in its own freight yards in North Portland, it being doubted that the North Bank passenger trains will be allowed to use the union depot. Arrangements with that end in view have not yet been made and preparations are going on to convert a freight shed in the Hill terminals into a temporary passenger depot. Trains will start from that station until further notice.

"The Holy City" next Thursday.

"The Holy City," that wonderfully successful Biblical drama, seems destined to take a place among the classics of the American stage. Each year that it is presented it is witnessed by audiences of increasing size. Its popularity does not seem to give indication of waning and eager demands are made for return engagements. One of the reasons for its tremendous popularity is that it is a play which makes a universal appeal, not only to the regular theatre goer, but to that element in every community which is inclined to look askance at the theatre and which rarely attends a theatrical performance. The power to give to the world of art something New and Sublime is the Birth-Right of Genius—the true test of royal blood that marks a King of thought. Such is the influence of "The Holy City." The play is staged with great magnificence, the costuming is rich and a delight to the eye. The company presenting the play is capable and efficient. "The Holy City" will be given at the opera house next Thursday, November 19. Seats now selling.

FOR RENT.—Modern six room house. Most desirable location. Call or phone James L. Lewis & Co., 113 Main Street.

FRUIT GROWERS WILL MEET

Sixteenth Annual International Convention.

Prof. E. R. Lake of the OAC, who is secretary of the Northwest Fruit Growers' Association, is now busily engaged making arrangements for the sixteenth annual International Convention of Northwest Fruitgrowers, which is to be held in Portland, December 1 to 5. The convention includes the states of Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana, Utah and British Columbia.

Prominent men from New York to British Columbia will attend and deliver addresses on topics of interest to the fruit-growers. The principal subject to be discussed and indeed the most important feature of the convention will be the commercial aspects of the fruit-growing business. The various phases of canning plants, shipping, marketing and others, will be thoroughly discussed.

Another subject to receive prominent attention will be that of National and International legislation. Special prominence will be given this feature. In connection with the convention there will be exhibits of packed fruit, canned goods, walnuts, spraying apparatus, and various demonstrations.

It is expected that 500 delegates will attend and a reception in their honor will be given at the Commercial Club. There will be trolley rides and other features of entertainment. The Portland Hotel will be headquarters for the delegates and the meetings will be held in Woodmen's Hall.

C. & E. is Very Poor Pay.

The Corvallis & Eastern's annual report shows a mileage of 1.42 miles less than shown by previous reports, this decrease being due to correction of previous errors. The capital stock of $1,410,000, and the bonded debt $1,410,000. The net operating revenue was $68,287.10. Taxes to amount of $13,217.88, interest on funded debt $56,400, and other miscellaneous charges were paid, leaving a net corporate loss of $1,156.06. The stock is owned by E. H. Harriman, 14,097 shares, J. P. O'Brien, H. E. Conner, and J. K. Weatherford each hold one share, making a total of 14,100 shares. The stock is held in trust for the Southern Pacific Company.

Last Friday eve at 10 o'clock about 36 couples of OAC students, principally the Philadelphian and debating societies, had an oyster dinner at The Elk restaurant, opposite Kline's, which was enjoyed by all present. After several speeches, a number of songs were sang and then three cheers for "The Elk" restaurant ended the evening's outing. All had attended a theatre party earlier in the evening.

Won't Marry the Unfit.

Rev. Herbert S. Johnson of the Warren Avenue Baptist Church of Boston, Mass. (who by the way, is an Oregon boy, son of the late John W. Johnson, president of the University of Oregon), has announced publicly that he will refuse henceforth to marry persons afflicted with consumption or with any hereditary or communicable disease if he has personal knowledge of the facts, and that he will not marry divorced persons, except the innocent party. He is also opposed to marrying persons in poor circumstances, believing that a man should be able to earn at least $15 a week before undertaking the responsibility of a family.

Dr. Johnson is a cousin of Prof. Charles Johnson of OAC, E. B. Horning and other Corvallis people, and is quite well known in this city.

The most successful religious drama ever written will be presented at the opera house next Thursday night. See the great Joppa gate with its wonderful vision of the Resurrection, the flight of the Angels at the gates of the New Jerusalem; the grand hall of Judgment; the storm on Galilee and the vision of the Temple of Jerusalem by moonlight. Since its first presentation a few years ago, "The Holy City" has been witnessed by more persons than any other play ever produced in this country.

STRAYED.—Blue and white maltese cat. Call up Gazette and owner will pay reward.

Once Was Enough.

While seated on the top of the stagecoach with the driver during a trip from Silverton to Ouray years ago a young easterner became exceedingly nervous. As they were traveling along a hillside, with a ravine several hundred feet deep within a couple of feet of the road, the young tenderfoot, suddenly turning to the driver, asked, "Do people fall over here very often?"

A broad grin spread over the driver's face as he rolled his wad of tobacco from one cheek to the other and, looking up, with a merry twinkle in his eye, exclaimed, "Naw; only once."

THE GRANGE AND LABOR.

Proposition Made by Labor to Massachusetts State Grange.

A few weeks ago it was made known by press dispatches that an official overture had been made to the Massachusetts state grange by organized labor for a combination of interests. Concerning it the Springfield Republican says:

"This proposition is based upon the assertion that the labor men are ill treated, that the farmers are presumably so and that it would be for their mutual interests to combine. Of course such combination would be effective principally in the legislature. What is the practical proposition, therefore, is a log roll of labor and agricultural interests, with the idea that the two elements would be able to secure the legislation desired by each wing. Very likely, if such a combination were to be formed, it would come very near dominating the legislature, and the politicians outside would have to make terms with them.

"But, as a competent observer of the situation says, the agricultural element is habitually conservative. The labor element is radical. It is a question whether any such combination would be entered into by the farmers. In the first place, the farmers are not trained to combination. They are born independent and they live independently, so much so that combination among themselves is difficult. They generally propose in the legislature to act individually about as they think right, and they are not accustomed to combination unless they believe it is right. On the face of it there is no more reason why the farmers should combine with the labor men than with the manufacturers except upon the assumption that they are equally downtrodden and oppressed classes, and that is not in Massachusetts a sufficient basis for such a combination."

A SURE FOUNDATION.

It is the Secret of Unfailing Success in Grange Effort.

One of the most efficient forces for the betterment of the farmers' condition today is the Order of Patrons of Husbandry, commonly known as the grange. No other farmers' organization compares with it in actual accomplishment; none claims superiority in aims and purposes. The founders of the Order forty years ago issued a "declaration of purposes" which is the chief cornerstone on which the great grange superstructure has been erected. They declare the purpose of this organization of the farmers to be "to develop a higher and better manhood and womanhood among ourselves; to enhance the comforts and attractions of our homes and strengthen our attachments to our pursuits. We propose meeting together, buying together, selling together and in general acting together for our mutual protection and advancement." From these declared purposes the grange has never swerved, and today where an active grange exists there is established a potent agency for the moral, social and educational uplift of the community.
