Another Gone.
Tuesday evening at 9 o'clock Dr. S. Palmer breathed his last, and the soul of another pioneer winged its flight heavenward. Wednesday following the remains of the deceased were buried by the Masonic fraternity, with the solemn rites of that Order, and were followed to their last resting place in Masonic cemetery by members of Laurel Lodge, No. 13, and a great number of friends of the good, old Doctor. Dr. Palmer was 64 years of age; had once served as physician and surgeon in the United States Army, and since was a successful practitioner in this county. His death was caused, perhaps by weary of mind, as well as wearing away of body, and those who caused it must satisfy their own consciences. But after all, they are left to the satisfaction of his noble wife, the thought, he died a good man, and the world says so. Peace to his ashes, since his soul has found a home with his Father and his God.

A Brutal Murder.
The Portland Standard of recent date gives an account of a brutal murder that occurred near Seattle, W. T. Two married men, who were neighbors, and who were on friendly terms, were visiting each other with their wives. While so doing they got into a religious discussion, which engendered unpleasant feelings. One drew his pistol and attempted to shoot the other, but was prevented by the women. They were at length reconciled by agreeing to a silent disagreement. But in a few moments they again engaged in the debate, and finally came to blows. One of the men seized a large meat knife and plunged it through his antagonist's several times, who fell to the floor and expired. The man seeing what he had done fled. The names of the parties were Brown and Gallagher, the latter being the man killed.

QUITE A BREEZE.

Houses Unroofed, Trees Torn Up, and Fences Frustrated.

One of the heaviest wind storms ever known to our people, passed over the Umpqua valley last Monday morning. The storm began about 1:30 o'clock, and fifteen minutes before it broke upon this city, a fearful roaring, rumbling sound was heard, which increased as the storm drew nearer, and finally when the wind came on could hardly hear another person speak when both parties were inside of a building. The storm came from the southwest, and as an old sail describes it, "it was a regular sou'wester." The signal service record shows that the storm had a velocity of fifty miles per hour. What made it most destructive was that the wind came in gusts, and formed whirlwinds, which took most everything in their way. The damage done in this city was considerable. The engine house, at the railroad depot was thrown to the ground and completely wrecked. "Pat," the fireman, as good luck would have it, was in the cab of the locomotive when the building fell, and escaped crashing to death. He was starting the fire beneath the engine, and was started, as might be supposed, when the house tumbled over his head. The headlight of the locomotive was torn off, and the engine damaged to the machinery, but "Big Jack" "pulled out" for Portland the same morning with his battered engine as though nothing unusual had occurred. W. F. Owen's chicken coop and smoke-house were unroofed, and had it not been for a wire-clothes line which held them they would have been carried into the river. The river at the time was as angry as the sea ever becomes comparatively speaking. Its surface was violently disturbed. Mr. Thrasler had some damage done about his premises, but it was easily repaired. The southern corner of Wright & Carlon's stable was torn off, and a shed covering hay scales, and the scales also, were demolished. A large oak tree standing near was blown down upon the dwelling house of W. G. Woodard, and a portion of that structure shivered as if struck by lightning. Tom Gridstad's barn and Jacob Biter's stock shed were carried away. Mrs. Compton's millinery establishment also was damaged in the matter of cornice destroyed. For a time it seemed as if the whole town would go, and there is reason to believe that much serious loss would have been sustained had the storm lasted three hours instead of one. The barn of John Bruckner six miles southwest of this place was thrown over, and a year's crop exposed to the rain that followed the storm. The greater number of telegraph poles were uprooted on the different lines, and George Dement lost a smoke house. All fences in the county have been prostrated. George Roberts states there is not a line of fence standing between Canyonville and Roseburg, and parties from Coos Bay, say there are no fences standing in Ten Mile and Looking Glass districts. In addition to this Cal. Thos. Beale lost two sheds and a portion of the roofs of his barn and dwelling were ripped off; Ben' Agee lost his barn; Jephtha Green a blacksmith shop and wood house; Tim Crossman half the roof of his residence; Jim Velzain a smoke house; Jas. Dilard the roofs of two barns, and Jeff Singleton the roof of a barn.

The force of the wind was more plainly shown at Looking Glass. There the roof of H. C. Roberts' barn was completely blown away. One half of it was carried the distance of thirty yards, and the other half fifty yards and deposited on the roof of that gentleman's dwelling. At Oakland the damage done was not so great as in other districts. Fences everywhere were blown down. A. R. W.'s stable was unroofed. Half of the roof of the large stable was blown away, as well as a part of the roofs of Haynes and Frazer's barns. Pat Snyder suffered only in the loss of a wood shed.

There is no record of such a storm in the history of the county before. Parties who have resided here for twenty-five years say it is the first. The timber on the trees, showing a growth of forty years, do not exhibit any signs of a similar storm, and there is evidence to prove that it is the first storm of the kind in this valley within a half century of the past. While we cannot estimate the full amount of damage, it is very easy for us to attribute the storm to accident, and nothing more. How it was it dropped upon us cannot be told; the chances are, another generation will have come to take the places of the present before another such occurs.

Worth Twice the Sum.
We have just received a copy of the Chicago Ledger, the leading family paper of the west, which is now entering upon its seventh volume. The Ledger is a forty-eight column weekly, printed in bold, plain type, easily to be read by young and old, and is filled with choice stories, and reading matter of interest to every household. This excellent journal is supplied to subscribers, postage paid, for the low price of $1.50 per year. In order to increase its present large list of readers, the publishers of the Ledger have made a new contract for several thousand fine Nickel-plated English Steel-barrel and Cylinder Seven-Shot Revolvers—32 caliber—which they propose to distribute to their subscribers at cost, and there is one for one of these elegant weapons of defense and the Ledger for one year for $3.00. The revolver will be sent by mail, postage paid, on receipt of the price. They have already distributed 3,000 revolvers and are mailing hundreds daily. Now is the best time to get first-class revolvers and the best paper in the country for less than half the actual worth of either. Three sample copies will be sent to any address for ten cents. Address The Ledger, Chicago, Ill.

New and Cheap Music.
Lovers of new first-class sheet music, embracing some of the compositions of the greatest composers, at less price than such sheet music can be purchased in San Francisco, cannot do better than to call at the store of Dr. Woodruff. He has a collection of fine music of over five hundred different pieces from which a competent critic cannot fail to select something nice and pleasing. It is without doubt the finest stock in the line ever brought to Roseburg. Go and see for yourself.

Twisted Them Off.
The storm of last Monday morning passed through a pine grove on John Jones' place, and twisted off the tops of a dozen or so of the trees forty feet from the ground.

Amateur Minstrels.
A company of amateur minstrels has been formed to give a series of entertainments in this city during the holidays. A number of fine vocalists have been secured.

Improving in Health.
It was reported on the streets Thursday afternoon that Dr. Genger was dead. This was not true. From Dr. Hamilton we learn that Mr. Genger is improving in health and will soon recover.

RESOLUTIONS.

GARDNER, Dec. 9, 1878.
At a regular communication of Aurora Lodge No. 59 A. F. and A. M., the following resolutions were passed:
WHEREAS, It has pleased the Great Architect of the Universe to remove from our midst our late Brother Edward Green, and
WHEREAS, It is but just that a fitting recognition of his many virtues should be had, therefore be it
Resolved, by Aurora Lodge No. 59, A. F. and A. M., That while we bow with humble submission to the will of the most high, we do not the less mourn for our Brother who has been taken from us.
That in the death of Edward Green, this Lodge laments the loss of a Brother who was ever ready to proffer the hand of aid and voice of sympathy to the needy and distressed of the fraternity, an active member of this society, whose utmost endeavors were exerted for its welfare and prosperity, a friend and companion who was dear to us all, a citizen whose upright and noble life, was a standard of emulation to his fellows.
That the heartfelt sympathy of this Lodge be extended to his family in their affliction.
That the Lodge and furniture be clothed in mourning for thirty days.
That these resolutions be spread upon the records of the Lodge, and a copy be sent to the family of our deceased Brother, and a copy to each of our county papers.

DEATH OF RILEY SINGLETON.
Sunday morning last R. W. Singleton one of the first settlers of the valley of the Umpqua, departed this life at the ripe age of 66 years. The disease which carried Mr. Singleton's soul to the home of his God, was that of accumulation of fat in the region of the heart, and the good man died surrounded by his children, grandchildren and great grandchildren. His illness was not painful; his death was accomplished without a sigh. He had lived a good man, and his friends for the unknown hereafter were few if any. There was but one gasp for breath, a rattle in the throat, and Riley Singleton was dead. Upon the last moment he retained consciousness of all matters surrounding him, and at the last moment his exclamation was "My God, I am dying." The remains of the deceased were interred in the burying ground of the family, on Deer Creek, fourteen miles from Roseburg. They were followed to their resting place by those who regretted he who was loved was lost without doing them any way into heaven.

Handsome Wedding Dress.
Mrs. Compton is now engaged in completing a wedding dress for a handsome young lady in this city. The young lady will go to Salem with her intended, and there the ceremony will be performed not only for them but also for another couple, relatives of the expecting bride. There will be a double wedding of course. The dress is made in the style of the Princess, of white cashmere trimmed with white diagonal satin puffs and lace. The front is square, of white satin puffed with lace. The front is also finished with satin vandykes and satin revers. Elbow sleeves, filled with white blonde lace, and a kilt train of seven feet completes what the skillful hands of the artistic milliner has fashioned into a beautiful dress.

Forgotten Captured.
About two weeks ago a man named Bumgardner took several forced notes to Dolansmuth & Oatman, Portland, and secured a reward of $500 was offered from Portland to Yaquina Bay, and thence along the coast to Empire City, where he was arrested while engaged in playing a little game of poker. Chief of Police Bestner took the prisoner by train to the city of Portland. Bumgardner is said to be the son of wealth and respectable parents in the East, and we are informed that an effort will be made to compromise the matter.

Hired his Own Horse.
A certain M. D. went to Wright & Carlon's stable the other day to hire a horse. The Doctor had put his own horse into the stable several weeks before, and the saddle keeper gave the animal to him. The M. D. rode that day and the next, and in the evening of each day returned home. Each time he paid for the use of the horse, he swore when the keeper smiled at his threat to change his patronage to another stable. The doctor, however, cooled down when he found out he had been riding his own horse, but he will have to catch a stranger before he can sell the animal.

Captain Williams Returned.
Capt. L. L. Williams returned from the north Tuesday evening. Since he took his departure from this valley, the Captain has traveled over Grande Ronde, visited the Coeur d'Alene mountains, and took in Spokane, Palouse and Walla Walla. His appearance is that of one who has performed a long journey and enjoyed his travels, and his welcome here is that of one who enjoys the unselfish friendship of many.

A Second Case.
Two hundred head of Stover's sheep in Webb's trough, Umatilla county, strayed away Tuesday ago and have not yet returned.—Ex.
"Little Joseph" lost her sheep.
And didn't know where to find them.
Leave them alone and they'll come home
And bring their tails behind 'em."

Sentence of Death.
Sentence of death was passed upon the two Indians who were convicted of the murder of George Cogan, last Dec. 7th. The citizens of that locality are preparing for any emergency that may occur on the day of execution, January 10th, 1878.

In Luck.
John Clark has again been doing well in mining stocks. During the week he sold 150 shares of Hale & Norcross at $12 per share. He paid $9 per share for the same.

San Francisco CIGAR STORE.
S. GOLDSTEIN
HAS OPENED A CIGAR AND VARIETY Store next door to the barber shop and nearly opposite to the Postoffice, and has one of the largest stocks of Imported and Domestic Cigars in stock ever brought to Roseburg. His stock also embraces all the favorite brands of Chewing and Smoking Tobacco, Meerschaum Pipes, Notions, Candles and other articles found usually in a first-class establishment of the kind. My prices will be low and my time cash, and a share of public patronage is respectfully solicited.

MINING NEWS.

From the Jacksonville Times we gather the following news of the mines of Southern Oregon:
Everything on Roderberger & Co's mine is a flourishing condition.
The miners in the region of Uniontown are about ready to commence winter operations.
John Goff has been doing considerable work on his claim in Sam's Valley recently.
The Sterling Mining Company have completed extensive preparations for work this winter.
The Grand Applegate Mining company has a large number of men at work on the big ditch.
John Reckner & Co., on Forest creek, have a small head of water and are sluicing some of last winter's ground.
The Silver creek mines of Josephine county are holding out and will probably lure a large number of miners thither. Some mining will be done in Josephine county this winter than ever before.

Jim Lin is repairing his ditch and getting ready for the winter rains. The late spell enabled him to do a little cleaning up, from which he is said to have realized a handsome sum.
The survey of the Magruder, Owen & Co's proposed ditch was this week completed. The surveying party has returned and work may soon be commenced, though there is a probability of its being deferred until next spring.
The Coyote Creek company is about ready to commence work. The ditch from the old McWilliams & Ash claim to the ground recently owned by P. O'Shea has been completed and the pipe laid. This is one of the most promising enterprises in Southern Oregon.
The "Oregonian" and the Roseburg Independent have had way of appropriating the Times' mining news and painting them off as original with them. Very naughty indeed—Jacksonville Times. It is said, by, but then it is nice.

N. D. Ridenour, a prominent banker and resident of California, is now in Jackson county, inspecting the mines of this section. He intends to invest in some of the claims. He is a Director of the Oregon & California Land Company.

DRIED CHERRIES.
We have been presented with a lot of dried cherries by W. C. Evans. They were grown by Messrs. Luelling & Son, at Milwaukie, in this State, and were pitted with Lillie's pruned pitter. The cherries were a good article of commerce, and Messrs. Luelling & Son deserve credit for their work in drying them. These gentlemen have grown and manufactured this year this fruit above four tons, which they sold in bulk in the San Francisco market at forty cents per pound. We have no doubt had this fruit been treated by the Alden process, it would have retained, after cooking, its natural flavor and would as readily have sold for fifty cents as forty. The recommendation of the Alden process is, that fruit dried by it retains the delicious flavor fruit is noted and prized for before dried. The Alden dried fruit at the State Fair has often carried away the premium for the reason the natural flavor was not destroyed in curing, and what can be nicer to the palate in the winter than dried plums and cherries, possessing the same flavor as when picked from the trees and cooked?

In this connection it is a pleasure for us to announce that Mr. Evans has purchased the Alden fruit dryer in this city, and that he proposes to successfully conduct its operations. We have no fears of the result of his labors. Different from other men who have invested in the enterprise, he has practical knowledge of the business, and wisdom sufficient to inform the farmers as to the trees they should grow or the fruit they should raise on their farms to produce. This is what is needed in the owner of a fruit-dryer, and there is no doubt Mr. Evans will meet the expectations he deserves from our people. If he is not given this, the farmers of Douglas county have not the foresight or judgment we would give them credit for.

Appointments.
There will be preaching in the M. E. Church on Sabbath Dec. 15th, at 11 o'clock A. M. in Roseburg; in Pine Grove school house at 2:30 P. M., and at Roseburg at 7 in the evening. In the Coles Valley school house there will be preaching on the 19th, 20th and 21st, at night. On Sabbath the 22d, at Cleveland, and at 1 1/2 P. M., will commence a series of meetings at the French Settlement school house.

N. A. STARR, Pastor.
A country editor says that after discussing the question all winter, he comes to the conclusion every Spring that the circus is immoral; but when the bill-poster comes along with the big pictures, his mind changes. He adds: "As we gaze at the lions, tigers and monkeys, and think that nature made all of them we are not so sure. And when we look at the beautiful young lady with nothing on but a blue ribbon around her very slender waist, with one very plump leg pointing to six o'clock and the other to high noon, and think that nature made her, too, just as she was, except the ribbon, we begin to lean up to the circus. But when the brass band begins to play and the elephants go round, we rush for a front seat to get in ahead of the deacons, who always wear stovepipe hats, and won't sit down in front."
