The Indian War.

Upholstery, Spring Mattrasses, Etc., RAWLINS, Wy., Oct. 13 .- Mr. Emil Webber and George Fuhr, two carriers, have just arrived from what was a few days ago the White River Agency. From them I learn the following: Gen. Merritt advanced upon the agency on the 12th inst., and on his way he found many dead bodies. Among others he found the body of Carl Goldstein, an Israelite, who lef No two Prices to Customers there with government supplies for the Utes at White River Agency. He was found in a gulch six miles this side of the agency, and had been shot twice through the shoulder, and was about two miles JOHN GILDERSLEVE from his wagons. A teamster named Julius Moore, formerly from Bainbridge, Mass,, who was with him when he left here, was found about one hundred yards from Goldstein with two bullet holes in his breast and his body hacked or mutil-ated with a knife or hatchet. As the command advanced through the canyon HAVING PURCHASED THE FURNI-ture Establishment of John Lehnherr, is now prepared to do any work in the they came to an old coal mine, and in it was found the dead body of an employe named Dresser, who had evidently been wounded and crawled into the mine to die. His coat was folded up and placed under his head for a pillow. Beside him lay a Winchester rifle containing eight car-tridges, and in one of his pockets a letter was found, which, as near as the courier can remember, was as follows:—White River, Sept. 29, 1 P. M.—Major Thornburgh. —I will come with Chief Douglas and arother chief, and meet you to-morrow. Everything is quiet here and Douglas is flying the United States flag. We have been on guard three nights and will be tonight, not that we expect any trouble, but because there might be. Did you have y trouble coming through? [Signed] N. C. MEEKER, U. S. Indian Agent.

found to indicate what had become of them. They have either been murdered and burled or else taken away as hostages. Their dreadful and unmentionable fate calls forth the most profound sympathy. The dead body of Father Meeker was found about one hundred yards from his house lying on his back, shot through the head, the left side of his skull mashed with some blunt instrument, a piece of a barrel stave driven into his mouth and one of his hands and arms badly burned. The dead body of Mr. W. H. Post, Father Meeker's assistant, was found between the lways on hand. Everything in the line fur COFFINS MADE AND TRIMMED. Another employe named Eaton was found dead. He was stripped naked and had a bundle of paper bags on his client; and concluded by saying that he thought the atmosphere of Newgate would be most salubrious for the prisoner. The prisoner was committed for trial, bail remaining the same as before.

Eskridge and other employes not named, were also found. Eskridge was found two miles this side of the agency, naked, and a bullet hole through his head. In the house occupied by the Indians during Thornburg's battle, in a breastwork made of stone, was found the dead body of an analysis was a significant of the stone. unknown white man, dressed in buck-skin. He was sitting on his knees and had his gun in position to fire. He was shot through the forehead. From this it appears that the Indians were not alone in their hellish work. It is supposed that the Indians have gone to join the south-ern Utes, and there is an impression among the officers of Merritt's command, that the Indians who fought Thornburgh, numbered at least seven hundred.

WASHINGTON, October 13, 1879. J
To Gen. P. H. Sheridan, Commanding Division, Elc., Chicago:—The honorable secretary of the interior has this morning called with a dispatch conveying a proposition for peace which is communicated for your own information and which should go for what it is worth to Generals Crook and Merritt, and the latter is on the spot and can tell if the hostiles on the spot and can tell if the hostiles have ceased fighting. If so General Mertitt must go in any event to the agency to ascertain the actual condition of facts. All Indians who oppose must be cleared out of the way if they resist, if they surren-der their arms and ponies they should be held as prisoners to be disposed of by superior orders. The secretary of the inter-ior will send a special agent at once to Ouray, who is believed to be our friend. He may prevent the southern Utes from being involved, and the interior depart-ment can be friend him afterward by show-
