

The Independent
RESOLUTION OF ENDORSEMENT
WHEREAS THE PEOPLE'S INDEPENDENT newspaper published in Roseburg, has published in this country for the period of three years; and WHEREAS said newspaper is now well established, and during a three years' trial it has faithfully served the interests of its readers and tax-payers; therefore be it Resolved, That the members of the Dispensary Board No. 25, do give THE PEOPLE'S INDEPENDENT our qualified endorsement, and would recommend it as a newspaper worthy the patronage of every farmer and tax-payer in Southern Oregon.
Geo. W. Jones, Master
J. P. Duncan, Secretary.

THE CITY CHARTER AMENDMENT.
It appears from recent developments that certain parties in this city who have failed to carry their before the courts of justice, forcing a street through the property of one of our citizens, against whom that interested party has a bitter hatred, and for no other conceivable purpose (for the wants of the city certainly do not demand it) have secretly concocted an amendment to the city charter so wrapped up in a list of useful enumerated powers which the city authorities already possess, as to escape the attention of the casual observers, and without the knowledge or consent of the tax-payers whose interests this amendment affects, and clandestinely presented them to certain members of the legislature who are known to be friendly to the move with the view of har-riedly forcing these amendments to our charter through this body; but like the cat in the meal chest a little scrutiny will reveal the real gist of the matter, the creation of powers named in section 10 to accomplish that which they failed to accomplish before the courts.

It is a good thing. The people of the city ought to know it; and should have so been apprised of the desired change and passed upon it before submitting it to the legislature for its action.
The tax-payers have already paid out as much, we think, as they desire, in this personal spite of Capt. Mosher and Gen. Fink, who, like the monkey, are using the people to take the chesnuts out of the fire, while they (Mosher & Fink) quietly munch the delicious kernel. Tax-payers will play, by your votes, continue to play into the hands of this unscrupulous ring, and approve this infamous scheme. We think not.
In addition to that ring scheme of destroying a private individual's property, they have a clause in the amendment not to allow a poor person trial before a jury. Such a far more power than claimed by the constitution of the United States.

The United States is likely to have a large surplus of wheat in Europe can possibly absorb.
The estimates of our crop vary from 470,000,000 to 500,000,000 bushels. With favorable weather the vast crop now harvesting in the West will reach the latter
of wheat is rapidly increasing with the growth of population and the advent of better times. When the times are hard, wheat flour is not so extensively used, but with the revival of business always comes a largely increased demand.
White bread and good times go together. The stock of wheat held in Europe is low, and, even with the good crops there, it is likely that, to keep the reserve in land adequate to all contingencies many millions of bushels will have to be imported from America.

Emigrants are leaving Europe with the intention of joining the Mormons, in spite of Everts' recent circular, and the Secretary says the "Government intends to take the most active and rigorous steps for the abolition of polygamy in this country," and will "treat criminals and punish accordingly" all who practice it. We have heard something like that before, Mr. Secretary. When does the government propose to do all this?

AN OLD-TIME DUEL.
Among the many bloody duels on record as having been fought by Congressman was one in which James Jackson, of Georgia, who had and who was afterwards a United States Senator, was the challenged party. He was an Englishman, like the hero of "Pinaroff," by birth, but he went to Savannah when a lad, studied law, was a leading Mason, and fought gallantly in the Revolutionary war. He killed Lieut.
Gov. Wells in 1780, in a duel, and was engaged in several affairs of honor, until he finally determined to accept a challenge on such terms as would make it his last duel. So he prescribed as the terms that each party—armed with a double-barreled gun, loaded with buckshot, and with a hunting knife—should row himself in a skiff to designated points on opposite sides of the Savannah river. When the city clock struck 12, each party should start and row his skiff to a small island in the middle of the river, which was wooded and covered with underbrush. On arriving at the island each party was to moor his skiff, stand by it for ten minutes, and then go about on the island until the meeting took place. The seconds awaited on the mainland until about 1 o'clock, when they heard three gun shots and loud and angry cries. Then all was still. At daylight as had been agreed upon, the seconds went to the island and found Jackson lying on the ground, insensible from the loss of blood, and his un-dressed lying across him dead.
Jackson recovered, but would never relate his experience that night, nor was he ever challenged again. He died in Washington, serving his second term as United States Senator, March, 19, 1806.

Of the deaths that occurred among miners in Great Britain between 1850, and 1860, rising 21 per cent, or about one-fifth were due to fire-damp explosions; about 30 per cent, or two-fifths, were due to falls of the roof and sides of the mine; some 17 per cent, or less than one-fifth, were due to slight accidents; and a little rising 22 per cent, or more than one-fifth, originated in miscellaneous causes and accidents above ground. Brought down to a later period, it appears during the fifteen years ending 1875, little short of 10,000 lives were lost, in Great Britain in raising 1,608,576,193 tons of coal, ratio in 1874, one death to 133,261 tons, and in 1885, one death to 118,730 tons.

A despatch from the East, stating that M. De Loretelle, the commissioner sent by the French government to examine into the vine pests of America, had reported that California vines were less affected by phylloxera than those of France, and that several discouraged wine growers would probably emigrate to California to try their luck, is pronounced untrue. He says in a card in a San Francisco paper, that he has made no report or communication to his government since his arrival in this country, and that consequently there can be no foundation for the statements attributed to him.

The government telegraph line, which has been in course of construction, has reached the summit of the Coeur d'Alene mountains.
The line building eastward is within forty miles of the summit.
Two companies of soldiers are at work, and it is expected that within a month there will be telegraphic communication between Oregon and the Atlantic coast via Idaho, Montana and Dakota to the western terminus of the Northern Pacific railroad, thence along that road to St. Paul, Minnesota.

An urgent appeal comes from Ooroomiah, Persia, for relief to the starving. The famine is increasing in severity. Hundreds are dying daily in and around Ooroomiah for lack of food.
Their dead bodies lie unheeded in the streets, and are devoured by famished dogs. Mothers, maddened by hunger, have been discovered eating their own children.
The horrible accounts which come from Persia must awaken the sympathies of Americans, who have enough and to spare.

Professor Alexander Graham Bell, the inventor of the telephone is described as a handsome and courtly man, still young, and the possessor of very black eyes. He is a Scotchman and was educated in Edinburgh. The Volta prize, just awarded to him as having made the best electrical discovery of the past fifteen years, brings him the pleasant sum of $10,000.
He is about to sail for Europe, and will receive the prize in person.

DEAF MUTES.
Articles of incorporation were filed with the Secretary of State by Werner Breymann, Joseph Thompson and A. Bush; object, a society to promote education of deaf mutes in this State. It is the purpose of the society to perfect an organization somewhat after the plan of the State university corporation, to be managed by a board of directors, two of whom shall be chosen by the corporation, and the remainder by the Governor. It is to be hoped that some suitable legislation will be taken, providing for the education of this class of unfortunate persons in our midst.

The stock of iron now on hand in Glasgow awaiting sales is not less than 460,000 tons. This is the second time in the history of the iron trade in Scotland when so much iron has been on storage at once. The strikers have chosen a poor time to quit work and the market will be overstocked for no one can say how long, as the principal demand is for consumption.
