

A NEW INDUSTRY.—J. L. Wickham, of East Portland, has just completed a mill near the O. & C. R. R. shops for the manufacture of bone phosphate and pure ground bone.

This little item will be of great consolation to a friend of ours in this city: "A Cincinnati court decides that to say damn is not swearing, and a great many people who have wanted to use the word, but have been restrained out of respect to the third commandment, will feel relieved. The court holds that it is a violent adjective, but not profane."

FIRE.—John Abbot was carrying on the saloon business near tunnel No. 3 on the extension of the O. & C. R. R. on Cow creek. On last Tuesday a person named Ruddy who claimed to be entitled to the possession of the premises by virtue of some agreement, entered the premises and persuaded the barkeeper, with a cocked revolver, to vacate. Abbot went to the scene of the difficulty to settle the matter, when he was induced to leave by the same forcible argument. Abbot, who was unarmed, accepted the situation and went to a neighboring camp to prepare himself to defend his property. On his return the whole plant was in ashes, although it is said that the liquors were so badly frozen they would not burn. The matter will be the subject of a judicial investigation, but to arrest has as yet been made.

A LANDMARK GONE.—The German community which settled at Aurora, in the northern portion of Marion county, under the management of Dr. Keil, has been dissolved and the property divided among the individual members. While Dr. Keil lived the community prospered because the doctor exercised almost despotic control of the whole business and was a good manager. Since his death, it has met the fate of all communities, because divided in opinion, and in order to avoid expensive litigation the members made an equitable compromise among themselves. All travelers from the southern part of the State, whether by horseback, stage or rail, will remember the kind hospitality he received at Aurora. As a community they have made profitable farms and comfortable homes out of what was a very uninviting portion of the Willamette valley. We have no doubt that as individuals they will do still better.

HOMICIDE AT JUNCTION.—Another one of those fearful affairs that give the Pacific coast its bad name occurred at Junction city on the 19th of January. H. W. Abran a merchant at Junction city, Lane county Oregon shot and killed Dr. J. G. Brownlee of that place in the former's store. There was much excitement at the killing and Mr. Abran was taken to the Eugene City jail for safe keeping, where he will have his examination. As the statement of the facts differ very materially we prefer to say nothing until we receive the official report of the case. We cannot avoid however in this connection, from expressing our contempt for a man who in committing a personal insult resorts to the knife or pistol for satisfaction.

A dispatch from Eugene City of January 21st says: C. W. Fitch, county judge, died at his residence in this city at two o'clock this afternoon. He was born in Luzerne county, Penn., Dec. 1, 1813, moved to California in 1863, and came to Oregon about two years later. He was principal of the public school at Roseburg, and while teaching read law with S. E. Chickrick. He was admitted in 1867, and shortly after was married to Miss Nannie Linn, of Jacksonville. In 1870 he commenced practice in Eugene, and has been associated in law with Messrs. Underwood, Thompson & Fagan respectively. He was elected prosecuting attorney of this district in 1872, and re-elected to the same office in 1874. He was elected judge of Lane county in 1880. He was prostrated by quick consumption about the 1st of December. He leaves a wife and two daughters, aged respectively twelve and nine years. Judge Fitch was a man of great natural talent, and was held in high esteem by different members of the bar throughout the state. The above dispatch will be received by the many friends of Charlie in Douglas county with sincere regret. Judge Fitch lived with us for so many years, and after he left us to make his residence in Eugene City, was so often with us that Douglas county claimed him as her own and was proud of him. We know but few, so well known, who was more beloved and respected. He died young, and had he lived would have been one of the leading men of the state. We tender our sympathies to the bereaved wife and family.

The game law has gone into effect and hunters should be careful not to violate its provisions.

Some work is being done on the Yaquina railroad by Chinamen but the progress is not encouraging for a speedy completion of the work.

Ben. Simpson has been reappointed postal agent by President Arthur. Another score for Mitchell.

J. E. Beggs passed through Plevna recently, en route to Klamath agency from Redding with a load of hardwood, to be used in repairing wagons for the Indians, said timber costing the government 53 cents per foot.

James Walton of Salem has just completed, by the direction of Prof. E. B. McElroy, state superintendent of public instruction, some very fine maps of the new counties of Crook and Klamath, for the use of eastern geographers.

Tom Gilbert, an Indian, was sentenced last week by Judge Boise of the third district to be hung for the murder of Wapato Dave and his wife. The execution was ordered on March 1st, between the hours of 11 A. M. and 12 P. M.

Farmers and others desiring a general, lucrative agency business, by which $5 to $20 a day can be earned, send address at once, on postal, to H. C. Wilkinson & Co., 195 197 Fulton street, New York.

The schooner Truckee is loading lumber at Bunch, Bennett and Co.'s mill. She will take 100,000 feet at Coquille, entirely clearing the wharf, and then complete her load at Parkersburg.

The new vessel at North Bend was successfully launched last Saturday and christened Cecil Dreems. After being loaded with lumber she will be taken to San Francisco, where her machinery will be put in.

Joe. Nay, of Elk river, Curry county, is preparing to put up a saw mill at his place in the spring. His machinery will arrive in April, and the mill will have a capacity of 15,000 feet per day. Nay recently purchased wharfage land at Port Orford.

Five families, comprising upwards of twenty persons, arrived at Sacramento from Iowa last week, to settle somewhere in Jackson county, Oregon. They are pleased with the climate and say that there will be a large immigration to Southern Oregon from that State.

Last year Dean and Co.'s mill at Marshfield, ran 301 days, sawed 18,867 logs, and manufactured 13,111,235 feet of lumber, 2,322,000 laths, and 328,000 broom handles. The cost of producing this lumber was a trifle more than that of 1881, owing to a slight advance in the cost of labor and logs.

The Jacksonville Sentinel says: "It is probable that the most of our merchants will ship over the Crescent City wagon road this year. It will be greatly to their advantage to do so, as the rates will be cheaper and prompt delivery guaranteed. Besides a new market for our produce will be opened."

A new departure in the treatment of chronic diseases has been made. Send Dr. Starkey and Pelen, 1109 Girard street, Philadelphia, for their Treatise on Compound Oxygen and learn all about it. Mailed free. All orders for the Compound Oxygen Home Treatment directed to H. E. Matthews, 606 Montgomery street, San Francisco, will be filled on the same terms as sent directly to us in Philadelphia.

The business headquarters of the Lake Superior & Puget Sound Land Company have been transferred from New Tacoma to Portland, where they have been placed under the management of Paul Shultz, of the Northern Pacific land department. The Lake Superior & Puget Sound Land Company owns a large tract of land in the Puget Sound region, and it can not be said that a person better qualified than Mr. Shultz to take charge of the business on this coast.

Fred Reed was foreman of a jury called to go to a coroner who died recently at Weeksville. The following verdict was returned: "We, the jury appointed to sit upon the body of Andy Walsh, now lying before us, find that he came to his death from a change of whisky."

It has been ascertained that Klamath county's proportion of the indebtedness of Lane county is $2,850 00, of which amount nearly $2,200 is State taxes. It will thus be seen that the affairs of Lane county have been judiciously managed, and that in spite of many unfavorable circumstances her debt is very small.

Wimer & Sons have completed the new road from Jacksonville to Crescent City to its connection with the old road, at a cost of between $15,000 and $20,000. Everything will be ready for freight before April. It is thought that a large portion of the Jacksonville freight will be hauled over this route.

The County Clerk yesterday recorded four deeds for claims on the Excelsior ledge, in the Bohemia district. The conveyance was made to parties in San Francisco. There is no doubt that the quartz ledges in this district are superior to the Comstock in Nevada, and this will be proven whenever they fall into the hands of capitalists who intend to work them. If, however, it is a stock gambling speculation, they will remain as they have since their discovery, of no value to the country of their owners.

The Portland fire, as reported by telegrams to the Independent last week was incorrect. There were two fires at the same time. The fire on Front and First street only destroyed the house of Corbett & Macleay. The adjoining houses of Knapp, Barrell & Co. and Fleischer, Mayer & Co., were but slightly damaged, their loss being fully insured. The loss of Corbett & Macleay is estimated at $143,000, a total loss insured for $120,000. The other fire occurred on First street, near Oak, in a lot of frame shanties, and was probably the work of an incendiary. The loss was but a few thousand dollars, and the most of it was insured for more than its value.

Eugene Waghorn and family have removed their residence to Portland.

Fred. Flood has gone to Portland on business.

Abram Tenbrook has sold his farm near town, the old Stephens place, to B. F. Ramp, of Marion county.

Henry Langenberg sold his lot and residence in North Roseburg to L. McGregor, for $700.

Isaac Bloom, the well known representative of Schilling and Co. of San Francisco, made us a pleasant call yesterday.

Our old friend Charles Kohn, now in business in Portland, gave us a pleasant call this week. Charles is the "early bird that catches the worm."

T. S. Roadman Esq., and family have migrated to Eastern Oregon, where they expect to reside. Their friends wish them success.

Rev. Mr. Smick delivered a discourse at the school house last Sabbath, which was listened to by a crowded house. After services Mr. Smick submitted a proposition looking to the building of a church house here. He said the Presbyterian board would contribute for that purpose $500 if the citizens would raise $1,000.

Levi Leland, State temperance lecturer, spoke here on the evenings of the 16th and 17th inst. He organized a band of Hope on the 16th, with J. Elliott as superintendent. He also organized a lodge of Good Templars, with 24 charter members, the lodge to be known as "Myrtle Lodge."

Frank P. Lane and Sam Hadley Jr. left for Lakeview on the 23d. Their many friends wish them a pleasant journey.

CASUALTY.

Eloping Under Difficulties.—The "I ladage that 'true love never runs smooth," seems to have been well verified by a young couple from the verdant fields of Benton county, who were recently married in Roseburg. The groom, a young man of some twenty-one summers, of prepossessing appearance, and the bride, a blushing beauty of sixteen, got off the south-bound train at Roseburg, on the night of the 23d. The next morning the young man made the acquaintance of one of the young bloods of the town and introduced him to his intended bride and solicited his assistance in obtaining a license. The young man believing that the couple were old enough, proceeded to the clerk's office and there made the necessary affidavit, wherein he stated that the couple were respectively over the ages of 18 and 21 years. With this legal document the parties proceeded to the residence of Rev. John Howard, and there entered into that holy contract which was henceforth to make the twain one flesh. Then the newly-wedded pair returned to the Metropolitan hotel to enjoy the blessings of married life, but alas, a hard-hearted partner had sworn out a warrant before a justice of the peace at Benton county charging the young man with abducting a female under 18 years of age, which warrant was telegraphed to Sheriff Purdon, with a request to return the parties to Benton county. They had already taken the train for home, expecting to receive the forgiveness and blessing of the parents, but when the train arrived at Drina station Deputy Sheriff Beckley, acting under instructions from his chief, stepped on board the train and arrested the groom and returned the couple to Roseburg, where the groom was locked up in one of the iron cells of the jail for safe keeping, while the bride was furnished a room at the Metropolitan hotel. The couple were very much affected by the turn affairs had taken, but bore their misfortunes complacently.

The next morning Sheriff Purdon started with the prisoners to Benton county, where it is to be hoped the father may relent and forgive the young people and that they may live to enjoy a long and prosperous life of unalloyed happiness.

SENATORIAL ELECTION.—The following senators have been elected since our last issue: In Massachusetts Geo. F. Hoar has been re-elected. In New Jersey John R. McPherson, Democrat, was re-elected on the first ballot. In West Virginia John A. Kenna, Democrat, was elected in separate session. In Texas the Legislature re-elected U. S. Senator Coke, Democrat. In Kansas Plumb, republican, was declared re-elected. In Colorado, Minnesota, Michigan and Nebraska, the legislatures have failed to elect up to this date.

A Railroad Slaughter.

A frightful accident occurred on the Southern Pacific at an early hour last Saturday morning. The regular Southern Pacific express had reached a point four miles from Tehachapi, at an early hour. The train consisted of seven cars, four sleeping coaches, two baggage cars and the mail and express cars, and was in charge of Conductor Reed, an old and experienced employe. The usual time was made to Keene, and at a station a few miles below the help engine was attached to assist in pulling the train up Tehachapi summit. The grade is several miles long and has an average rise of 116 feet to the mile. Arrived at the summit, the engines were detached from the train to allow the helping engine to sidetrack and return. Immediately the train began to move back on the terrible grade, and, gradually increasing in speed, soon got beyond control of the brakemen and the other train men, and went flying down the grade at lightning speed. The runaway caused the greatest terror among the passengers, who knew not what the end would be. On and on the train sped, until a terrible velocity was attained. When the distance of four miles had been made, the two sleepers, baggage and express cars jumped the track and were hurled broadside, throwing the terror-stricken passengers out of their berths against the seats. To add to the terror of the scene, the cars caught fire from overturned stoves, and soon the whole train was in flames. When the crash came many passengers were badly bruised and injured, so that they could not escape from the wreck, and with others, who were jammed between the heavy debris, were burned to death. The shrieks of the wounded and the agonies of the dying were fearful to witness. Those unfortunates to relieve the victims, and as far as possible, to rescue those still in the cars from a fearful death. The body of Miss Squires of Oakland, has been found, and also Mrs. Ex-Governor Downey's.

It is thought, as far as known, that the mail was burned and all the baggage. All that was saved from these cars were two treasure boxes of Wells Fargo and Co. It is believed that the mail agents and baggage-men were burned. It is now certain that 18 passengers in addition to two porters were killed, and ten or twelve badly wounded, making twenty dead in all. All the passengers in the sleeping car, except Mr. and Mrs. Ashe, of Sacramento, were either killed or wounded. Johnson, porter of the sleeping car, was badly burned and afterwards died from his injuries. Going down the grade the coach and smoker led the way but did not leave the track. They became uncoupled in some way and ran on down about two miles from the scene of the disaster. None of the persons in these cars were injured. The sleeper, directly behind the smoker, jumped the track and the cars following were piled on top.

An Act to Protect Laborers in Timber and Logging Camps. Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the State of Oregon: Section 1. Any laborer in the timber or in any logging camp shall have a lien upon any timber or logs cut or manufactured by him, or in such camp, for the amount due him for labor on or about the same.

Sec. 2. Such laborer shall file a copy of his demand, verified by his oath, in the County Clerk's office, within thirty days of his ceasing work on such timber, or in such, or in lieu of such filing, such laborer or laborers may take and hold possession of such timber or logs, subject to the payment of their demand; Provided, however, That if such timber or logs should be sold at any time while such laborers are still at work, they may take possession of such logs and hold the same as aforesaid at any time before said logs are delivered at the mill where they are to be manufactured into lumber.

Sec. 3. Any laborer filing such lien or holding the possession of such logs, shall, within twenty days of such filing, or within ten days of his taking possession of logs or timber, as by this act provided, commence an action at law on his demand and diligently prosecute the same to judgment, and in his complaint he shall set forth the facts constituting his lien, and in any judgment he may obtain such property shall be described and adjudged to be sold in manner as now required by law in case of attached property.

Approved October 26, 1882.

The following extract from an exchange will be received with a good deal of satisfaction by one, if not more, of our circuit judges: A question having arisen as to the eligibility of the governor of the State of Illinois to be elected United States senator, the fact is called up that a committee of the constitutional convention of 1870 declined to make a recommendation on this subject on the ground that no provision in a State constitution could make any State officer ineligible for the occupancy of any office or position provided for under the constitution of the United States. Judge Trumbull was elected Senator before his term as judge had expired. The constitution of the State, as then in force, had a provision that no State judge whose term of office was unexpired could be elected United States senator. The question of Judge Trumbull's eligibility was raised in the senate, but that body declared emphatically that no provision in a State constitution could render ineligible a person duly elected to the senate.

Attempted Train Robbery.

January 22nd an unsuccessful attempt was made to rob the east-bound express train on the Central Pacific at Montella Station. Just before the arrival of the train ten or twelve masked men rode up to the station and captured and robbed the section men and locked them up in the water tank and as the train approached displayed a light in front of the engine, when it stopped.

The west-bound passenger train was approaching by this time. The robbers placed the train on the side track and sent some of their number to the end of the switch, who ordered the conductor and engineer of the west-bound train to proceed, which they did at a rapid speed. They then detached the express car from the train and taking the coal picks from the engine broke up the sides of the car, but the messenger maintained his ground and kept up his firing from within. They then made an unsuccessful attempt to burn the car with what wood they could get from the engine. The fight lasted about three hours, when they withdrew. Mr. Ross was slightly wounded some two or three times. The robbers before they left returned the train men their watches. The company has sent men in pursuit of the desperadoes and it is to be hoped they may be captured.

In St. Louis on the 14th inst. a fire broke out shortly after 4 A. M. in the kitchen of the Planter's House, occupying the block on Fourth street, between Pine and Chestnut, and extended to the parlor, storeroom and servants' quarters. These are all in a building in the rear, and detached from the hotel, which was not injured. One of the servants was smothered to death, one was burned and two others have broken limbs. Great excitement prevailed among the guests and other occupants of the hotel, most of whom left the house, but returned again during the day. The loss is about $30,000. It is almost certain that this, as well as the Milwaukee fire, was the work of incendiaries, for the purpose of robbery. Death at the stake would be no adequate punishment for such fiends.

At a meeting of the Republican national committee, held in Washington on the 17th inst., Dorsey's resignation was accepted and John A. Martin, of Kansas, was appointed in his place.

STEAMBOAT EXPLOSION.—A Seattle dispatch of January the 17th says: The steamer Josephine, which left this city at 6:30 this morning for Skagit river, having on board a full freight and twenty passengers, blew up this afternoon in Port Susan bay, fifty miles north of this point. Robert Bailey, acting master; John Turner, the purser; Amador Ballens, the steward; Sam Kavanaugh, the fireman, and several passengers are reported lost.

The electionary entertainment given by Miss A. F. Luse at the court house was a success. There were at least one hundred persons present, and the selections were of the very best and the reading of the highest order of election. Miss Luse will on (this) Friday night give an entire new program, and all who have not heard her should avail themselves of this last opportunity.

OCEAN DISASTER.—The steamer Cimbric, of the Hamburg-American Packet Company, was sunk January 19th, in the German ocean, by a collision with the English steamer Sultan. She sunk in fifteen minutes after the collision. The Cimbric left Hamburg on the 18th with 380 passengers and a crew of 110. So far 66 persons from the Cimbric have been landed. The steamer had eight life boats and more persons may have been saved, but the loss of life is undoubtedly very great.
