General Grant, ex-President R. B. Hayes, and President Arthur Inverested—A Canvassing Agents' Bonanza-

AN AGENT'S DREAM.

On the afternoon of October 10th. last, Messrs. F. Myers & Co., of 658 Broadway, New York, presented to President Arthur, at his New York residen.e. 123 Lexington Avenue, a copy of a remarkable and magnificent engraving, entitled "Our Presidents, 1789-1881," (copyright, 1882, by F. Myers & Co. ) After warmly commending the picture, the President bespoke a copy also for the White House, and the picture, elegantly framed, has accordingly been supplied-"with the complimients of the publishers." November 22nd. General U. S. Grant, while present at his business office in the Equitable Building, Broadway, N. Y., purchased a copy from a canvassing agent and appeared much pleased. Said the General and ex-President, referring to the portrait of himself: "That is a very good likeness of me. It is just as I look now, and my hair is just about as gray, and no grayer, than it appears there, and" added the General. "Garfield's is excellent-It is very goed of Arthur-Yes, and there's Taylor, General Taylor-I served under him -that is a good one of him. Indeed your picture is a good one generally. I am quite familier with all the faces; I was so long at the White House where good portraits of all the Presidents are found. It is a good idea, and I an quite pleased to have one." Saying this, General Grant, having paid the agent, left his offices, en route for his up-town mansion, carrying his copy of "Our Presidents, 1789-1881" with him, under his arm. On the next day, ex-President R. B. Hayes, received a copy of the plate at his home, in Fremont, and he at once addressed a letter to the publisher expressive of his approval and g atification.

The high merit of this picture—the finest national portrait-group ever published-is established in the leauty of its conception, which has there caused to be assembler, in figure, for the first time, our twenty-one Presidents giving audience to the great nation over which they have been honored to preside. It presents them in one of the grand saloons of the White House, artistically | him. portrayed in natural attitules, in full length figures, each one clad in the style peculiar to himself in his day. The portraits are telling and life-like, and recall memories of all. A sir gular effect is produced by thirteen clean-shaven faces, the custom of their time, while but four of the twenty-one wear the new popular moustache. On the walls of the saloon hangs a well executed picture of the surrender of Cornwallis, which in itself accurately illustrates that grand historical event. It is taken from the original painting in the retunda of the National Capitol. From the window of the room appears a fine view of the National Capitol Building, surmounted by the goddess of liberty. The picture is 22 x 28 inches in size, and affords an elegant and admirable subject for the homes of the people. It may we'l be considered a standard American picture.

The day dream of canvassing agents may now be realized, for the sale of such a work will no doubt be a steady one, and something enormous. It is sold especially through canvassing agents, and we understand that the publishers want agents in this locality and in other parts. This affords a timely business opportunity for some of our enterprising citizens who may find themselves at liberty to accept an agency. In order to more rapidly introduce this fine work, full particulars with an agent's outfit, including the engraving, circulars, and a brief history of the Lives of the Presidents-every one of them-will, we are informed be forwarded, charges prepaid, to these who apply with a view to an agency, and who at the same time temit one dollar to pay costs. All communications must be addressed to the publishers, F. Myers & Co., Post Office Box 526, New York City. We advise those of our readers who become interested in the subject to send for an outfit at once for their own advantage, also that others may, through such agencies possess themselves of copies of this happy production.

While the people of Oregon have beer complaining of the few frosty mornings with the eastern slope of the Rocky mountains have been patiently enduring an atmosphere ranging from eighteen to thirty degrees below zero, and yet in many of these states and territories they will tell us that they enjoy the finest climate under the sun. Whilst we Oregonians rest in perfect security, depending on the native grasses to furnish us fat beef during the entire winter, our neighbors east of the Rockies are compelled to house and feed even their stock cattle in or der to winter them over, and yet Oregonians will complain if it happens to freeze ice a little thicker than window-glass. We should really be thankful for our climate.

In the case of the State of Oregon vs. S F. ### Severe Storms in the Eastern States.

During last Saturday and Sunday the section of country embracing western Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana was flooded with the highest freshets that have ever been known to the people of these states. The damage caused by the flood is immeasurable. Towns and whole sections of country have been completely submerged. Bridges, dwellcreek, and stole some three or four hundred ings and machine shops have been swept away. A Cleveland dispatch Isaac Thompson, a well known merchant | says: Machine shops, flour mills, pack. ing houses, factories of all kinds and the rail way freight house are more or less submerged. During the year there were 996 letters and inside of congress. They have pooled their issues and will make common cause. The navy ring has won the first engagement in the house. It remains to be seen if the senate will confirm Robeson's work. The great ring of land-grabbers has succeeded, by the action of the judiciary committee of the house, not only in preventing any legislation adverse to this immense interest but also in keeping the subject from getting before the house at all.

The whisky ring will soon make its last desperate effort. The real truth in this does not appear upon the surface. The distillers and manufacturers of whisky have little concern about the bill passed by the senate extending the bonded time for two years, or any legislation that may be substituted for it. Speculators and banks are the parties most anxious and most disturbed in mind about the action of congress. There are about 83,000,000 or 84,000, 000 gallons of whisky stored. The banks have advanced between $50,000,-000 and $60,000,000 on warehousing certificates. About $20,000,000 of this paper is held in Louisville, Cincinnati, St. Louis and Chicago, the remainder is scattered in the great eastern cities. It is undoubtedly true that the banks ROSEBURG ACADEMY. are seriously embarassed by the accumulation of these discounted certificates, and they can get no relief from the speculators who put them up as collateral security. The banks, therefore, are practically the owners of the whisky, and their situation is more critical because they will be compelled for self protection, to pay the tax on this stock as it becomes due. The aggregate tax will be about $74,000,000 or $75,000, stance. It is harmless when taken by a 000, distributed over two years and
