H. C. STANTON, P. M.

TO THE LADIES OF ROSEBURG.—The National Women's Christian Temperance Union is a large and influential society, composed and conducted entirely by ladies, and in view of the great work already accomplished by thisorganization and desirous of promoting the work of the great temperance reform. A meeting for organizing a W. C. T. U. will be held in Roseburg March 10th at 2:30 P. M. at the M. C. church under the supervision of Mrs. H. R. Hines. All are invited to be present.

THE SICK REPORT.—There has been quite an epidemic of pneumonia in this city during the last two months, caused no doubt by the inclemency of weather and quite a number of our citizens have been seriously ill. We are pleased to learn all are in a fair way to recover. J. C. Floed Sr. who has been ill for two months past, a part of the time dangerously so, has so far recovered as to be able to sit up most of the time and will soon be out David Bushey, has had a very serious attack, but is now convaliscent. Louis Zigler the landlord of the Metropolitan is still confined to his room but is getting better. L. F. Lane Esq. has been out, but is at present quite feeble. The editor C. Ball Esq. has reported for duty, but our foreman Mr. Richardson is still unable to work though recovering rapidly. John Rast was confined to his bed in the first part of the week but is out on the streets again. This we believe includes all hospital patients and we hope that we may never be called to publish another of the same length.

A BLAZE.—On last Tuesday night about ten o'clock Henry Bowen City Marshal and Will Pitchford discovered smoke issuing from the iron doors of the brick store occupied by M. Josephson. The store had been closed about an hour and a half and Mr. Josephson had gone home. Word was sent to him to bring the key of the door. He could scarcely believe that the five could be in his building as there was no stove in it and no light burning, but upon opening the doors the room was found to be filled with smoke and a blaze in the shelving on the south side adjoining the drug store of Dr. Hamilton. The fire was soon extinguished with comparatively little loss. It appears that the flue is built in the partiten wall between the two stores with a pipe hole in each. The soot took fire from the drug store and fell through the pipe hole, there being no cap on it, on to Josephson's goods. It is fortunate that the goods which first took fire were woolen and burned slowly, and it was also fortunate that it was discovered before a late hour of the night, or a very disastrous conflagration would have occurred. Mr. Josephson was fully insured.

LOCAL ITEMS.

Onion sets for sale cheap at Hamilton's.

Mr. A. Bush of Salem left last week with his daughter for a trip to the East.

All kinds of garden, field and flower seeds for sale at Hamilton's drug store.

D. W. Crosby of Jacksonville stopped with us a day upon his return from Portland.

If you want seeds that will grow buy those put up by O. Dickonson, Salem, Oregon, kept for sale at Hamilton's.

Our staunch Democratic friend John Crowley paid us a visit this week. He reports business lively on the East Umpqua.

John C. Smith of Wilbur, an old time resident of this county paid Roseburg a visit for the purpose of seeing his old acquaintances.

This week Narcisse Larout sold 1200 bushels of wheat to Gates and Criteser, millers—terms private, but it is reported to have been a gilt-edged price.

Our neighbor, W. H. Byars, has purchased the residence of Gen. Odell in Salem and will remove his family there. Hereafter he will look after the state printing in person.

An official inquiry into the loss of the steamer Tacoma is being had before the United States inspectors at San Francisco. The testimony is conflicting. The case is not yet disposed of.

The falling of a stairway in the Catholic Parochial School in New York City, last Tuesday, the 20th, resulted in killing and wounding many children. About 16 deaths were reported at last accounts.

Mrs. Mary A. McKinney, mother of Mrs. R. A. Emmitt, of Plevna, died at her home at Mr. Emmitt's on the 3d, of dropsy of the heart. This is the third death in the family within a few months, two little children having been carried away with scarlet fever.

Harley, son of John Baker, Esq., of this city, says the Salem Talk, fell heir to the estate of an uncle, who died recently in Memphis, Missouri, amounting to about $50,000. Harley was named after and was a favorite with the deceased relative who so generously remembered him.

Col. C. F. Frizell, purchasing agent for O. & C. R. R. Co. was in town Tuesday. He reports that he has already purchased grain and hay sufficient to last the company until the next crop at reasonable prices. The farmers whose surplus he purchased, would since the freeze gladly buy it back at an advance of twenty-five per cent.

In the case of Alfred Anderson convicted of murder in the first degree for killing his brother Carl, Judge Stott on last Friday overruled the motion for a new trial and sentenced the prisoner to be hung at Portland Friday April 10th at one o'clock P. M. A bill of exceptions was prepared and an appeal will be taken to the Supreme Court.

The Northern Pacific railroad company has let to J. B. Montgomery and Co., the contract for constructing the grade and the bridging of the link between Portland and Kalama. Work will begin immediately and the contract requires that it be finished September 1st. The company will lay the iron. The line is 39 miles long and there will be three miles of side track.

From the Times we learn that the prospects are not favorable in Southern Oregon for an extended run. Most of the miners are busy at work since the pleasant weather began, but unless rain begin to fall soon, there will be a dearth of water. Those who rely on gulches and short creeks are not liable to do much this season, without the spring is late and wet.

Charles Holge, J. W. Brazee and D. F. Leahy have filed articles in the county clerk's office of Multnomah county, incorporating the Douglas Quicksilver company with a capital of $100,000, at $10 per share. The duration of the company is unlimited and the principal office is at Portland. The purpose of the company is to deal generally in mining land and claims and to operate cinnabar and other mines.

Judge G. W. Lawson died at his home in Portland, Friday morning February 23th, 1883, at 6:45 A. M., of pneumonia, aged 65 years 2 months and 10 days. Judge Lawson was born in the State of New York, and immigrated to Oregon in the year 1851. In 1855 he was appointed Receiver of the Land office of this district, then established at Winchester. After the expiration of his term, he removed to Salem where he resided for many years, when he removed to Portland. He leaves a family of grown children.

The Capital Flouring Mills says the Statesman, has done the right thing with the farmers, in as much as they have let those who had the misfortune to have their winter wheat killed, have seed wheat for other wheat where the farmer had the other wheat. Also sold the seed wheat just at cost with storage added. And in many cases taking farmer's note until after harvest. Mr Herren informs us that he has written up to their agent at Shedds Station, Linn county, where the company has wheat stored, to exchange for other wheat, or sell it to the farmers just at cost with storage added.

Thursday night Fred Schwartz, a gambler, from California, was shot and killed in the Palace Theater bar in Portland. The murder was committed by Frank Wheeler. As near as can be ascertained at present, Wheeler and some man had a fight, and the other party attempted to strike Wheeler with a chair, and he (Wheeler) fired at his assailant, and the bullet took effect in the neck of Schwartz, severing the jugular vein, which resulted in death in a few minutes. There seems to be conflicting stories about the affair, but be that as it may it was the result of bad whisky and in one of those deadfalls with which Portland is badly afflicted.

Thursday in the State circuit court at Hillsboro, Frank Smiley was on trial for manslaughter in killing a man named Johnson. One evening last summer Johnson was making his way through the bushes, pushing a wheelbarrow, and being tired, sat down on the side of the wheelbarrow and lighted his pipe for a quiet smoke. At this juncture Smiley fired at him from the roadside, inflicted wounds from which he died. Smiley claimed that he mistook Johnson and his wheelbarrow for a bear. The jury, it appears, did not take it as a proper excuse. The case was given to the jury at 5 o'clock Thursday night, and after three hours deliberation, came in with a verdict of guilty of manslaughter.

An Assassination.

Dr. Hugh J. Glenn, who was the Democratic candidate for Governor of California in 1879, the most extensive farmer in the State, was murdered by H. Miller at Germantown, Colusa county, Feb. 17th. While Dr. Glenn was walking along the porch of Jacinto hall Miller fired at him with a shot gun, the charge striking him in the head and killing him in a few hours. The murderer H. Miller, is a man of family, and about 55 years of age. He has been intimately acquainted for years with Dr. Glenn. Twice has Dr. Glenn started him in business, the last time at Colusa, but being an intemperate man, he did not succeed. Finally he was compelled to resort to the menial labor of herding geese at paltry wages, when Dr. Glenn again took pity on him and gave him a situation as his book-keeper at a salary of $75 a month. Last Monday the Doctor again found him under the influence of liquor and severely reprimanded him, when Miller retorted in vile and abusive language, whereupon he was discharged. As soon as Miller saw his victim fall he turned to escape by going across a field in a southerly direction. Just then R. M. Cochran, general superintendant for Dr. Glenn, hearing of the crime rushed for a Henry rifle and started in pursuit. When within hailing distance he ordered Miller to stop. Miller then turned upon Cochran and told him not to approach he would shoot, having taken his shot gun along. Cochran seeing no other way of capturing the murderer, shot at Miller. The bullet entered the fleshy part of his thigh. Being wounded, Miller threw up his hands and called for mercy. He was then transferred to Colusa jail. Dr. Glenn owned 55,000 acres of land in Colusa county of which 45,000 are in cultivation. He usually raised 250,000 centals of wheat every year. He also had large cattle and farming interests in Oregon and Nevada. He employed hundreds of men, and was always generous and kind to his employes.

An Explosion.

On Friday Feb. 20th at half past nine an explosion of giant powder occurred at the railroad excavation in East Portland, which is under the management of of Al McKenzie, under the following circumstanses. In the prosecution of the work, wells are sunk down in the high bank to a depth of about forty feet, into which a quantity of giant powder is put, and at noon the same exploded, throwing a large quantity of earth out loosely, ready for the steam shovel. Mr. McKenzie left a gang of chinamen with a number of kegs while he went down into one of the wells to attach the fuse to about 150 pounds of powder there. It appeared that the chinamen, at the same time, were preparing to load another well about fifteen feet away. One of them, instead of going at it in a proper manner, took a hatchet and went to chopping a 25-pound keg of the giant powder. An explosion resulted, and as there were three other kegs of similar size standing near, the whole hundred pounds went off at once. Of the fifteen Chinamen standing near, ten are supposed to be fatally wounded and burned in a horrible manner. One man, the "bookman," and the best in the gang, was thrown a distance of forty feet. Others were thrown in every direction, some rolled down the embankment with their clothing afire. A keg of powder was standing on the platform of the hoisting machine in the well where McKenzie was at work, and the straw matting around the same caught fire, as well as the rope which held it. The rope burned off and the platform went crashing down into the well, where the horrified man stood with 150 pounds of powder confined in a small space. With rare presence of mind he jumped aside and then kicked the fire away from the powder, and in a most marvelous manner an explosion was averted and McKenzie's life saved. After a time another hoisting apparatus was prepared and the frightened man was taken out. He says that it appeared to him he was a whole year in that well.

FROM MYRTLE CREEK.

Pursuant to notice the citizens of Myrtle Creek met at the school house for the purpose of taking the initiatory steps towards the erection of a church house for public worship at Myrtle Creek.

D. S. K. Buick was chosen chairman and W. P. Berry secretary.

The chairman in a few remarks stated the object of the meeting.

It was ordered by the meeting that D. S. K. Buick, John Hall, Henry Wiley, Hans Weaver, J. D. Burnet and Rev. W. Willis be constituted a committee to circulate a subscription and solicit aid for such purpose.

It was further ordered that the secretary furnish a copy of the proceedings of this meeting to the county papers for publication.

The meeting then adjourned subject to the call of the committee.

LETTER FROM CAMP No. 8.

Having but little to occupy my time to-day I thought perhaps a few items from here would be acceptable.

It has been snowing nearly all day and is quite warm so the snow has melted freely. Work has not progerssed very rapidly for the last week on account of Chinese New Years and bad weather. There seems to be considerable complaint among the men about bad colds, but nothing very serious. On the 11th our doctor came near getting hurt by a tree falling on his tent, which destroyed his drugs and tore up things generally. Our engineer, Mr. Valk, while riding over the works met with a fall which bruised him very badly but not seriously. I was informed to-day that tunnels No. 5 and 7 are nearly completed, which speaks well for the energy of Mr. Sweet. I understand that a gin mill is to be put up at this camp soon by a Mr. Cannon, but I am of the opinion he will not do very well as the officers of the road are opposed to anything of the kind being operated on the line. Mr. G. W. Cleveland has resigned his position as foreman, and will go into the wood, tie and farming business with his uncle. I hope Mr. C. will do as well in his new business as he did training horses. We have had quite a snow storm since the above was written. The snow is about eight inches deep, but the weather is quite pleasant. I hear the paymaster will be here soon, and then I suppose all the tin horn gambleas from Myrtle Creek and other places will be on hand to swindle men who have worked hard for the last month. Such gamblers should be put in prison for the remainder of their natural lives.

COLE'S VALLEY.

Farmers are all feeding their stock.

Our people did not enjoy the snowstorm.

Grain is froze out and light crops are anticipated. Many will have to resow their fields.

The Barr Bros. have their cutlery shop in full blast and are prepared to manufacture all kinds of cutlery to order.

W. B. Clark is building a hay press to be used in this valley the coming season. It is something that is needed very much.

We have quite a number who desire to become pensioners in this valley, and are highly elated over the prospect of getting a stake out of Uncle Sam.

Mr. W. E. Jorden has rented his shingle mill on Hubbard creek, to C. A. Briggs. Mr. Jordon thinks of going east in the spring to see his mother, who is in her declining years.

A few days ago Mr. P. Murphy's flock of sheep was visited by dogs, which killed some fifteen or twenty and wounded as many more. Owners of sheep will have to make common cause against dogs.

Mr. Ashford Clayton is expected home soon from his trip to Los Angeles, where he went for his daughter's health. The climate was so beneficial that she got married and concluded to remain there. The young men here are sorrowful. ALPHA.

FROM CLEVELAND.

A legal tender-ness—the valentine. This coin is from the Cleveland mint.

Although it is very dull out here at present, I will try to give you a few items of general interest.

The young folks of this neighborhood say that they enjoyed themselves immensely at the danee given by Mr. Peter McKinney on the night of the 14th, and we are not in the least inclined to doubt it.

Mr. Buell the efficient mail carrier between Looking Glass and Oakland, generally succeeds in making through trips, rain or shine, for which he deserves the thanks of every resident along the route.

Winter is a very dull season to the people on this side of the river, and it is not to be wondered at, either, if one will only study the geography of this part of Douglas county and see how completely the inhabitants of Cole's valley are cut off from their county-seat and the rest of the county by the Umpqua river. This stream could be bridged with little trouble and no great amount of money. Yes, a bridge is what we want. NEWSBOY.

THE only apology we can make to our subscribers for the failure to issue a paper last week, is that the Editor C. Ball was confined to his bed, the foreman Mr. Richardson and one of the type setters were sick, and no printers available. We are only able to get out this number with the assistance of volunteers and some young lady typos. Under the circumstances, we confidedtly hope that our patrons will overlook the omission and extend to us that liberality and support which we need to make a reliable and lively newspaper, whether the editor be sick or not.

Reply to the Challenge.

Some weeks ago there appeared a challenge in the columns of the INDEPENDENT addressed to the shooters of Douglas county, the Redfields not excepted, by Mr. Alex Ireland. As the challenge seems to be specially intended for the Redfields, we will say it would have been sooner answered but for the fact that Mr. Ireland was interviewed by one of the Redfields and failed to come to the centre by insisting that the Redfields should place themselves in some particular position while shooting. We, [the Redfields] are somewhat known for shooting, but not for blowing about it. We have never challenged Douglas county, and very seldom any person, nor will we now, but have always found plenty of shooting without advertising for it. We are under the impression you could have done the same, Mr. Ireland, and you are not the first man who has challenged Douglas county and gone back on it.

The Redfields are somewhat scattered, but by addressing them at Galesville you will reach some of them, and you will be sure to be accommodated and met half way. It will only cost you a postal card to get all the shooting you desire. We will not insist on your taking any certain position. You may lie down, sit down or stand up; suit yourself, we claim the same privilege. The regular rules for shooting will be strictly adhered to. Off hand shooters have the benefit of one half the distance; these rules all shooters are familiar with. If you fail to come to time now it would be better for you to cease your blowing, dispose of your gun and turn your attention to something you understand, and not consider yourself longer a sport.

THE REDFIELDS.
