The fig is said to be a sure crop in most of the southern States. The cost of cultivation is trifling.

Butte City, Montana, consumes ten car loads of coal per day and twenty barrels of whisky.

New York is to have an underground railway extending the whole length of Broadway. It will have four tracks.

Miss Zabriskie, daughter of Dr. Zabriskie, well known on this coast, was drowned recently, at Silver City, Nevada.

Fresno county, California, is making a canal 100 feet wide, from Kings river, to irrigate 30,000 acres of dry and worthless desert.

At an elevation of two miles above the level of the sea, one may read by the light of the stars, and many not seen at a lower elevation become visible.

Mr. H. O. Lang, the historian, left for Jacksonville by Wednesday's train, and Dr. J. W. Strange has charge of the history office during his absence.

H. Fleckenstein, of the firm of Fleckenstein & Mayer, of Portland, was in Roseburg this week on business, looking after the firm's interests in southern Oregon.

J. W. Strange Esq., late Clerk of the House of Representatives of Oregon, was in the city this week. It is rumored that he proposes again locating in Roseburg.

R. Newcomb of Portland, a former resident of Roseburg, arrived Monday evening and left Tuesday morning for Coos bay, on important business connected with the A. O. U. W.

We met with father Wm. E. Weekly, on his return from the east. He was one of the pioneers who went east with the excursion. He was at his old home for about 15 days. He reports the cold too severe for an Oregonian.

It is reported that a veriant youth from the Calapooia while in Roseburg one day last week, mistook the foundry for sorghum works, and was observed explaining to his chum the process of making molasses in the smelting furnace.

At T. W. Morgan's you will find the finest assortment of holiday goods in the city, such as dolls, toys, tops, autograph albums, ladies purses, picture books, picture frames, and fancy ware of every description. Do not fail to give him a call.

Gen. James B. Steadman, a major general of the late war, who won his laurels at Chancellorsville, died on the 19th of October, in the city of Toledo, Ohio, of pneumonia, in the 67th year of his age. He was chief of police at the time of his death and a staunch Democrat.

At Black River Falls, Wisconsin, October 23, Miss Lena Richison, who had been dead four days, as was supposed, was about to be buried, when Dr. Baxter of Milwaukee looked in the coffin and seeing the face of the woman asked to be allowed to try to resuscitate her. He succeeded so well that in a short time she was able to get up in the coffin.

The jury in the case of Miss Clara Woods vs. Dr. G. H. Davis for breach of promise of marriage, after balloting from 3 in the afternoon until 10 o'clock last evening, finally returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff, fixing the amount of damages to her lacerated feelings at $4000. The defendant announces that he will carry the case to the Supreme court.

Give Them a Chance.

If the thousands and tens of thousands of weak and weary sufferers throughout the land, who, in spite of care and skill, are steadily drifting downwards, could have the benefit of that subtle and singularly vitalizing agent which is called Compound Oxygen, the help, and ease, and comfort it would bring to wasting bodies and depressed spirits would be blessings beyond price. If, reader, you have an invalid wife, or mother, or daughter, or sister, or any one who is under your care and dependent upon you, and to whom life has become a burden through weakness and pain, consider seriously whether you are not bound, in both love and duty, to give this sufferer a chance of recovery, or, at least, the lessening of case from pain. You are offered the simplest means of information in regard to this new treatment. If you can examine testimony without prejudice, and can weigh evidence with judgment and discrimination, you can hardly fail to see that in Compound Oxygen there is a healing power that is simply wonderful. Let then the sick and suffering who you care for and love, and for whom you have not been able to get relief, have a trial of this new remedy. It can do them no harm, and, seeing what it has done and is doing in so many thousands of cases, all the probabilities are in favor of its doing them good. Send to Drs. Starkey & Pelen, 1109 and 1111 Girard street, Philadelphia, for their "Treatise on Compound Oxygen, its Nature, Action and Results," and learn all about the remarkable cures which are being made by this new agent. The Treatise will be sent free.

All orders for the Compound Oxygen Home Treatment directed to H. E. Mathews, 606 Montgomery street, San Francisco, will be filled on the same terms as if sent direct to us in Philadelphia.

THERE are already 25 Democratic Governors in the United States, and Governor Hoadly will make the 26th.

This leaves the Republicans only an even dozen, and well indicates the strains to which the G. O. P. has come in these booming days of the Republic with a big R.

Another Marriage.

Sunday evening, November 4, 1883, at the residence of the bride's parents in Roseburg, Hattie R., only daughter of Hon. W. F. Benjamin, Receiver of the U. S. land office, was married to Hon. Frank K. Benson, school superintendent, by Rev. John Howard of the M. E. church.

Miss Lillie Moore was first bridesmaid, and G. W. Kimball acted as best man to the groom. Among invited guests present to witness the ceremony were the following:

Mrs. William R. Willis, Miss Lulu Willis, Mr. and Mrs. Dr. J. F. Saubert, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Hursh, Mrs. Solomon Abraham and son, Mrs. E. M. Moore and daughter, Mrs. N. Partie, Miss Della Partie, Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Friedlander, Asher Marks and W. N. Moore of Roseburg; Prof. H. L. Benson and family of Drain station and a brother of the bride from Salt Lake City. The presents were numerous. This office acknowledges the compliment of cake and cards, and returns its well wishes for the happiness and prosperity of the bride and groom.

The Sleep and the Awakening.

From the Oregonian.

If the truth must be told about the necessity that compels the importation of meats, fruits, vegetables, eggs, butter and pretty much all other articles of food into Oregon from California and the eastern States—and truth telling on a matter of so much importance has become imperative—then it must be said that a great many people here who own land, and others who ought to own land since it may be had for the taking, are shamefully lazy. If a judicious observer were asked what, in his opinion, this country needs most, there is reason to fear that he would answer, "A proper number of well appointed funerals." The sarcasm would need no explanation. The country has too many sluggards. Habits of careless and lazy living, formed during the long period of our isolation, will, in case of many, perhaps most, never be changed. There are men who own large tracts of land of which they make little use, nor ever will make more, who must be borne with while they live, since they never will add much to the activity or industry of the country; and there are others, not land owners, who in the days of old acquired habits of indolent, shiftless and hand-to-mouth living, and will continue the same to the end of their lives. The country must grow without the assistance of these unproductive classes; it must even carry them as dead weight. But there is a goodly portion even of its old population who are active, intelligent and enterprising, and these are rapidly being reinforced by arrivals from other States. A country naturally so fruitful as this cannot long be compelled to bring from abroad almost everything that goes down the throats of its people, except their drinking water. It is a reproach to it that it is compelled to do so now. Oregon has been settled longer than Minnesota; it is an older American community than California; and the State, in many natural resources and advantages, is far more favored than either. It can beat them in every important product of agriculture. How long, then, will it be forced to depend on them for the food it consumes? There must be an awakening, and it can't come too soon.

APPLES AS FOOD.—

Apples have always been used for desert. Pliny tells us of twenty-two varieties cultivated by Romans, now we possess over 2,000 kinds. As an article of food they rank with the potato, and on account of the variety of ways they can be cooked are preferred by many to the potato. As a substitute for pastry they are invaluable, feeding the brain as well as flesh producing, preventing constipation and acidity. A ripe, raw apple is digested in an hour a half, while a boiled potato takes three hours. Sweet apples, baked or stewed, are best used instead of sour varieties. Every meal should have apples cooked in some form or other, and children should be allowed to eat as many as they want. Instead of using the quack nostrums sold for the blood, or other patent medicines, use apples freely as food, and as far as possible in the place of potatoes, and the testimony of the medical profession goes to prove the healthful qualities of this excellent fruit.

RUMORED RESIGNATION.—

The latest rumor in legal circles is to the effect that Judge Stott will resign his office at New Year's, and associate himself with a partner for the practice of his profession. The legal fraternity are now endeavoring to find out who will be Judge Stott's successor. Several parties are named, but nothing definite is known in the matter. It is said that two or three of the aspirants for the place have already been making pilgrimages to Salem for the purpose of being assured that their judicial prospects are all right.

Murder Near Albany.

A special to the Oregonian, November 5th, from Albany, says: This morning the city was startled by the announcement that the wife of J. J. Findlayson, living about five miles south of town, had been murdered. E. R. Skipworth, justice of the peace and acting coroner, was summoned, and empanneling a jury, elicited the following facts: Last Saturday Mr. Findlayson started to Brownsville, and returning to-day, about noon, found that his wife had been murdered during his absence. The deceased was murdered with an ax and pocket knife. The examination showed that she had been stabbed 25 times, and that her skull had been mashed with the ax, the back sinking the entire length into the head. After hearing the evidence the jury returned a verdict that the woman had been murdered and in their opinion by her stepson, Charles Benson Findlayson. The boy, aged 15 years, left Saturday evening, and has not since been heard of. His shirt, with blood on the sleeve was found near his room; also the bloody knife, found near the deceased, with which she was killed, was identified as belonging to him.

FROM OAKLAND.

Business is looming up. The grain season is over. We have an overplus of unmerciful drummers.

The grangers are busily engaged planting the coming crop.

Our health at present is in a deplorable condition, and may continue so for some time.

Horace Hanna took his departure for Portland on Tuesday, being engaged by W. F. & Co. to assist them in their business.

Mr. McPherson, who has been visiting relatives and friends in this place for some time, started for his home in Mt. Idaho, on Tuesday.

Arb. Stearns, who has been absent for some time, returned home last week. He will now engage with Mr. Chenoweth in the mercantile business.

The butcher business has made another change and now Mr. Beckley has full control. Those who have stepped down and out have accumulated enough to place them on the retired list.

The mum supper given last week under the auspices of the Episcopal church, was a complete success to the church, and we imagine that the patrons were satisfied with the result.

The largest potato of the season can be seen at J. H. Slupe & Co.'s. It weighs eight pounds and was produced by Mr. Eubanks. Bring forth your largest and we will see how they compare.

Divine service was held in this place last Sunday by the Rev. Smick. The sermon was well delivered and impressed us that our morals should be improved.

Our matrimonial market has taken a general stampede at last, for last week we were notified of a double wedding, wherein two brothers and two sisters were wed to the hymeneal altar and ceremoniously tied together. We cannot imagine what our next report will be, for the market fluctuates to a certain extent.

Work at the cinabar is pushing ahead with considerable vigor. Ore is being taken out in large quantities and the furnaces will be busily engaged in a short time.

The new mercantile business, under the management of James Chenoweth, is opening in good style and the future prospects of the new firm are good in every respect.

The nocturnal bill-sticker and general news reporter has left town for a few days, in search of news and topics of interest, as news about town is rather stale and not interesting enough for conspicuous posting. However, next week he will be able to come forward well fixed.

The Campbell Case.

The time of the United States Circuit court was consumed on November 7th with the argument of counsel in the case of Andrew M. Campbell, charged with robbing the postoffice safe at Oregon City, and at 5 o'clock the jury retired, but in a short time returned with a verdict of not guilty. This verdict is endorsed by nearly all who are familiar with the case. The theory of the prosecution was one of those very dangerous positions so frequently taken by public prosecutors, that the defendant must be convicted because he is charged with the crime. The points in the State's case were that the postoffice at Oregon City was robbed; that the defendant was in Oregon City at the time; going there in the day before and leaving a day or two afterwards. The prosecution relied on the statement of one witness to the effect that the defendant had admitted the crime while under the influence of liquor or opium; but this witness was successfully impeached, and the case was left with scarcely a shadow of foundation. The defense established an alibi to the satisfaction of the jury, that is, showed where he was at the time the robbery is supposed to have taken place. Mr. Campbell is a young man, but has not had the advantages that many other people have had. He is a waiter by profession, but a man of many good qualities. It is rather hard to drive him to the verge of ruin by charging him with crime and attempting to force him to the penitentiary when the facts do not justify it. Besides establishing Mr. Campbell's innocence, the prosecution has shown that the United States officials have been on the wrong scent for three years.—[Standard.

MYRTLE OREEK.

The schools in this vicinity, one in the village, taught by Miss Fannie Gibbs, and on North Myrtle creek, by Miss Anna Cooper closed last Friday Nov 2d. Both schools were eminently successful and satisfaction given to all concerned.

An exhibition was given by the school on North Myrtle creek, assisted by the village school. The exercises were a success in every particular. Both schools were well represented. H. S. Strange presided. Music was furnished by Misses Hall; opening address was delivered by Miss Sarah Wiley; recitations by Edward Wiley, Ira Liles, Fannie Wertz, Nathan Selig, Carrie Dunivan, Willis Dunivan, Florence Hall, Lulu Wertz, Ida Wertz, Maggie Wiley and Mary Cooper.

An excellent select reading was given by Anna Cooper. Several dialogues were well acted. The attendance was large and the exercises reflected credit upon teachers and pupils. This is the first exhibition of the season. Let us hear from other schools. We believe that all schools should have at least one public entertainment in a term. It is certainly beneficial to all who take part therein. The publication of teacher's reports and school exhibitions would be of great value.

ROGER MINOTT SHERMAN, a direct descendant of the Roger Sherman who signed the Declaration of Independence, was before the Superior Court of Fairfax county asking a divorce from his wife, Florence Bagley Sherman, the daughter of the late Governor Bagley, of Michigan, and a possessor in her own right of a fortune of $2,000,000. Many sensational features are attached to the case, and the good name of some of the first families of New York, New England and the West is involved. For this reason it was that the trial was brought away up here among the quiet hills of Northwestern Connecticut. Habitual intemperance is the allegation upon which Mr. Sherman founds his plea.

FOR SALE.—I have one span of good work horses and some others, which I offer for sale. H. CONN, SR.

A. F. Brown, a prominent merchant of Oakland, was in the city yesterday on business.

Writing of the Short Line road, a correspondent of the Baker City, Oregon, Tribune, says: While the Short Line road has been rapidly built, the work has been thoroughly done. Indeed, it would be hard to find a railway more thoroughly constructed in the West than this. The roadbed looks like that of an old road, and they can run their passenger trains forty miles an hour with perfect safety from Granger to Poccatello. The train which I came in was a little over two hours late when we left Granger, and this was all made up and we were running on time before we had gone 170 miles. At Ham's Fork, 42 miles from the main line, there was as fine coal fields as have been found west of the Missouri river.

JONES' MINERAL WATER!

Testimonials From Prominent Citizens of Roseburg!

For the benefit of those suffering with catarrh I will state that I have been afflicted with that disease for the last three years and after using various remedies without any benefit, was finally induced to try the Eldorado Mineral Water, from the spring of Geo. W. Jones, which I will state has effected a cure, and I have no hesitation in recommending it to those suffering with a like complaint. J. S. FITZHUGH, County Judge of Douglas county. April 13, 1883.

G. W. JONES, SR.: During last Summer I was suffering with constipated bowels and general ill health. I procured two bottles of mineral water and used it and am entirely cured. I have no hesitation in recommending the water to all who are suffering with like derangement of the bowels and general debility. HENRY BOWEN, City Marshal of Roseburg. April 13, 1883.

GEORGE W. JONES, SR.: Having used the Eldorado Mineral Water for some time, for dyspepsia and catarrh, I feel safe in recommending it to the public as a sure and reliable remedy in those afflictions. W. S. HUMPHREY, City Recorder. Roseburg, April 16, 1883.

This is to certify that during last Fall I was suffering seriously with congestive chills and fever, and was induced to try the Jones Mineral Water and am happy to state that one bottle cured me entirely and I have enjoyed good health ever since. W. G. CLEVEL
