LOCAL ITEMS.

The farmers are busy seeding. The season has been favorable for plowing.

We will not tell what we know about farming at present. The mud is too deep.

The only genuine Henry Clay cigar in the city, at Morgan's.

R. L. Stephens, formerly of Oakland, this county, is now residing in East Portland.

Try some of those big cigars at Morgan's, put up expressly for the fancy trade.

Mrs. A. W. Compton has returned from her trip to the east and reopened her dress-making establishment in Roseburg.

The game law went into force the first of this month. The mountaineers have to submit on cougar. It is fine substitute for venison.

A large number of the Chinamen employed on the construction of the railroad have recently been discharged and have returned to Portland.

Wednesday the train from Portland had on board three prisoners, one crazy man and the new boy. Strange to say, there was no accident.

The recent rain has brought up the speckled beauties from below and our fishermen enjoy the sport of catching them. They do not bite well for editors. They catch only suckers.

The public school of Roseburg will close next week. There will be no private school at the academy this winter.

The public school will commence again immediately after the holidays.

At T. W. Morgan's you will find the finest assortment of holiday goods in the city, such as dolls, toys, books, photograph albums, ladies purses, picture books, picture frames, and fancy ware of every description.

The Republican papers are assiduously working up a boom for Gen. Sherman for the Presidency. Since his retirement from the army, it is doubtful if the old veteran can be caught by their offers, in this age of uncertainties.

Portland papers complain of the muddy streets and sidewalks of that city, but console themselves that Albina is worse. We have not heard any complaint on that score of Roseburg. We have a fine climate here and plenty of it.

J. L. McKinney is located near Lafayette, Yamhill county, engaged in farming. He claims this to be the best section of the State he has seen since leaving Douglas county.

We expect to see him back to this county soon.

Tuesday Sheriff Pardoll emancipated a jury to try the rights of property between Phipps and Mrs. Kelly, to some hogs which Phipps had attached as the property of Mrs. Kelly. The jury gave the hogs to Mrs. Kelly, who also recovers costs.

Justice Raymond's court was occupied on Tuesday of this week trying a cause of Phipps vs. Kelly. After hearing the evidence and listening to the earnest pleading of counsel, the Justice rendered a judgment in favor of the plaintiff for the sum of $15 and costs.

Hon. John Fullerton of Canyonville, has been outdoing his neighbors in the vine culture. He has raised a squash this season that weighs 142 1/2 pounds, and recently presented his friend Asher Marks of Roseburg, with a box of the largest grapes in the State. Asher is highly pleased with his present.

On Tuesday, the 13th inst., His Hon. A. F. Campbell, City Recorder, was called upon to bring and early to decide between the city of Roseburg and James Snyder, who was charged with shooting inside the city limits. The defendant claimed that the revolver was discharged accidentally, for which his honor imposed a fine of five dollars and costs.

We are pleased to hear that the history of Southern Oregon now being prepared by Mr. H. O. Lang, to be published by A. G. Walling, is being pushed forward to completion very rapidly. Very flattering reports are being received from the agents in the field every day. Mr. H. S. Strange will go north Monday and gather all information he can relating to that part of the county, while other representatives will start for Gardiner.

A. G. Walling of Portland, who is getting up the history of Southern Oregon, was in Roseburg this week. He stopped on his return from Jackson county, where he has been arranging for the collection of information for his book. His enterprise is a laudable one and will preserve many ancient landmarks of the early settlement which would otherwise be lost.

"Sound sleep and splendid appetite." This is one among the first reports we get from patients. Our Treatise on Compound Oxygen, its nature, action and results, with reports of cases and full information, sent free. Drs. Starkey & Palen, 1109 and 1111 Girard street, Philadelphia, Pa.

All orders for the Compound Oxygen, Home Treatment directed to H. E. Matthews, 606 Montgomery street, San Francisco, will be filled on the same terms as if sent directly to us in Philadelphia.

Rufus Butler died at his residence near Scottsburg, Thursday of last week. Mr. Butler was one of the early pioneers who settled in this valley. He lived on the river near Scottsburg for over thirty years and has many friends and acquaintances throughout this county. Near two years ago he was taken with paralysis, from which he never recovered and remained helpless until the time of his death. His afflicted family have the sympathy of the entire community.

James R. Todd, the stage robber who was arrested by F. P. Hogan some time ago, was convicted before the United States court last week and sentenced by Judge Deady to the penitentiary for life. When Deputy Marshal Frost went to the jail to take the prisoner before the court for sentence, he found him in a nude state, he having destroyed his clothing before the trial, to prevent being identified, and appeared at the trial in clothes borrowed from other prisoners. When the marshal called on him to appear for sentence he announced his readiness. As the rules of the United States court does not permit of prisoners appearing naked, it became necessary for the Marshal to furnish him clothing, which he did, with the exception of a coat. To this Mr. Todd objected, claiming that as important a personage as himself was entitled to appear in full dress. The Marshal, however, persuaded him with a brace of wristlets, as he feared he meditated escape.

Miscellaneous.

Mr. D. H. Divilbeas, a resident of Port Orford, is in the city of Roseburg on business.

Hon. S. F. Chadwick, of Salem, has been the city this week, looking after the railroad interests.

F. M. Strickland and wife of Looking-glass, were in the city this week, guests of Hon. L. F. Mosher.

Gold City, Idaho, is a rich mining camp. The gold is coarse and is found in a large scope of territory.

A car load of carp has been brought over the Northern Pacific road by the fish commissioners, for distribution in this State and Washington territory.

Shafer and Vignax, the champion billiardists, are to play a match game of 600 points, for the championship and a stake of $10,000.

Negotiations in reference to the Roseburg and Coos Bay railroad are still in progress. The probabilities are that work will be commenced next summer.

The quarterly meeting of the Roseburg circuit, M. E. Church South, will be held at Boggess' school house, commencing to-day and continuing over the Sabbath.

John S. Gray, ex-secretary of the State Board of Harbor Commissioners of California, has been sentenced to ten years in the penitentiary for embezzling the States money.

Jackson Cochran, the affable agent for E. Martin & Co., wholesale liquor merchants of San Francisco and Portland, stopped in Roseburg on his return from Glendale, where he has been in search of the customers of the firm, but reports them all dead.

William Heffron of Salem, and J. S. Rollins of Amity, had a narrow escape from drowning, recently, while crossing the Yamhill river at Garrison ford. The horses became entangled in the harness, and the team, a valuable one, were drowned.

Y. M. C. A.—The next regular meeting of the Roseburg Young Men's Christian Association, will be held at the Presbyterian Church, next Sabbath afternoon at 4 o'clock. A general invitation is extended to the public, and an interesting meeting is expected.

Mr. McLean, a youthful farmer of 116 summers, was recently married to a widow lady of 27, at Blitwood, South Carolina. Immediately after the ceremony the youthful groom started with his staid and quiet bride for New York, to spend the honeymoon.

We call special attention to the advertisement for bids for keeping the county poor. An opportunity will be afforded for philanthropists to come forward and lend a ministering hand to the infirm and at the same time receive remuneration for their care.

Wm. Irwin of Ten Mile was in the city yesterday. He was profuse with new anecdotes. Says it is a fact that the bad boy lives in North Ten Mile; that the nice young man is to be met with in South Ten Mile or Ollala.

Strange to say the Oregonian of yesterday as heartily approves of the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States in holding the Civil Rights bill unconstitutional, as it did of the passage of the act in 1875, when it was rushed through Congress as a party measure to catch the negro vote.

The boy Finlayson killed his grandmother because she made him mad. He is now in the custody of the law, which will help him to control his temper hereafter. Boys should take warning from this and learn to hold their tempers; they should never allow themselves to get mad, should never fight, nor call names, nor go fishing on Sunday and they will grow up to be good men and be respected. But should some little boys whom we might name, around Roseburg, continue cursing and swearing on the streets and offering to fight other little boys, when they grow up to be men they will in all probability go to Congress, or some other bad place.

A New York Post's Washington special says: A member of the administration said to-day: "Chester A. Arthur is a candidate for Presidential nomination. I know it, and I do not know that there is any necessity for keeping quiet about it any longer. I think that before long the party will have no doubt that he is a candidate. The result of the election in New York has perhaps made it proper that his candidacy should be avowed. I think Arthur is the man to carry that State, and from present appearances he will convince party leaders that he is the man. There are no rumors of cabinet changes, now that the election in New York has resulted in the choice of a Republican legislature.

The largest ship afloat is the John R. Kelly, just completed for the California trade. Her length over all is 280 feet, length of keel, 223 feet; beam, 45 feet; depth of hold, 28 feet, and will carry 3500 tons, dead weight.

From Cow Creek.

In this valley of hills and vales known far and near as the Umpqua valley, there is no spot more beautiful and fertile than the lower Cow creek valley.

This valley is six miles in length and about one and a half mile in width. It is covered with rich alluvial soil, the cultivation of which comprises the principal occupation of its inhabitants.

The valley was settled in 1851, the first donation claim being taken by W. G. Hearn. The first family to settle here was that of Wm. H. Riddle who took his donation claim in 1851.

A short time after settling he was followed by John Catcling, with the second family to locate in the valley. Both these gentlemen still reside here.

The Indians who occupied this soil were a separate and distinct tribe from the Umpquas and doubtless sprang from the Rogue river Indians, as they spoke the same language. In a treaty that was made between Indians and whites shortly after the settlements were made, the Indians were given that part of the valley which now comprises the farm of Mr. Dean, the falls of the creek for fishing and the mountains for hunting. They were also given a yoke of oxen. It was amusing to the settlers to see them hitch the oxen to a large brush and drive around with as many children as could find room to hold on. As much enjoyment was afforded them, no doubt, by these rides as a buggy or sleigh-ride would to the children of our more enlightened day.

By the use of these oxen the Indians broke the ground and raised grain which served as food to the horses of the volunteers in the war which followed, and the oxen made good beef for the men. It was here that the Indians started on their memorable raid through Civil Bend, Tenmile and Ollala, where an engagement was had, in which the Indian chief was killed and his followers routed. In this raid much property was destroyed and we understand the men who suffered so heavily are at last being allowed damages for the loss sustained. At the close of the war the Cow creek Indians were removed to the Rogue river country, and nothing since has transpired to mar the prosperity of the settlers.

Agriculture is the principle industry, but in connection with this mining has been quite extensively engaged in. Gold is found in paying quantities. A nickel mine is being developed and promises to be a success, also copper and iron are found. A steam sawmill is being erected by Hans Weaver.

Until recently they possessed no outlet, but in 1882 the railroad was extended through the valley and now the iron horse daily plunges by, carrying all produce and affording a market for it. A station has been established here, called Riddle, from the donation of the land on which it stands. Here may be found a store, two hotels, and a building in which one may deposit his change and receive in return the cup which is death to the soul and to all true manhood. Several residences have been erected and the people are talking of organizing a school for the winter, which should be done.

The people have been progressive in the past and no doubt will continue to be so in the future. H. S. S.

Calapoia Items.

Weather excellent for farming.

There will be several new buildings erected here next spring, among them two or three residences.

The pioneers are making their appearance again and are satisfied that there is no State equal to Oregon.

Every one is busy plowing and seeding. The acreage will be fully as large as last year, if not larger, with excellent prospects for a large crop.

The bachelors wear an improved look since they slaughtered a fine fat hog, and we judge, from the way one of them took a flying trip to Roseburg the other day, that matrimony is pending. When it happens we wish the lucky one all bliss imaginable, and have abundant pity for the others who are less lucky.

Madam Rumor says there will be a couple of marriages shortly, and we are ready to announce their names as soon as the ceremony takes place.

The debating society will meet next Saturday night. The question for debate is "Resolved that Man will do more for Love than Money." It will doubtless be handled with skill, as some of our young men have gained enviable skill as orators.

Mr. John Miles has returned home after an absence of several days. His many friends are glad to see his pleasant smile again.

Mr. H. Dewitt, who has been very sick for some time past, is slowly recovering. His many friends wish him a speedy return to health. REX.

Mrs. L. F. Mosher has returned from a visit to the Judge's ranch in Camas valley.

The Indian School.

Since Salem got possession of the insane asylum, it is after more patronage. The Statesman says: Col. Minthorn, superintendent of the Indian school at Forest Grove, in a communication to Dr. Nisbet, of this city, submits a proposition to the people of Salem, looking to a permanent location of the school. In his letter he says that the government will expend $25,000 the coming year in buildings, and about $4100 in current expenses. It is proposed to expend in the construction of buildings $50,000. The condition of the location at Salem is dependent upon the donation to the government of 200 acres of land, upon which to make the improvements.

It occurs to us that the proposition should be accepted by the people of Salem. The letter of Colonel Minthorn was handed by Dr. Nisbet to Governor Moody, who deemed it worthy of consideration, and in order to bring the matter before the people, placed it in the hands of the president of the Salem board of trade. It is to be hoped that that honorable body will be able to adopt some plan that will meet the hearty support of the citizens, and that no time will be lost in taking the necessary steps to secure the permanent location of the school at some eligible place near this city. The terms can be easily complied with, and the benefits to Salem, from a business view, will amply repay the cost. From present indications, the school will become a permanent institution, and of increasing importance. If it should not become a permanent institution, it will at least continue for fifteen or twenty years, and by that time the expenditures by the government in buildings and other improvements will make the property very valuable, and these cannot be removed, even if the school should be discontinued.

OBITUARY.—Joseph A. Hopkins died at Looking Glass last Saturday after a brief illness. He was taken with an epileptic fit the evening before and died about ten o'clock in the morning. Deceased was about forty-two years old and unmarried. He was buried on Sunday by the Old Fellows' lodge, with the honors of that order, of which he was an honored member. Deceased has lived in the town of Looking Glass and vicinity for eight or ten years, and served the people of the precinct for a number of years as justice of the peace. He was a sober and industrious citizen, has a large number of friends and acquaintances in this part of the country. He will be sadly missed from amongst us.

MARRIED.—John M. Bowen was married Thursday evening, the 16th, to Miss Araminta Smith, at the residence of Mrs. Simon Lane, in Roseburg, by Hon. J. S. Fitzhugh, County Judge. After the ceremony the young people of the city treated the bride and groom to a handsome serenade, which brought the young couple to the door, who in turn treated the serenaders to cake and wine, and all made merry for a while, when the company dispersed and the bride and groom were left to peace and quietude.

ANNOYING A DIVORCED WIFE.—Some time ago Alice Knott was divorced from William Knott, and the child given to the mother, with permission for the father to visit it at reasonable times. Since then Mrs. Knott has again married, and her former husband has made himself obnoxious by calling too frequently in her husband's absence. She therefore had the order allowing him to visit the child so modified that he can only call when the second husband is present.—[Standard.

Charles B. Finlayson, the boy who murdered his grandmother in Lion county, was arrested by Sheriff Humphrey of Albany, at a farm house not far from Willows station, in Wasco county, where he was at work. He was brought to Albany on Wednesday train. He is quite a large sized boy for his age, but not very intelligent. He admits he killed the old lady and says he done so because he was mad; that she wanted him to go out to plow, that he did not feel well and did not want to go; that she struck him with a stick of stove wood and was in the act of putting the wood in the stove, when he struck her in the back of the head with an ax and then followed her into another room and stabbed her. That he then found a few dollars and went from there to Portland. From Portland he went to the Dalles and from there to Willows, where he hired to work on a farm.

SPEAKING of high licenses for retailing liquor, Bob Ingersoll is credited with saying: "If the Mississippi was one flowing stream of bourbon, its banks solid crusts of loaf sugar and the surrounding swamps of pure mint, there would be no more drunkenness than at present." The New York Times added: "Maybe not, but there would be a denace of an emigration to the west."

Gen. Sherman has settled down in his old home in St. Louis. He received a cordial reception.

A Philadelphia dispatch of Nov. 12.

The steamship San Pablo, launched Saturday from the ship yard of Cramp & Sons, for the Pacific Improvement Company, is 350 feet long, 42 feet wide; and 29 feet deep. It is fitted with compound condensing engines of 2000 horse power, four steel boilers, steam steering gear, and machinery for loading and discharging cargo of the most improved pattern, and has a carrying capacity of 4000 tons. It is entered to run on the Pacific coast in connection with the San Pedro, to Puget sound, as a collier. The Cramps have recently closed a contract for the construction of three large iron steamers for the Southern Development Company of New York, formerly known as the Morgan line, running between New York and New Orleans, and owned by Stanford, Crocker and Huntington. The new vessels are intended for freight alone, and will have a carrying capacity of 9000 bales of cotton each. Their dimensions are: length, 350 feet breadth, 43 feet; depth, 33 feet.

NOTICE. BY ORDER OF THE COUNTY COURT, SEPTEMBER TERM, 1883, Bids will be received by the County Judge until Tuesday, January 8, 1884, at noon of said day, for locating the county poor for two years, from February 15th, 1884. The person receiving the contract will be required to furnish all provisions, including medical attendance, and Christian burial in case of death, and enter into bonds in the sum of $3000 for the faithful performance of the contract.

The county reserves the right to reject any or all bids and to furnish temporary aid to families and homeless children, without compelling such to become inmates of the poor house. J. S. FITZHUGH, County Judge. Roseburg, November 16, 1883.
