

What Becomes of the Money?

That there is a scarcity of money with which to transact business, is felt in almost every branch of industry at this time. It is also a well known fact that our mines have, during the last 20 years, produced more of the precious metals than in any other age of the world's history.

The balance of trade is in our favor, so that we must conclude that the money is somewhere in the country and if so it must be locked up in iron safes, for we know it is not in circulation.

The treasury of the United States have more than one hundred million locked up in the treasury vaults, consisting of surplus appropriations and accumulations from the last year's revenues. Many millions more are locked up in private coffers in the eastern States, drawn there by discriminating revenue laws, which levies an embargo tax upon one section of the country for the benefit of another, a discriminating law which takes the few dollars of surplus earnings out of the pockets of the laboring people to load the coffers of the rich manufacturers.

Twenty years experience with all our surplus wool, wheat, cattle and sheep and the wealth of gold and silver from our mines, finds us here in Oregon without sufficient money to carry on the business of the country.

Protection of Labor.

Several of the large manufacturing corporations, says the Oregonian, which have asked Congress to maintain a high protective tariff on their products, for the reason that they wanted to pay their men very high wages, now have their agents in Europe hiring laborers and sending them to this country under an agreement to work for a stipulated sum for a certain number of years, which is much below the current rate of wages here.

It is of course impossible to prohibit the importation of workmen under contract, because the existence of the contract could not be discovered if the parties to it chose to conceal it. But the fact that the workmen are demanding protection for American labor, shows the extent of the social demoralization resulting from the protective tariff as well as the inconsistencies of the system.

The notorious John Sherman is out in a little bill in Congress by which it is proposed to allow the national banks to increase their circulation over thirty million dollars on their present securities. In other words, it is a proposition to confer by act of Congress thirty million dollars of wealth on three or four thousand national banks, for which the people will have to pay every dollar, with interest.

The Republican complaint against Speaker Carlisle's committee are that he placed Bland on the coinage committee. Their objection to Bland is that he is responsible for the silver coinage law of 1876, which Republican newspapers tried to make believe would ruin the country.

The favorite argument for a protective tariff was that it relieved the working people from competition with the cheap labor of Europe. This argument will not be very effective with those operators who have been recently discharged to make room for European peons who have been brought to the New England States and Pennsylvania under contract to serve a series of years.

HOWARD'S letter in the Sunday New York Herald of December 23d, charges that a few days previous to his failure Villard (his true name being Hilgard) invested, within a very short time, several hundred thousand dollars of United States bonds in his wife's name.

MANY small capitalists who invested their money on Villard's advice, are financially ruined. It is always unsafe to trust people who sail under false names.

HILGARD, alias Villard, is one of the Republican bosses who wanted Hipple alias Mitchell, for the United States senate, and when he lost the right drew his left bowler from under the deck.

THERE can be no doubt but that the Mitchell element have their wires strongly laid in this county. It is one more pull for Mitchell or ruin.

The numerous county offices have already been promised to the faithful Messrs. Colvig and Stearns to lead again. Such recklessness may cause the political decapitation of at least one of our prominent federal officials.

The coinage at the various mints during the calendar year aggregated $60,092,749, of which $28,450,039 were standard silver dollars. And yet money is scarce at this office.

Eldorado Mineral Water.

CHEMICAL ANALYSIS. CHEMICAL LABORATORY, ASSAY OFFICE, BULLION ROOMS AND ORE ROOMS, 521 Sacramento Street, San Francisco, Nov. 25, 1883.

Mr. J. A. Smith, Proprietor of the Eldorado Spring, situated three miles west from Roseburg, and a supply of the water is kept constantly on hand and for sale by Dr. S. Hamilton, agent, Roseburg, Oregon.

ALBANY, OGN., December 20, 1883. GEO. W. JONES. Dear Sir: I would here state to you that a year ago I suffered untold agonies on account of piles (blind) and went to Portland to get relief from the doctor there.

ROSEBURG, Dec. 3, 1883. GEO. W. JONES. Dear Sir: From sheer curiosity I was induced to try Eldorado Water and was not only surprised but highly gratified by the result. I have for many years been a sufferer from dyspepsia and have tried every kind of specific kind of pharmacy and without result.

DALLAS, Dec. 2, 1883. From Mr. M. W. Parsons, East Angles, I received one bottle of the Jones Eldorado Water from Dr. Hamilton of Roseburg. Used half a bottle for earth and soil fully recommended for that dreaded disease, as I have not been troubled with the complaint since.

I have also used the Eldorado spring water from Jones' spring, Douglas county, Oregon, and am fully satisfied with the result, as I was bothered with catarrh.
