LOCAL ITEMS.

Roseburg is quiet since the holidays. The rains have let up, followed by frosty mornings and sunshiny days.

Fishing is good and the boys enjoy the sport. The Portland Standard contains the latest and freshest news.

Farmers complain of coyotes killing their lambs in the adjoining hills. Wm. McGee of Gardiner, gave us a pleasant call this week.

Travel by rail south of Roseburg has been suspended most of the time for the last two weeks. The roads are good for this season of the year.

People from all parts of the county are in the city attending county court. Some have business, others want to make business.

Messrs. Buick and Chadwick of Myrtle Creek, looking after the interests of their part of the county, are in the city.

The social dance at Wilbur was a grand success and the most enjoyable entertainment of the kind that has taken place in the little town of Wilbur for 28 years.

The second quarterly meeting for the current conference year, M. E. church, will be held at the church in this place, commencing on Saturday, January 19, 1884, and continue over the Sabbath.

A. A. Fink, who is engaged in the cattle business in eastern Oregon, but who has been stopping at his home in Roseburg for the winter, made a hurried trip to Portland last Tuesday. We presume he went below to contract for salt for his calves.

The Good Templars at their last meeting elected the following delegates to a district lodge which will be organized in Roseburg January 23rd and 24th: W. F. Benjamin, H. P. Webb, C. Gaddis, W. F. Owens, H. S. Straupe, P. Benedict, P. Matthews, Mrs. W. F. Owens, Laura Protzman, Rosa Hoover.

The Roseburg Independent is greatly improved both in typographical appearance and editorial work since the new publishers have taken it.—[Ashland Tidings. Thanks, Bro. Leeds, we feel highly complimented; but the facts are there has been no change in our force except the acquisition of a new devil.

The Supreme court on Monday decided the Portland high-chance case, Judges Lord and Watson holding in favor of the license and Judge Wold against it. There are 125 more cases where the saloon keepers refused to pay the license and were each fined an amount equal to the license. These cases will all abide the decision of the test case.

Henry Villard made an assignment on the fifth inst., to Wm. Endicott Jr. of Boston, and Horace White of New York, for the benefit of creditors. The trouble with Villard was he lived beyond his means and gave away more than he possessed. It is reported that his health has given away beneath the crash and that he is now a physical wreck.

The new ferryboat at the Coles valley ferry, which was on the dock in course of construction, was carried away by the recent freshet in the river. Mr. S. O. Emory has contracted with Clarke & Baker for lumber to build a new boat, which will be completed and ready to accommodate the public in a short time. A ferry at this point will shorten the mail route from Looking Glass to Oakland about four miles.

The contract for keeping the county poor has been awarded to W. B. Clarke, for the term of two years, from the 15th of February next. By the terms of his agreement he is required to take all persons declared by the authorities a county charge, furnish them with food, clothing, medical attendance, and in case of death furnish them with a Christian burial. For the faithful performance of which he is required to give a bond in the sum of $3000. The contract was let to the lowest bidder, Mr. Clarke's being $1.95 per week, the next highest being $5. Mr. Clarke has for several years had this contract and has fulfilled it to the satisfaction of the county board and of all citizens who are familiar with his management.

Editor Than in Ten Years. A gentleman in East Saginaw, Michigan, reports, after using Compound Oxygen: "My nervousness, headache and inability to sleep have been almost entirely overcome. I feel better in every way than I had before in ten years." Our Treatise on Compound Oxygen, its nature, action and results, with reports of cases and full information, sent free. Drs. Starkey & Pain, 1109 and 1111 Girard St., Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

All orders for the Compound Oxygen Home Treatment directed to H. E. Matthews, 609 Montgomery street, San Francisco, will be filled on the same terms as if sent directly to us in Philadelphia.

Our Streets. The streets of Roseburg are in a worse condition than they have been in for years. The revenue of the city has been worse than wasted during the last two or three years. The most of it has been expended on defective pipe and a dry cistern. A fire company has been established without hooks or ladders, that would be of any avail in case of fire. We had better disincorporate or pass an amendment to the charter that will compel the trustees to economically expend the money in legitimate channels, so that the people may have the benefit of their money.

HARD TIMES.—Everybody complains of the scarcity of money. Collections are harder to make than ever before in the history of the country. This is not owing to failure of crops, for in this valley the crops were more than average. We are forced to run a newspaper on jawbone, simply because our patrons cannot get the two dollars and a half to pay their subscription.

FOR SALE.—Three yoke of work cattle belonging to J. O. Booth. The cattle may be seen at Wm. Vinson's pasture, near Roseburg. For further information see or address J. B. Wright, Roseburg who is authorized to sell the cattle.

Wool will be taken on subscription to the INDEPENDENT, if delivered soon.

A BLAZE.—Last Saturday evening the house belonging to Mr. Richards, situated west of the railroad depot, occupied by the families of Messrs. Junger and Rose, caught fire from one of the flues and burned some clothing which was hanging on the wall close by, and burned the lining of the wall to a considerable extent. The fire was discovered by the inmates of the house, who extinguished the flames, or the house would have been in ruins in a short time. The building is some distance from any other house and would have burned to the ground before outside assistance could have arrived.

NOTICE.—All persons are hereby notified not to trespass upon my premises on the south side of the South Umpqua river opposite Roseburg, and especially not to remove any drift wood there—J. R. N. BELL.

The Coos Bay Road.

The "Coast Mail" in its last issue made an unwarranted attack upon the Coos Bay Toll road which is calculated to give a very false impression of the road, and thereby injure to a considerable extent the interests of Roseburg. The truth is that when Haily and Co. took the mail contract from Roseburg to the Bay there was no road over which a wagon could travel and a horse with difficulty. With their usual energy this company completed a good wagon road the whole distance. When the late storm, with its deluge of water washed out the road bed, the agent, Mr. Glover, cut out the old trail so that the mail was carried regularly. As soon as the storm subsided work was resumed upon the road, and is now passable for horses and will soon be so for teams.

To accuse the Road company for any derelictions of duty in such a case, is like asking that the railroad company forfeit its charter because the slides occasioned by the same storm has prevented the passage of the mails from the south. The Coos Bay road company has done everything possible and nothing more can be required of it.

Death from a Knife Wound. On New Years day Joseph Roberts and wife, who live on Joseph mountain in this county were visiting at a neighbor's. In their absence their little boy about eight or nine years old was playing in the house with a little daughter of Joshua Brown, who was killed by Skelton near Canyonville some four years ago. The girl is four years old and has lived in Mr. Robert's family since her father's death. In their play the boy accidentally cut her in the arm with a small pocket knife. An old man named Scales, who was stopping there, tied up the wound with some flour which stopped the flow of blood. When Mr. Roberts returned in the evening he observed that the girl was sick and the next day sent to Roseburg for a doctor, but none of the physicians who were consulted would go. He then sent to Myrtle Creek for Doctor McCarty, who instead of going out sent out some medicine.

The girl kept getting worse and Monday Mr. Roberts sent to Roseburg again for physicians. Drs. Davis and Bunnell started to go out, but met Mr. Roberts on the way who informed them that the girl had died. The girl evidently died from blood poisoning caused by the cut, which was little more than a scratch, and sad as the event has proven it should serve as a warning to children who are in the habit of scuffling with open knives in their hands.

Double Murder in Portland. Portland was the scene of two tragic murders last Saturday night or Sunday morning. J. W. Murray shot and killed Alfred Yenke, his brother-in-law, Mrs. Anna Murray, wife of the murderer and sister of the deceased, had been to a dance and about one o'clock at night she and her brother were going home, when Murray shot him from behind a fence with a double-barreled shotgun, and then shot at Mrs. Murray, but missed her, owing to the darkness. Mrs. Murray and her husband had been separated for some three months. He had been at the party that night and wanted her to go home with him.

About seven o'clock Saturday night Bill Bloxam shot and killed Jacob Fisher, living in the outskirts of Portland. Mr. and Mrs. Fisher have been separated for some time. The evening in question Mrs. Fisher, her daughter Mary, who was engaged to be married to Bloxam, a little son of the deceased and Wm. Bloxam, went to the barn on the premises of Mr. Fisher, to get some chickens which Mrs. Fisher claimed. Mr. Fisher and a sixteen-year-old son came out and ordered them off the premises. An encounter ensued, in which Fisher and Bloxam both used revolvers. Mr. Fisher's son ran to the house for a shot gun and Bloxam ran for a rifle. When the boy got back his father and mother were fighting and he got them separated. About the time they were separated Bloxam called to Fisher and said: "Let us have it out." Fisher said he was ready, when Bloxam fired his rifle, striking Fisher in the breast, killing him almost instantly.

The activity among our Republican brethren at the present time shows that the old Roseburg clique is being reorganized.

The lightning trip of two Republican wireworkers from Portland this week, indicates that something is in the air, which is unsafe to be placed on paper.

PERSONAL.—Hon. I. R. Moores, land agent for the Oregon and California Railroad Company has been in Roseburg during the last week in attendance on the land office, looking after the company's interest.

FROM OAKLAND.

Sunshine and shower. Everything and everybody are exceedingly dull. Sol. Abraham gave us a pleasant call on Monday.

Preaching at the M. E. church last Sunday by Rev. Smick, of Roseburg. The Sabbath school is in a flourishing condition, with a large attendance.

R. Thomas is confined to the sick room again and we hope will soon be around.

Mr. Bue', our accommodating mail-carrier from Oakland to Looking Glass, reports everything as being in good condition on the line.

John Winterburn, superintendent of the Bonanza mine, is arranging his business so that he may absent himself from business for a short time. Business matters invite him to the east.

Work will soon be commenced at the cement mines with activity and will be pushed forward until the mine is in operation. The management of the mine new business, and success is bound to follow.

It is rumored and we suppose correctly too that a certain individual in this place, who has been very conspicuous in his past life, indignantly frowns upon our county papers and is satisfied that they are not decent enough to be perused by the female sex. We understand that he will not, under any consideration allow his wife to read them, and always keeps them out of reach.

Some unscrupulous and meddlesome individuals gave our troupe some trouble last week by reporting that the entertainment was a failure and would not perform at the time advertised. However the informant discovered later that the troupe were not obliged to select advice from that source.

The Dramatic Troupe gave an entertainment last Friday night to a large and appreciative crowd. All who attended were well pleased. The troupe labored under some difficulties owing to the fact that one of their members deserted them at a late hour, but every thing was made pleasant by the untiring efforts of the true and solid members of the troupe. Elk creek was out of its banks on Christmas.

The coyotes have quit killing sheep and commenced killing chickens and ducks.

The hotel in Drain has changed ownership. Mr. Pinkston is the purchaser. The mail line has changed hands also. Mr. Haynes is the owner and seems to be very accommodating. We wish him success.

Sheep have taken a raise in Scottsburg lately. The last time we saw Mr. Batt he was in Elk creek with a wagon load of sheep. Mr. H. Putnam started with him but he got scared and came back home.

Mr. Mitchell has the finest cattle ranch in Timpan. He has it well improved and thinks of buying all the young cattle he can get in the spring.

Our worthy county assessor will be in Roseburg next week to straighten up his books.

Coles Valley Items. Too wet to plow. Creaks all full. Salmon quite plenty. A ball at W. B. Clarke's on the 14th of February.

Dr. Davidson, who has been confined to his bed, is not improved any, and it is thought he will not recover.

Patrick Murphy steps around with a smile on his countenance. It's a boy and a ten-pounder. Mother and son doing well.

Our old friend A. H. Chubbill, of Shoshoning valley, is visiting his many friends in Coles valley. He reports the circular mines at that place a bonanza to its proprietors.

Mr. H. A. Barr, after his long sojourn in Portland, has returned to his home in Clarksburg. He reports times quite dull at the metropolis at this time.

The new ferry boat that was built by O. S. Emory & Co., was lost in the freshet. It broke loose from its moorings and drifted down the river to spend its holidays with the good people of Scottsburg, but its owners, with their usual energy, are making preparations to build another at the same locality.

Conductor Bellingher, who went east some time ago on leave of absence, for recreation, is expected back shortly. The story circulated by some of his brethren that he was engaged in the patent medicine business is not true.

The educational advantages of Coles valley are highly appreciated abroad. The school taught here by Professor H. D. Thomas is of the highest order. It is represented by at least four districts. J. L. C.

The postoffice clerks at Washington have received their notices to contribute for the election fund in order to carry Indiana. The Democratic House will put a check to this robbery of the clerks, and see they are not discharged if they refuse to "come down."

Accidental Shooting.

Saturday evening about dark L. P. Sheridan, who had been drinking, got into a quarrel with Mr. John Gutsill at the saloon near the depot. Mr. Sheridan drew a self cocking revolver which he accidentally discharged, shooting Charles Hazard, a bridge carpenter in the employ of the railroad company, through the fleshy part of his arm near the elbow.

Dr. Bunnell dressed the wound and Mr. Hazard went on the train to Drain, where he resides. It is hoped that his injury may not prove serious.

Whether there is to be an investigation of the affair before the courts we have not been informed and have heard different stories as to the cause of the trouble, and therefore refrain from expressing an opinion, but will say that men who are in the habit of getting intoxicated should never carry fire-arms. There is no need of any one doing so in a civil community.

The plan of the Stedwards for capturing the Presidency next year, as rapidly developing, is to unite and solidify the colored vote of the country with the remnant of the white vote of the North still left in the Republican party. This is to be accomplished, it would appear, by resort to the basest and most unscrupulous means—such as inflaming the passions of the people with arguments looking toward a war of races, inaugurating an imaginary tariff scare and the seductive use of money. All of these purposes are being developed through preliminary organization tending in that direction.

Manhood is the end of life. We are all soul builders. That is the business of life. Whatever you do there should be two results, one outside, and the other inside. The man who builds up a future should do it so that the future will build the man. Whatever we do we should do it that the man may become nobler every day.

It has long been held among those who know the red man best, that the only really good Indians are the dead ones. General Crook, however, does not think so, and it must be conceded that the general has had ample opportunity to know whereof he speaks. He insists that the Indian has much capacity for civilization and only needs encouragement.

In proof of his opinion he refers to the large crops that some of the Indians in his department have raised during the present year, although they were not properly supplied with seed and agricultural implements. These good Indians are not of the comparatively peaceable tribes that have long lived on reservations, but are of the warlike Apaches, a tribe that has come to be considered utterly incapable of civilization. General Crook recommends that these Indians be allowed to hold land in severalty, and promises great results from the experiment.

If the gen. has discovered a better mode of making an Indian good than killing him, he deserves the thanks of, at least, the Indians.

WALLING'S HISTORY.—Mr. A. G. Walling, who is engaged in preparing a history of southern Oregon, made us a pleasant call this week and left with us a steel engraving of Gen. Lina, which is to grace the pages of the work, with a biography of the General, showing the relation he sustained to the early settlement and development of Oregon. The engraving is taken from a portrait at the time the General was a candidate for Vice President of the United States, and will be familiar to the old pioneers who knew him in the days of his greatest manhood, when the laurels of victory, won on the plains of Mexico, were fresh on his brow. Mr. Walling proceeded south into Jackson county, to look after the progress of his work.
