LOCAL ITEMS.

There was a full attendance of the Democratic county committee.

A. A. Fink has returned from Portland. He is looking hale and hearty.

A new supply of the finest variety of candies, just received by J. A. Smith, at the city bakery.

Dr. S. Hamilton has on hand a fine variety of union sets, which he offers for sale at 8 pounds for one dollar.

Charles M. Stephens is prepared to do all kinds of repairing of harness and saddles, at his harness shop in Drain.

Charles M. Stephens keeps on hand and for sale harness and saddles of the best material, at Drain, Oregon.

At the meeting of the Republican county committee the U. S. land office was represented, but no one else was present.

Simp. Beckley of Drain, was in town this week, in attendance upon the Democratic county committee. He is always zealous, active and efficient.

The roadbed for the O. & C. railroad is finished to the 145th mile-post, which is just south of Ashland. The track will be laid to this point soon.

The only information which we can furnish the Lane county man who is inquiring after the spotted cat in our back yard the other night.

The political campaign is beginning to simmer on the Republican camp-fire. But why the commotion? The land office will have things fixed harmoniously and to its liking. Bossism is at its zenith in Roseburg.

The third quarterly meeting of the M. E. Church, Roseburg Circuit, will be held at Canyonville on March 29th and 30th. Services will commence Saturday, at 2:30 p. m., by the Presiding Elder, Rev. I. D. Driver.

W. N. Moore, our gentlemanly county treasurer, took a run down the road on Monday morning's train. His prospects are growing brighter in Lane county. He will be re-elected when he returns from Latham in June next.

We were somewhat surprised at the U. S. officials, in their call for a county convention, recognizing the fact that a reformation is needed in the management of county, State and federal affairs. This is an important admission, coming from the fountain source.

Wm. P. Day, John Price, James Byron, W. R. Smith, John Rowley and other prominent Democrats from abroad, were here on Tuesday last. They are all good, honest Democrats and their presence presages much good. We hope to hear the walk in ring in June next.

The Democratic central committee have done their work well. Let every one turn out at the primary meetings; that is where the good work begins. Send near but representative men to the convention. Let all predictions be fully represented and the work of selecting candidates will be well done.

Piano players can go about the country supported by the manufacturers of the particular brand of piano they contract to play on; but the fiddler must stand on his merits and the professional fiddler is always an honest man. So says Prof. Gillam.

"Yes," said a fashionable lady, "I think Mary has made a good match. I heard her husband is one of the shrewdest and most unprincipled lawyers in the profession, and, of course, he can afford to gratify her every wish."

Why don't the little bees who are hired by the corruption fund to run the Plaindealer, put on petticoats and bring the paper out for woman suffrage and endorse Mrs. As Dunaway for president, instead of getting in his work on the woman question by letter. You should never sail under false colors, Bill.

The following gentlemen have recently been commissioned as regents of the State university: Hon. Asahel Bush of Salem, to act until April 1, 1885; Hon. Robert S. Bean of Eugene, to act until April 1, 1885; Rodney Scott Esq., of Eugene, to act until April 1, 1885; and Hon. Henry Failing of Portland, to act until April 1, 1885.

If the Republican bosses who run the Plaindealer and publish their temperance articles under the head of contributions, would bring their paper out squarely for prohibition and not raise their little finger so high when visiting the saloons in quest of items, their temperance articles would not be wishy-washy.

Rev. H. P. Webb will preach at the M. E. church in Tennesse on Sunday, April 6th, at 11 o'clock a. m., and at the school-house in the town of Lexington at 2 o'clock p. m. The people will please assemble punctually at the hours designated in order that the evening appointment in Roseburg may be reached in time.

This is a baby. It is a girl baby. How showy its chin is. How red its eyes. What horrid contortions it makes with its face. How savagely it kicks. How noisy it smells. How like a demon it yells. Yet in a few short years some man will be half crazed with wild suspense, worshipping the very air this being breathes, devoutly kneeling at her feet and frantically begging for one word, one pressure of the hand, even a look, which will give him hope.—Philadelphia Call.

Chris. Hacker of Scottsburg, is a man after our own heart. Conscientious in his duties as a citizen he came to Roseburg and remained to represent his precinct as member of the Democratic committee. He is a gentleman of strict probity and is highly esteemed for his genuine worth by all who know him. While it is not the design of our paper to suggest the name of any one for a paying office in this county, we know that of commissioner is simply one of trust and not of profit. If the Democracy should select him they would do credit to the party and render a benefit to the whole people.

On Monday morning the north bound train ran into a land slide at the West Fork, a few miles this side of Riddle, and so damaged the engine that another had to be dispatched to its relief. The track was covered with mud and gravel to the depth of about three feet, for several rods. This delayed the train for several hours. A train was made up in Roseburg and ran through to Portland on time, but the mail and passengers from the south had to remain over until the next morning. There was no serious injury, except the damage to the engine, which is now undergoing repairs.

Born—on the morning of the 27th inst., to the wife of Charles Hadley, a daughter. We wish all three health, happiness and long life.

The exhibition of the scholars at the Civil Bend school house last Friday night, at the close of Miss Lehman's school, was a grand affair and reflects credit on both teachers and scholars.

Miss Lucy Fay will give a grand exhibition on Thursday evening, April 3d, at the close of her present term of school. The entertainment will be in Marks' hall. From the preparations the scholars are making this will be a good exhibition. Let every one turn out and encourage the little ones.

It was Monday; the day was far advanced and they met by chance; 'twas upon the sidewalk. The conversation was low, but earnest; tears sufficed her beautiful face; he looked calm and sorrowful; he took her little white hand within his manly palm and pressed it tenderly; the parting came at last and the final adieu was spoken. 'Ta, ta!'

Hon. E. G. Harsh, prosecuting attorney for this district, who is attending court in Corvallis, received a severe injury on Sunday evening. He was standing on the sidewalk when an alarm of fire was sounded. In the excitement the horse cart ran against him and knocked him forward and ran over his body. He was carried to his hotel and remained there for some time. No bones were broken and it is to be hoped that Mr. Harsh will experience no permanent injury from the accident. We hope to see him around in a short time.

A justice of the peace in one of the county precincts, who is, in his way, a modern nindrow, was out gunning the other day. Suddenly a fine deer came dashing through the woods fully pursued by hounds. The squirrel was only looking for jack-rabbits, but on the impulse of the moment took aim and fired, breaking the deer's thigh. His dog gave chase and soon overtook the wounded animal. The squirrel, thinking of the statute, ran to the rescue, but was too late; the deer was dead. Instead of praise he rebuked the faithful cur as follows: "Get out, you — of a — I told you the game law was in force and the fine is more than double on me, a justice of the peace, than what it is on an ordinary hunter." The meat was not left to spoil, however.

Mr. Glover has been relieved by Halley & Co. as superintendent of the Roseburg and Coos Bay stage line, and Wm. Carl has been appointed in his stead. Mr. Carl's division of the Oregon and California stage line, has been succeeded by the extension of the railroad, and being the oldest employe of Halley & Co. in Oregon they gave him charge of their Coos Bay line, in place of Mr. Glover. Mr. Carl took charge on Monday and Mr. Glover has left for Boise City, where he will no doubt find a healthier climate, as he has been in constant danger whenever passing over the road, according to the threats we have heard of a certain party who lives on the line of the road has been making against him. We are informed, however, that Mr. Glover intends to return in a short time and will be with us again by the middle of April. We wish him a prosperous journey and safe return and will be pleased to have him locate permanently among us, as he has made a host of friends, both here and on the line of the road. We sincerely hope the belligerent individual referred to may have appeased his wrath before Mr. Glover returns, as it is always safest to settle these difficulties at longrange.

The Coos Bay Railroad. There was this week recorded in the county clerk's office of Douglas county two mortgages executed by the Oregon Southern Improvement company, to the Boston Safe Deposit and Trust company, to secure the payment of the bonds of the company to the amount of two million dollars, which the said company propose to issue, to raise funds to carry out the objects or purposes for which the improvement company was incorporated, one of which, as shown by said mortgage, is "to construct or equip one or more railroads and telegraph lines from the waters of Coos Bay, in Coos county, Oregon, to the eastern boundary in the State of Oregon, by way of Roseburg, in Douglas county, Oregon, with as many main tracks and telegraph lines as may be found necessary or convenient to accommodate the business of the Oregon Southern Improvement company of Oregon, with all necessary or convenient side tracks, switches, inclines and appurtenances and to maintain and operate the same and carry passengers thereon."

We understand that a transfer of the right of way obtained by the Roseburg and Coos Bay railway company has been made to the Southern Oregon Improvement company and that Capt. Besse, the president of the improvement company, will be here in a few weeks to look after the enterprise in person.

The Roll Called—Another Pioneer Gone. Michael R. Shupe died in Oakland on the 23d instant and was buried the following day. He was well known and came to Oregon in 1853, first locating in Linn county, and in 1854 settling on his donation land claim near Oakland, in this county, which was his home until death. He was born in Westmoreland county, Pennsylvania, August 18, 1810, removing with his parents to Ohio when quite young, where he married Margaret Vaunorstrand, with whom he lived happily until her death, February 12, 1870. Previous to coming to Oregon he had resided in Missouri, since 1840. Of eight children only three survive him; two of whom reside in this county. Once again the ranks of our pioneers are broken, and when the long procession, with his remains solemnly filed over the hills, we sighed to behold many old, gray heads, who must soon follow their now departed companion. Father Shupe was an estimable citizen. We mourn his loss. Society is a loser and the young men may well remember him as a model to be imitated. But though we fondly bid him adieu, his gentle smile will not soon fade away. What other old pioneer will fail to respond at the roll call! Alas! who next!

Death of an Old Attorney.

The Portland Standard pays the following tribute to the memory of an excellent gentleman:

"The many friends of Judge J. H. Reed of this city, as well as throughout the State, will regret to learn of his death, which occurred at Seattle on the 21st. Judge Reed was one of the pioneer lawyers of the State, and a gentleman who was respected and honored by all who knew him. Warm-hearted and only too generous, he made friends wherever he lived. He first resided in this city and then moved to Southern Oregon, making Jacksonville his home, where he engaged in his profession and mining, accumulating a very nice little fortune. He went from Jacksonville to Nevada, where he did not prosper so well, and came back to Portland and engaged in his profession as a partner of the late Lansing Stout. About three years ago he went to Pendleton, where he gained quite a practice, but his health failing he removed to Seattle with his family. But death soon claimed the spirit of a good and warm-hearted man, one of fine abilities and the noblest of impulses, a scholar, and in every respect a gentleman."

The Standard is in error as to where he first located. He came to Jacksonville in 1854, and formed a law partnership with Judge L. F. Mosher. He was born in Carlisle, Pennsylvania, and studied law with his father, who was a distinguished jurist. He was a man of excellent perceptive faculties and infinite jest. We esteemed him much and respect his memory.

Murray to Hang.

J. W. Murray was brought into court to receive his sentence for the murder of Alfred Yenke, on last Monday. The prisoner looked well and walked with a quick, elastic step, and as he took his seat one could hardly realize that he was a man upon whom rested the shadow of death. He was seated in about the same place he occupied during the trial. Mr. Dahms, who defended him, was in the court room but did not converse with the prisoner. A large number of spectators were present. Judge Smith stated that this was the time set for passing sentence on the prisoner, and asked him to stand up. Murray rose hastily and in answer to the question: "Have you anything to say why sentence of death should not be passed upon you?" said: "No, sir—no, sir—nothing at all."

Judge Smith then passed sentence as follows: "Being convicted of murder in the first degree the court has no discretion in the matter of sentence except as to time. The judgment of the court is that you be kept confined in the county jail until Friday, the 9th day of May next; that on that day you be taken to the place of execution, and between the hours of ten in the forenoon and four in the afternoon of said day, that you be hanged by the neck until you are dead, and may God have mercy on your soul."

Messrs. Cuy & Dahms, the attorneys who defended Murray, have withdrawn from the case. He is without money and friends and has no means of appealing his case to the Supreme court.

Mrs. Leavitt's Appointments. As will be seen below we give the appointments of Mrs. Leavitt, superintendent of the work of the Women's Christian Temperance Union for this coast. She is making a thorough canvass of this part of the field, and is every where spoken of as a gifted and interesting speaker. We will advise our readers in the future more fully on this subject.

A CARD OF THANKS.—I most sincerely tender my heartfelt thanks to the many friends for their kind offices and sympathy during the last sickness and burial of my little daughter, Clara Maud Kinball. G. W. KIMBALL.

GRANGE MEETING.—Saturday, April 5, 1884, at 10 a. m., Hon. R. P. Boise and the State Grange lecturer, will be present at the meeting of the Roseburg Grange. Members of the order are cordially invited.

From a letter received from Leonard B. Judson we learn that C. L. Kitchell died at his place in Marion county, about nine miles from Salem, on Saturday, the 23d day of March 1884, of pneumonia. Mr. Kitchell was for some years a resident of this county, living in the vicinity of Roseburg. He was a reliable Democrat, a man of more than ordinary education and ability. He was of Scottish origin and came to California when quite young, and we have been informed served at one time as mayor of San Francisco. He was about fifty-six years of age at the time of his death.

Communication from Wilbur.

Mr. ERROR: An article in the Plaindealer of last week came under my observation having the caption, "False Marriage," which I must confess rather startled me, a little particularly from the ground assumed by the writer. Now I am willing to lay down this proposition: That all public journalists have a perfect right to criticize the acts of all men acting in any public capacity, for any dereliction of which they may have been guilty in the discharge of their duties, as all acts of public officers are the property of the public and there is no better medium through which the community may become acquainted with the official acts of their servants, than through the local journals; but when an editor shall so far forget himself as to dip his pen into his own vein and without any provocation, save his desire to vent his spleen, and then deliberately walk over the threshold of one whom the executive of the State has been pleased to honor with an official garb, and assume to himself the privilege of attacking the private status of such officer, by easing his ignominious mind of some little pique, that was, perhaps, rankling in his breast. Then journalism would seem to have stepped down a peg, but of course there is always one black sheep in every flock, and the editorial fraternity may not be an exception.

But to return to the subject—"False Marriages." Now if that little mosquito editor had used his insinuating proboscis in probing the public record of the county, instead of thrusting his little harmless weapon where his business did not invite him, he would have saved his ink and his vituperating article would have yet been in embryo, and so if ignorance is bliss he must be happy. And now, without quoting his article in detail, I will simply say that our notary public, in solemnizing the marriage between the parties to which the "little digger" has reference, entered into the discharge of his official duties with the consciousness and firm belief that he was legally clothed with the functions he exercised by unquestionable authority and with those convictions unostentatiously performed the rite of marriage, as requested by the parties, and fortified in his position too by license from the clerk of the county, and by precedent, and not as "Opem-chie-chie" intimates, "in a vein of composity." As to the "caliber" to which he sneeringly indicates my acquaintance with both, places me in a position to be an excellent judge, and I would only say that our honorable notary does not claim to be a columbid, yet he could spare enough and not miss it to supply the little one with a sufficiency to make at least a little sheet, when he wishes to indulge in small squibs. It is certainly deplorable to see a man (?) whom the good people were disposed to elevate by placing him on one round of the ladder of preferment, now lose his grip and commence to retrograde.

If mosquitoes wish to get their fill, they never should decide to perch themselves upon a Hill. Their littleness to hide. FAIR PLAY.

Tipot Items. Business is brisk. Stock is getting fat. Mr. Bidwell has the boss coal pit. Everything is quiet here. Love and love-making is all the go. Spring has come and everything looks pleasant. Our little valley and hills are covered with flowers.

One of our young men has sold his crop and thinks of going into another state—the state of matrimony. One of our enterprising citizens has applied for a patent on a washing machine. Another will apply soon for a patent on hay scales.

Our school will commence April 3d. Miss Belle Dodge of Oakland, has been engaged to teach. A better choice could not have been made. Fortune-telling is the rage in the valley at the present. Mr. Burns is almost done seeding. He has about a hundred acres sown, which looks well. William keeps a ferry on Elk creek. His price is moderate. Senator George, of Hard Scrabble, thinks of emigrating soon—to the State of matrimony. May success attend him on his journey. Stock buyers have been visiting our valley. Mr. Henry Ridenour of Nevada was in the valley a few days ago trying to buy cattle, but he was unsuccessful, as there are none for sale at his prices.

There is a young lady in this valley who has more than one string to her bow. Uncle.

The Oregonian says: "There is no doubt that Mr. Blaine is making one of the most adroit still hunts for the presidency any man ever made." We venture the prediction he will be still hunting after the other fellow has been inaugurated.

Myrtle Creek Items.

Items scarce. Weather wintry.

How about that young fellow that went to the minister's and brought the shotgun away? Have you had a piece of cake yet?

A good many of our farmers are still busily engaged in seeding, but the majority are through. The grain as far as visible promises well. Stock has got through the winter in good condition, especially sheep, which will be the means of a better clip of wool this season than usual.

Public school commences Monday the last day of March, under the efficient management of Miss Kent as principal and Miss Fannie Gibbs as assistant. The capabilities of these teachers are unquestioned and those desiring that their children should have a good education should patronize the school.

Mount Scott Items. Mr. W. J. Hughes has taken a home stand on the head waters of what is known as the Fordice gulch and is going to engage in the propagation of ducks. Owing to the light rains of last summer he has concluded to build a dam, which will retain sufficient water for the ducks during the dry season. Mr. H. is also talking of engaging in the dairy business, and is securing cows for that purpose. Any person having such animals for sale would do well to give him a call.

Mr. W. C. Tipton, who had the misfortune of getting his leg broken some time since is able to be around on crutches. He will soon be ready to ride on horseback and greet his old friends again. Little George, the 8 year old son of Mr. Johnny Thomson, while handling an axe a short time since nearly severed a couple of his toes. The members were replaced, wound dressed and is doing as well as the nature of the wound would warrant.

Master Emery Atterbury is becoming quite an expert oarsman. If he continues to improve as rapidly in the future as he has in the past, he will soon be able to compete with Hanlan. Mr. L. D., on last Sunday, dressed himself in his most flashy colors, mounted his snowy white steed and galloped up to the residence of his lady love. On his way he secured a canine belonging to one of his neighbors, for fear he would be more observed by the old man's dog than by the young lady. We are under the impression, however, that the youth's visit proved a success, as he became so bewildered that he forgot to return his neighbor's dog.

Mr. Joe Tipton is running his planer, dressing pickets for Mr. John Price's yard fence. We are experiencing an equinoctial storm. BOAZ.

FROM OAKLAND. Peace and prosperity. Business is gradually improving. Political matters are beginning to boom up.

A female dupe is the latest annoyance of the town. The spring term of the Oakland school has a large enrollment. The closing exercises of the old town school was largely attended, and every one in attendance was well pleased with the exercises. Hon. B. Herman of Roseburg gave us a pleasant call on Monday, business matters having called him to this place. R. Hutchingson jr., a promising young man of this place, took his departure on Monday to parts unknown to us. Noah Bongbrake and family, one of the leading residents of the old town prematurely departed on Tuesday, leaving many mourners behind. John Rast Esq., one of Roseburg's leading business men, gave us a call on Monday in connection with business matters.

We have some out-croppings of political matters in this vicinity, and it appears from present indications that some of our citizens are proposed to act as candidates in the coming campaign for various offices. We have several parties here who, in years gone by have fought the fight successfully and proved themselves to be noble warriors, and are ready for any sanguinary encounter that might appear. It is with feelings of deepest pain that we announce the death of our esteemed and time-honored citizen Mr. M. R. Shupe, which occurred on Sunday the 23rd day of March, 1884. After a few days of illness attended by occasional prostrations of severe pain, the angel of death interceded and relieved our aged and honored citizen of all the aches and pains attending us on this short worldly sojourn. Mr. Shupe was an exemplary man, loved and respected by all who had the pleasure of knowing him, and who had not an enemy in the world. His motto was to do right and his guiding star the "golden rule," which he ever followed with accuracy. The sympathies of the entire community are extended to the bereaved relatives in the great loss they have sustained in losing the fondest, truest and noblest friend of their lives. X. X. X.

Shooting at Medford. Thursday of this week at the town of Medford, in Jackson county, a man by the name of Burbanks shot and killed William Caldwell. Caldwell had trouble with Burbanks' boy the day before about money and choked him. The old gentleman met Caldwell and asked him about the trouble, when Caldwell said the boy owed him, stating the amount. Mr. Burbanks said if his son owed him he would pay him the money, and started to put his hand in his pocket. Caldwell jumped back saying: "Do you want to shoot it out?" and at the same time drawing a revolver. Burbanks drew his weapon and fired, the ball striking in the region of the heart and passed clear through his body.

CITATION.

In the County Court of the State of Oregon for the County of Douglas. In the matter of the assignment of dower to Lucy Ann Louisa Ballinger, widow of George M. Ballinger deceased, out of the estate of said George M. Ballinger deceased.

Ballinger deceased, out of the following lands, to-wit: Lot 3, 4, 5 and 6, southeast quarter of section 31 and northwest quarter of northwest quarter of section 35, in township 22 north, range 10 west and an undivided one-half interest in the following lands: Lot 1, east half of southwest quarter of section 27, part of section 28, lots 4 and 7 of section 32, township 20, south range 10 west, lots 8, 9 and 10 and southeast quarter of southwest quarter of section 31, township 21, south range 10 west, all of said lands situate in Douglas county, Oregon. M., on Tuesday, April 2, 1884. Therefore, you and each of you are hereby cited and required to be and appear at said time and place, then and there to show cause, if any you have, why such order should not issue for the assignment of said dower.

Witness the Hon. J. S. Pritchard, Judge of said court, my hand and seal of said court, this 27th day of February, 1884. G. W. KIMBALL, County Clerk.

Eldorado Mineral Water.

CHEMICAL ANALYSIS. CHEMICAL LABORATORY, ASSAY OFFICE, BULLION ROOMS AND ORE ROOMS, 524 Sacramento street, San Francisco, Nov. 25, 1883. Messrs. Holbrook, Merrill and Silson, Gentlemen. I have submitted to qualitative analysis the sample of Eldorado water handed me for examination and find it to consist of the following substances: Chlorine, iodine, Carbonic Acid, Iron, Alumina, Lime, Magnesia, Soda and organic matter. THOMAS PRICE, Umpqua Ferry Items.

Eldorado. Gaily bedight, a gallant knight, In sunshine and in shadow, Had journeyed long, singing a song, In search of Eldorado. But he grew old, this knight so bold, And o'er his heart a shadow Fell as he found no spot of ground That looked like Eldorado. And as his strength failed him at length He met a pilgrim shadow. "Shadow," said he, "where can it be, This spring of Eldorado?" Quoth the shadow: "For the benefit of suffering humanity I will state that the Eldorado spring is situated three miles west from Roseburg, and a supply of the water is kept constantly on hand and for sale by Dr. S. Hamilton, agent, Roseburg, Oregon."

Mr. Geo. W. Jones, Dear Sir: I have been troubled with neuralgic pains in my head and chest bones, for several years, and had give up all hopes of ever getting cured. I went to your medical springs with my son James and got some of the water, and drank it freely and found that it was a mild physic. I used it three times a day for a little more than two months, and the pains left me and I have not felt them since, and that has been 17 months ago. JULIAN JOSEPH, Roseburg, Jan. 25, 1884.

Julian Joseph, of the well known firm of Hoffman and Joseph, of Albany, bears the following testimony: ALBANY, OGN., December 20, 1883. Geo. W. Jones, Dear Sir: I would here state to you that a year ago I suffered under an account of piles (Hemoids) and went to Portland to get relief from doctors there. I met Mr. Apple of Roseburg, who advised me before seeing the doctors to try your Eldorado Mineral Water. I did so and had one dozen bottles sent to me by A. Champagne. I used one-half dozen bottles, taking right before every meal, one small glass full. I not only was cured, but I am certainly cured by what I used and thank you for it, because I suffered more than I can express. I would advise any one suffering from this disease to try your Mineral Water. Should you have any occasion to use this statement do so. You are at liberty on my account. I think it is the least I can do for you, as I was cured by it. Respectfully yours, JULIAN JOSEPH.

ROSEBURG, Dec. 2, 1883. GEO. W. JONES, Dear Sir: From sheer curiosity I was induced to try Eldorado Water and was not only surprised but highly gratified with the result. I have been suffering from a sufferer from dyspepsia and have tried every kind of organic matter, pharmacy and without result. The contrary was my experience from the use of your mineral water. I am according to directions I produced immediate relief and in a short time, I continued, would secure permanent cure. To any who will avoid irritating stimulants, I am satisfied it will prove of valuable comfort and benefit. As a general regulator I found it most excellent. L. F. LANE.

DALLAS, Dec. 2, 1883. From Mr. M. W. Parsons, last August, I received one bottle of the Jones Eldorado water, from Dr. Hamilton of Roseburg. Used half a bottle for catarrh and can fully recommend it for that dreaded disease, as I have not been troubled with the complaint since. D. T. SEARS.

I have also used the Eldorado spring water from Jones' spring, Douglas county, Oregon, and am fully satisfied with the result, as I was bothered with catarrh. W. C. BROWN, merchant.
