LOCAL ITEMS.

Asher Marks is in Portland this week. He is registered at the Clarendon.

Callahan & Keyes will have their sawmill on Kent's gulch in operation in a few weeks. Success attend them.

Rev. J. W. Craig will preach at the M. E. Church South in this city, next Sabbath, both morning and evening, at the usual hours.

The Knott brothers have sold a one-third interest in the Stark street ferry at Portland, to A. H. Breyman. This three have incorporated as the Stark Street Ferry Company.

Mr. B. F. Ramp calls the attention of those interested that he will have his fine Jersey bull in town next Monday, and he will continue here for three weeks thereafter. It is a fine animal.

Rev. H. P. Webb will preach at the M. E. church in Tenmile on Sunday, April 6th, at 11 o'clock A. M., and at the school-house in the town of Looking-glass at 2 o'clock P. M. The people are requested to assemble punctually at the hours designated.

The District Lodge I. O. G. T. will not meet the third week of this month, as announced a short time since, but will commence April 24th, and continue over the 25th and 26th. It is necessary to make this change to accommodate some of the members from a distance.

A number of stock-raisers of Douglas county have called a meeting to be held in Roseburg, on Saturday, the 25th of April, at which time it is desired that all persons owning fine stallions kept for breeding purposes, will exhibit the same in front of Carlson's livery stable, at 2 o'clock P. M.

E. J. Keyes of Looking-glass, was offered a few days ago $18 per acre for 400 acres of land in that valley. This is a pretty good price, but Mr. Keyes promptly refused to accept the offer. Wait awhile, when the Coos Bay railroad starts up, and land in this vicinity will enjoy a substantial boom.

Messrs. N. N. Chapman, D. E. Venetten, Stephen Shrum and George Beal will leave on Monday morning's train for the Spokane country, on a tour of inspection. They will, in all probability, take in the gold fields of Coeur d'Alene before they return: We expect them back in a short time, fully satisfied to live contented the balance of their days in old Douglas.

Wm. Carl, superintending the stage routes from here to Empire City, returned from a tour of inspection from Yreka last Wednesday. He reports our good friends Col. Stone and Al. Burroughs in good health and happy and kind as ever. So may it be unto the close of our time. Wm. Carl left for Coos Bay Thursday morning. Billy has much work on his hands but he is equal to any emergency.

Our old friend J. J. Constock was in town this week. We were glad to see him looking so well. George Haynes, always bon homie, congratulated him upon his improved appearance. Whereupon Jen quaintly remarked: "Well, George, I am very like the Irishman's pig, fat at both ends but lean in the middle." And then we remarked: "Good for our Jen."

A. E. Champagne has in progress the construction of a building connecting with his hotel. It will front on Main street and will be two stories high. This will be quite an improvement to the appearance of the street and will add much to the convenience and comfort of his guests, who properly appreciate his good cheer.

The circus kicked plated, young elephant, old Lion, tattooed woman, fairy, fire tumbler, pretty women and all such will be here in a few days. Mr. Goine, the manager here, informs us that they have been delayed from some cause or other, but he expects the whole outfit to be here some time in the coming week.

The entertainment given by the Roseburg Temperance dramatic troupe last Saturday evening, at the Grange hall, was a success in every particular. Their music was good, especially the song by Sallie Tibbetts, in which the local hits were well received. The "Yankee Doodle" band was in attendance and did their best. The dramas were well acted and everybody went home pleased.

Mr. E. G. Hursh returned from Corvallis on Wednesday evening's train, accompanied by his family. We are sorry to learn that his injuries were more severe than at first reported, some of the small bones of the foot being badly crushed and the flesh severely bruised. He had to be carried from the depot to his residence, the pain being so intense that he could not withstand the jar of a carriage. It is hoped that with gentle nursing his smiling countenance and familiar face will soon be seen upon our streets again.

The citizens of the Hudson school district in this county met last Sunday and organized a Sunday school, with the following officers: Superintendent, J. S. Rice; assistant superintendent, G. W. Wannott; secretary, Miss Anna McGinzie; treasurer, Thos. Hervey. The day school, under the efficient care of Mr. G. W. Wannott, is in a flourishing condition. We cannot refrain from mentioning the innovation which has been made by the teacher and pupils in the care of the school room. The floor is kept scrupulously clean, the walls are festooned with evergreens, while upon the teacher's desk fragrant flowers shed their sweet perfume and add to the beauty of the surroundings.

The March number of the Portland (Oregon) West Shore is of more general interest than any of its predecessors. The scientific articles on The Great Northwest are continued; also the paper on Our Industries and Resources. Two interesting historical articles, entitled Fremont and the Modocs and Origin of California and Oregon, throw light upon the early history of the coast. There are also descriptions of various localities, scenery and curious objects in the Great West, notes of general interest regarding that region, a story and a large amount of choice miscellany. The City of Tacoma, with the illustrations of the numbers are devoted, is described at length.

County Convention.

The Democratic county central committee of Douglas county have fixed Friday, April 11, 1884, at 10 o'clock A. M., for holding the county convention for the election of seven delegates to attend the State Democratic convention, to be held at the Dalles, on the 17th day of April, 1884, and recommend that the Democrats of the several precincts meet on Saturday, April 5, 1884, at 1 o'clock P. M., to elect delegates to attend the convention. The committee also fixed Wednesday, May 7, 1884, at 10 A. M., as the time to hold the Democratic county convention for the purpose of nominating county officers.

It was resolved by the committee that delegates to be elected at the precinct meetings held on the 5th of April, be and are empowered to act as delegates to both conventions, to be held on the 21st of April and the 7th day of May respectively.

The apportionment made by the committee gives to the several precincts a representation as follows: Canas Valley, 2; Canyonville, 7; Cow Creek, 4; Looking-glass, 5; Mount Scott, 3; Myrtle Creek, 11; Cadopola, 8; Coles Valley, 2; Deer Creek, 13; Elkton, 3; Gardiner, 4; Wilbur, 3; Nonpareil, 3; Pass Creek, 2; Riddle, 2; Scottsburg, 2; Tenmile, 3; Yonahs, 2; total, 81.

The committee request the personal attendance of delegates, making proxies the exception and not the rule; and that the precinct meetings be well attended, as the interest there taken will be recompensed by securing judicious action in convention and success in June.

Accidentally Killed.

Whilst it is always a sad duty to chronicle the death of any one, and especially of the young, it is the more so when death comes by accident. It was with pain that we learned that on Sunday last Miss McCoy, who was living on the eastern edge of Looking-glass, was accidentally killed. It seems that she was sitting in a chair holding a sick child. In the same room there were two of her nieces, aged respectively five and eight. The latter was setting near. The younger, whilst rummaging over a trunk, discovered a pistol, which in handling in childish curiosity, was accidentally discharged. At the report the elder niece turned around and found the smoke curling from the pistol in the hands of the little one and then, to her horror, found poor Miss McCoy prostrate on the floor. The bullet entered between the right cheek bone and temple and came out near the left ear, and produced immediate paralysis. She never spoke again and lingered an hour or so, when death closed the sad scene.

The little one who fired the fatal shot must have been standing with her back to her aunt, with the muzzle towards her face, as her cheek was powder-burned.

Miss McCoy was about seventeen years of age—bright, intelligent and much admired. To her suffering relatives and friends, who are deeply shocked by this melancholy occurrence, the sudden death of a loved daughter and sister, we extend our heartfelt sympathies. She was buried last Tuesday.

NOTABLE DEATH.—Leopold, Duke of Albany, the fourth son of Queen Victoria, died at Cannes, France, on the morning of Friday, March 28th. He had visited a fete given in his honor on the night of the 27th and appeared in unusually buoyant spirits. Upon return to the club room he fell suddenly ill and was taken to his rooms. He sufficiently recovered to dispatch to the Duchess as to his condition. During the night he was seized with spasms and lingered so until early in the morning, when the angel of death received him. He was one of the county's brightest children, but after all the paths of royalty, as well as those of ordinary mortality, lead but to the grave.

ADMONITION.—The accidental killing of Miss McCoy should again invite attention of our law-makers. Of course no law could be made anticipatory of such an event, but as a general principle pistols and all lethal weapons are an abomination in the eyes of every peaceful person. A brave man won't carry one, and a coward should not be allowed to do so. A thing that flourishes a pistol around in a menacing manner should be consigned to the jail for safe keeping. He is too awkward to shoot himself, but night, by accident, shoot a human being. Children should not be permitted even to touch one and drunk men, who are always boisterously braggadocio, furiously on the shoot, cut and drag out, deserve a few public lashes and a quiet retirement on bread and water for 30 days to the end of life. City dads, please give this matter your attention.

To-day the Democratic primaries will be held in the various precincts in this county. Let the best men be selected.

Riot in Cincinnati.

The riot in Cincinnati last week is simply horrible and disgraceful in the extreme. The original cause of the riot is substantially in brief as follows. William H. Kiel was murdered in his stable last February by Berner, who stood behind the door and when his victim entered smashed his head with a hammer. He robbed him of $400, put the body into the wagon of the murdered man and hauled it off and dumped it into Mill creek, where it was found a few days later. Suspicion rested upon Berner, but the proof was only circumstantial. After being arrested he was offered certain clemency by the officers, who virtually promised that he would not at all events be hung if he made full confession, which he thereupon did, making the crime most hideous indeed. He was afterward duly indicted for murder in the first degree. He appeared by able counsel, who, when the confession was offered in testimony, objected to the admission of the same, upon the ground that the confession was obtained by the promises improperly made by the officers. The court sustained the objection, holding that a confession obtained by false hopes of reward, or by threats of torture, was not a voluntary confession and, therefore, ruled that the jury could not consider the same. They then proceeded to try the case, independent of anything Berner might have said, under the circumstances mentioned. The case throughout seems to have been considered very fairly and prudently by the court. After the usual instructions the jury retired and subsequently returned a verdict of manslaughter in the first degree. The judge promptly sentenced the prisoner to confinement in the penitentiary for twenty years and remanded him to the cells of the jail. The trouble then began. The people were indignant at the event of the trial and some very prominent citizens expressed themselves so in a quiet, orderly manner. Of this feeling many demagogue hoodlums took advantage and a lawless young devil exclaimed, "Follow me! On to jail and hang Berner!" This was the signal the sequel for which is above expressed in the word horrible.

It commenced a little after midnight of the 27th and continued until early in the morning of Sunday last. An assault was first made upon the county jail, which was promptly barricaded and desperately and successfully defended throughout. Some insatiate fiend suggested "fire the court house, treasurer's office." No sooner said than done. We have read of the vandalism of the Goths, Visigoths and Huns, but remember nothing to equal this villainy. In one case they were in the lands of enemies, but in this the mob was pillaging their own homes, or household of their friends. Many gallant soldiers, officers and firemen fell before the crazy wrath of the rioters. Notably was the death of Capt. Desmond, who died bravely leading a detachment to defend the court house. The troops withheld solid shot until further patience became impossible. The fourteenth regiment seemed to have properly considered the situation and finding that to stop further progress of the pandemonium a little killing was necessary, proceeded to kill in the old-fashioned, fighting style. As the result of several well directed volleys the mob began to retreat that the one-sided aspect of affairs had suddenly changed; that they were actually confronted with the strong arm of the law, backed by the firm, determined power of the great State of Ohio. They looked around and found dead and dying on every hand and crape for many doors, and bitter, burning tears from sorrowing hearts. In the bewildered daze of the moment, as coming from a dream, they could see the smouldering ashes of their magnificent court house and a library the pride of all our people and, worse still, records of inappreciable value gone forever, the loss of which will entail confusion and distress upon millions yet unborn. The lives of hundreds of Kiels or Berners cannot atone for the sins they have committed. They can realize now that they were maniacs or fiends incarnate, or both combined. They wanted to drive lawyers from their homes, but in a few days they will want to import more. The law will yet be vindicated and many of them will in due time meet Mr. Berner in his twenty-year residence at Columbus, where he is now resting from the effects of his race from their pursuit of vengeance. "Vengeance is mine," says the All Wise one and hard as it may seem, the leaders of this riot will experience it yet. The hour of their drunken, mad spasms is over, only to be expiated in sackcloth and ashes. But the history of this sickening drama is already written. Enough. Every American should remember the high office he occupies and the duties required of him. Condemn mobs and mob law wherever developed throughout the length and breadth of our fair land, sternly rebuke that spirit and severely punish those who encourage it.

Spring Hill Farm.

Mr. Editor: Having moved my family to Spring Hill farm, in Washington county, owned by J. L. Hallett, containing over one thousand acres of land, and as you have a great many subscribers who are good horsemen, I thought it my duty to give you a few points about this place.

Spring Hill farm is 28 miles from Portland and four miles from Forest Grove. They have a fine fast-mile track which is the finest in Oregon. One-half of the track is now covered and the balance will be this summer. Mr. Jay Beach is located here with 22 of his thoroughbred Kentucky horses, which he is now training on the track. Hallett has five thoroughbreds, which he is now training. When you add my stock to the above, I pride it that Spring Hill farm will turn out horses and colts that will take every premium that they go for this year. This will be the only covered track in the world of its size. Next winter this will be the place for all fast horsemen to send their horses to have them trained, as they can go every day, rain or shine. Plenty of pasture and stable room can be found for five hundred horses.

J. L. MCKINNEY.

FROM OAKLAND.

Quietude prevails.

No arrests this week.

The grangers are through seeling.

The crop prospects were never better.

Our general health is good.

A. J. Manning, an old resident of this locality, who has been sojourning in California during the winter, has just returned.

John Norwood Esq., a thorough business man, has embarked in an extensive grocery business and we are satisfied will be very successful in his new undertaking, if business qualifications are an indication.

James Derland, the ancient vulcan of this place, who retired from the field a short time since and fled to Portland to rest on his laurels, has returned to the place he deserted and has settled down to business again.

Dr. J. W. Harris, an experienced and successful physician late of San Francisco and Portland medical schools, has permanently located in this place.

The Doctor comes to our town highly recommended by the leading lights of the medical profession.

W. B. Clarke Esq., superintendent of the county hospital, proprietor of the lumbering interests on Hubbard creek, gave us a pleasant call this week.

Mr. Clarke's visit to this place was in the interest of his business, we surmise, and not, as may imagine, in connection with political matters.

One of our fair ladies was badly frightened one night this week, soon after retiring to her couch. The fright was occasioned by her observing something in her bed which had the appearance of an animal, and in an instant her pitiful wails and screams were heard over the whole town, calling for help.

Parties went to her assistance and on investigation it was found to be nothing but the tail of a defunct deer, which had been placed there by some one as an April fool.

George H. Shambrook Esq., a young man of considerable notoriety in business circles and who has been employed by the railroad company as time keeper for several months, has commenced to study medicine under the guidance of his brother, Dr. J. C. Shambrook. Success will follow his untiring efforts and his name will yet be written on the roll of honor and fame.

We understand that rich discoveries have been made near this place of valuable silver mines. However, the parties making the reported discovery are mum and we are not able to make an authentic statement, but we notice that several parties have been moving in the direction of the mining district, loaded down with provisions and mining implements, which indicates that there is something in the win.

Children should not be allowed to meddle with dangerous implements, as fatal injuries have often resulted from carelessness. X. X. X.

Oaks Valley Items.

Fine weather and farmers busy. A large amount of grain is yet to be sown.

"Pa" has got able to walk up to Roseburg and get him a new pair of overalls.

Mr. Hawkins has struck a rich coal vein on the Widow Appleton's place, Oakland, where he intends sinking a shaft next month. It is reported very rich.

Mr. Henry Ridenour has gone to the Waldo hills to buy cattle to drive to the Coeur d'Alene mines.

The stage now stops at Albert Clayton's on its return trips, where passengers can get a good dinner for fifteen cents.

Miss Jane Clayton is teaching a school of small pupils on Deer creek. I am informed that on the 19th ultimo Mrs. Orr Clayton presented her husband with a beautiful son, at Los Angeles, Cal.

D. R. Shambrook has another lot of fine mutton sheep and 25 head of fat

Miscellaneous News.

W. H. Harris, the proprietor and manager of Dan Castello's circus, will arrive in Roseburg on Thursday of next week with the menagerie and animals which have been added to the circus. Everything will be put in order for traveling as soon as the roads are in condition to start.

Capt. W. A. Cox and his daughter, of the Siuslaw, were visiting Roseburg this week. The young lady made proof before the land office upon her pre-emption claim. The Captain reports the river setting up very rapidly and prosperity generally in that section.

Miss Hay's school exhibition on Thursday evening, was well patronized. The exhibition by the little folks was splendid. It is difficult to give preference to any of the scholars, they all performed so well. The dialogue, "Eight O'clock," by Lucy Stanton and Mabel Hogan, deserves special mention, as it was spoken by these little girls under a great disadvantage, owing to the offensive smoke from the burnt powder. They acted their piece out to childlike perfection, and made a happy hit on some of the cross old men and ladies. The mingling in of grown folks with the school children unnecessarily prolonged the entertainment, and the affection of some of them suffered when compared with the natural simplicity with which some of the younger scholars acted their pieces.

A new ferry company has lately been organized here, known as the Dumb Isaac Ferry Company, for the purpose of building an operating a ferry-boat some two miles above the old one. The bone and muscle of the company is O. Emery, L. T. Thompson, John Emmett and G. W. Hawkins.

A meeting of ladies was held at Mrs. G. Shambrook's, on the 27th, for the purpose of organizing a woman suffrage club. Twenty-one charter members were enrolled, and the following were elected officers: President, Mrs. Shambrook; vice president, Miss Lillie Barnard; enrolling secretary, Miss Rose Emmett; recording secretary, Mrs. W. B. Clarke; treasurer, Mrs. Mary Fortin. Mrs. Hawn, Clara Woodruff and Mary Shambrook were chosen to lecture on the subject at the school house at 1 P. M. on Sunday next, when everybody is invited. A lunch will be served.

PEANUT.

Work of the W. C. T. U.

Attention is just now called to the Women's Christian Temperance Union by the announcement that one of its leading and most earnest members is about to address the citizens of our city in his behalf.

It has long seemed to the writer that this organization should receive the assistance and encouragement of every lover of the cause of temperance and prohibition. In the first place, it is eminently conservative, non-sectarian and organized upon the broadest humanitarian principles. While its name would seem to indicate that membership in a church is required of candidates for admission, we believe such is not the case and that any one who wishes to become identified therewith may do so by the payment of the initiation fee and subscribing to the constitution. Its objects are various. It aims not only to reform the drunkard and pave the way for prohibition, but it strives to improve its own membership in every conceivable way. Formerly it was the custom for the women of the United States to organize sewing and mite societies and work for the heathen of foreign lands, but now these good Samaritans are striving to reach the heathen of our own land, realizing the truth of the old saying—"charity commences at home," and they are doing a grand work and one which commends itself to every lover of the human race.

This society has organized throughout Europe and the United States and numbers among its membership a vast army of the most intelligent women in the world, who have taken for their rallying cry—For God and Home and Native Land. If they shall do no more to lift society out of the old rut of indifference upon this question, they will have accomplished much. But they are doing more. They are educating the rising generation and the children are taught the chemical properties of this vile stuff which men "put into their mouth to steal away their brain and body. In short, this society is thoroughly organized to fight this evil from every point of vantage and if we had space should like to point out its many excellencies. Below may be found Mrs. Leavitt's appointments.

BIRTHS.

MCKINNEY—March 26, 1884, to the wife of W. B. McKinney, a daughter; weight eight pounds.

The mother and child are doing well. The new father is doing equally as well, judging from the many smiles that wreath his countenance.

MCCURDY—Saturday last, March 29th, to the wife of John McCurdy, a bouncing little girl.

We wish much joy.

DAVIS—Monday, 31st ult., to the widow of the late Wm. Davis, who was recently killed on the railroad, a son.

HUMPHREY—Monday, 31st ultimo, to the wife of Hon. W. S. Humphrey a daughter. Of course it is a darling little treasure. We congratulate the beautiful mother and our genial brother, and wish much happiness for all three.

DEATHS.

HADLEY—Upon the early morning of Thursday last, the little infant daughter of Charles and Delia Hadley.

We deeply sympathize with the young parents. Sully can they repeat the beautiful melancholy sentiments of the gifted poet Poe:

God smiled and it was morning
Matchless and supreme,
Heaven's glory seemed adorning
Earth with its esteem.

Every heart but ours seem gifted
With the voice of prayer and lifted
Where our little darling drifted
From us like a dream.
