

Howling Hoodlums.

The following from the tried and trusted organ of Democracy, the San Francisco Examiner, of the 26th inst., we republish, and lengthily as it may be ask our readers to peruse it.

"The eager unanimity with which the Republican and monopoly press attack the Stockton Convention, is sufficient evidence of the good work it did and the respectability of the influences which controlled it. If it had assumed a negative position on current politics—if it had been afraid to speak out for the people, the scurvy tools of monopoly would have had nothing but praise for it. But it was not a silent nor a negative convention. It went to work like a surgeon and cut the ulcers and rotten places out of the body of the party. Is it surprising, in view of these things, that the organs of monopoly apply to that convention every vicious and depraved epithet their vile imaginations can invent? Is it any wonder that they are exhausting the vocabulary of Billingsgate in an effort to vent their spleen upon that gathering of honest and unflinching Democrats at Stockton who knew their duty and dared to do it? Let these scurvy and purchased emissaries of railroad greed and avarice howl as they will; the people recognize the splendid work of the convention, and honor the courage and fidelity that dared, in the face of all opposing influences, to vindicate the truth and patriotism of the Democratic party.

The Stockton Convention is called by the monopoly press a congregation of hoodlums, and telegrams have been sent East denouncing it and endeavoring to create the false impression that it represented a hoodlum element, and was composed of men without standing, property or character. The fact is, the convention was in all respects superior to any State convention that had ever before convened in California. In that body there were nine State senators and seventeen assemblymen, besides a large number of ex-senators and ex-assemblymen. The speaker of the assembly and the president pro tem. of the senate were members; there were men there who had filled the highest positions in the gift of the State, such as governor, United States senator and representative in congress; there were judges and ex-judges of the State courts; farmers owning broad acres and large flocks and herds, leading merchants and prominent attorneys, miners and mechanics, all representative men, thoroughly in earnest and honest. They represented fully the public sentiment of the communities from whence they came, and on almost all questions were practically unanimous.

They elected as delegates such men as William Dunphy and General Thos. J. Clunie of San Francisco, C. F. Foster of Tehama, now state senator, and H. M. Larue of Sacramento, speaker of the legislative assembly and president of the State agricultural society; H. C. Wilson, an extensive farmer of Tehama; Dennis Spencer, a prominent attorney and State senator from Napa; J. W. Breckenridge, assemblyman and prominent attorney of Merced; Judge Niles Seyriss, an ex-State senator and leader of the bar in Nevada; Warren B. English, State senator and farmer, and extensively engaged in business in Contra Costa; M. F. Tarpey, a prominent wool merchant of Alameda and San Francisco; John A. Wright, the well known attorney, who holds a position in the profession second to none of his age in the State; Louis F. Holtz, at present assessor of San Francisco, who was elected by an overwhelming majority in 1882; Judge Lawrence Archer, ex-State senator of Santa Clara and author of the famous Archer bill; Morris Schmitt, a capitalist and well known business man; L. J. Rose of Los Angeles, whose magnificent vineyards and orange groves are famous all over the world; A. P. Butler, a very extensive viticulturist and one of the largest raisin producers in the United States. The alternates are men of equal standing and character. These are the men which this so-called hoodlum convention in its wild frenzy, selected to represent the Democracy of California in the national councils of its party.

The foregoing we have published in vindication of the cause of Democracy and of the gallant Democrats of our fair sister State. Coming from such a high source it is a terrible rebuke to the kid gloves, pomade glued, cologne-scenting, codfish aristocracy that have fastened their pinheads to the coat tail of Stephen J. Field. No good Democratic paper, so far, has done so. Should Jove grow blind and lose every native sense, perhaps a thunderbolt might go astray and strike in the vicinity of that man—but, impossible; lightning has too much sense. Then the corras of Field's sycophantic, lick-spittle organs has secured a solid Pacific coast for Blaine. Thinking people rarely worship strange Gods, more especially if the Standard is chief disciple.

Blaine Banners.

Says the Pittsburg Post: If it is true, as stated, that the Republicans propose to christen their campaign clubs after some of Mr. Blaine's most famous exploits, a fine selection is open to them. Thus we would have of course: The Northern Pacific Bond, Stock and Land Grabbers. Banner—Blaine explaining to Fisher how the $25,000 dollar operation will do for a flyer.

The Mulligan Guards. Banner—Blaine on his knees begging for the guilty letters.

The Mulligan Letter Carriers. Banner—Blaine making off with the letters obtained by fraud and retained by force.

The Little Rock and Fort Smith Battlers. Banner—"I shall not prove a deadhead in that enterprise."—J. G. Blaine.

The Parliamentary Pointers. Banner—Blaine bargaining his rulings as Speaker to land grabbing corporations.

Plumed Knight Palsau. Banner—Blaine's cheap substitute detailed for a soft and safe place at home; reverse side, Blaine collecting the bounty from his country. Music, "As we go marching through Maine."

The Guano Invincibles. Banner—Bully the weak and Cringe to the Strong.

The Corporations and Monopoly Condotieri. Banner—"Blaine is a live man and will make a live President."—[Jay Gould.

Public Opinion.

This admirable journal, published in San Francisco by J. N. Choynski, an accomplished, straight-forward Jew, thus wisely speaks.

Sol Hirsch is a candidate for the United States Senate, from Oregon. If Sol can either speak or write English or German, or make himself understood in Yuedish-Teutsch, we will support him. Stick to your Lappenes Sol, and do not ape the ways of Fair, Toler and other Senators who have nothing but their money to speak for them. Jews must have more brains than money to entitle them even to a Long Tom vote. The idea of a Hirsch having the cheek to step into the shoes of a Nesmith or a Grover!

At an other place it thus refers to the soul-bought, hide bound, monopolized, pretended representative in the United States Senate.

U. S. Senator Dolph should be ashamed of himself to allow his name to appear as trustee of dozens of railroad rascalities. It looks bad, to say the least. The world knows, to be sure, that Dolph was Hippel-Mitchell's and Villard-Mitchell's body servant. These men were ashamed of their names and changed them. Dolph should do the same, or have decency enough not to pose in the United States Senate while acting as president and trustee of their corporations.

We agree with Choynski, and as always heretofore with all good, sensible, patriotic Jews.

Political Points.

Ex-Governor Chamberlain, of South Carolina, bolts the Republican platform and ticket.

It was Hon. Carl Schurz who wrote of Hon. J. G. Blaine that he "wallowed in spoils like a rhinoceros in an African pool.

The Stewart N. Y. Commercial says: "Clearly, in a campaign in which no paper in Boston and but one in New York gives Blaine a cordial support, there is much hard work to be done.

The National Democratic platform of 1876 referred to "a late Speaker of the House of Representatives marketing his rulings as a presiding officer." The Speaker thus referred to was James G. Blaine.

The New York Irish American says. The "Plumed Knight" has now reached the summit of his ambition on hangman's day, and according to the popular superstition, a ticket nominated on hangman's day is a ticket of ill omen.

Colonel Charles R. Codman, a Massachusetts Republican of influence and standing, has bolted Blaine. He has left the Republican party. Colonel Codman was Chairman of the Massachusetts Republican State Convention last year.

It is said that Tom Platt, Powell Clayton and Elkins, two of them star routers, expect to go into Blaine's cabinet, should he be elected. He won't be elected, but what a feast for corrupt political rascals of the country if they could only get "Jim" in the White House.

Rev. Dr. A. S. Patton gives notice in the Baptist Weekly that his paper cannot commend James G. Blaine to its readers as a suitable candidate for the Presidency. "A man who aspires to the Presidential chair should be above the charges which dishonor the official life of Blaine.

When we read in the Chicago Republican platform, says the St. Louis Republican, about the public lands being "a heritage of the people" to be "reserved as far as possible, for small holdings by actual settlers," etc, memory takes us back to the time when James G. Blaine, during his session in Congress, proposed the loan by which the Government lost one hundred millions of dollars on account of the Pacific roads.

The Republican platform makes up in length what it lacks in breadth.

ESTERLY

Twice-Binding Harvester.

Newest and most complete harvester on the market, with all the modern improvements. The binding apparatus is so simplified that seven parts do the complete work of the forty-seven pieces used in all other binders. The sickle rim has pinion gearing and does away with the chain, making it lighter and more durable. The main drive wheel is made of the best hickory, with heavy wrought-iron tire, welded and shrunk on. The raising and lowering apparatus is so arranged that it is raised and lowered on a level, so that grain can be cut within two inches of the ground, or at any height desired. The upper drape is arranged on springs, so as to carry the thinnest or thickest grain without choking. It binds the sheaves any uniform size desired. It is so simplified that it can be worked by a boy. For sale by Bowen Brothers, at their shop on Main street, in Roseburg. Call and examine this machine before purchasing elsewhere.
