LOCAL ITEMS.

Severance; the artist. Immigrants desirous of purchasing good farms should call at this office.

Rev. J. R. N. Bell is in the city this week, looking hale and hearty.

Dr. J. F. W. Saubert reports the health of his patients improving.

The prospect for a large yield of wheat was never better than it is at present in Douglas county.

Mrs. W. T. Wright, her mother and sister, have been visiting in Flournoy valley during the week.

Full-grown men should be warned against cutting the city lamp posts with their jackknives.

Hon. Penumbra Kelly of East Portland, has been appointed United States Marshal for Oregon.

James A. Sterling, county assessor, is now at Gardiner, and will be at Roseburg in a few days to finish up his assessment work.

J. B. Cannon, agent for Blaine's "Twenty Years of Congress," is ready to take orders for this valuable work. Call and subscribe.

Prof. B. A. Cathey and family went to Riddle on Monday evening, where they will be the guests of Noah Cornutt. They will be gone three or four weeks.

G. A. Taylor, sheriff elect, has moved to town and will occupy Sheridan Bros.' house one door south of the former residence of W. T. Wright.

Jim Blaine, according to our exchanges, has been born in more places and espoused more religions than any other hero named in the world's history.

Miss Emma, sister of Mr. Edwin Snook, arrived in town last Monday from Canada. She comes to stay and being a milliner by trade will likely engage in that business.

The editorial quartette of the Plaindealer must have drawn largely on their imagination for the facts and the allusion for their rhetoric in preparing the local items for last week's issue.

A proposition to divide this county is now being agitated and will no doubt be submitted to our next legislature. When the legislature meets the people will learn who favor this proposition.

Mrs. Duniway has signified her intention of going before the next legislature with a petition for a renewal of the constitutional amendment for female suffrage. How do our newly elected senators and representatives stand on this question?

The Board of Directors of the Roseburg school, at an informal meeting, have determined to receive applications for teachers in the school. Teachers desiring to fill positions in any of the departments of this school, will make application to the board of Directors. Applications may be made through Timothy Ford, school clerk.

Lost, strayed or stolen. The late devil, who some time ago apprehended himself to this office to learn the "art proficient how to sling antimony," has mysteriously disappeared. Any one learning of the whereabouts of the rapturous youth, will confer a favor by returning him safely to this sanctum.

Paul Mosher left at this office on Tuesday last a bundle of oats, the stalks of which measure seven feet, four and one-half inches in height. The heads are over one foot in length and compactly filled with plump grain. If the Plaindealer can find any oats to beat this we would like to see their sample. This was grown on Mr. Mosher's place across the river, opposite this city.

The Albany express on its north-bound trip on Tuesday, met with an accident about five miles north of Salem. It seems that just as the engine had cleared a bridge it gave away and the tender and all except the last coach fell through and are a complete wreck. Unless the old bridges and trestle work between Roseburg and Portland are rebuilt, we may look for more serious accidents.

A San Francisco dispatch to the Standard says that the Union Iron Works has recently secured a contract from the Newport Coal Company to construct a steel steamer of the register of between 700 and 800 tons, and that will carry 1000 tons of coal and have 123 feet draft. She is to have first-class accommodations for 32 cabin passengers, and will be used in the coal trade between that port and Coos bay.

Suit Dismissed. The Oregonian says: "It has been agreed between the parties to the suit of W. J. White vs. C. L. Spore and all the officers of the city of East Portland, in which the plaintiff claims damages for falling through the L street elevated roadway while it was being rebuilt, to dismiss the case without prejudice and it will undoubtedly be done. One of the reasons for this is understood that the plaintiff is a resident of Montana and that therefore the United States court does not have jurisdiction. The case will probably be brought up again in the State circuit court. "Why is it that the U. S. court has no jurisdiction in this matter?" asked an Oregonian reporter of Judge Deady. "I only know what I have seen of the case in the papers," answered the judge, "but if the plaintiff is a resident of Montana the court has no jurisdiction. This is an old decision of Chief Justice Marshall, a long time ago. The case first arose in the District of Columbia, which it was decided was not a State within the meaning of the law. The litigation was between citizens of two States, or between a citizen of a State and a foreigner, but the citizen of a territory must have recourse to the State courts. The decision in regard to the District of Columbia was held to apply to territories, and I, myself, have so ruled. Inasmuch as a territory eventually becomes a State, I think this ruling should be changed by the U. S. supreme court."

From a communicated item in this week's issue, it would seem that Oakland beer is the most efficacious extinguisher used by our fire department. So long as the fountain flows freely there is no danger of stone fences burning.

Like the fabled syren, Blaine is beckoning the Republican party to its death.

Boom for Empire City.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Oregon Southern Improvement Company was held in Portland Saturday last. Representatives of 18,555 of the 20,000 shares were present. The following board of directors was elected for the ensuing year: Elijah Smith, of Boston, Mass.; William W. Crapo and Wm. H. Besse, of New Bedford, Mass.; Wm. P. Oranger, G. H. Miner, Gorham B. Knowles and Frederick Schetter, of Empire City, Oregon. The principal office of the company will be removed to Empire City, and William H. Granger will be in charge as manager and business representative of the company for Oregon. He will at once commence the erection of a large saw mill at Empire City, and the steamer Alki, will be loaded with goods at New York on the company's account and dispatched to that place. From this it appears that Empire City is now coming in for a boom.

The NEW STEAMER ALKI.—A dispatch to the Oregonian from New York, June 26th, says: "The latest addition to the American merchant marine is a trim little wooden steamer, lying at Brooklyn, owned by the Oregon Improvement Company. Her name is Alki, an Indian word signifying 'by and by.' She is built unusually strong by Dawson & Sawyer, at Bath, Maine. She has three masts, and is fore and aft rigged. Her engines are of the compound type, and will consume about seven tons of coal a day. She is expected to develop a speed of about ten knots an hour. She is also provided with steam winches for handling her cargo and anchors, and has also steam appliances for extinguishing fire, and for other purposes. Her dimensions are 291 feet in length, 22 feet 7 inches breadth of beam, and 16 feet depth of hold. The saloon is handsomely furnished and she has stateroom and cabin accommodations for 50 passengers. She will sail from here next week for San Francisco, and will go through the straits of Magellan. She is intended to ply between San Francisco and Empire City, Oregon. The principal officers are: Captain, Alfred Doane; chief engineer, Henry V. Freeman; first officer, R. G. Dulano.

Fight Gloves.

Harpers Bazaar: The complaint which ladies make against gloves in general is that they are too short in the fingers, and therefore do injustice to the tapering and delicate shape of that member which Lord Byron regarded as the one infallible indication of aristocratic lineage. The glove-makers reply that the defect arises in nine cases out of ten from ladies wearing their gloves too small. Thus a lady who wears six and three quarters can get her hand into a six-and-a-half glove; but in doing so the length of the glove is taken up in the width, and consequently the fingers, instead of going well on, only go partly on. The thumb fares still worse, for it reaches as a rule, only down to within a quarter of an inch of its proper termination, the end of the glove, which is cut to go around the wrist, having to be joined across the ball of the thumb. Of course it is absurd to suppose that any glove will stand such a strain, or will look well when dragged so completely out of shape. We might as well attempt to put a stocking over a gooseberry bush as to draw a six-and-a-half glove over a six-and-three-quarter hand. The gloves tell us that one of the still unexplored fallacies is that a glove to fit well must fit tightly, the fact being that a comparatively loose-fitting glove has a far better appearance than one that is half a size too small, because the proportion of the hand is preserved. Would a lady, ask the gloves, wear a bodice or a dress so tight that her figure seems bursting out of it, and drawn into all sorts of contortions as a consequence of its smallness? Yet the same lady will wear a glove on her hand so tight that her fingers look like sausages and the back of the hand like parchment stretched on a drum-head. We fear the consideration of this question involves the unkind admission that there are ladies who have pretty hands and ladies whose hands are the reverse of pretty. It is considered the light of rudeness to designate any lady as otherwise than beautiful, and similarly he would be a rash man who would venture to assert that all ladies' hands are not small, and that all fingers are not tapering. We are bound to say, however, that many a lady's hand has a stumpy appearance when gloved, and a very elegant appearance when ungloved, and this undeniably due to the practice of wearing gloves which can only be induced to go on with the greatest difficulty.

The Chicago Convention.

Republican politicians and newspapers are sorely puzzled to know who the Democratic candidate for president will be. Before our next issue the nominations will be made and the perplexity set at rest. We have our opinion as to who the candidate should be, but it would seem like arrogance on our part to offer a prediction at this late day. We can assure these Republicans, whose anxiety has caused them to predict his nomination, that it will not be Butler, and that, whoever he may be, he will conduct the administration of these United States for the four years next ensuing the fourth of March.

It is said that the process of being tattooed is not painful. How is this, Mr. Blaine?

Blaine's Opponents.

The newspaper opposition to Blaine becomes more portentous every day. We published a list on Saturday of the independent and Republican journals which were openly committed against him, but the additions to it since that time greatly outnumber the originals. It stand now:

New York Times, New York Herald, Harper's Weekly, Puck, Evening Telegraph, Brooklyn Union, Rochester Post-Express, Rochester Herald, Syracuse Herald, Flushing Times, Boston Advertiser, Boston Transcript, Boston Herald, Springfield Republican, Philadelphia Record, Philadelphia Times, Chicago Times, Chicago News, New Haven News and the New York Evening Post. In addition to these the Chicago Inter-Ocean, the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, the Buffalo Express, the Buffalo Commercial Advertiser, the Philadelphia Telegraph, the Boston Journal, the Worcester Spy, and many other Republican party journals consent to support the ticket, but admit that they have small hope of seeing it elected.

We do not believe any candidate of any party ever elected upon a presidential canvass with such tremendous odds as these against him. In this city the Tribune is the only paper which supports Blaine squarely. The Commercial Advertiser has not defined its course clearly, but it evidently has no intention of advocating Blaine, for it says that his nomination was a "glorious victory," won by the "star-route gang, the cowboys, and the intriguing politicians." The Mail and Express is also doubtful, saying that "this may be a bad year for Republicans, unless entirely united and well guided."—New York Evening Post.

The real grounds of objection to Blaine on the part of independent republicans are found in his susceptibility to corrupt methods in politics and governmental affairs, as shown in his rulings in favor of railroad companies while speaker of the house of representatives, and in the danger of his involving the nation in a foreign war, in case he should be elected president. By the more far-seeing republicans he is regarded as possessing unbounded ambition and people generally are afraid of such a spirit in the executive office of the nation.—States Right Office.

The Political Outlook.

The Republican party, so-called, has distinguished itself. It has put in nomination the man, of all men prominent in politics, the most unprincipled, the most corrupt, the most tangled and damned for villainous doings that can be found in public life. James Gillespie Blaine is the Republican candidate for president. This is the head of the ticket. The tail, we supposed to be an offshoot of the Logans of Kentucky. But our Republican friend, Mr. Lawrence Kehoe, vouches for him as the cross of an Irishman born and an Indian squaw! As Mr. Logan has never distinguished himself, except by ungrammatical and rude vociferation, we suppose his claim to support will rest on his ancestry.

The Republican party is dead. It is represented by a bold bid for all the thieves, adventurers and unscrupulous rogues of all parties—under the lead of the red republican, Blaine!—[McMaster's N. Y. Freeman's Journal.]

FINE BEER.—Last week "ye bonnie man," Pete McGregor, consigned to President Lane of the Hose Company, a keg of his most excellent brew of beer. It was intended for the delicate palate of the Roseburg fire department and upon the dawn of the glorious fourth of July was tapped. As the boys formed in procession they felt fully enthused, having drunk to the day, the star-spangled banner and jolly Pete, of the borough of Oakland. Long he may he wave.

The Natal Day!

The Fourth of July at this place was a grand success. In addition to the patriotic spirit which usually gathers together many in the name of liberty and good government, there were a large number who came to see Cole's great show and to join in the good old festival also. The crowd was simply immense. Roseburg never before saw so many people within her fair limits, and perhaps will not again, until we hear the whistle of the locomotive that will pull us over the railroad to the deep waters of the Pacific. The liberty car was beautifully decorated and the goddess just filled our reportorial eye to overflowing, not with tears, but with rapturous admiration. We saved one to observe the bright-eyed, chubby-faced, corn-fed, sweetly-dressed little cherubs that represented the sisterhood of our Union. The firmen made a good showing, considering the fact that many of their members were occupied in other capacities and could not participate with their respective companies. The hook and ladder truck is a perfect daisy and the hose cart, prettily adorned, looked well. The members of both companies inspire us with the confidence that, in case of emergency, they will not be found wanting.

Marshal Slocum and aids preserved admirable order. At the stand good attention was had and the exercises there—music, reading and oration—were of excellent character. They will justify further review, in our next issue. To that time we also defer mention of the races. Cole's afternoon exhibition was largely attended by an appreciative and wondering audience. We go to press before the evening performance. We congratulate the indefatigable Yankee Doodlers upon their most excellent music.

Sullivan Knocked Out in One Round.

A large crowd assembled at the Madison square garden on the night of the 30th, to witness a set-to between Sullivan and Mitchell. When all was expectation Sullivan leaned over the ropes and in a voice thick and husky with intoxication, announced that he was sick. From his bleared and bloated appearance it was evident to the crowd that the champion was in no condition to fight. He had evidently been knocked out and completely done by that veteran ringster, John Barleycorn. His reputation as a prize fighter is gone. He is not the only strong man whose reputation has suffered from a meeting with this veteran wrestler. Young men, beware of a meeting with John Barleycorn, for he is a hard hitter, and no modern Sanson has been able to cope with him. The ancients were shorn of their strength by his might.

Blaine's Statesmanship.

The admirers of Blaine have been searching in vain in the history of the doughty knight for a single act in all his official record, that they might publish to the world the evidence of his statesmanship. They have succeeded in giving to the public a statement to the effect that he voted for the anti-Chinese bill. But they have not the honor and magnanimity to state in connection with this declaration that in this respect he acted with the Democratic senators and in direct opposition to a majority of his Republican colleagues; that his record in this respect is no better than that of each and every Democratic member in the United States Senate at that time; that to commend him for this act is to condemn the party which nominated him for the position, for the position which it assumed on this question in both branches of congress.

SENTENCED.—Briscoe was recently sentenced before the Circuit court of Jackson county for the crime of robbing Wells, Fargo & Co.'s express, near Grants Pass. He was sentenced to eight years in the penitentiary and taken to Salem Wednesday of this week. Briscoe was deputy sheriff at the time of the robbery. From the testimony of an accomplice it was the intention of the robbers to capture a large amount of money belonging to Jeffrey & Co., which was going to pay off the hands at the Siskiyou tunnel. They only got about six hundred dollars, belonging to other parties.

GOOD.—The weather since the recent rains has been unusually favorable for crops. It has been overcast, cool and dry. There were great fears that rust would follow the wet weather but these apprehensions have been removed. There will be an unprecedented crop of cereals. Some hay, that was down, has been seriously injured but the quantity was comparatively incalculable. Take it all in all our farmers have every reason to be thankful and rejoice.

Cole's Great Caravan, monstrous in its proportions, arrived here early on the morning of the 4th. The display was simply immense and their parade in itself excelled any circus Roseburg ever saw.

Miscellaneous Items.

Mr. and Mrs. Monheim (nee Mrs. Joseph) arrived in this city Wednesday evening, from Portland.

Mrs. Robert Phipps returned home Wednesday from a visit to friends and relatives in the Willamette valley.

Rev. E. C. Hamilton will preach at Grange hall in this city, Sunday evening at 8 o'clock.

Recorder Campbell has been in his office this week ready and willing to issue city licenses. Remember, the days of grace are over. Do not wait for the marshal, but walk up to the captain's office and pay your fare, for you cannot sneak aboard and hide away.

Al. Baroughs, superintendent of the Oregon and California stage line, was in Roseburg last week and made us a call. We find him the same whole souled, pleasant gentleman of the days of yore. Time has dealt more kindly with him than with many of us. He looks but little older than when he was amongst us.

Out of some little feeling for our faithful foreman and his fair assistant, we are out early this week. Surely they are well deserving a day of independence and rest. We have written much that has not yet transpired, but have no fears, readers, everything will turn out just as we have fixed it. Wonderful enterprise, first-class news, red-hot, in advance.

A story comes to us that last Thursday Henry Bushnell went to his brother William's house where they drew into a quarrel, whereupon Henry drew a pistol and fired at William but missed him. He then started to run, when William took his gun from the wall and fired at his retreating brother, who disappeared in the brush and has not since been found. William went to a neighbor's and told what he had done, and that he believed he had shot his brother. The brothers had a quarrel and fight a few days before at Wells' place. It is to be hoped that Henry may be found uninjured.

THE leopard cannot change his spots and, in this respect, Blaine resembles him.

SELECT SCHOOL.—I will commence a select school on Monday, July 7th, in the house of Mr. Newcomb, in the southern part of the city of Roseburg. Terms, five dollars per quarter. I solicit the patronage of the public.

MISS F. J. HOWELL.

ALL THE RAGE.—To captivate the popular taste and surpass all previous efforts to please the palate, requires no small amount of knowledge and no little skill, and when we remember that the very agreeable liquid fruit remedy, Syrup of Figs, is as beneficial to the system as it is acceptable to the stomach, we readily understand why it is the universal favorite as a cure for habitual constipation and other ills arising from a weakness, or inactive condition of the bowels, kidneys, liver and stomach. Sample bottles free and large bottles for sale by S. Hamilton, Roseburg, and Page & Dimmick, Oakland.

MARRIED.

Eldorado Mineral Water.

CHEMICAL LABORATORY, ANALYSE OFFICE, DELMON ROBERTS AND ONE ROOM, 524 Sacramento street, San Francisco, Nov. 29, 1883.

Messrs. Holbrook, Merrill and Sitton, Gentlemen: I have submitted to qualitative analysis the sample of Eldorado mineral water handed me for examination and find it to consist of the following substances: Chlorine, Sodium, Calcium, Magnesium, Iron, Alumina, Lime, Magnesia, Soda and organic matter.

THOMAS PRICE, Eldorado

Gaily be light, a gallant knight, In sunshine and in shadow, Had journeyed long, singing a song, In search of Eldorado.

But he grew bold, this knight so bold, And o'er his heart a shadow Fell as he found no spot of ground That looked like Eldorado.

And as his strength failed him at length He met a pilgrim shadow. "Shadow," said he, "where can it be, This spring of Eldorado?"

"Quoth the shadow: 'For the benefit of suffering humanity I will state that the Eldorado spring is situated three miles west from Roseburg, and a supply of the water is kept constantly on hand and for sale by Dr. S. Hamilton, agent, Roseburg, Oregon.'"

Me. Geo. W. Jones, Dear Sir: I have been troubled with neuralgic pains in my head and cheek bones, for several years, and had given up all hopes of ever getting cured. I went to your medical springs with my son James and got some of the water, and drank freely and found that it was a very efficacious remedy. I used it three times a day for a little more than two months, and the pains left me and I have not felt them since, and that has been 17 months ago.

Roseburg, Jan. 25, 1884. H. COON, SR.

Julian Joseph, of the well known firm of Hoffman and Joseph, of Albany, bears the following testimony:

ALBANY, OGN., December 20, 1883.

Geo. W. Jones, Dear Sir: I would here state to you that a year ago I suffered untold agonies on account of piles (blind) and went to Portland to get relief from doctors there. I met Mr. Apple of Roseburg, who advised me before seeing the doctors to try your Eldorado Mineral Water. I did so and had one dozen bottles sent to me by A. E. Champagne. I used one dozen bottles, taking right before every meal, one small glass full. I had no relief, but I am certain cured by what I used, and thank God, because I suffered more than I can express. I would advise any one suffering from this disease to try your Mineral Water. Should you have any occasion to use this statement do so. You are at liberty on my account. I think this is the best I can do for you, as I was cured by it. He respects you, JULIAN JOSEPH.

ROSEBURG, Dec. 3, 1883.

Geo. W. Jones, Dear Sir: From sheer curiosity I was induced to try Eldorado Water and was not only surprised but highly gratified with the result. I have for many years been a sufferer from dyspepsia and have tried every kind of regimen known to pharmacy and without result. The contrary was my experience from the use of your mineral water. Taken according to directions it produced immediate relief and in a short time, I continued, well secured permanent cure. To any who will avoid irritating stimulants, I am satisfied it will prove of valuable comfort and benefit. As a general rule, I found it most excellent. L. F. LANE.

DALLAS, Dec. 2, 1883.

From Mr. W. M. Parsons, last August, I received one bottle of the Jones Eldorado water, from Dr. Hamilton of Roseburg. Used half a bottle for catarrh and can fully recommend it for that dreaded disease, as I have not been troubled with the complaint since. D. E. BEARS.

I have also used the Eldorado spring water from Jones' spring, Douglas county, Oregon, and am fully satisfied with the result, as I was cured with one jar.
