WHEAT—The market seems to be steadying, though prices are yet too low to induce any large offerings. Farmers are still disposed to store in preference to selling their product at $1.27½, which is about the current figure for ordinary No. 1 shipping quality, while a choice parcel could probably be placed at $1.30 ⅌ ctl. Sales were:

Buyer season—100 tons, $1.41¼; 100, $1.41 ⅌ ctl.

Buyer 1884—100 tons, $1.37; 100, $1.37.

BARLEY—Spot business is very slow, and the market is somewhat crowded with offerings. Choice Feed is held at 82½c, though not changing hands either extensively or quickly. Parcels that can be classed as No. 1 in quality are hard to place at over 80c. Brewing is beginning to show further dragging symptoms. Some choice old crop has been seeking custom for the past day or so at $1.05, but was parted with at $1.02½, being the best bid that could be obtained, while the range will go as low as 95c for a common article. New Brewing is quotable at 85@90c ⅌ ctl, but dull at these prices. Sales were as follows:

Seller 1884—200 tons, 81c ⅌ ctl.

SEVEN WISE MEN BAFFLED.

The N. Y. Morning Journal says that Mrs. F. G. Kellogg, 50 E. 86th St., was partially paralyzed, and lay for seven days in convulsions. Physicians were engaged and discharged until seven had failed to help or cure her. She was induced to try St. Jacobs Oil as a last chance. She began to improve from the time the first application was made, and by its continued use, she has completely recovered.

NEURALGIA.

A lady in Virginia, after using the Treatment for two weeks, writes:

"I am a great deal stronger than when I commenced its use. * * * One thing I must tell you. It stopped the neuralgia. I took cold and feared that I would have it for two or three weeks, as I generally stood the pain for that long before I would take chloral, the only thing that ever stopped it before, and I disliked to take it so much that I would put it off until I thought I could not live for the agony. But this time it only lasted two days. When I began the Compound Oxygen I could scarcely sit up an hour; now I can sit up most of the time."

Our "Treatise on Compound Oxygen," containing a history of the discovery and mode of action of this remarkable curative agent, and a large record of surprising cures in Consumption. Catarrh. Biggest in the World.

[New York Sun.]

"What was the largest codfish you ever caught?" asked the listener.

"Hundred and four pounds," was the reply, "and it was over five foot long. But Capt. George Martin, of Gloucester, caught the biggest that I ever heard on. It weighed dressed 111 pounds. I've caught a lobster that weighed twenty pounds, and a horse mackerel weighing 600 pounds. I once tackled onto the biggest fish in the world," continued the skipper.

"A whale?" asked the other.

"A whale ain't a fish," retorted the man of the sea. "This one I reckon, was a devil fish—one o' the e ere broadtide fellows thirty foot across, all beam, and drawin' about six inches. We was lyin' in harbor, when I see a big ripple movin' araound, and thinkin' it a big horse mackerel I jumps into the boat and gits the lads to pull near it, and when alongside I tosses the iron into it, and, Lord bless ye! I thought the hull reef was a-risin'. A fish riz that looked like the vessel herself, and in a minute we was a-rushin' daown the channel in a way that was caution to sinners. The channel went raound an island, and as we came raound the second time the fish went right for the brig. I see we was a-goin' to hit, and sings out, 'Cut the rope!' but the man didn't have any knie. 'Cast it off!' 'It's spliced to the painter,' says he, 'and under water.' That minute we struck. The fish dove under the brig, and we not bein' able to dive, kind o' telescoped. The dingey just smashed all to pieces. We fell into the water, and was hauled aboard by the hands, and the pieces kept comin' up all day.

"The fish? Wall, I reckon he's a-goin' yet. Some of 'em are thirty feet across, and have kind o' horns at the head, and often git foul o' anchor and chains, and hauls vessels along just as if they was boats."

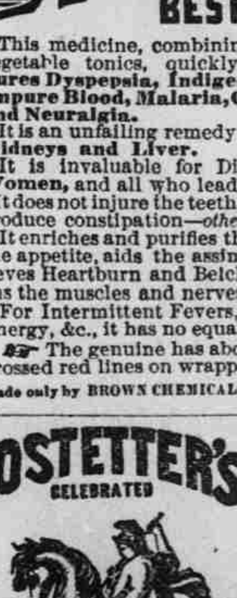
HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS



The feeble grow strong when Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is used to promote assimilation of the food and enrich the blood. Indigestion, the chief obstacle to an acquisition of strength by the weak, is an ailment which infallibly succumbs to the action of this peerless corrective. Loss of flesh and appetite, failure to sleep, and growing evidence of premature decay, are speedily counteracted by the great invigorant, which braces up the physical energies and fortifies the constitution against disease. For sale by all Druggists and Dealers generally.

"ACTED LIKE A CHARM."

This is what Mrs. Mayer, of Baronne street, New Orleans, says of Brown's Iron Bitters. A "charm" works quitely, surely, promptly, thoroughly and with delightful effect. That is just the way this wonderful family medicine works on invalids who have been suffering the woes of liver complaint, dyspepsia and impoverished blood. Those who know its worth say it is a complete cure for dyspepsia, weakness, malaria, neuralgia, etc.

Strange Voices.

[New Orleans Times-Democrat.]

All the frogs have words of their own; the negroes say the little ones on the bank cry, with deafening rapidity: "Come in, come in;" the larger ones say, warningly: "Knee deep, knee deep, "and the bull-frogs cry, in deep and booming chorus: "Dead and drowned, dead and drowned." It was Celia Thaxter, we think, who told in a charming child's poem that the cicada was a little maid "frying fritters 'neath the trees," who was changed by enchantment to her present shape, but still continues to fry vigorously. Every one has heard the original dispute about what Katy did, and knows what are the causes of the plaintive insistence to "whip-poor-will," and why their cousin-german cries triumphantly: "Twixt hell and white oak."

Knights of the Soil.

[Chicago Tribune.]

A new order of knighthood in France, known as the "Order of Agricultural Merit," is to be specially reserved for agriculturists. It is intended to encourage farmers in self-sacrifice and stimulate them to fresh exertions in their calling. A five-pointed star of green enamel, surmounted by a wreath of olive leaves and supported by a green ribbon with a pink edge, is the badge which this chivalrous order confers on the knights of the soil.

Fishing for Probabilities.

The Indianapolis Times thought it would be a stroke of enterprise to place ballot boxes at all the city precincts on the day of the charter election, in order to get an expression of the people on the presidency. The total vote reached 100,000, of which John L. Sullivan had a majority. Mary Walker received over 1,000 votes, and Blaine and McDonald were both beaten by Frank James. The presidential question is now worse mixed than ever.

CANCER

The experience in the treatment of Cancer with Swift's Specific (S.S.S.) would seem to warrant us in saying that it will cure this much dreaded scourge. Persons so afflicted are invited to correspond with us.

I believe Swift's Specific has saved my life. I had virtually lost use of the upper part of my body and my arms from the poisonous effects of a large cancer on my neck, and from which I had suffered for twenty years. S. S. S. has relieved me of all soreness, and the poison is being forced out of my system. I will soon be well. W. R. ROBISON, Davisboro, Ga.

Two months ago my attention was called to the case of a woman afflicted with a cancer on her shoulder at least five inches in circumference, angry, painful, and giving the patient no rest day or night for six months. I obtained a supply of Swift's Specific for her. She has taken 5 bottles and the ulcer is entirely healed up, only a very small scab remaining, and her health is better than for 5 years past; seems to be perfectly cured. REV. JESSE H. CAMPBELL, Columbus, Ga.

I have seen remarkable results from use of Swift's Specific on a cancer. A young man here has been afflicted five years with the most angry-looking eating cancer I ever saw, and was nearly dead. The first bottle made a wonderful change, and after five bottles were taken, he is nearly or quite well. It is truly wonderful. M. F. CRUMLEY, M. D., Oglethorpe, Ga.

OF THE HUMAN BODY ENLARGED, DEVELOPED, STRENGTHENED, Etc., is an interesting advertisement long run in our paper. In reply to inquiries, we will say that there is no evidence of humbug about this. Advertising Cheats!!!

"It has become so common to begin an article, in an elegant, interesting style,

"Then run it into some advertisement that we avoid all such,

"And simply call attention to the merits of Hop Bitters in as plain, honest terms as possible,

"To induce people

"To give them one trial, which so proves their value that they will never use anything else."

"THE REMEDY so favorably noticed in all the papers,

Religious and secular, is

"Having a large sale, and is supplanting all other medicines.

"There is no denying the virtues of the Hop plant, and the proprietors of Hop Bitters have shown great shrewdness and ability * * *

"In compounding a medicine whose virtues are so palpable to every one's observation."

Did She Die?

"No!

"She lingered and suffered along, pining away all the time for years,"

"The doctors doing her no good;"

"And at last was cured by this Hop Bitters the papers say so much about."

"Indeed! Indeed!"

"How thankful we should be for that medicine."

A Daughter's Misery.

"Eleven years our daughter suffered on a bed of misery,

"From a complication of kidney, liver, rheumatic trouble and Nervous debility,

"Under the care of the best physicians,

"Who gave her disease various names,

"But no relief,

"And now she is restored to us in good health by as simple a remedy as Hop Bitters, that we had shunned for years before using it."—THE PARENTS.

Father is Getting Well.

"My daughters say:

"How much better father is since he used Hop Bitters."

"He is getting well after his long suffering from a disease declared incurable,"

"And we are so glad that he used your Bitters."—A LADY of Utica, N. Y.

☞None genuine without a bunch of green Hops on the white label. Shun all the vile, poisonous stuff with "Hop" or "Hops" in their name.

PAPILLON

PAPILLON COUGH CURE.

TESTIMONIALS.

Mrs. W. K. Sidley, No. 3848 Ellis avenue, Chicago, Ill., says: "We have used Papillon Cough Cure for all kinds of coughs in our families. We have never known a case of whooping cough that the syrup failed to cure. We recommend it to every one and wish every family had a bottle of it on hand."

Mrs. Mary E. Richards, No. 3827 Ellis avenue, writes June 30, 1882: "I owe you many thanks for the courtesy last Saturday evening in sending me the medicine I so much wished for. I was first enabled to try your whooping cough remedy (Papillon Cough Cure), through the kindness of my neighbor, Mrs. W. K. Sidley, and it gave such great relief to my little girl that when the second child was attacked, I coveted the same relief for her. I know of no other medicine which so much mitigated a malady, generally so distressing, and feel very appreciative of my good fortune in obtaining it."

Mrs. M. D. Davis, No. 3835 Ellis avenue, and Mrs. Jas. M. Buchanan, No. 3831 Ellis avenue, also recommend Papillon Cough Cure for whooping cough; it cured their children, one an infant only a few weeks old whom another paroxysm would have choked to death, as its life had been for some hours despaired of.

It is a harmless vegetable syrup, very delicious, and is for sale by all druggists.
