BREVITIES.

Remember the grand ball to-night. Henry Watson was in town this week with his family.

Henry Aick has rented McGregor's butcher shop on Jackson street.

HACKMETACK, a lasting and fragrant perfume. Price 25 and 50 cents.

Considerable fall grain has been sown in this valley since the rain began.

For all kinds of groceries and clothing take your cash and go to Hogan's.

Our report of Mr. Fenton's speech was "spiced" in making up the forms last week.

Rev. E. Michael delivers a sermon at the M. E. Church, South, this Friday evening.

The trout are biting quite freely in the South Umpqua now at certain hours of the day.

A NASAL INJECTOR free with each bottle of Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy. Price 50 cents.

That team advertised for sale recently, can yet be had at a bargain. Enquire at this office.

Dave Aiken has received $1,400 as back pension, and still he is going to vote for Blaine and Logan.

Now is your time to lay in a supply of merchandise. Go to Hogan's and save from 20 to 30 per cent.

WHY WILL YOU cough when Shiloh's Cure will give immediate relief. Price 10 cts. 50 cts. and $1.

O. C. Perkins came into town Thursday from his country home, looking much better than when he went away.

The gymnasium under the leadership of Mr. Speng, is in full blast. Some of the youngsters do some very clever acts.

A new sidewalk has been built around the burned district. This was an improvement which pedestrians highly appreciate.

James Wright has just finished a new building on Oak street and offers it for rent. No. 127 is authorized to rent the building.

FOR DISPENSIA and Liver Complaint you have a printed guarantee on every bottle of Shiloh's Vitalizer. It never fails to cure.

Dixon and Willis have sold their butcher shop to other parties interested in the business, and we understand that it will be closed.

We know of a drummer or two that will leave some loose change in Roseburg as a result of their bad judgement concerning the election.

THE REV. GEO. H. THAYER, of Bonanza, Ind., says: "Both myself and wife owe our lives to SHILOH'S CONSUMPTION CURE."

Sheriff Taylor went to Salem, Wednesday with Lynch, the individual convicted of larceny from Jack Smith's house near Oakland. He goes for a year.

Mr. Heldinger left us the boss potato this week. It ought to be presented to some one of the Presidential candidates. It is now on exhibition at Critser & Sheridan's.

ARE YOU MADE miserable by indigestion, constipation, dizziness, loss of appetite, yellow skin? Shiloh's Vitalizer is a positive cure.

A grand time is anticipated to day (Friday) at Ten-mile, where there will be a number of horse races. Some of the best stock in the country will be there to compete for the prizes.

F. P. Hogan has announced that he will begin on November 1st to sell out his large stock of merchandise at cost. We have reason to believe that Mr. Hogan means what he says in his announcement elsewhere.

The train was delayed several hours Wednesday evening on account of the bad condition of the Harrisburg bridge. Passengers and mail were transferred by hand-car, the regular train being unable to cross.

Mr. Anlauf, of Pass creek has patented a very ingenious candle-stick. He has sold a large number in Roseburg, and doubtless this simple invention will be the source of a good fortune for Mr. A. The advantage of this candle-stick is in the fact that a candle will burn entirely down without any interference in the reflection.

We are under obligations to Leonard B. of Civil Bend, for valuable information regarding the social evens transpiring in that locality. He is quite a dandy with the girls himself, and he didn't fail to tell us about the young lady who was sent away to school in order that the said L. B. would not cause her to use too much coal oil.

On Wednesday, October 29th at the residence of the bride's parents in this city, Dr. M. W. Davis and Mrs. Mary Glendearing were united in marriage, the ceremony being performed by Rev. E. C. Hamilton. Mrs. Davis is a sister of our fellow townsman, L. and B. P. Matthews. The happy couple launch out upon the sea of matrimony with a shower of good wishes from their many friends in this city and elsewhere.

Last Sunday, Samp Jones' two lads were hunting in the hills on the Sheridan place when they were approached by a stranger who requested the use of a gun to kill a pheasant in a thicket near by. The gun was all ready to take the gun and he entered the brush. After waiting some time the boys went in search of the fellow but he was not to be found, nor was the gun. Upon being informed of the circumstances Deputy Sheriff Slocum went in search of the individual, but he was not successful in getting track of him.

Last Saturday we observed a young man approaching the office wearing a four-by-nine grin. He walked in and warmed his hands on the cold stove, the while looking out at the window abstractedly, as if wrestling with the problem of how to approach the subject. "Well, young man," said the presiding attaches of the INDEPENDENT office, "is there anything we can do for you?" Nothing much, to-be-ho, only I've got something awful funny to put in the paper, but I can tell you better than I can; guess though maybe you can fix it up," said the youth. He gave us an outline of the "awful funny" thing which consisted of a conglomeration of hired girls, blacksmiths, sparring and gallons of coal oil. There is one thing sure, however, that it must be a cold day in Civil Bend when a young lady has to furnish her sparring coal oil.

Letter From G. W. Kimball.

RICHMOND, ME., Oct. 16 1884. EDITOR INDEPENDENT.

Having promised you a letter while in the land of the Orient, I take a few hours from sight-seeing to fulfill it. Manchester, New Hampshire, is decidedly cosmopolitan. You meet French to the right of you, Irish to the left of you, Yankees in front of you, Germans behind you and other nationalities occasionally. The writer having been in the society of the French so much he is learning to speak the French language quite fluently. Honi soit qui mal y pense. Don't you see, I am learning it rapidly. Comme il faut. If I should stay here another week I might become quite French and seriously contemplate an attempt to get a French girl for a wife—they are full of music, and jovial and oh! so nice. If it were not for our girls at home I might be entrapped. Possibly some millionaire's daughter may elope with me yet as they have a mania for it East.

Manchester is a large manufacturing city, having a population of about 40,000. It is well laid out, having broad streets lined with shade-trees. It is most noted for its fine cotton mills on the Merimac river which runs through the west side of the city. The cotton fabrics manufactured in these mills are of a very superior quality and are found in all parts of the country. Also, there are large foundries and machine shops, where are made some of the finest railroad and fire steam engines that are in use on this continent. The cotton factories this year have paid about sixteen per cent on the capital invested in them, although this has been a year of depression in all business over the country. I think the mill owners have done well and there is no cause for alarm. If it were not for the manufacturing interests this country would not amount to much. It then would be a good country to emigrate from. The operatives in these great mills are in fear that the mills will be shut down for a season, which makes them economical, and in consequence business is dull and unsettled. There is great competition in all business which prevents the business men from reaping a golden harvest.

In this city I passed my childhood days in innocent glee. I walk the streets where once I played hide-and-seek, but now no familiar face greets mine—all are so strange. Perhaps many that I pass on the streets were once my school mates, but now are unknown to me. I am lonely here and long to get back to Roseburg.

I next visited Weare, sixteen miles from this city, where most of my relatives live. The surface of the country is hilly with small bottoms along the streams, and the ground is so stony that after getting off sufficient stone to fence the fields you could hardly see that any stone had been removed therefrom. Hence you can imagine what our farmers would do with such land. Of course, a high state of cultivation makes this land produce well. A very little wheat is raised here. Farms are sold cheap. It is seldom that one will average more than $10. per acre. The winters are very severe. Farmers are compelled to feed their stock about six months in a year. If our farmers had to do this Oregon would be a poor country. Our farmers truly have a Paradise. If Oregon farmers would travel through this country they would know how to appreciate their farms, and would say that Oregon is the best country on this continent.

From here I went to Boston and visited some places of great interest to tourists. There are two cemeteries in the heart of this city, where are buried some of the most illustrious men of revolutionary times, signers of the Declaration of Independence, governors of colonial times and noted divines are objects of much interest and reflection. An air of antiquity pervades them both, although they front on one of the principal streets.

I walked through Boston common where the British soldiers ordered the Boston boys off the common when at their sports, and then their defiant answer. As I walked I mused upon the bold, out-spoken words of those brave American boys, which in later years proved to the British that at that very time there must have been a pretty strong under-current of popular feeling among the people that America ought to be freed from the mother country as her aggressors, and demands were unbearable.

The City Park is across the street from the common. In this park I noticed a statue of Washington, and one of Sumner. There are many rare plants and flowers arranged beautifully in many kinds of flower-beds, and, in fact, everything in the park is just lovely.

This city can boast of many magnificent residences and business buildings.

Next I visited Richmond, Maine, which is on the left bank of the Kennebec river where ship building and putting up ice is carried on extensively—the latter especially being a great industry of this town. Three thousand men are employed in this business in the winter; and one of the principal markets for this ice is New York.

There are some manufacturing here, but-times are dull now. The people look for good time after election.

Very respectfully, G. W. KIMBALL.

Political Notes.

VOTE for Cleveland.

PUT Oregon down for Cleveland.

VOTE for Cleveland and low taxes. The Republicans only claim Oregon by 500.

HARD TIMES! Vote for Cleveland and a change.

HON. SAM. COLVER is a "daisy" and no mistake.

VOTE AS YOU PRAY is the slogan cry of St. John.

VOTE for Blaine, high taxes and low prices for produce.

DOUGLAS COUNTY will show a Democratic gain over the vote of last June.

Why do the Republican speakers neglect to tell us about the failure of the United States senate to forfeit the lapsed railroad land grants?

EVERY Democrat must do his duty and be on the lookout for Republican tricks and Republican lies from now till the polls close on election day.

A great labor demonstration and mass meeting took place recently at Hamilton, Ont. Resolutions were offered demanding the immediate stoppage of Chinese immigration.

It is all very fine for Mr. Blaine and others who have been on the inside and had the advantage of the favoritism of the Government to talk about the wonderful prosperity of the country, but to the farmer and laboring masses who have been plundered by this system such talk must have a hollow deathly sound.

The small majority the Republicans obtained in Ohio is a stunning blow to their prospect for success in November. It is the smallest majority they have ever received in that State in a Presidential year, and indicates that the drift is setting strongly against them. For if they can only carry Ohio by a bare majority after concentrating the whole force of their National Committee on it, they will have a poor show in New York, Indiana, New Jersey and other States.

It is reported that a day or two ago Mr. St. John went into a Kansas drug store and called for a glass of soda water. His left eye accidentally twitched as the clerk gazed at him inquiringly. The mistaken clerk, not knowing the gentleman, gave him a liberal allowance of the usual favor demanded on such occasions, and the glass was drained to its dregs. "My goodness, gracious me," said the candidate, smacking his lips. "I don't see how men can drink liquor when they can get soda water like that."

90,000 men in Ohio own 5,000,000 sheep, therefore, they are in favor of protection, by which we know that there were about 90,000 flocks in Ohio if that number want protection. For these 90,000 men pay $7,641,000 as their share of the protection-tax. Their 5,000,000 sheep will yield about 22,500,000 pounds of wool which at ten cents per pound protection would yield them $2,250,000 or about $25. each. Any man who will pay $85. for the sake of getting $25. of it back again is a well-to-do idiot.

The loss to farmers in holding their stored crops for better prices may be estimated at millions every year. We do not say that sometimes they do not gain by it; but on the whole the risk is great, and three times out of four is a losing one. The waste from shrinkage and vermin alone is considerable, but our experience is that besides this it is better to sell when there is a demand and the crop is ready for the market. The grower at least has in pocket the going price of his products, and if he has a surplus to put out on interest, or interest to pay, he has the advantage of the time between quick and delayed sales, and is at least free of all risk, as above stated. It is true that when there is no doubt of a scarcity, say of wheat, the chances might be in favor of holding over; but when this fact is a recognized one and should be pursued as a natural course by holders in general, a surplus market must be the result and a decline in prices must follow. The truth is, that whatever course we take should be grounded on our best judgement, and then if we fail in realizing our expectations, we are bound to submit to the consequences the best we can. Our own faith, we repeat, would rest in disposing of the crop while it is intact, sound, uninjured, and the product sold safely to our bank account.

That is daily bringing joy to the homes of thousands by saving many of their dear ones from an early grave. Truly is Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Hay Fever, Loss of Voice, Tickling in the Throat, Pain in the Side and Chest, or any disease of the Throat and Lungs, a positive cure. Guaranteed. Trial Bottles free at S. Hamilton's drug store.

The Rev. O. Parker will hold service and deliver a lecture in St. George's Episcopal Church of this city on next Friday evening (November 6th) at 7 o'clock, and on the following Sunday (November 8th) will hold services in Oakland, morning and evening. All are cordially invited to attend.

The farmer who votes for Blaine and high protection hobby, votes to tax himself 43 per cent on his farm machinery and necessities of life, and to destroy the market for his wheat, and to enhance freight charges.

It is a little funny that as soon as Editor Dana announced that Cleveland was beaten the sporting men should all begin to bet the other way.

Mr. Rockwood, of Sims'an, died last week. He was found senseless at his cabin door, and was moved to the residence of Mrs. Barber. Dr. Mackey was sent for and upon his arrival he pronounced the old man in a dying condition. He was aged about seventy years. Eighteen hundred dollars were found upon his person.

J. W. Carlson sold to W. S. Fargo & Co., a large span of bay horses for $325. The company shipped them to Portland on Monday, in their express car.

The Court proceedings were crowded out this week.

Lon Reed, convicted of an assault with a dangerous weapon, was fined $150.

FOR SALE.—A splendid upright piano offered for sale cheap. Apply at this office for particulars.

To the Public.

ROSEBURG, Or., Oct. 29th 1884.

TO THE PUBLIC:

Desiring to engage in other pursuits I have determined to close out my entire stock of General Merchandise within the next sixty days, at actual cost prices. This is no humbug; I mean what I say. Any parties purchasing of me can have the liberty of examining my invoice books and satisfy themselves as to the wholesale price paid for each article. Those desiring to purchase their winter supply of Goods, Clothing, Boots and Shoes, Crockery, Glassware and Groceries, will make on an average from 20 to 30 per cent by availing themselves of this opportunity. My terms will be strictly cash for all bills under $50., and over that amount approved notes will be taken on three, four and six months' time, bearing interest. This will enable those having wheat and wool to sell to retain it until a more favorable price can be had. I shall begin selling out on the above terms on and after November 1st, 1884.

F. P. HOGAN.

Bring on your job work. It will be promptly attended to, and at reasonable prices.
