LOCAL ITEMS.

Lent is over. More weather. Agitate a County Fair. Easter eggs were seldom. County court is in session.

Immigrants arriving constantly. Times are promising to be better. Michigan has gone 10,000 Democratic.

The Court House is being refreshed for court week. A band stand should be erected in the public square.

California is suffering for rain, none falling since Christmas. The new fence around the court house square will be a beauty.

Our pioneers should make arrangements for a meeting in the fall. If you wish to purchase any kind of business call on R. G. Scroggs, Jr.

The Callahan mill has commenced operation and is ready to deliver lumber. For property of any kind call on R. G. Scroggs, Jr., Real Estate Agent.

Miss Winifred Mosher has gone to Smith river to take charge of the school there. S. R. Lane was in town this week from Drain en route to his Randolph mines.

Douglas county should be liberal ly advertised. Send the Review to friends in the east. The Methodist Church of this city has been enlarged in its seating capacity.

License or no license is the question that is disturbing the people in the county districts. From present indications the fruit crop in this section will be unprecedentedly bountiful.

F. P. Hogan is visiting his parents in Minnesota. He will return in about two weeks. Prof. Felmanman will give another of his fashionable socials at Slocum's hall Saturday evening.

Phil. Murphy, the chief of all commercial travelers was in town this week, disposing of coats and shoes. The valley towns are all being entertained by amateur dramatic societies.

A great many are taking advantage of our reduced rates with the New York World. You should also do so. The cattle train from Walla Walla to the coast made 426 miles in 20 hours.

R. G. Scroggs, Jr., our enterprising Real Estate Agent is doing some good work for Douglas county and deserves success. Rev. B. T. Sharp will preach at the loggers' school house next Sunday the 12th, both morning and evening.

Wm. Gibbs, son of ex-Governor Gibbs, was in town this week, on his way to Port Orford where he will locate and practice law. The Grant's Pass Courier is the name of a new paper now on our table.

The quarterly meeting of the M. E. Church held in this city Saturday and Sunday was largely attended. Rev. I. D. Driver delivered several effective sermons. Hon. T. B. Kent of Jacksonville paid us a pleasant call Monday.

An alarm of fire was sounded Tuesday morning a little before five o'clock, occasioned by a small blaze in Taylor's restaurant, near the depot. All our citizens turned out and a few remained to witness the north-bound train. $10.00 damage, insured.

This week E. H. Smith and John Cox, of Deer Creek, killed a very large cougar. They brought it to town and Mr. George Langenberg, the taxidermist secured it for his curiosity shop. They chased another several miles but were not successful in killing it.

It is reported by a gentleman who has recently visited southern Oregon that if the present straggling weather lasts a few days longer, strawberries will be ripe at As. I. ind. Wild it has been very pleasant here, they have had two or three small rainstorms in southern Oregon, and the people of that section imagine that they are to have a California season.—Evening Telegram.

Lawyer Whalley, of Portland, declares that the Kealy liquor law does not make any punishment for parties selling liquor without a license. This is a new phase of the bill and is endorsed by the Oregonian. This would mean free whiskey. However the spirit and intention of the law was otherwise and we apprehend that parties not procuring licenses will be dealt with as usual.

County Court.

County Court convened on Monday April 6th with Judge and commissioners present. One dollar tax, overpaid, remitted to Mrs. Mary Lane.

Jos. Dewey was appointed Justice of the Peace for Cow Creek precinct. Twenty-five dollars appropriated to Jas. Whitsett, an indigent person.

Mary Hunter filed bond for $3,000 with S. Selig and John Hall as sureties, as administratrix of estate of G. W. Hunter, deceased.

Jas. Dixon's final account as administrator of estate of Raphael Dixon, approved. J. H. Shupe's final account as administrator of Estate of Reasin Reed, Sr. approved.

R. M. Gurney's account as administrator of estate of R. M. Gurney Sr. approved. Owing to larger remonstrance than petition license was not granted George Dement at Myrtle Creek.

Liquor licenses were granted as follows: L. Stenger, Canyonville. W. H. Blackwood, Canyonville. Riddle & Thompson, Riddle. C. M. Wright, Looking Glass. Gus Mitchell, Scottsburg. B. Ackerblad, Gardnet. Varrelman & Brandt, Gardiner. Henry Wade, Gardiner. Reid & Nelson, Gardiner.

The Question of Rain.

In view of the question of drought which is now of vital importance to the farmers of California, and has excited some attention among those of Oregon on account of a lack of the usual rainfall in March, we have interviewed Mr. J. J. Nanny, the obliging superintendent of the signal service at this place, and from him we learn the following facts.

The average rainfall in this section of Oregon is 38 inches and 37-100 for one year from the first of January. This is not the proper month to commence the year with as the rainy season usually commences in December, but the record shows that since the first of October 1884 we have had but 19 inches and 69-100, so that deducting the next December rains, which last year was 9 inches and 20-100, we have still left us nearly ten inches to fall between now and the first of October.

This amount has always fallen, so our farmers therefore need not have any fears as to a failure of the crop. The rains we usually have in March came in February, which gave 5 inches and 28-100, while that of March was only 28-100 of an inch. Crops never fail in Douglas county. The lowest rainfall on record is that of 1880 and that was 31 inches and 44-100. The mean temperature of March was 50.9 degrees. Who would not live in the Umpqua Valley!

Oakland Items.

Vegetation is suffering for rain. The game Casino has superceded that of what. The birds, the flowers and the sun-shine of Oregon, excel the Maderia Isles.

A. F. Brown is making important and substantial improvements about the town hall. "They say" there is to be two or three weddings in our community in the near future.

Miss Palmer of Scottsburg is visiting friends in Oakland, the guest of Miss Mary Dodge. G. W. Dimmick Esq., was in town one day this week, with his usual genial greetings for all.

Rev. Earl T. Lockard preached a most excellent sermon on last sabbath to a large and much interested audience. Miss Cora Becht, of Wilbur, spent a short time in town this week visiting friends, the guest of Miss Lillie Barnard.

Dr. Langley Hall was in town Wednesday, riding his little mule, Bandy, which animal he has owned for over twenty-six years. The "Womens Christian Temperance Union" will meet at the residence of Mrs. Dr. Page on Saturday April 11th at 2 o'clock P. M. for the purpose of electing officers and the transacting of other important business.

Father John E. Sutherlin died at his residence in Oakland April 3rd after much patient suffering. His funeral took place on the following day, attended by a large and sorrowing circle of relatives and friends. The old City board has capitulated, and the board elected last December, now have control of the city government. Just what the terms of capitulation were we do not know, but to say the least, we hope we will have an armistice.

Drain Items.

You might have seen during the past week, if visiting the city of Drain, a large number of new students entering Drain Academy for the Spring term.

You might have heard her assert that she would never again wash her eyes with blue vitriol water. You might have seen an entire community full of sympathy for Miss Jennie Beale and her brother, Grant, in their hour of sorrow and bereavement, and many a loving friend has prayed that they may be strong in their trial.

You might have seen Elmer Palmer getting ready for—but then, you see, I never could abide that class of folks who are always "giving away" important secrets, so I have no earthly intention of telling you what he is getting ready for. However, if the cake should fall, down comes the smoke-stack!

You might have seen Dr. Kaykendall and a friend plodding along in the shade of their trees west of town, with a dog cart badly demoralized. They say that they left the horse tied to a tree on the bank of Elk creek, while they "rolled for snipers" on the rifles.

You might have seen F. Applegate building a modest store room in which to display the agricultural implements of which he is agent. We hope he may have large sales and good profits. You might have heard it whispered that in a few days we are to be favored by "the boys" with a first class amateur minstrel performance.

Mrs. Delphine Allen has been employed to teach school in new district just north of Drain. Miss Booth who went to Roseburg to attend the funeral of Col. Beale, returned Tuesday morning, and is now busy at work in a school room full of rosy cheeked urchins who are all in love with their teacher.

It is not known whether Mr. Perkins uses tobacco or not. From Wilbur. Green peas are in bloom. Coyote club met on Saturday. The hills are dressed in robes of green.

Quincy Grubbe and family are visiting in Wilbur. Mr. Grubbe is preparing to go out to the mountains for his health. Mr. S. D. Rich, a gentleman from Texas, is the guest of Mr. J. A. Strange. He is a pleasant and agreeable man and we hope he may conclude to locate here.

A branch of the Womens Christian Temperance Union has been organized at Wilbur by Mrs. W. A. Smick, Mrs. H. J. Grubbe is President. Speaking of Texas and Temperance reminds us that the lower house of the Texas legislature has passed a law submitting a prohibitory law to a vote of the people without discussion by a vote of 72 to 16, which was greeted with prolonged applause.

Rev. E. T. Lockard will preach at Wilbur on Sunday evening next at 7 o'clock P. M. and on Monday will leave for Ashland to attend the meeting of Presbytery, Elder J. A. Strange will also attend Mr. Lockard has been successful in the cause.

HERE AND THERE. Eggs and butter plentiful. Strawberries are getting ripe. Feed our now advertisements. The second term of dancing school commences next week. Old papers at the REVIEW office for sale at 5c cents per dozen.

O. H. Flock has opened a grocery store in Belus building. Nice fresh stock. Parties in need of doors and windows will find a complete stock at Sheridan Bros.

There will be another exhibition of the Hand Grenade fire extinguishers next Thursday evening. Miss Inez Gilliland left on Tuesday's train for Ashland, to be gone several weeks for the benefit of her health.

Several ladies and gentlemen from Eugene city stopped in town Tuesday night for the purpose of taking the freight train south so as to see the country by daylight. They were en route to Ashland. From Olalla. W. R. Wells, K. B. Ireland and others have gone to Whiskey Creek on a ten day prospecting tour.

A. E. McDonald a graduate of Ann Arbor law school is teaching school in Olalla. He is pronounced to be a very successful teacher. Ben Ayce has a fine lot of mutton sheep fattening here for the Portland market.

Mutton sheep and young cattle are in demand at good prices. On Monday the 6th inst, there was laid to their last rest in the Masonic cemetery and with the solemn and impressive ceremonies of the Masonic fraternity all that remained of Colonel Thos. J. Beale, who died in Coos county on the 2d inst. and whose remains were conveyed to this city for interment.

He was born April 16th, 1822, in Precinct, Armstrong county, Pennsylvania, and on October 14th, 1858, he was married to Mary A. Keener of that county. There was born to this marriage five children, one of whom died in infancy and the rest survive. The mother died January 28th, 1865, and by her side the new made grave is made. Following in that restless army of Gold seekers, Colonel Beale arrived in California, in 1848 and in 1852 he first adopted Oregon as his home. From early life, in religious faith, he was a Presbyterian; and after he arrived in Oregon, he united with the Methodist Episcopal Church of Ten Mile, to which for 17 years and to the close of his life he proved constant. He was a Mason from early manhood and one of the charter members of Laurel Lodge of this city. He was also a Companion Royal Arch Mason. He was appointed a colonel in the Oregon State Militia, but was never called into active service. In whatever capacity he was chosen he was ever zealous in the discharge of its duties. As one of the early pioneers of Oregon he was first in the foreground when danger threatened, and many of the old Umpqua settlers who bowed their sorrowing heads over his grave on Monday, can testify to some brave act, some needy charity, some energetic aid, which has given to his name a loving remembrance.

To society, he was prompt in all his obligations, and as a man, he was restless in the effort to develop the wealth of the mountains as well as to enrich and utilize the resources of the valley. His fervid imagination gave willing ear to every narrative of a native venture and at once his perservering nature impelled him on. The electric light of Hope was ever beckoning him onward. In the fond recollection of old friends the name of Tom Beale will long linger. At many a hospitable fire hearth, and at many a camp scene was his familiar voice a welcome harbinger, as the sun of day unnoticed sunk to rest and the fitting shades of night came on. If others excelled him in graceful culture or in Academic lore, none were beyond him in mature judgment, conservative principle, and in cordial and true courtesy. Society was to him, not always what it seemed to be, but rather what it is. A man was to him what he deserved to be, not what his rank or title made him. He honored his religion by his example. Being always ready to concede what belonged to others, he was not slow to invoke redress when he was justly entitled to it. But his trials are over. Devoted companions have bade their long last adieu! Loving hands have dropped the sprig of acacia on his grave! The stately column is broken! The operative workman is at rest. And while at noon, in the beauty and glory of the day, full facing the blazing sun in his diurnal roll, his immortal spirit is wafted along the level of time, to the spiritual temple, that house "not made with hands eternal in the Heavens."
