Mrs. Gen. u Wilson, of parsons, Kansas, who was appointed by the State of Kansas lady commissioner to the World's Fair at New Orleans, in answer to the inquiry of a reporter, said: "I can not speak too highly of Dr. TURNER'S TREATMENT. My sufferings nearly distracted me. My stomach was deranged and my nervous system was completely broken. I suffered from partial paralysis, rheumatism and neuralgia. Added to the above symptoms were loss of memory, voice, appetite and lack of nerve force. My family physician did me no good and by the advice of a friend, I bought Dr. Turner's Treatment. Two packages completely cured me. I think the treatment is wonderful in its effects, and recommend it in all cases of general or nervous debility, and diseased condition of the stomach, kidneys, liver and blood."

It has been used successfully in thousands of cases by both men and women, and is the best medicine know for the repairment of the procreative powers and restoring vitality. We will guarantee that three packages will cure the worst case of debility, causing dimness of sight, defective memory, aversion to society, want of ambition, loss of power, &c. LINES.

'Twas Memorial day in the city,
And I knew that its honored dead
Would have roses, and lilacs, and woodbine
In profusion over them spread.
And I said in this way side garnet
Lies one as nobly brave,
And I'll gather a rose and plant it
In remembrance on her grave.
And I thought Oh, the many tributes!
Since she has passed away
Mankind has offered up for her—
But not in the city to-day,
Perhaps she will be forgotten—
So I said to Him who gave
I will gather a red, red, thornless rose
And plant it on her grave.
And I gathered a red, red, thornless rose
As fragrant as rose could be—
And with no earthly eye to witness,
None, none but His eye to see.
With thoughts how she died a witness
His matchless power to save—
I stooped and planted the red, red, rose
On Florence Casebeer's grave.

How to Cross a Belt.

There are few people who pay any attention as to how they put on a cross belt. The right way to do it is to put the belt on in such a manner that the driving pulley will have a tendency to rough up the splices; then, when the splices come to the crossing, they will smooth each other down instead of catching under the corners of each other and tearing open a splice. A quarter-twist belt should never be used when it can be avoided; but when it is used; it should be as narrow as practicable, and the pulleys should be large. Increasing the width of a quarter-twist does not increase its power in the same ratio as in a straight or cross belt. There is not more than one per cent advantage in using an oiled belt with the grain side next to the pulley, which will hardly compensate for the ugly look which a belt presents when put on in that manner.

A Deaf Mute Marriage.

A Jacksonville, Illinois, paper of June 16th, has the following: A large circle of relatives and friends gathered in the parlor of the Illinois Deaf and Dumb Institute at 5 P. M. this afternoon to witness the marriage of Mr. Ambrose Stephens of Robinson Ill., to Miss Ellen S. Berry of Brighton, Ill., one of the matrons of the institute. The bride being a mute, and the groom deaf, Dr. Gillett, the Superintendent of the Institute, performed the marriage ceremony, using part of the Episcopal service and part of the Methodist service. He stood facing the couple and used the sign language in addressing them, speaking the words at the same time. To one who has never witnessed such a ceremony it is a sight not soon to be forgotten. The bride and groom both repeated that part of the service required of them. The bride was attired in a very handsome tan colored traveling dress. The happy couple left on the 7 P. M. train and will make a tour of the State, visiting friends and relatives Quite a large number of very useful presents were received. [The bride was a cousin of W. W. Kentnor, of this place.]

Sixty white girls fill the places in the Oregon City woolen mills left vacant on the exodus of the Chinamen a few months ago. They receive thirty dollars a month, the same paid the Celestials, and spend their money at home, while the almond-eyed heathen subsided on garbage and took the coin out of the country. Quite a change for the better, every honest man and woman will remark.

The huge drill which became fast at the bottom of the artesian well on W. S. Ladd's farm near East Portland, has been extracted, and the contractor having received a lot of new bits from New York, is joyfully proceeding with this work. The well is now down 1660 feet, and is going toward the center of the earth at the rate of from three to ten feet per day.

The Doodle Band of Roseburg, composed of Yankees, will come down on us about the middle of the month. We bespeak for the boys a warm reception. After they get away with a bucket full of clams apiece, they cant help but feel good. But before returning they must diet themselves on mush and milk, or else there may be trouble in the fair and fertile valley of the Umpqua.—Coast Mail.

The New York World says that Judge Walter I. Hayes, of the Davenport Circuit, is about to be impeached by the Iowa House of Representatives for giving aid and comfort to the opponents of the Prohibition law.

Menedumus being told one day that it was a great felicity to have whatever we desire, said: "Yes, but it is much greater to desire nothing but what we have."

Efforts, to be permanently useful, must be uniformly joyous—a spirit all sunshine, graceful from very gladness, beautiful because bright.—Carlyle.

THE JAPANESE PEOPLE IN 1871.

The Phenomenal Colored Servant—The Girded Sword—Temper of the Weapon.

Perry's visit to Japan was as complete an epoch for the people of that country as Columbus' to the native of America. The latter disappeared under the alien visitation. Dai Nippon has profited by it. Events are dated in Japan from the appearance of Perry just as we commence an epoch from the birth of the Saviour. The Tenno lived in the Naisu-Maru, part of the Oyeno or fortified palace grounds of the old Tycoon. Horticulturally, I remember, these grounds were perfect, great camellia trees, beautiful flowers of all kinds, handsome drives and the gardening culture. The inclosure was moated and invulnerable to any attack devoid of artillery, sheltered and guarded against any au- [illegible] central gate—the O-te-go-mon, gate of the great hand—was the one we entered by. Shrines, grotesque monuments and queer tiled buildings were in plenty, and men and officers, but no women. Not a female face was seen in or about any of the official residences, except at the entertainment at the Homa-goten, Sawa's palace, when singing and dancing girls gave an exhibition during the evening. Japan is changing, so that I presume in a few years all the old will have disappeared and with it much of rare historical and artistic interest.

When I was in the country, in the interior a foreigner was a curiosity, equal to the first Chinaman or Jap seen by us here. On a visit made to the summit of Fuji-yama in the summer of 1871 I went to the famous hot springs at Hakone; at nearly every tea-house our party was as much of an exhibition as Jo-Jo or the woman with big feet is here. A colored servant, dark as Erebus, who had with me, was a phenomenal object to the innocent Japs. The men and women would come up to him, try to rub the black off with their hands and be surprised they could not, and laugh over it with the contagious and hilarious glee the people so much enjoy. My watch would have been a passport anywhere into the interior, as they never tired looking "at the wheels go round." Insolence and suspicion was never met with among the common folk, but only from the Samurai. These fellows are born brawlers and when flushed with saki were dangerous. All wore swords then, now done away with. They set great store by this weapon, and a Japanese noble often wore one worth $1,000. The occupation—alone of all the trades—of swordsmith in old Japan was an honorable one and the members of the guild of gentle blood. Iyeyasu, founder of the last dynasty of Shoguns, left a motto that "the girded sword was the living soul of the Samurai." When forging the edge of the blade the ancient swordsmith put on the robes of the Kuge class or nobles of the Mi-ka-do's court.

The temper of these trenchant weapons excels any Toledo trusty. I recall a visit Iwa-kuru and his official family paid the late Admiral John Rodgers on the flagship Colorado. While in the cabin Admiral Rodgers—Fighting Jack Rodgers he was called in the service, to distinguish him from the present Admiral C. R. P. Rodgers, whose sailor name is Chesterfield Rodgers, on account of the urbanity with which he could ask the deck officer to take a reef in the top-sails or set a lower stun'sail—was showing the Japanese San-jo-dai-jin the mettle of a sword presented to him by the emperor of Russia, when it snapped like a whipcord. Iwa-kuru took his long katana, heavily mounted and rich in cunning metal work—probably an heirloom in his family for centuries—bent it hither and thither and almost tied a bow-knot in it. Our admiral was not a little chagrined at the bad behavior of his Russian weapon. Afterwards, however, the San-jo-dai-jin sent him a superb native sword, probably equal to his own in temper. I remember hearing one of the court officers say that it was not considered a good sword that would not at one blow cleve through the dead bodies of three men. Young noblemen were wont to try their maiden swords by bribing the headsman to use them at public executions, and fierce, inhuman Yakonins tested theirs not infrequently in the old times on dogs and lazars on the public highway.—Ex-Naval Officer in Philadelphia Times.

Action of Acids on the Saliva.

The influence of acids in retarding or arresting salivary digestion is further of importance in the dietetic use of pickels, vinegar, salads, and acid fruits. In the case of vinegar it was found that 1 part in 5,000 sensibly retarded this process, a proportion of 1 in 1,000 rendered it very slow, and 1 in 500 arrested it completely; so that when acid substances are taken together with bread the effect of the acid is to prevent any salivary digestion of the bread, a matter of little moment to a person with a vigorous digestion, but to a feeble dyspeptic one of some importance. There is a very widespread belief that drinking vinegar is an efficacious means of avoiding getting fat, and this popular belief would appear from these experimental observations to be well founded. If the vinegar be taken at the same time as farinaceous food it will greatly interfere with its digestion and assimilation.—Nineteenth Century.

Symptoms of Pen Paralysis.

There is such a thing as pen paralysis, sometimes called "writer's cramp," and it is a very inconvenient affection. It is a weakness of the nerves of the hand, caused by the constant contact of metal, a kind of electrical action upon the nerves and produces uncontrollable trembling. Writers who use steel pens a great deal, and telegraph operators, are subject to it. It is treated by electricity applied to the nerve centers and by nerve tonics, and readily yields. I have had it, but am in a fair way of recovery. Professional clerks should not use steel penholders if they desire to remain free from an attack of the disease.—E. P. Walsh in Globe-Democrat.

In the Congo Free State the natives use ivory kitchen utensils and chopping-blocks of ivory.
