BREAD IN DANGER.
The Alarming Increase in Baking Powder Adulterations.

The effect of lime upon the delicate membranes of the stomach, intestines and kidneys, more particularly of infants and children, and especially when taken into the system day after day, and with almost every meal, is pernicious in the extreme, and is said by physicians to be one of the chief causes of indigestion, dyspepsia, and diseases of the kidneys.

The absolute purity and wholesomeness of the Royal Baking Powder—now affirmed by every chemist and food analyst of prominence, and conceded by all manufacturers of other brands—arises from the exclusive use of cream of tartar specially refined by patent processes, which remove totally the lime and all other impurities.

I subjected several samples of the Royal Baking Powder, purchased from dealers in Brooklyn, to chemical analysis, and I take pleasure in stating that this powder has attained a most remarkable purity. I am unable to detect the slightest trace of lime tartrate in it, while all its constituents are pure and of the highest quality.

A DEFENSELESS COUNTRY.

It is an amazing fact that the defenseless condition of our sea coasts and the certainty of attack upon our principal cities in case of war even with any third rate power do not move congress to take proper action for national protection.

A board of engineers, after a long investigation and labor, has prepared a plan for putting the principal ports of the country in condition of defense.
To make a proper beginning of this necessary work appropriation aggregating $21,000,000 were requested.

Three or four days ago Senator Dolph, one of the few men in congress who have a just conception of the necessities of the case, made an effort to get this appropriation raised to $2,000-000, but even this small amount was disallowed. Mr. Tilden, at the opening of the session of congress, in a strong letter to Speaker Carlisle, set forth the necessity of making provision for defense of our unprotected coasts, and in a more recent letter to Senator Hawley he has urged the same thing.

The British government might send through the Welland canal. And, as the Chicago tribune says, "we are now having a quarrel with Canada and are compelled to submit to her insolence and indignities, to the seizure of our vessels and the mauling of our fishermen because we have not the power to resist. We are literally helpless, without arms, without a navy, and without any coast defense worthy to be called a fortification."

"The Tory party is coming into power in England, and will unquestionably support the extreme position Canada has taken and the outrageous bill which has been rushed through her parliament. In that case we must yield every point demanded, as we have not a gun nor a vessel with which to resist."

The Republican organ are very angry with the Prohibitionists for going into business on their own account and accuse them of inconsistency. "You know that the Democratic party as a whole opposes temperance legislation," they say, "and you expect that party to vote against all such legislation and against allowing people to express their opinions on the subject. Yet you help the Democracy to power by taking yourselves out of the Republican party."

The Prohibitionists have been inside the Republican organization for many years. What have they gained by the association? Where the temperance party has been in the ascendancy it has found Republican politicians ready to go to the utmost extremity of a fanatical warfare against beer and liquor.
Where it has had a hard struggle before it to establish its principles, it has found Republican politicians prepared to betray it after having used its votes as a stepping-stone to power.

The Democratic party is opposed to all sumptuary laws which interfere with the natural rights of the people. But it believes in allowing them to express their opinions on any subject. The Republican party, when it wanted the Prohibition vote in 1884, solemnly pledged itself in this State to submit the question of constitutional prohibition to the people, and although it had the power to redeem this pledge through the Republican Legislatures of 1885 and 1886 it refused to do so. Which is the greater enemy of Prohibition? The Democracy, which is its open and manly opponent, or Republicanism, which is its treacherous and froward ally?

WEST HOME TO DIE.

DRAIS, OR, Aug. 11.
A private letter received by one of our citizens conveyed the sad news of the death of Mr. Robert A. Pearse at Chilthorne, Yeovil Somersetshire England. Mr. Pearse will be remembered by many citizens of Douglas county as he lived for some years among us. He was a man of sterling worth and integrity, honest, and upright in all things.
He left here for England, the latter part of November 1896 his intentions being to reach home in time for the christmas dinner of which he had not partaken for ten long years, his desires were gratified having had a safe and uneventful journey across the stormy Atlantic. He had hoped to return to America and to Oregon in May last but the grim destroyer laid his icy hand upon him and called him away from earth, e'er his hopes were realized. Just in the midst of all his highest ambitions, just in life's brightest hour, just in the flush of earnest noble manhood. He had never been sick, being troubled with asthma, and believed that a trip to his old home would prove beneficial, but alas, vain hopes, how soon destroyed, having been home but about one year and seven months when he departed this life.
Mr. Pearse was at one time largely interested, and connected with manufacture of cheese, and was a partner of Mr. Hall of Oakland in that capacity.
Wherever he was in whatever business he might be identified as a true man, as a friend unequalled, loyal to the bottom of his heart, no deception no betrayal of the confidence placed in him by his friends, right was his motto and right road led him in the fulfillment thereof. The intelligence of his death was a sad blow to his friends in Drain knowing his excellent qualities how could it be aught else. He died of disease of the lungs aged 34 years, he leaves no family as he never married.
An aged father and mother survive him, awaiting alike, the summons which robed their household of one of its number. May his soul rest in peace beside that bright and beautiful river that flows by the throne of God. That smile has faded from our sight and "silence now enshrouded of his voice, locks its mute music in her rugged cell." It has been said that a merciful Providence confers on man a most gracious boon when he conceals from him the time that he shall cease to be, spared the wan specter of anxiety and anguish, the relentless warning of the pale messenger, he receives unheralded the final stroke. To those who believe may be comfort in the death of our friend whose early summons we all so much deplore. His call was so sudden, so unexpected that even yet it is difficult to believe that the seal of death has really been placed upon him that he has crossed the dark Styx and that all there is of earth to him has passed forever away.

Never gathered the raptur fruit more fair Never the shadows of dark despair.
Fell on a deeper woe.
Gone from his task had complete, Gone from his career, kind and sweet, Into Death's arms of Snow.
