A MARVEL OF PURITY.

Royal a Perfect Baking Powder—Absolutely Free from Lime.

The Royal Baking Powder is considered by all chemists and food analysts to be a marvel of purity, strength, and wholesomeness. Furthermore, it is now the only baking powder before the public free from lime and absolutely pure.

This is due largely to the improved method by the use of which it has been made possible to produce a perfectly pure cream of tartar, from which all the lime has been eliminated.

This chemically pure cream of tartar is exclusively employed in the manufacture of the Royal Baking Powder, so that its absolute freedom from lime and all other extraneous substances is guaranteed.

Professor McMurtrie, late chemist in chief to the U. S. Department of Agriculture, after analyzing many samples of cream of tartar of the market, testified to the absolute purity of that used in the Royal Baking Powder as follows:

"I have examined the cream of tartar manufactured by the New York Tartar Company and used by the Royal Baking Powder Company in the manufacture of their baking powder, and find it to be perfectly pure, and free from lime in any form.

"All chemical tests to which I have submitted it have proved the Royal Baking Powder perfectly healthful, of uniform, excellent quality, and free from any deleterious substance."
WM. McMURTRIE, E.M., Ph.D.,
"Chemist in Chief U. S. Dept of Agriculture."

REV. G. C. HADDOCK.

Postal Card Contents of Opinions in regard to His Death as it stands Related to the Temperance Reform.

During the week we have asked about 100 persons for an opinion in regard to the assassination of Rev. G. C. Haddock as it stands related to the temperance reform. The following are among the replies received:
ROBERT WEST, EDITOR CHICAGO ADVANCE.
Mr. Haddock has, I think, accomplished more for the cause in his death than any ten men can in life. His blood will cry for vengeance against the liquor power and God will hear the cry.

There can be but one thought in the matter of the death of Haddock. He died as a martyr, and the blood of martyrs will be avenged, not by blood but by the overthrow of the rum power in Iowa.
REV. B. S. CANTINE.

I regard the murder of Rev. G. C. Haddock of Sioux City, Iowa, as both cowardly and villainous, and stands as one of the strongest assurances of the downfall of the rum traffic.
REV. JOHN ALABASTER.

The best evidence that a cause is bad is its resort to violence and murder. The saloon has given an unmistakable proof of its inhuman spirit. Yet let temperance be encouraged for when lawlessness uses bombs and pistols the people wake up.
PROF. SAMUEL DICKIE.

The murder of Mr. Haddock is the natural result of a mistaken policy, that of expecting private citizens to engage actively in enforcing law. It teaches the import of competent officials elect and sustained by a constituency determined to destroy the wretched traffic.
R. W. BLAND, PASTOR WABASH AVE. M. E. CHURCH.

An institution which seeks to perpetuate its existence by resorting to assassination will not much longer be harbored by the American people. It is not to be wondered at that the indirect cause of crime should occasionally take a direct hand in it.
L. C. PITNER.

Infamous! A dastardly outrage which ought to open the eyes of Iowa and the whole country, to law-defying and irreparable character of the saloon element. If this does not result in sweeping every open saloon out of Sioux City, and the state of Iowa—then will justice fail.
REV. J. M. CALDWELL.

The nation is ready for war, and the newspapers have columns daily because Cutting's personal imprudence occasioned his arrest and detention in a jailor's private room. One of God's noblemen sought the enforcement of law, and was assassinated by the whisky demon. No one proposes war against the saloon, and the newspapers are silent.
W. T. MELOY, PASTOR FIRST UNITED PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

Violence and intimidation have never in the end helped any cause. Brave men will not be made cowards, because of the foul murder committed. Satan has over-rathered himself and aroused the friends of reform. Rev. Haddock has not fallen in vain. Yet he is only one of many strong ones slain by this liquor interest.
REV. W. H. HOLMES.

Rev. Geo. C. Haddock, by his death becomes the Owen Lovejoy of prohibition. Lovejoy was killed because he was an Abolitionist, and Haddock was killed because he was a Prohibitionist—one of the working kind. The reason why the saloonists hated him was because he did something. His death will prove him a Sampson. Let our watchword be: "Remember Haddock!"
SAM WOODS, QUINCY, ILLINOIS.

Human slavery triumphed in the murder of Elijah P. Lovejoy, but from his grave arose a spirit that crushed the life out of the traffic in human flesh. History repeats itself; and saloonism triumphs in the murder of Rev. Geo. C. Haddock, but from his ashes Phoenix-like shall rise a Nemesis in the form of awakened conscience that will throttle the traffic in human souls. The Lovejoy of our reform has fallen; ballots are weapons, let freeman veto his death.
GEORGE C. WILDING, PASTOR M. E. CHURCH, MOSMOUTH.

The atrocious murder of the heroic Haddock should, and will I trust, put new strength in the arm and new courage in the heart of every true Prohibitionist. It should make us as one man in the battle against this cowardly and murderous foe. Our watchword should be: "No compromise, the accused saloon must go!"
C. C. CRAGIN, PASTOR BETHANY CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

The saloon has slain so many men by poison that it seemed to it a small thing to slay a man with a bullet; but now that it more clearly than ever shows itself a murderer, it is more than ever likely to share the fate of the murderer. It has put men out of the way; it must itself be put out of the way. Let the trial and sentence of the criminal be hastened.
T. C. CLENDENING, PASTOR FIRST M. E. CHURCH, KANKAKEE.

If the officials of Sioux City had done their duty, G. C. Haddock had not died. If their political party had been the foe of rum, G. C. Haddock had not died. If the political party in power will not enforce the law, the power should be transferred to one that will. If men will not be convinced, by this terrible deed of the importance of a political party being in harmony with law and order, that civil officers may be true, neither would they be persuaded though G. C. Haddock should rise from the dead. Surely every intelligent patriot will write upon regulation, license, political party, and all else in league with the accursed trade, "Mene, Mene, Tekel, Upharsin."
CHAR. F. GOSS, PASTOR CHICAGO AVE. CHURCH.

The antagonism between the Liquor Interest and Christian society is necessarily one of life and death. Neither can thrive where the other is aggressive and self assertive. The triumph of whisky means the dissolution of the Church and the triumph of the church means total suppression of whisky. The assassination of Haddock was logical, and is only a faint adumbration of what must happen in the future, if Christian people dare assert the principles of their holy religion. I regard Rev. G. C. Haddock as a martyr, and I hope and believe that his death will awaken the church to this irrepressible conflict, and the determination to destroy the liquor business with an utter destruction.
REV. JAMES W. HANEY, D. D.

Twenty-five years ago Anthony Bewley was hung by a mob at Fort Worth, Texas, for the crime of being a Methodist preacher from the North, and hence opposed to the institution of slavery. Elijah Lovejoy in Illinois and Anthony Bewley in Texas were proto-martyrs of the great anti-slavery struggle. Slavery has been dead for twenty years. "Queen Deas" will perdition, prison, demerit." "Whom God would destroy, he first makes mad." The liquor traffic was mad when it slew Watson B. Smith at Omaha. It is doomed now to speedy death for slaying with cowardly hand Rev. Geo. C. Haddock. Now let every Methodist preacher in the land answer that assassin bullet with his prohibition ballot. The saloon, the assassin of the nineteenth century shall die. The end of this "organized villainy" hastens. Bullets may slay the martyrs of this holy cause but ballots will slay the assassin saloon. Haddock was slain for being a practical Prohibitionist not for a sentiment. In this war, ballots will outweigh bullets, and will kill the assassin saloon—the gigantic criminal of the nineteenth century.
E. O. TAYLOR, PASTOR CENTRAL BAPTIST CHURCH.

I regard the murder of Rev. G. C. Haddock as an evidence of the desperation of the saloon cause and the length to which it is ready to go to sustain itself. 2. As an eye opener to men who profess to believe in prohibition but who still train with political parties in whose ranks such a diabolical act is possible. 3. As a necessity in the providence of God to bring this great question of prohibition to a universal issue. Geo. C. Haddock is to the Prohibition cause what Owen Lovejoy was to the abolition of slavery.
GERRITT SNEYDE, PASTOR BELDEN AVE. PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

The murder of Rev. G. C. Haddock of Sioux City, Iowa, will greatly strengthen the temperance work. It is an exhibition of the spirit of the opposing party and a confession of its weakness. Murder is the devil's resort whereby he always defeats his own ends. The cause of truth and righteousness has always gained ground when some of its advocates have fallen as martyrs. Let us take courage and march into the forefront of the battle because we have received new assurance of gain and of final victory.
D. J. HOLMES, PASTOR STATE ST. M. E. CHURCH.

George C. Haddock was the prosecuting attorney in the trial of J. W. Cathcart, presiding elder of Appleton, District, Wis., conference in the year 1880. It was held in my church, and lasted 5 weeks. During that time G. C. Haddock was subjected to the vilest slanders and vituperation, printed and verbal, so that it was a common remark that he, instead of the accused, was on trial. He never flinched or gave sign of pain. If it is magnanimity to hide a wound he possessed it in a large degree. He had a well balanced mind, logical, argumentative and enough imagination to illustrate and ornament truth. He was fearless and relentless in the advocacy of what he thought was right for the good of man. He has joined the noble army of martyrs; cut down in his rich and solid vigor; the liquor traffic must answer for it.—The Lover.
