

ROSEBURG REVIEW

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 29, 1886.

THE CAUSE OF STRIKES.

Miss Rose Elizabeth Cleveland some time since said in the Literary Life, that the cause of strikes was owing to the restlessness of our American people, and the desire upon the part of many to get something for nothing. Now this notion is a correct one in some particulars. But we believe that the cause of this restlessness, and many a time, inadequate compensation by those either in authority, or those possessing much, do not deal properly with our citizens. To illustrate; Mackey's new telegraph line is now being constructed through our county. When the employes go through a farm, opening fences, hauling heavy loads, and otherwise destroying the grass or other products, and the owner orders them to cease their trespassing, they either promise compensation, and never return to settle the bill, or go ahead taking the chances of prosecution. Now substantially this thing occurred to some of our citizens, viz: Jephtha Green and Burney Dixon, and no doubt many others. These employes said to Mr. Green, "Mr. Mackey is worth $300,000,000, and is a liberal man, and your land will enhance in value, etc. etc." Now we protest against any such doctrine, that a man because he is rich, or is about to run a public carrier line, through a country, is entitled to pass through private property until he has paid the damages. Now some will say that the farmer has recourse to the courts, so he has, and can collect damages if any are awarded, but the time that it takes from his farm, and the worry and harassing surroundings elicited in the prosecution, make men restless, and at the same time cause a breach that is not easily cured, in the confidence that poor men would have in rich men, if the rich men would deal in a business like way with the people. Now for the owner to take a shot gun and stand in the way, would involve prosecution. Conclusion, that if railroad or telegraph monopolists take that which does not rightfully belong to them, by overreaching, intimidation, or by the technicalities of law, they are morally committing grand larceny, and the only reason they are not all of them, in the penitentiary, is because like Mr. Mackey they are worth a great deal of money. The result is, we have Knights of Labor, and protective union organizations by the thousand. These are the logical fruits of restlessness, and this restlessness is caused by the mistaken policy of the monopolists. A rich man, has no right to a poor man's labor or his farm without compensation, neither has a laboring man a right to one dollar of Mr. Mackey's money, until he earns it. The strikes, therefore often occur on account of the impolitic way that these rich companies undertake to do business.

Hon. B. F. Dowell although a Republican of the true blue, said to us in our office last Saturday, "that the great public debt is now virtually paid off, and that our credit is the best of all the nations of the earth." Yes, and all this under Democratic rule. Where will the campaign thunder come from by our friends of the opposite party? They must take a new tack now.

Next month, if all goes well, will witness the dedication of the Bartholdi statue of "Liberty Enlightening the World." It is ten years since the colossus was offered as a gift, and the great metropolis has not yet been able to raise sufficient funds to defray the expenses of a pedestal and setting up the statue. New York evidently needs "enlightenment" as well as the rest of the world.

The Central Pacific railroad company has concluded to extend its Oregon line into eastern Oregon as far north as the Columbia river. It is said that the construction of a railroad into that section will open up immediately one of the most inviting, valuable and fertile areas now remaining in the public domain.

A Philadelphia paper has the following paragraph: "Ex-Attorney General George H. Williams is now practicing law in Portland, Oregon. Years ago Mr. Williams bought a large tract of real estate in what was then the suburbs of Portland. It is now improving in value so constantly that its owner will soon be a wealthy man."

In Idaho the lines are drawn on the Mormon question as closely as in Utah, and the present campaign is as bitter as between Gentile and Mormon in that priest-ridden Territory. DuBois leads the Gentiles; Hailey leads the Jack-Mormons and True Saints. DuBois will win the battle.

Annou, the great pork packer of Chicago, says that Chicago's supremacy as a pork packing center will soon be a thing of the past. He says Kansas City will soon be the great pork city through Omaha, Minneapolis and other places will develop the same industry on a large scale. This moves the Minneapolis Tribune to say: "Westward the squealing porker takes his way."

"Ya-as," said an Indian citizen, whose home lies in the fertile valley of the "Wayboah." "I happened to be in Charleston when the first earthquake came." "What did you do when you heard the rumbling?" "I tuk thirty grains of quinine b'gosh!"—New York Sun.

NEEDED RAILROADS.

It is a fact that while Coos Bay is the best outlet for the largest half of Oregon, and particularly the Southern part, every other is to be canvassed and examined as to its advantages for terminal purposes, in a railroad point of view, first. Just why this is thus, we shall not attempt to explain, but that some are not posted as to their best interests all will admit. Coos Bay is the best harbor on the Oregon coast to-day, and the pass through the Coast Range to it is not equalled by that of any other, while it can be reached on a direct line from the center of the state. A road is to be run from one end of the state to the other through Eastern Oregon. An outlet to the coast at the nearest point from the center may bring Coos Bay into notice. Such a connection would be an absolute necessity since roads are virtually allowed as much for a short as for a long haul. In reference to the proposed road through Eastern Oregon, a San Francisco dispatch says: The California & Oregon railroad is being pushed northward quite vigorously, and will cross Klamath river at Scott's Bar. From that point surveys have been made for a road to be constructed over the valley of Klamath, passing between the upper and lower Klamath lakes, in the vicinity of Linkville, and penetrate Eastern Oregon. It is very probable the road will not soon form a Portland connection, as the company intend to tap the resources of Eastern Oregon at the earliest date possible. The company has decided on this course owing to the high opinion entertained here of that region. The papers here designate the land of Eastern Oregon as ranking among the richest. The California railroad company is satisfied the resources are ample to sustain the road, and predict a rapid settling up. The merchants here claim that San Francisco is the commercial basis and outlet of that region and hail the news with joy.—Cochille City Herald.

The Evening Democrat published at Portland Oregon speaks thus complimentary of the spirit of the Oregonian, and also makes its own comments, all of which THE REVIEW regards as proper and right.

The Oregonian treats this morning of the smaller wages paid women than those paid to men for the same work and attributes it to the intense competition among women resulting from the modern enlargement of their sphere of labor.

It also treats of the mines of the Northwest and promises an elaborate review of them from the pen of Mr. Herbert Lang. That paper never does anything half way and we may expect a most interesting article.

It also treats of "The Russian Jews" in relation to "Anarchists" and in reply to a contributor makes a handsome explanation of a previous article. It concludes very justly in a tribute to the Jewish race which we take great pleasure in transferring to our columns.

"Our correspondent does himself injustice and the Oregonian injustice, when he assumes that we are so ignorant or so unjust as to attempt to repeat vulgar prejudice and bigotry in America by direct or indirect depreciation of one of the most vital and intellectual races of the world; a race that in war, politics, finance, law, music, the stage, philosophy and philanthropy commands the admiration of the intellectual world. The Oregonian knows that the Jews need not take a back seat for brains, so long as the world remembers Spinoza, Rothschild, Montefiore, Jessels, Disraeli, Fould, Heine, Meyerbeer, Mendelssohn, Rachael, Bernhard, Brahm, Auerbach and Massena.

These are the sentiments we have always been taught. Outside of England there is no country in the world that has yielded that just need to this race so much as the Southern states of America. The names of Yulee and Benjamin are household words in that section.

The suit between Kent and Colvig over the district attorney's office will not reach a jury at this term of court. A number of law points have been argued upon it, and another point will come up for argument next Monday.

Gentlemen what is the matter with you all in Jackson county? These things ought not so to be. Bros. Kent and Colvig are young men with good prospects before them, and men of ability, and then to exhaust that energy upon technicalities, is not the proper thing to do according to our mind.

Whitlaw Reid, of the New York Tribune, has purchased Villard's Fifth Avenue residence for the meagre sum of $400,000. That amount would get away with all the newspaper men in the state of Oregon, so says Bro. Hodson of the Eugene Register.

HON. BINGER HERMANN.

Oregon holds her election for Representatives in June. At that time she decided to return her present Representative Hon. Binger Hermann. Mr. Hermann is a native of Lonaconing, Maryland, and was born February 19, 1843. His education was obtained at the common schools and at Independent, near Baltimore. He removed to Oregon and taught school and studied law, and entered upon the practice of his profession in 1866. He has held the office of State Representative, State Senator, Deputy Collector, Internal Revenue, and Receiver of Public Moneys at the Land Office. He is largely interested in the shipping and lumbering business. His residence is in Roseburg. He was elected to the Forty ninth Congress as a Republican.—[The Cincinnati Graphic News.

The approaching legislature will be one of interest no doubt. No U. S. Senator to elect will give time to consider business properly. Douglas county is a part of Oregon, and relatively has an interest in the laws likely to be enacted. We have four able representatives and two able senators. THE REVIEW will as usual take an interest in the proceedings. Therefore if any of our citizens have any special question that they desire brought to the notice of the members of the legislature, the columns of THE REVIEW are at your command.

Hon. Binger Hermann, Oregon's faithful congressman, came up on Saturday evening's express and spent the Sabbath in this city. He was cordially welcomed and most graciously received by the citizens here in recognition of his valuable services in behalf of the state at Washington. He left on the Albany express Monday morning for the capital city, and will return to his labors in Washington in two or three weeks.—Albany Bulletin.

The other day the writer said to a poor, illiterate Christian: "You are a very good man." The reply he made—so simple, so earnest—would make many a more favored Christian blush: "I, first of all, try to be a good man in the sight of God, and then in the sight of man."

The fight in California waxes warm over the gubernatorial aspirants, Bartlett and Swift. Bartlett the Democratic candidate is running so fast that the Republican candidate, Swift as he is, will hardly catch up on the home stretch.

The Oregonian treats this morning of the smaller wages paid women than those paid to men for the same work and attributes it to the intense competition among women resulting from the modern enlargement of their sphere of labor.

It also treats of the mines of the Northwest and promises an elaborate review of them from the pen of Mr. Herbert Lang. That paper never does anything half way and we may expect a most interesting article.
