

ROSEBURG REVIEW

ISSUED FRIDAY MORNINGS - BY - THE REVIEW PUBLISHING CO. J. R. N. BELL, - Editor FRIDAY, OCTOBER 14, 1887. "WE EXHORT YOU, SIR."

The language above is from the Drain Echo of last week and refers to the whole article breathes a dogmatic and dictatorial spirit. It says in substance that a man that does not take the same view of suppressing the whiskey traffic as he does, namely—Prohibition, that he is a purchasable commodity at the hands of whiskey men, is a time-server; that, if holding a political office, he is not his own on such questions; and he further intimates that all persons that do not vote as he would dictate are those who would "lead young men to be drunkards, and young ladies to be drunkards wives."

Why did the Drain Echo dodge the question last week? Everybody could see that it did.

We were asked the other day why we would vote for prohibition when we did not believe it was the best remedy for intemperance. We answer, simply because it is the only thing left, and we prefer a "half loaf to no bread at all."

STEAM CIVILIZATION.

"I don't care what you say, there is not the fuss made in the Bible against a drop of drink, as there is by you prohibitionists. The Jews had laws enough for any nation, but there were no wholesale ones against intoxicants of all kinds."

Do you suppose that whisky even if it had been discovered then, would have had the same effect upon those phlegmatic old men content to sit and sit and just exist like a big old forest oak, as it has upon us to-day, with all our vivacity, activity and throbbing life!

Is the Corvallis Gazette of last week appears the valedictory of Will H. Parry who has exhibited much enterprise in the management of that journal.

TELEGRAPH dispatches: 15th—David B. Hill is a candidate for the presidency; 17—David B. Hill has captured the delegation and will be a candidate; this kills Cleveland's chances; 18th—David B. Hill positively says that he will not be a candidate, but that he will work for the re-nomination of Cleveland. Oh! It is a fine thing to get the dispatches.

those who drink, do it with a vengeance without considering nature's vengeance to be reaped in due time. It is within these last forty years that all those steam powers have been at work bringing the life energy and excitement up to boiling point itself.

We take the following from the Albany Democrat, and print it for the sole benefit of the Salem Statesman.

Our readers have not forgotten what a howl went up from the Republican organs some weeks ago when what was known as the Glenn bill to prevent mixed schools was pending in Georgia.

It is a little remarkable that the Drain Echo was loud in praise of the Republican party until last week, and then abandons it, for "a greater work."

There is an increasing financial stringency. The New York World of Wednesday last prints interviews with a large number of bankers and merchants to the effect that a reduction of taxes to stop the accumulated money in the treasury imperative.
