ARRIVAL OF THE MININE AT VICTORIA VICTORIA, B. C., Sept. 2-The sealing schooner Minnie, owned by Capt. Jacobsen, who is also master of the vesse arrived from Behring sea this morning. The Mimnie as already reported, was cap-tured in the sea by the Rush on the 15th of July. Lieutenant Tuttle went on board and confiscated 450 seal skins, which had been secured, as well as the arms and spears of the Indian hunters The vessel at this time was 60 miles southeast of Ounacka Pass. Charles Swapson, quartermaster of the Rush, was placed on board as a "prize crew," and Captain Jacobsen ordered to sail for Sitka. As soon, however, as the cutter was out of sight, the Minnie sailed eastward, and falling in with seals, new spears were made and 500 seals and nine sea-otters were taken. Before leaving, Lieutenant Tuttle, at the request of Captain Jacob-sen, returned two of the confiscated spears, to enable the Indians to catch seals for food, and these also came in for service in the final hunt. The "prize crew" protested strongly against the action of the Minnie's captain n carrying on business while he was on board, but of course no attention was paid to him. The Indians wanted the captun either to threw him overboard or put him ashore on an island. left alone he could easily have secured 2000 skins, but under the circumstances

Hoodoos.

A Chicago lawyer has explained to Chicago court that a hoodoo is something which pursues a man with misfortune, much in the manner that a wheelbarrow makes its haunting presence known for weary while to the unfortunate person wno has stumbled over it in the dark. This is not a happy illustration. To stumble over a wheelbarrow is doubt'ess, perplexing, painful, maddening. But ere is nothing weird, uncanny, or baleful about such an experience. It is simply a piece of plain unvarnished misfortune, which can be explained by the laws of gravity. On the one hand, a hoodoo is ething which shatters natural laws in order to work harm. A man who has been hoodooed find that all the forces of nature are in active conspiracy against him. If he goes out to borrow money his pocket will be picked and none of his friends will lend im a cent. If he goes on a journey the opened to his view. The train went as far as it could; but at Hood River found the railroad train will run off the track. If he rides on a cable car he will get stuck in the tunnel. In a word, he is hoodooed, Some people would call the outward manifestations of a hoodoo mere bad luck But the adept in hoodoos can observe an important distinction between the two. The spell of the boodoo must be broker by an incantation, while bad luck wil simply wear itself out. There are two excellent preventives for hoodoos. One is to get a muscut and the other is to decline to be a hoodon.
