ITEMS IN BRIEF

From Wednesday's Daily. The river is rising. Thanks, "gentle Annie" the spring time has come.

Mr. A. McKinlay, who lives east of Prineville, is in the city on route to Portland. This is one of the brightest and clearest days experienced this season.

Dr. Rinehart was on the streets today for the first time for some weeks. Flowers are in full bloom in gardens, trees in leaf and all nature wears the summer garb.

Street Commissioner Staples is doing good work in cleaning the streets and alleys of rubbish. We received a call today from Mr. Charles King, managing editor of the Sports Appeal, published in Denver, Col.

Mr. H. H. Draper, who has been confined to his room for some weeks by an attack of pneumonia, is again able to go around. It is time for the high-water prophet to stand on his feet and make his predictions give vent to gloomy prognostications about a June flood.

The scaffolding is erected around the Schanno block, and the work is putting on combs and cementing the outside walls. Mechanics are very busy at the shops, and we have been informed that there is enough repairing now to keep mechanics busy for the next few months.

The Waiver Leader says there are twelve men at work on the new steamer to run on Snake river between Huntington and the Seven Devils, and that it will be ready to launch about June 1st. Five suits against the Union Pacific Co. damages caused by the wreck near the Lookout last winter. These suits involve several thousand dollars.

Alderman, the 11-year-old son of Charles Alderman, who lives between McCoy and Lincoln, in Polk county, had his head down yesterday afternoon, while on his way to school, by a horse of the same name. He was getting over a fence and was playing with the gun, looking down the barrel over the muzzle. Turning the weapon over, the hammer caught on the fence, and the gun was discharged, the ball entering at the eye and causing death instantly.

Columbia: Boring continues on the gas well at Warrenton. The drill is now down about 225 feet and still in the soft sandstone. A little gas forces its way out occasionally, but no great amount is expected to flow.

The Times-Mountaineer has received an edict over the royal seal and signature of His Majesty, Rex II, enjoining upon the editor the necessity of the press, upon the arrival to be held at capital city of Ogden, commencing July 1, 1899. He assures us that he will not permit any further subjects will be received with such kindly consideration as our Rocky Mountain correspondent at the editor's side to have their mine open and to make a mark of distinction will be conferred. As we will be highly engaged about that writing editorials about Republican victories in Oregon we hereby tender our regrets.

Mr. Joe King, of Nansen, one of the best vaqueros in this portion of the state, was severely injured last Thursday while riding a bucking cayuse. He said he had killed the animal and his horse was severely injured. He was taken to the hospital and is now recovering.

Mr. J. W. Nelson, of Nansen, one of the best vaqueros in this portion of the state, was severely injured last Thursday while riding a bucking cayuse. He said he had killed the animal and his horse was severely injured. He was taken to the hospital and is now recovering.

W. W. Union: Wm. Maskekyne was on Monday adjudged insane for the fourth time. He returned from the asylum last morning at 10 o'clock. Dr. Alban and Dr. H. H. Draper, who have been attending to him, were present at the hearing.

Statenland: The Boise river was rising all of Sunday, and Monday about 9 o'clock it was six feet from the bridge to the water at the center pier. Three feet more will sweep away the tubular lying upon the gravel bank unless they shall be removed, and bring the water very nearly around the abutments of the bridge.

East Oregonian: James A. Varney, president of the Agricultural Society at The Dalles and a prominent surveyor, was in town yesterday on his way to Milton, in the interests of fruit growing. Mr. Varney is a well-known and official business call him to the Milton neighborhood. He is also department commander of the G. O. E., and was warmly greeted by old soldiers during his short stay in Pendleton.

From Thursday's Daily. Mr. A. Scherneck, of Astoria, is in the city on route to Portland. This is one of the brightest and clearest days experienced this season.

variety the monotony of these spring evenings by rehearsing some dramatic play? Mr. Theodore Liebe, of Portland, is in the city. The streets and alleys are now in good condition. A circus is picking up spare dollars in the Willamette valley.

All old residents of this city, after visiting other points, express themselves satisfied with the Dalles. The river is rising rapidly. Yesterday it rose three feet, and as large an increase may be expected to-day.

The steam ferry boat, which has been laid up for repairs for several weeks past, is again making regular trips. The river is fast encroaching on the beach, and soon wood-owners will be forced to remove their fir and oak.

Rev. Geo. A. Hutchinson, pastor of the Presbyterian church, has given up his charge, and will remove to some other field of labor soon. Some person in authority should ascertain whether the statement that carcases of dead sheep are on the creek bank is true, and if so have them removed.

The bores after coal are greatly encouraged with the indications, and expect in a short time to have their mine open and to make a mark of distinction will be conferred. As we will be highly engaged about that writing editorials about Republican victories in Oregon we hereby tender our regrets.

last the new recruit's knowledge of an event, the history of which is familiar to all the children, asked him: "Who tempted Eve?" The little fellow, after a moment's thought, with an air of confidence, replied: "It's the gentleman who in governor in hell! I've forgotten his name."

Judge Bellinger, attorney for J. Houghton, the lowest bidder for The Dalles Water bonds, was in the city today examining the records of the present council, and reports that the electric light pole, which is in the center of the thoroughfare, causing a general break up. Mr. Field managed to secure his horse, and hauled the pieces of his vehicle to a wagon shop. It would be well for townsmen to learn the location of this pole, and if possible, train their horses so they will avoid it.

Mr. John R. Taylor and Miss Ivy Lovoy were married at the Byron parlors Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock. Judge H. B. Williams officiating. The happy couple are both well known on the bay, and have the hearty congratulations and good wishes of a host of friends. About 12 intimate friends witnessed the ceremony.

There are in Sherman county 597 persons of school age, that is, between the ages of 4 and 20; and 433 legal voters for school purposes. Articles of incorporation of the Wasco board of trade have been drafted and will shortly be presented to the stockholders.

The young ladies of Wasco intend giving an entertainment of a semi-dramatic character shortly, the proceeds to be for the W. C. T. U. The title of the piece is "The Peck Sisters." We understand that the dramatic people are rehearsing their parts daily so as to give a creditable performance. Musical selections will also form a feature of the entertainment.

Our Grants correspondent says the telephone line is finished at last, and we can now talk to Grants. At the present writing it is unfinished, but probably before we go to press the battery will be in working order. "Diego" also says trees and other plants at Grants are making rapid growth. He measured the growth of a hop vine recently and estimates the increase in size at about 200 percent.

Mr. H. H. Draper, who has been confined to his room for some weeks by an attack of pneumonia, is again able to go around. It is time for the high-water prophet to stand on his feet and make his predictions give vent to gloomy prognostications about a June flood.

CROOK COUNTY. Items Cited From the Columns of the Ochoco Review. 'Twas the night of the north end of the county will begin clearing next week if the weather remains favorable.

Several loads of freight from The Dalles arrived here this week. The teamsters report the roads in good condition except through Cow Canyon. Messrs. Booth, Sasser and Nelson had to walk across the mountains to get to the Democratic convention, there being too much snow for them to cross with teams.

Some time ago Bill Wigle reported that he had been staying at the front of the O. P. while at Sisters. Bill was mistaken. It was the first campaign gun fired by the Democrats over in Weibost.

This week representative stock raisers from all parts of the county were in town, and all report having been seriously injured by the winter, though we were pleased to find that some of them felt discouraged; but all have confidence in the country and will make an effort to regain their losses by renewed energies.

The following are the Democratic nominees for Representative: J. C. Sumner, of Prineville; clerk, Arthur Hodges, of Prineville; sheriff, W. A. Booth, of Mitchell; commissioner, C. Springer, of Hayslake; treasurer, Ed. N. White, of Prineville; assessor, W. A. Deady, of Hayslake; surveyor, C. H. Houghton, of Prineville; coroner, J. W. Howard, of Hayslake; judges, J. A. Douthett, of Hayslake, and J. W. White, A. L. Allen, G. Springer, G. W. Dodson, W. H. Sasser.

The boxing match between James Woods and O'Kelly, which was advertised for the 15th inst., was postponed to the 16th inst. in consequence of the illness of O'Kelly. The fight was postponed to the 16th inst. in consequence of the illness of O'Kelly.

The temperature continues below the average, though the 15th, 16th and 17th were warmer. The precipitation in the Willamette valley occasional patches are reported. The 12th, 13th, 14th, 15th, were frosty during night. Ice formed in many localities, and a trace of snow is reported from the higher points.

Mr. H. H. Draper, who has been confined to his room for some weeks by an attack of pneumonia, is again able to go around. It is time for the high-water prophet to stand on his feet and make his predictions give vent to gloomy prognostications about a June flood.

ing, there being present Mayor Moody, Recorder Knapp, Councilmen Haasen, Thornbury, Farley, Lewis and Dehm. The mayor stated he had telegraphed to Houghton, the man representing the real estate and insurance company which had made the lowest bid, inquiring if he was ready to deposit a certified check to guarantee acceptance of the water bonds. He replied that the money was ready to be deposited as soon as his attorney reported the action of the council regular.

An answer to this is expected soon, and a motion was made that when the council adjourns it adjourns to meet tomorrow night. The committee on the Ninth street bridge reported favorably on the bid of L. P. Ostlund for $327 for bridge and approaches thereto. The report was adopted, contract and bond ordered filed, and work ordered to be commenced at once. The bridge will be a Queen truss, with a forty-foot span.

There appearing no further business the council adjourned to the time stated. A Remarkable Case. At Independence last Saturday Mr. Morton, of the Corvallis, was struck by a serious accident that came very near ending in death. The company had been playing a week's engagement at the opera house, and Friday evening Mr. Morton, one of the principal actors in the company, ate some berries and swallowed a number of fine bones. In the evening, during the performance, he became quite sick and had to retire to his room. It seems that the small bones irritate the lining of the stomach, and the pain caused thereby ran to his teeth and face, in sympathy, and caused him to be suffering from a severe toothache. Saturday he went to a dentist in the city, and he pronounced it defective and he was suffering from a severe toothache.
