They took it into their heads to make some good Indians out of some of their neighbor siwashes, and took for a weapon a slung shot, improvised, which was a stone tied in a rag. They put a bad head on a buck and then went after the squaws with the same implement of warfare, dealing them some severe blows in the face. They were arrested whilst in their frensied career and taken before Judge Armstrong who found Jack Splawn guilty of several assaults and fined him $75 for each offence; not being able to pay up he was incarcerated in the county jail where he now languishes. Adam was liberated.

W. W. Journal: The man found dead Wednesday evening by Mr. Chabot, on Sam Johnson's place on Dry creek, was Joseph Longen, whose parenta live near Whitman station. He made his home of late with Joe Vincent, however. The horse he had been riding was outside of the pasture, still saddled and bridled, but the rider was the indexes and in the creek per was in the inclosure and in the creek, per-fectly dead. From all accounts, the horse threw the man and kicked him. His face shows that. He then left the horse, rushed to the creek, fainted and died in the stream. He was warm yet, when found. Joseph was a young man only about 23 years of age, and highly respected in the neighborhood in which he lived, but he now sleeps, for in the midst of life we are in death.

Prineville News: Last week we published the information that the dead body of an old man named Frank Athens had been found on Pine Ridge. Coroner Belknap deputized M. A. Moore to look after the remains, which he did, calling Jack Cadle and L. C. Perry to assist him. The investigating parties are a unit in their opinion that the old man was foully dealt with. A that the old man was foully dealt with. A portion of his clothing was burned from his body, one arm was broken and the hand gone. His back also showed that it had been injured. The remains were lying close up beside a log, and were so decomposed that it was difficult to make a perfect investigation. The facts, as returned, have been turned over to the proper authorites, and just what will be done in the premises has not yet been made public.

The opening of the Republican campaign last night attracted a fair audience at the court house. The speaker, Hon. B. B. Beekman, was introduced by Col. T. S. Lang in a very neat speech. Mr. Beekman, although a young man, is well versed in the political history of the country, and disussed the issues between the two parties in very masterly manner. He stated that a party to be entrusted with the management should answer to three tests, and these were: 1st, record: 2d, attitude on questions now before the people; 3d, character and eligibility of candidates. Judged by these, the speaker demonstrated in a very logical manner the eminent fitness of the Republican party. Going back to 1856 he traced the history of the organization through the ordeals of civil war, reconstruction and Democratic repudiation eras. It had saved the country when the union was imperilled by the followers of state rights, and again, when the war cloud had passed over the Father Harman, of The Dalles, is 86 years old and goes riding in his buggy daily.—Capital Journal. A Republican circle was formed in this organization. In speaking of the acts of the party and its leaders the speaker grew the party and its leaders the speaker grew eloquent and was frequently applauded. Pather Harman, who has been a resident of the city since 1863 and of the state since day afterward he suffered another stroke of paralysis, from which he never rallied; but passed away peacefully this morning about I o'clock. William Harman was born in England in 1804, and came to America while yet a young man. He crossed the ocean in the same ship in which was brought to this country the first locomotive ing in New York superintended the putting together of the different parts. While Chicago was a small town Father Harman worked there at his trade of blacksmith, and was among the first to join the great cars will be run between Portland and oldest Mason in Oregon at the time of his death. He was a man of most generous impulses, and we doubt if he was ever actuated by any other motive than the welfare of his fellows. With a strong faith n the truths of Christianity, and being imued with lasting principles of temperance, his life work was devoted to rescuing men from the evils of intemperance and restoring them to their families and the community. Of a merry, jovial disposition, he carried sunshine and smiles wherever he went. For the past quarter of a century he has been called by the endearing title o Father Harman, and no one had a warme place in the hearts of relatives and friends. He has left a large number of sons and daughters in Oregon, Islinois and Canada. His first wife was buried in England and his second preceded him only a few months God blessed him in this world with a kind loving disposition, and now, after a long life of usefulness, he has rested from his labors, and God has rewarded him in the heaven above.

Editor Times MOUNTAINEER At different times my attention has be called to articles in the TIMES-MOUNTAINEER, which have indicated that the citizens of The Dalles are awakening to the many and extraordinary advantages which they possess. At this particular time, when all are interested in the Jane election, there is a cossibility that the enthusiasm for the city's dvancement will be absorbed in politics, so the greatest care should be used to keep the minds of the people centered on the one important thing of keeping pace with the other cities and towns of the northwest. The advancement of The Dalles does not depend alone on the opening of the Columbia river; for aside from this she possesses adantages far superior to many of her sister towns that are now alive with interest. A emonstration, such as is usual on the 4th of July, and the rising en masse to welcome any new enterprise will give the people an impetus, and before they are aware of the fact they will be celebrating in and will be enthusiastic over a city of not a little adrancement, but one of great prosperity. Build a street-car line at all odds, for such n acquisition will have a wider influence in drawing capital to the city than the simple waiting for congress to make an appropris tion for the opening of the Columbia. Build the proposed railroad to Prineville, and secure it also at the earliest possible date, and thus show the interest the citizens have in their own city. These two very important projects are not all important, but what needed now is to keep the wheel moving and soon the plans will materialize. It has been my pleasure to make a trip through New England, going as far north as sale of Hill's Patent Inside Sliding Blinds, Still Successful, Last Sunday, May 11th, was the day se for the change of division terminus to Uma-tilla, and the engineer who hauled the passenger train from Portland, was ordered to proceed to Umatilla. This he quietly refused to do, and the master mechanic was forced to put another engineer on the locomotive. The ran of the engineer who brought the train here is to The Dalles and back to Portland on No. 3. When the west-bound train pulled in another man was requested to take the train to Portland and he refused to replace the engineer on his usual run. Several were consulted with Also managers for Oregon, Washington and Idal a like result, and finally the master me chanic was compelled to allow the engineer, whom he attempted to replace, to return to Portland. The matter was done very quiet ly; but we think it has effectually stopped any change in the terminus as far as the engineers are concerned. These men understand their business and their rights, and will suffer no innovation in either. As we have stated before in these columns, the run of 187 miles is too long for human endurance, and should not be demanded. The community will uphold any class of men who knowing their rights are willing to defend them against encroachments of corporations. The gorges of the Cascades are the most difficult part of the road, and human energies should not be so taxed as to render men incapable of exercising that watchful care against burnt bridges, landslides and washouts which the safety of the passengers-who are entrusted to the engineer's skill and discernment-requires.

have for years had spells of indigestion and dis-pepsia, and tried nearly everything. Finally I took a well known Sarsaparilla. It caused pimples to break out on my face without helping me. Hearing that Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla did not contain mineral, and might act differently, I sent for it. The pimples disappeared immediately, and I had no more returns of the old spells." Although the above was written a year ago, Mrs. Stuart now attests the permanency of its effects. Says she takes an occassional dose to suppress a symptom of return and that she has perfect command over her old trouble,

The high temperature of the previous two veeks continued up to Wednesday of this week, when it tell, being more near the nor-The temperature fell to near the frost point, but owing to the cloudy weather no costs are reported to have occurred. During the week rain fell in all sections f the state, being quite copious except in the Willamette valley. Nearly two inches fell in Jackson county; an inch in Douglas and Josephine; generally less than onequarter of an inch in the Willamette valley: and in Eastern Oregon from .10 to nearly .75 of an inch. Rain has been needed, and nore would prove beneficial. Present indi ations are for more rain. The amount of sunshine has been about the average. Thunder storms were experienced in Southern and Eastern Oregon on the 21, 3J, 4th, 5th, 6th and 7th instants. The weather conditions have been very meficial to crops of all kinds. Spring sown wheat especially needed rain, and in those districts where it was most needed it fell. Unusual as it may appear in the Willamette valley the soil is very dry and in ections hard. While all crops are growing, yet good, general rain would prove to be very beneficial. The subsoil is generally very moist yet, but small seeds, spring sown grain, and the like, need surface moisture, The cooler, cloudy weather that has pre vailed the latter few days has proven very beneficial. Grasses are heading out in sections; alfalfa has a good stand. The gras s generally reported to be in good condiion. Crops are growing finely and rain : needed is reported from all sections. On the 8th general rain prevailed in Eastern Oregon, which will tend to lessen the possi ble injurious effects of the warm, dry
