

AUSTRALIA AND ITALIANS.

After the affair at New Orleans, says the San Francisco Chronicle, many Italians in the United States returned to their native country...

Your genuine Briton is not fond of the stiletto-carrying Italian, and the prejudice has evidently been inherited by the Australians.

The old moon-covered protoplasm is being again brought to the surface by the Democracy of "why were not the bondholders paid in the same currency as the soldier?"

UNITED STATES VS. CANADA.

Discussing the census returns in the Dominion, a Canadian exchange says: Had the whole number of immigrants who came to Canada during the past ten years with the expressed intention of making this country their home, remained in the Dominion...

This is very true; but our northern neighbors cannot expect to retain the population which comes to their shore while the great American republic opens wide her arms to welcome all accessions to its population.

It is true that the flames of the late terrible conflagration have subsided, but smoke and cinders still cover fully one-half of the city, and our citizens are not fully recovered from the terrible shock of last Wednesday.

The dispatches again contain the startling intelligence that the peace of Europe "rests on powder barrels," and that the match may be applied at any moment; but this has been so frequently reiterated that it has lost its significance.

An exchange says that Canada will raise more wheat this year than ever before. And so will Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Montana.

Some of the leading papers of the country are criticizing the actions of Mr. Patrick Egan, our minister to Chili, because he has not kept the administration properly informed regarding the progress of the recent revolution.

And now comes the Roseburg Review and claims Grover Cleveland as "a martyr in the cause of tariff reform;" but does not say anything regarding his views on the silver question.

An exchange makes this comparison between the candidates of the two parties in Iowa: "The Democratic ticket in Iowa represents less than one-third of the state, and it is that third in the southeast, known as the river section."

The Union Pacific Railroad Company has entered suit against the railroad commissioners in the Marion county circuit court to certify to said court the action had in the matter of establishing rates, and also to certify whether or not, in revising said rates, any evidence had been received by the board as a basis.

As will be seen by the report of the relief committee in another column, substantial aid has been rendered by several cities, and the pluck of the members is commendable in not accepting this until the necessity is apparent.

The American hog has gained a triumph in Germany, and can now, in the shape of ham, bacon or sausage, enter any port in the empire, if it is accompanied by a certificate that the animal was in a healthy condition.

IS OUTSIDE HELP NECESSARY? As regards suffering in our city from the recent fire, the evidence of the relief committee is the most competent on that question.

The reflections on this committee in last night's Chronicle are ungenerous and unjust, and when the editor states that it was "with very great hesitation" he declares his surprise at the secretary's response to the liberal ascription from Astoria.

The following excerpt from the Oregonian, of a day or two after the fire, we believe is a fair presentation of the matter:

Reports have been published at other places showing extreme destitution and need of outside relief at The Dalles, as the result of the recent fire.

During these pleasant days of early autumn, while tables are spread for the hungry in almost every household, and beds are made on the floors for the homeless, there can be no real suffering; but when the snow begins to fall and the wintry blasts blow, these people must have warm houses, and for this emergency, as we stated in the issue of Wednesday, aid will be required.

The press of the state is thoroughly conversant with the water fight in this city, as it had been thoroughly ventilated in the papers of The Dalles for over a year past.

disappearances that are attributed to the same mania, and in these cases the police are carefully watching for evidence against persons under suspicion.

Definitely Settled. WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—The Chilean situation is gradually assuming a stable character, and less interest is manifested in official circles since it is taken for granted that the new government with General Baquedano will be installed in the confidence of the people.

The relief committee have worked diligently since the fire in relieving the present needs of those who were left homeless and houseless, and while there is no present need of outside aid, it is impossible to determine how these unfortunates can withstand, in their helpless condition, the rigors of the approaching winter.

The Portland Industrial Exposition should undoubtedly enjoy the privilege of advertising wherever it desires; but the manager must not expect puff, without consideration, for the columns of a paper are the publishers' stock in trade.

TELEGRAPHIC.

A trevish scheme. BOSTON, Sept. 8.—The arrest of James E. Cutler, by the Boston police to-night spoiled a diabolical scheme to murder and rob, and brought to light a collection of infernal machines sufficient to blow up half the city.
