

GRANT COUNTY. Items from the columns of the Long Creek Eagle.

Residents from neighboring counties have visited the John Day country this season to procure fruit. The quality of fruit grown in this valley cannot be surpassed by that grown in any part of the state.

Lawyer West, of Pendleton, had his house tipped into the street last week by some individuals bent on intimidating and compelling him to surrender his warranty deed and vacate the property. Some of the parties are known, so the next grand jury will investigate the matter.

Flour is retailing in Long Creek at present at $8 per barrel. At this price the consumers who collect particles of silver about their teeth. However, they anticipate increasing the pressure of these high biscuits on the pocketbook when our roller process mill gets to running.

It is generally understood that Long Creek Milling and Development company will have to face the muzzle of a Winchester if they develop their mining property on Boulder creek up in Greenhorn. Such ejaculations are very common now a days, and the company will proceed with development work just as though such trivial exclamations had not been made.

C. F. Goff, Bert Bosworth and Vince Kelley are now in possession of one of the best mining claims in Fox valley, having jumped the quartz mine of H. P. Barber. It appears that the original locator of the claim retained his property last Sunday, and they being witnesses of some technical point, they claim not according to law, posted their notice in due form Monday morning. Both parties are having work done on the same.

BOOK COUNTY. Items from the columns of the Osceola Review.

There is more attention paid to prospecting in this county now than for several years past, and in all probability there will be mines developed that will pay.

The recent cold weather has caused sheep owners to bring their flocks out of the mountains, and most of the sheep in this county are now herded on the winter ranges. They are said to be in excellent condition.

Dave Barnett left at this office samples of three kinds of field corn raised in the Haystack neighborhood, which our Missouri friends say is equal to anything that has ever produced in the greatest corn country of the world. The ears are large and well filled, and one has on it 600 six, plump grains. There is no use of our importing corn meal when there is corn as this can be raised right at home.

Last Saturday E. P. Torrey, the assayer at the Osceola mine, was in town after being to see on his assayer. He has his steam engine set up, and proposes to make a test of the ore. The engine will be used as a steam engine, Mr. Torrey thinks the rock can be worked by the wet process. He says it will develop a valuable mine, as the ledge shows an abundance of low-grade ore.

The practice of selling liquor to Indians is a detestable one, and is becoming a nuisance in these parts. Persons living on the road between here and the Warm Spring agency say it is no uncommon thing for intoxicated Indians to pass their time, going from Prineville to the agency, and on these times the authorities will place on to the parties who are supplying the reds with intoxicants, and then there will be a reckoning.

POOR AH FOO. A Chinaman Murdered by One of His Countrymen. Canyon City News.

Last Friday morning as Sheriff Orsaw was on his way down the river on business connected with the case of a man named Ah Foo, he was met by a party with an excited assemblage of moon-eyed brethren in Chinatown behind John Day. A scared Chinaman climbed into the boat-board, and then it was explained that the fellow, Ah Foo, by name, had murdered his partner Ah Foo during the previous night, and that they had been guarding him to prevent his escape, and that they desired the sheriff to take him in charge. The Chinaman no doubt feared his excited countrymen more than he feared the sheriff, for he was eager to associate with the sheriff.

Mr. Orsaw immediately returned to town with his prisoner. Necessary papers were issued, and Saturday the preliminary examination was had before Hon. Recorder Ralston and Ah Foo was held without bail to await the action of the next grand jury for this county. The Chinese appear to be as a unit against him, those of his own countrymen being most active in the prosecution, which gives rise to the opinion that he was feared or hated by them for some reason.

Several Chinamen were partners, and their house was about three-quarters of a mile below Chinatown. It appears that Ah Foo and Ah Foo, of the name, were working in a mining claim together, but had been gambling on the night of the tragedy. They returned to the house after the others had retired, and Ah Foo was no doubt awaiting for Ah Foo at the door, for the look and some other of the man appeared, as on making a light found Ah Foo lying under a table in a pool of blood gasping, a large blood-stained knife near him and Ah Foo somewhere around. Ah Foo was questioned about his case, and he refused to speak by simple pointed at Ah Foo, who was taken prisoner by his partners, who found blood stains on his face and clothing, and closely guarded until morning.

Ah Foo's wounds were chiefly in the vicinity of the arm, and were of the nature of the lower portion of his body, indicating that he had made no resistance when attacked, but had endeavored to crawl under the table to escape.

The funeral of Ah Foo occurred in Oriental style in Benet's cemetery, and Ah Foo was under the surveillance of Jailer Southworth.

An Interesting Book. The well-known writer and historian, Mr. J. W. Bush, author of "The Beautiful Story," "The Story of Man," "The Living World," "Russia and Siberia," etc., has just completed what is probably the greatest of his works, entitled "Heroes of Unknown Seas and Savage Lands." The work is a complete record of the discovery of all lands, and contains descriptions of the first visits made by Europeans to the wild races of the world. The descriptions of the superstitious pertaining to the sea and the obstacles which strange beliefs opposed to extended voyages are most interesting and instructive. The work also comprises an authentic history of the discovery of America by the Viking Sea-Rovers, and its settlement by the Scandinavians in the sixth century. It is supplemented with thrilling narratives of voyages, discoveries, adventures, battles, dangers and sufferings of all the heroic characters and bold explorers who have made ocean history, and who have established supremacy over the most
