ction Upon the Columbia River In provement Bills. WASHINGTON, March 18 .-- Senator Dolph's bill to complete work on the Co umbia River and Senator Mitchell's bill or a boat railway around the dalles have oth been made special orders, and will be considered in connection with the lump appropriation bill for the improvement of the Mississippi River. These bills will pass the senate, but the house will not take any action on them. It will be impossible to secure a favorable report from the house committee on rivers and harbors, but it is a good thing to have the senate committed to these great ouse will look with favor on contracting these great works, and the senate will be ready to take favorable action. In the nouse rivers and harbors committee Repappropriation for a portage railway around the dalles. This was defeated The only members voting for it were Clarke, Blanchard and Mr. Hermann Then Chairman Blanchard called another to the chair and moved to appropriate the sum secured by Mr. Hermann for continuing the work on the cascades and applying it for a portage railway around the dalles. Only two members of the committee, Blanchard and Clarke, voted for this motion, and it consequently stands where it was before. The cascades will receive the appropriation, but there will be no portage railway around the dalles. It has been a hard fight for the Oregon representative, because the op-position shown by Pennoyer, and his communications to the committee have Kentucky Straight Whisky made it very hard for him to contend against the large Democratic majority on this important committee Reparated by the Flood LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 18 .-- Among the residents of Johnstown, Pa., at the Gunning & Hockman the residents of Johnstown, Pa., at the time of the flood disaster was James Agnew, his wife and three children. On the day of the flood Agnew was at work in the Cambria iron mills, while his family was at home two miles down the velley. The flood came, many in the trial. Since the atta Agnew was destroyed and his family scattered. The husband and wife made and finally gave the other up for dead. Mrs.Agnew was sinking in despair when there came a letter from this city. It was from her brother, John Pritchard, a machinist at the Louisville & Nashville railroad shops. He bade his sister come to him, and her mother sent her means to R. E. Saltmarshe come. Here she lived quietly, grieving etter reached the Pritchard house and bore the stamp of Allentown, Pa., and it told Mrs. Agnew that her husband was alive. When the flood swept over the iron works Agnew was carried away in the wreck. Down the river he floated until he lost consciousness for a time. When he revived rescuers were lifting him from a tangle of wreckage and dead bodies. He lay in a Red Cross Society tent for many days, unconscious, shat-tered in mind and in body. When he recovered he could find no trace of his family. Finally, through the inquiries of a priest, it was learned that the Pritchards lived in Louisville, and Agnew is now restored to his family.

WASHINGTON, March 20 .- The rive and harbor bill is now completed and is ordered reported to the house. Representative Hormann accured great results for Oregon. His state aggregates more the mortal remains of her parent to the appropriations than any state in the grave. Union, with the exception of New York. The great canal and locks at the Cascades of the Columbia receives nearly $500,000 and is placed under the contract system for completion, the secretary of war being authorized to contract for the whole work, for which $1,310,000 is estimated. exclusive of the sum now allowed in the present bill, which becomes immediately available. The same language is used as applies to the works at Galveston, Baltimore and Philadelphia harbors and the General Poe stated to the committee that ths government saving on the "Soo" canal will be $1,000,000 on the estimate of $6,000,000 besides completing the work at once. Under the contract system it is expected that ships can pass through the Cascade canal and locks of the Colum'via within two years. Mr. Hermann made a gallant and very persistent as well as discreet struggle for the concess-ion to his state. He firmly insisted that if like privileges were bestowed on any

They Robbed the Priest. ALBANY, Or., March 19-Frank Wilson and J. C. Baker, tramps, aged 20 and 16. were arrested near the depot this morning for robbing Father Metayer, a Catholic priest. They knocked at his door at 1 o'clock this morning, and on being admitted, struck the priest down and ransacked his house. They secured $12 in coin, a watch and several minor articles and escaped. Father Metaver, thoroughly frightened, ran in his night clothes to the lepot hotel, where he begged protection The city marshal was at the hotel and immediately started after the ruffians. The priest was given cicthes and escorted home, and is now in the hands of a physician. He received a cut over the head from the butt of a revolver, and has other bruises. He is confident that he would have been killed had be not escaped. The tramps attended the service in the church the night before, no doubt to beome acquainted with the premises, as priest's house adjoins the chapel. The grand jury today indicted the boys for burglary. The town was thrown into the wildest excitement this morning by the news, as Father Metayer was well known and universally liked.

What is Good Baking Powder? It is a well known fact that carbonate ammonia is used by bakers in the preparation of the finest and most wholesome bread and cake, and has been from time immemorial. It is among the oldest and at the same time most healthful constituents of baking powders. It is all evolved in gas by the heat of the and it is this that gives it its great value as a leavening agent in the opinions of physicians

Following after a recently established ashion in a number of western states, the young ladies of The Dalles think seriously of establishing a sort of marriage mutual aid society. Its workings are something like-this: Every time one of the girls has a gentleman escort to whom she is not engaged she pays twenty-five cents into the treasury. When a member becomes engaged she pays in $5. When a member gets married the club makes her a present of $100.

Something like a week ago we were pleased to chronicle the fact that the first twins had been born in Medford. Since then two cases have occurred, making three pairs of twins within thirty days.

Eilensburgh wants a telephone line Wenatchee. The telephone company asks for a bonus of $5000 to construct and maintain the line or the furnishing and setting of poles between the two points. The company having the telephone franchise for this state is very generous. All it asks is to be given the plant and it will furnish the service provided it is well paid for it.

NUMBER 33.

The Art Exhibition.

The sociable given by the Ladies' Aid Society of the Congregational church at the house of Mrs. Geo. Morgan, last evening, was a decided success. Besides being a affray at Roseburg Thursday evening. Abe Hansbro and Nick Jones got into a row in a very enjoyable affair socially, it was a thing saloon and Hansbro was stabbed by Jones and died in two hours and a haif. The most complete collection of the work of the knife used was a large dirk and Hansbro artists and amateurs of The Dalles which has ever been gathered. There is much that is very creditable to the talent and industry of our art-workers. The last three years have shown a marked improvement in the work of our amateurs. They paint with a freer brush and a finer appreciation of nature's subtler moods. Perhaps there is nothing which is more indicative of advance than the presence in a number of the pictures and sketches of an atmosphere and a delicate handling of lights and shadows not observable before. There is not such an opaque and fainty effect as was shown in former pictures. Evimoved. This is gratifying news. It is good instruction with power to inspire enhoped that like success will be achieved in thusiasm. We cannot here undertake to discriminate to the praise or dispraise of certain teachers among us, anymore than we praise the pictures and sketches of certain individuals whose progress and attainment has been a wonder and an admiration to us. . Good prominence was given to the work of Ben Foster, a New York artist of very considerable talent, by giving his pictures and sketches a room by themselves. A number of his pictures were burned with the Congregational church in the fire of last fall, making the exhibit considerably less than it would otherwise have been. The specimens of china exhibited by our artworkers in that direction was a complete surprise, and were the admiration of all. The dainty specimens of needlework exhibited by Mrs. Gibbons called forth a good deal of praise. Much credit must be given to Mrs. Lochhead and Mrs. Barrett for the assistance they gave Mrs. Morgan in the tasteful and artistic arrangement of the various articles. There were only about fifty persons present at the sociable. A number, it is presamed, were kept away by the wind and rain which prevailed in the early part of the

The great difficulty in approaching the rock, even in the nearest base of supplies, make it a matter of delay, danger, difficulty and expense When the work was ordered it was a long anything. The first day, in effecting a anding, the foreman of the working party was drowned. Four days after four workmen with hammers, drills, bolts, provisions to get on the rock, and a few days later five men more got there, and the work begun. It took three years of unremitting labor and great expense. It is built of stone, thing will be awept away. Albany Herald: Wm. Telly, an old man, who lives across the river in Benton county, was found Saturday morning lying beneath Oregon Pacific railroad bridge, where he had fallen some time during the night. Medical aid was summoned. It was found that he was not badly hurt, but was in a drunken stuper. He had come to this city the day before, and brought over two sacks of greens, which he exchanged for whisky. He was evidently pretty well loaded when he started home some time in the night. Being intoxicated he fell from the trestle, a distance of about 30 feet, and, strange to say, was not seriously hurt. He had a black eye and was bruised considerably, Moscow News; Little Leonora La Belle, of this city, left for Deer Head, S. D., last Sunday morning. She is probably the over the Union Pacific or any other road in this country, being only three years old. She left this city with her ticket pinned on her cloak. She has gone to visit her grandmother in South Dakota, and it will take just three days and three nights of continuous travel to perform the journey. We predict that the railroad boys will take great care of the interesting little trayeler on her long and wearisome journey.
