

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The judge in Astoria who sentenced Mr. O. W. Dunbar, of the Daily Talk, to the county jail for one year and to pay the costs of the action in a case of criminal libel tried this week, is the same judicial officer who sent Sandy Oads to the penitentiary one year for killing Webber and sentenced a man for stealing two salmon to three years.

Oregon is the first state to give a verdict at the polls in this presidential year, and it is very important that a full vote be polled next June. If the party is freed from business and the control of chicanes the Republican majority this year will be as large as it was in 1888, and all persons believing in Republican principles should work with this end in view.

It is not known whether Salisbury will agree to the modus vivendi regarding the seal fishing in Behring sea, and if this is not enforced this industry will be nearly destroyed. Great Britain is a powerful maritime nation; but the United States have certain rights in this matter which should be protected, and the administration will receive the support of the people in so doing.

The country knows how the Democracy stand on the tariff, for the leaders have caused the walls of the capitol at Washington to echo to their eloquent denunciations of the McKinley bill; but they have yet to define their position on the currency, and this will be more equivocal. They could denounce protection as advocated by Republicans without offending the corporations of New England; but when they advocate unlimited coinage of silver Wall street will protest very emphatically.

While it may be true that wages are largely governed by supply and demand, it is also a fact that when there is a good price for articles employers can afford to pay laborers more per diem. This holds good everywhere, and if protection was taken from American goods our factory would be forced to lower wages to the minimum in Great Britain to compete with goods from that country. Economic rules are all right in their sphere; but supply and demand is not the only factor in determining wages.

The $435,000 which the dispatches to-day state will be recommended by the committee on Rivers and Harbor for the locks at the Cascades will allow the work to be pushed forward rapidly, and especially will this be true if the improvement is to be completed under the contract system. If the bill passes the house little fear need be entertained that it will not receive the necessary vote in the senate. The manner in which the work has been delayed under the management of the war department has been discouraging to the producers of the northwest, and any change will be acceptable.

The Democrats are attempting to secure the vote of the laboring man by representing the Republican party as allied to wealth and corporations. This is the shallowest of anything they have said during the present campaign; for it is a well-known fact that Jay Gould was the first to extend congratulations to Mr. Cleveland on his election, and there has been no adverse legislation regarding railroads during Democratic control of the lower house of congress. This is simply a subterfuge, and will be laid aside after this year for use in the next presidential campaign.

Items From the Columns of the Osceola Review. J. H. Dolore, of Stewart, was in town Tuesday. He said the snow had about all disappeared from Little Camp creek, and had left the ground without any bottom to it.

The heavy showers of rain the first of the week made the hearts of farmers and stockmen glad. The ground is now thoroughly wet and all kinds of vegetation will grow rapidly. Mr. Lister was down from his sheep ranch the first of the week. He says he wintered his sheep with very little loss, although he fed for seven or eight weeks. He has one hand of sheep affected with scab which he intends shearing about the last of the month.

The county court has determined to bring water to the court house yard, and will beautify the block by setting out shade and ornamental trees. The ditch to be built by the county court will pass along the south side of the school block, and can be used for irrigating that ground, or soon as the district is able to fence the ground and improve it.

Peter Symantse and Able Oelshner, two Warm Spring Indians, have been occupying cells in the county jail for several days this week. They are charged with having stolen cattle from Sam Lister, clerk at the agency. They had a preliminary hearing before Squire Bell, but no mention had been rendered at the time of going to press.

So far there has been less talk in this county concerning the coming election than ever before. The people generally are taking little interest, and candidates themselves are not becoming excited. When the Republicans will bring out yet remains a mystery, but with the Democrats, we believe, it is expected that the present office, with few exceptions, will be re-nominated.

A WATERLOO. The Self-Constituted Boss of the Dalles Defeated in Every Contest.

Saturday was a red-letter day for Republicans who would not tamely submit to business and machine rule regarding county politics. For several weeks the boss had been manipulating his machine, and boasted that he would dictate the delegates to the county convention and those for the state convention. Saturday was a clear day, and carbon-striking were busy at their work. The tickets for the different precincts were "put up" without consultation with the insignificant minority. About 11 o'clock an opposition ticket was put in the field.

and when the votes were counted every person on Farley's ticket was defeated with the exception of Mr. Jones in Biglow precinct. It was a Waterloo, disastrous and destructive in its consequences to the candidate that wherever a market is to be reached, in the shallow water, the ship will act as a long-fall want. It is an experiment that will be watched with great interest, as it will open up a new era in combined ocean and river navigation.

Prices of Wool. THE DALLES, OR., March 22. Having been several times within the past month an erroneous statement freely spread by free traders as to the relative prices of foreign and domestic wools, that the protective tariff did not defend or add to the market value of American wool, I am led to ask you to publish the prices of home and of foreign wool of the same character, which I have obtained from the report of the American Association of Woolen Manufacturers, and if consistent to place them side by side, that the region wool growers may have the opportunity of ascertaining facts. The table of prices handed you embraces the medium priced wool grown and offered in our American market each year, and the price of foreign wool of the same grade the same year, from 1881 to 1890 inclusive.

The above shows that false statements are used to cry ends by enemies of defended industries. T. S. LARGO.

A Wife Aboard. Young Lady of the tender age of 15, called upon a medical man of this city for treatment Monday. She is accompanied by her aunt and the parties are residents of Wallace, Idaho. About a year ago the young lady being on her way from Ellensburg to Spokane Falls for a few hours was detained by a train to Wallace. She was directed by her aunt to go immediately to a hotel in case of detention on the way. She stepped out of the car and continued for a while, when a gray haired old lady invited the young girl to go home with her, saying, "a hotel is no place for a little girl like you, come with me." The old lady turned to a man standing near, who proved to be a wealthy member named Parker, and told him that her little girl would go home with her. He said "all right," and poked up her baggage and marched off with it. When she arrived at her vile den she was given a cup of coffee which was dragged from the officer, which did not become cognizant for twelve days, during which time she had been fearfully abused and spirited away to Seattle. Her friends finally found her and have brought her to Wallace for medical treatment. The lady is suffering from nervous prostration and in addition a chronic inflammation produced by the vile brat interference. The case was thoroughly ventilated at the time in Spokane and Seattle papers and her abductors were tried for the crime.
