

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Republican party of Wasco was never in better condition to secure victory than during this campaign. Every man on the ticket is a representative citizen, and his own and his party's record have been obliterated.

The resolutions adopted by the Republican convention to-day are in harmony with good government, and will receive the hearty endorsement of the people. Republicans are in favor of that policy which is for the best interests of the country, and always oppose corporate greed and oppression.

Hon. Binger Hermann, will very likely be nominated for congress by the state convention, and will be re-elected next June. The Willamette people have no capable maternal for congressional honors except the indefatigable Binger, and, therefore, as a matter of necessity, he can succeed himself as often as he desires.

The talk about war with England is premature, and it is not at all probable that the English government will involve herself in a difficulty with the United States to protect Canadian seal poachers. These two Anglo-Saxon nations can settle their differences without appealing to the arbitration of the sword.

The caucus rule is distasteful to voters, because it follows in the line with bossism and ring rule. On different occasions the party attempting to put these methods into operation has been defeated at the polls, for Americans believe in the freedom of the ballot, and in representative bodies fulfilling the wishes of those who elected them. This cannot be done while machine methods are being employed, and these are very much condemned by all fair-minded citizens.

The ticket nominated last Saturday is one that should receive the support of every Republican in Wasco county. It was the result of the defeat of bossism and ring rule at the primaries, and every candidate is well qualified for the office named. There should be a hearty support of the nominees in every portion of the county, and every one should be elected by a large majority.

Sheep raisers in the north end of the county expect to begin harvesting their lamb crop next week. Their sheep are in excellent condition, and the grass on the range being good, they anticipate a heavy increase.

If there is a place needing a railroad worse than Crook county, it has not one. It is a place where no road is to be had, and where it is in need of a road, and where it is in need of a road, and where it is in need of a road.

The reply of Salisbury does not admit of the interpretation that is generally given to it, and no other conclusion can be drawn than that the British government is willing to abide by the decision of the arbitration. Of course, diplomatic language is so worded that it carries a double meaning; but the people of Great Britain and Ireland are behind the premier, and he can do nothing without their consent.

Beaver creek has a real live ghost. It visited Charlie Bowley's place one night not long ago, and scared Jimmy Woods nearly to death. Jimmy says the thing was at least thirty feet high. However, most of the Beavers think it is the phantom of some of Jimmy's vanquished opponents in the prize ring.

Postmaster Howard has been notified by the department that the petition for an increase of service on the Prineville-Burns route has been refused. He is also notified that the route from Prineville to Haystack will be extended to Warm Springs on July 1st, giving Prineville direct connection with the agency. This has long been desired by the people here and at the agency.

While grubbing at Tom Logan's ranch on McKay, P. G. Millard had the misfortune to strike his foot with the mattock, receiving a most painful wound. The unfortunate man was brought into town Thursday and the wounded foot was dressed by Dr. Cressner. Mr. Millard is now keeping close company with a pair of crutches.

True, in Summit Prairie the snow may fall deep and he through a long stretch of time. It will be a long stretch of time, a happy community is living in peace and prosperity. Since the 13th of December the settlers here have been throwing out the hay which is summer they harvest in abundance from the natural grasses of the locality. Feeding still continues to some extent, but stock are in good condition, and have come through the winter in good shape. Grass is growing nicely, and when the ranges once more become solid, there will be abundant feed to turn them loose upon.

R. T. Ratzog and Bob Tall, of Goosehill gulch, were in town this week. They remembered the office of this four-page dispatch with a pleasant call, which will ever be a green oasis to memory's recollection. Bob Tall, who was a line and had engaged the services of Mr. Ratzog to prove the assertion. While they were thus engaged they got hold of an iron side-ax, and quite an animated discussion of various topics of the day ensued. The gentlemen expressed their regret at being unable to stay longer, and left with a dark cloud of sorrow gathering beneath their eyebrows that would remind one of a thunder cloud shooting toward the summer sky. When we get this issue off and the forms washed, we intend to have the bullets removed from our person and shipped to the type foundry for "old metal."

Last fall, about October 15th, Joseph Fremsted, my stepson, a Swede, aged 21, and myself left Montana for the John Day valley in Oregon. Somehow we became separated and I do not know whether he ever arrived at his destination. I have no information of his whereabouts. Any information regarding him will be gratefully received by me. PAT GARDNER, Condon, Ore.

Who is He? Tracy Runko, March 24, 1932. Editor Times-Mountaineer: Will you kindly inform me and a few friends around here who "Boss" Farley is? We don't know him, and think it strange he wants to run the Republican electors of Wasco county. E. JOHNSON, LM, Oregon.

It was our fortune eight years ago to drive over to Wasco from the Columbia, six miles distant, when the hamlet was composed of the store of Mr. Barnett, of a harness store, and later, to the surprise of every one, appointed superintendent of the portage road at the Cascades. He was a self-confident "boss," and his defeat was merited. —EDITOR

TELEGRAPHIC NEWS.
A Result of Whisky.
O'BAIKEN, Wash., March 28.—At 11:30 last evening, during a barroom row that occurred in O'Brien & Cummings' saloon, bartender Mike Crowley put a revolver against the head of Richard Haro and shot and instantly killed him. The murderer, after his victim fell, gazed on the body a moment, and then, seeming to come to a realization of his crime, turned the revolver to his own head. He fired three shots, missing twice, but the third took effect. He breathed about an hour, a doctor was called, and he died at 4:45. The murderer was a single man 40 years old, with no known relatives except a brother in New York. The victim was 34 years old, a rancher at O'Brien and reported to be worth about $30,000. He leaves a wife and four small children. Crowley was liquor and had been drinking heavily the past week. There was no enmity between the two men. The tragedy was but the result of an indulgence in too much drink.

Mrs. Farnell's Fortune.
LONDON, March 28.—From an authentic source it is learned that the terms upon which the Wood O'Shea will case was settled are as follows: Mrs. Farnell obtains the whole of her husband's real property, which is situated in Gloucester and Suffolk counties, and is valued at nearly $1,000,000, also half of the $140,000 in cash and securities left by the testator. The other goes to the other litigants. Mrs. Farnell is required to give Captain O'Shea, her former husband, a half interest in her £1,000,000. When Mrs. Farnell and Captain O'Shea are both dead this money to be divided equally among the children of their marriage. Total legal expenses of the settlement amounted to one-sixth of the entire property involved. Sir Charles G. Clarke, Attorney-General, Sir Henry James and Attorney-General Webster each received £10,000. Mrs. Farnell's share was £10,000, toward which she was granted £5,000 from her marriage settlement. The expenses of the other side were mainly met by the wealthy brewer, George, who is related by marriage to the parties in interest.

Is This the Millennium?
The following dispatch, dated St. Joseph, Mo., March 19th, gives an account of a new and rather novel organization:
The St. Joseph saloon-keepers today formed an organization for the promotion of temperance. It is known as the Liquor Dealers' Benevolent Association, and its aims are: "The promotion of temperance and the good order of society by aiding in the improvement of all laws and ordinances regulating the manufacture and sale of liquor, and to promote temperance in the use of liquor, especially with those who are addicted to the immoderate use thereof; to create and maintain a fund for the relief and aid of the families of members in case of death or disability, and to unite fraternally the members of the association so that their combined efforts may be devoted to the purpose of public usefulness and benevolence."
