

EDITORIAL NOTES

Congressman Dalzell said in his speech in congress that the protective system recognizes the fact that alone of all men on God's footstool the American has inherited, as the price of blood, the right to call himself the equal of a king, and it recognizes, therefore, that there is an American manhood and an American womanhood, thank God, worthy of protection, cultivation and preservation.

About 400 delegates to the National Editorial Association, which recently met in San Francisco, are now in Portland enjoying a hearty welcome from her citizens. These are brain-workers, and, after this vacation, will return to their literary pursuits with renewed vigor. Oregon should receive substantial benefit from this visit, and in every town these editors should be the recipients of that generous treatment to which men and women who mould public opinion and direct the course of the nation, politically and otherwise, are entitled.

On street corners and in places of public resort the news was received to-day with considerable astonishment that Jackson, the colored pugilist, had knocked out Slavin, the champion of the Anglo-Saxons, for a purse of $10,000, at the National club in London last evening. If John L. Sullivan and other slugs would meet the African hero and fare the fate of Slavin, it might act as a cooler of the ardor of English and Americans for the prize ring, and induce them to turn their attention to more civilized vocations. It would be far more embarrassing for the youth of America and other countries to turn their attention to other matters than an ambition to succeed in slugging matches, and if the negro is successful in these it is far more becoming in them than in Anglo-Saxons.

But one week will elapse before the citizens of Oregon will be called upon to cast their ballots for their choice of officials, and this election is of the greatest importance because the attention of the United States is fixed upon Oregon in this presidential year. The choice of county officials in ordinary years is of little political significance, but in the opening of a presidential campaign may have influence in determining the administrative policy of the nation. Rhode Island being the first state that cast its ballot was eagerly watched by Republicans and Democrats, and Oregon following soon after will receive equal if not more attention. The protective policy is on trial, and if, after the economic questions have been fairly presented to our people, they decide in favor of changing to free-trade, it will have its effect on the election in November. Republicans should support the ticket on the 6th of June, as by so doing they give evidence of their belief in the doctrine of protection, and confidence in the party's administration of national affairs. This is decidedly a political year, and we hope and expect to see each Republican "stand up and be counted" in favor of the distinctive American policy now in operation.

TELEGRAPHIC NEWS

Destroyed By Fire. SAN FRANCISCO, May 29.—Fulton iron works, the Hammond car works, Van Drake's brass foundry and a large number of smaller concerns, occupying half a block on Howard street, between Fremont and Beale, were destroyed by fire early this morning. The loss is estimated at $450,000 and the insurance only $5,000. The fire started in the Fulton iron works, and spread rapidly to the Hammond car works and then to the other buildings. The structures destroyed were all wood and burned furiously. The fire raged several hours. Most of the damage, however, was done to expensive machinery. The Fulton iron works will lose $250,000 and the Hammond car works $80,000, and the balance is divided up between Van Drake's brass foundry and the smaller manufacturing concerns. One man was severely injured by falling from a third-story window. The Fulton iron works was one of the largest foundries in the city, and has many large contracts on hand. The Hammond car works manufactured street cars and railroad cars. Four years ago a similar fire destroyed both the Fulton and Hammond works.

Work of the Flames. PARIS, May 30.—The great fire mill of Messrs. Barbilay, situated at Corbeil in the department of Seine-et-Oise, were burned to day. It is feared that 21 of the employees were buried beneath the ruins. Of the injured taken out this afternoon three died on the way to the hospital, and several more are in a precarious condition. A special containing firemen, a hook and ladder truck and an engine, left Paris for the scene of the fire soon after the first news arrived. Men are working at the ruins all night, but the total loss of life will not be known before to-morrow. It is thought that some of those now missing may not be dead, but merely injured and waiting at the house of friends as they have their wounds dressed.

The Loss Five Millions. PARIS, May 30.—The last of the fire was extinguished this evening. The loss is much greater than at first reported, and will fall little short of $5,000,000.

Captain Egan's Story. NEW YORK, May 30.—Captain P. W. Egan, the mariner whose disappearance occasioned another Cronin scare here, returned from Rochester and tells a remarkable story. "On the night of the disappearance," he says, "I got off the car at Thirty-first street to walk. While walking along that street something like a wet towel was pulled suddenly and tightly across my face. This is all I can remember. The next I knew I found myself, dizzy and sick, sitting on a stoop in some place which seemed familiar. I inquired of some passers-by and they told me I was in Rochester. How I got there I don't know. I don't remember being on any car. I had $500 in my pocket which I intended to invest. This was stolen from me."

Three Boys Drowned. BOSTON, May 30.—Fred W. Arbon, aged 18, Philip Smith, aged 18, and Henry P. Pawsey, aged 18, were drowned at Rock Island cove, Quincy, on Sunday, by the upsetting of a skiff. The youngest boy was the son of George Pawsey, a farmer, and the other two boys were Pawsey's nephews, who came from England two weeks ago. The bodies were recovered.
