Look Out for Your Rugs. LONDON, Sept. 21 .-- Town Councillo the river and taken to The Dalles to await | Willis, of Kidderminster, to day started s unique cholera scare, which is likely to > ruin an important branch of England's trade with the East. At a meeting of the connell Mr. Willis spoke of the perils of nfection from articles imported from cholera stricken districts. The most dan gerous of all such articles, he said, were the Oriental carpets and rugs bought to adorn fashionable homes in Great Britain. These carpets and rugs often contained germs of the foulest diseases. Every conceivable abomination was thus intro-duced among England's better classes If the government prohibited the impor ation of rugs from the East it behoover them to extend the same prohibition to the equally foul carpets. Every importe of oriental carpets was aware that the opening of the bales was accompanied y clouds of filthy and evil-smelling dust, which frequently caused the workingmen violent purging and vomiting. "I would rather unchain a tigress in my home was Mr. Willis' peroration, "than place carpets and rugs from the east upon its

lar for Sept. 15th: The hop harvest of the year 1892 is now nearly a thing of the past. With but few exceptions the crops are all in warehouse and a good many in the hale. We can now fairly estimate the crop at about one-half of last year, or in round numbers twenty thonsand bales. There has been about eighty thousand bales grown on the Pacific slope. New York has produced this year one hundred and fifteen thousand -substantially the same quantity as last year, but of better quality. England is estimated to have produced two hundred and twenty-five thousand "old duty," being only a little more than last year. The German crop is reported good. As yet there is no market. Growers are expecting high prices, some expecting to receive at east forty cents per pound "before Christ-
