OREGON WEATHER SERVICE, in Co-operation With U. S. Weather Bureau, of the Department of

Central Office Portland, Oregon, Crop-Weather Bulletin, No. 26, for week ending Tuesday, Sept. 27, 1892: EASTERN OREGON

Weather-The temperature has been deficient during the past week, and frosts occurred on the higher elevations. Fresh snow fell in parts or the Blue mountains on the 23d. General rains prevailed during the week and amounted to from 0.25 to 0.80 of an inch.

Orops-The rain has been of great benefit. It has cleared the atmosphere of smoke, it has given the grass a start and has softened the earth sufficient to allow of fall plowing to begin. Reports indicate preparations for an increased acreage of grain for next year. The rain interfered somewhat with threshing, which is now practically finished and most of the wheat is now at warehouses and on side tracks waiting shipment. Corn is ripe and ready to be gathered. Late peaches are ripening and are of good quality. This ends the regular weekly cropweather reports of 1892. They will be resumed next year with the opening of the growing season.

We take this opportunity to thank the large corps of correspondents throughout the state for their promptness and faith fulness in reporting so accurately their crop-weather conditions and trust that next year they may again be with us in our work. The season has been fairly successful in all productions for the Oregon farmer, and these bulletins have, as accurately as possible, portrayed the general conditions from seed time to harvest and it is hoped that they have been of value to the public. The monthly bulletins will, as usual continue to be issued. B. S. PAGUE.

The former is the daughter of John Langston, a retired livery stable owner. Miss Spriggs is a daughter of J. W. Spriggs, a well known lawyer. Leaving Seattle Thursday the girls pro-ceeded by train to Tacoma yesterday afternoon, and, through the aid of policemen, they were located and captured The quartet returned home last night at 2 o'clock. After taking in the exposition the girls contemplated going to San Francisco, and going or the stage. They had one dollar and fifty cents when captured. They told friends that they expected a Seattle man to send them two hundred dollars to-day. The parents of both girls are almost heartbroker by their daughters' waywardness which is attributed to the reading of dime novels of which they were voracious readers

Greenwood, defendant, out finding any trace of her whereabouts, and had about concluded that she was stolen, says the Dayton Inlander, when one of his children discovered the animal not 50 yards from the house. She had wandered into a hollow cedar log, presumably to get into the shade, and in pushing her way for 50 feet or more into the log she passed through a place where it had splintered in falling, with the ends of the splinters headed in her direction. Of course when she attempted to come out her exit was effectually stopped by the splinters having sprung back. And there she was as securely imprisoned as any of our repentant sinners at Walla Walla. When discovered ners at Walla Walla. When discovered she had been there five days. Mr. Glancay had to cut the log in front of her before she could be taken out, nothing the worse for thirty years is estimated at thirty million her imprisonment except for her enforced fast. FARMER—That was a stavin' paper you got out last week.

COUNTRY EDITOR—Pm glad to hear that you were pleased with it.

FARMER—Them stories you had in about them fellers bein' cured of long-standin' diseases were the entertainingist bit of news Pve read for a long time.—Puck.

You'd believe in patent medicines if they didn't profess to cure everything.

And, you can't always tell the prescription that cures by what you read in the papers. So, perhaps, there's no better way to sell a remedy, than to tell the truth about it, and take the risk of its doing just what it professes to do. take the risk of its doing just what it professes to do.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is not a "cure-all," but is only adapted to those diseases peculiar to women. It fulfills a singleness of purpose, being a perfect specific in all chronic weaknesses, functional and painful disorders peculiar to the sex. It's a powerful, invigorating tonic, and a soothing and strengthening nervine—purely vegetable, perfectly harmless. For ulcerations, displacements, bearing-down sensations, unnatural discharges—everything that's known as a "female complaint"—it's a positive remedy.

not less than one million people have found just such a friend in Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds.
