SECRETARY RUSK'S REPORT.

The proof of the pudding lies in the eating. Secretary Rusk's report is valuable in that it takes the question of the tariff in relation to farm products out of the domain of speculation and places it in that of accomplished fact.

It has been said by the Democratic press that the increase of duties on agricultural products could have no effect upon the prosperity of American farmers, and, says an eastern exchange, judging from the largeness of the vote for Weaver in some of the farming states, it would seem that the false statement has gained a considerable measure of credence. But the secretary of the department of agriculture gives cold figures that show a decrease T J. Tweedy bad already been on the of importations of articles that compete with American produce from a sil ready for the inquest. They proceeded ratio of 54 per cent, in 1880 to 44 per to McCarthy's cabin. They found him victims were a party of umbrella mendcent. in 1891. Certainly this is a lying on the floor, his feet being toward fine showing for the first year's opera- the door, his head on the bed which was tion of the new tariff.

Moreover, by the reciprocity clause of the McKinley bill, and by the establishment yf vigorous inspection above the eyes. One effect of this increased Carthy. McCarthy had encrosched on foreign trade has been an increase of Alexander's land with sheep, and the latforeign trade has been an increase of 80 cents per 100 pounds on the value of American pork. Another effect has been an increase of 62 per cent. der and hitting bim in the face. McCarthy picked 66 per cent. in the value of it, taking up a pick and advanced toward Alexan the months of May, June, July and der. The latter warned him away, or he August, 1892, into comparison with would get hurt. Atexander shot again, those of last year.

But the secretary hints at the need of increased diversification of farm industries. He finds that the enormous sum of $189,000,0000 yearly is sentout of the United States to pay for things that should be grown and made on farms and by rural communities of this republic. The items stand thus: Animal products...... $40,000,000 states that Cal Hale, Tom Kimsey and Fibers 67,000,000
Fruits and wines 30,000,000

Total.....$189,000,000 There is not one of these which the is not capable of producing.

In view of the excessive production of cotton and wheat on American farms, with an inevitable shrinkage in cotton by large importations from sum of $10,000 each. In default of price, and the further depreciation of Egypt and Peru, the secretary recommends lessening the wheat and cotton areas, and acclimatization of the Egyptian and Peruvian cotton plants, ber of persons, he gave a plausible acthe fibers of which have qualities not found in our native growths. The beet sugar crop has been found to day did not vary in the slightest particugive large profits to the grower and to the manufacturer, whenever the condition insisted upon by the department have been observed. The tariff on barley has lessened importations of that grain by 10,000,000 bushels, and, identified. Mr. Thiel says Zachary is of course, has added that many to the the most nonchalant man he has ever home production.

American wines, American fruits, American sugars, American flax and hemp fibers may profitably engage the attention of farmers and planters who hitherto have relied almost exclusively upon cotton and wheat as the sources of profit.
