

ITEMS IN BRIEF

From Wednesday's Daily.
Mr. T. H. Johnston, of Dufur, is in the interest of Dufur in the city. The money is being deposited in the city. This was caused by the prevalence of a chinook wind yesterday.

Mr. C. F. Korbach, of Cascade Locks, is in town. He has just returned from a visit to Spokane, and is on his return to the city. He is expected to be here in a few days.

Beta on California have by the sporting authorities been declared as unethical. Harbison now carries the state. This same rule applies to other states whose electoral votes are divided.

The skating party, which was held at the home of Mrs. J. W. Smith, was a successful one in procuring good ice. It would not rest for the police to see the ladies and gentlemen returned disappointed.

Refrigeration is becoming thoroughly metropolitan, and the local press have daily reports of robberies, suicides, etc. There is always a good evidence of the growth of the city in the records of the police.

Capt. John W. Lewis, registrar of the land office in this city, is off on a business trip. His health has wonderfully improved, and his appetite is simply prodigious. He is expected to be here in a few days.

The city marshal is doing a work of money in impounding stray cattle on the streets. These need some care on the part of the owners, and those who are favored with possession should be careful to have a good consideration to provide for their feed and shelter.

The hat of the editor of the Peace News was stolen a ball given in the town last Friday night, and the knight of the pencil is working hard to get the mousetrap. He should receive the sympathy of the community in this great and lasting misfortune.

Boating business is expected to be good this season, and Capt. Donovan is forming in the city. The Oregon Lumber Co., of Hood River, will have a mill in operation at Conestoga and another at Little White Salmon. This company, he believes, will be a short time in the lumber and wood business on the middle Columbia.

From a letter received from Mr. A. Wintermiller, dated at Portland, Ore., Jan. 11, we learn that the winter has been open with plenty of rain and snow. Mr. Wintermiller and his family are doing good on the range. As this portion of Eastern Oregon depends largely upon its livestock interests this is encouraging news.

The first at Cascade county, comprising all west of Mosier and including Cascade county, second, Antelope division, boundaries of which we have not ascertained; Mitchell desires a new county, to be formed out of Wasco, Crook and Gilliam counties. It is expected that after the last issue is carved off, Wasco people will leave the county in peace for a few years, or at least until Cello desires to divide the land with the Dalles, and the route may then be huddled from the map, and the six miles equally parcelled between two counties to be kept separate.

Portland people are evidently doing some all lying about Judge Boise's position on the mortgage tax law. The 8 item Journal states positively that Judge Boise was interviewed, and it is opposed to the repeal of the law as a whole, and yet the Portland Advertiser on Friday published the above, which has come to be a general practice, especially among the wealthy land owners.

Timber Culture Final Proof
LAD OFFICE AT THE DALLES, ORE., JANUARY 13, 1933.
Notice is hereby given that the Under Secretary of the Interior has approved the final proof of the timber culture of the Oregon Pacific Lumber Co., Inc., for the purpose of securing favorable consideration of the bill in the Senate. He has learned from Mr. Herman that there is no possibility of passing the bill in the Senate. He makes this statement to express his regret that the time to carry out the timber culture has expired.

Take Up.
Mr. I. H. Treadwell, proprietor of the Celilo fishery and cannery, has written this letter to the president of the Fishermen's union, Astoria: "I enclose an account in the papers a few days ago where the Fishermen's union of Astoria intended presenting a bill in the next legislature to do away with fish traps on the Columbia River. I am strongly in favor of it, and, strange as it may appear, I am in favor of doing away with fish traps, also. I have caught more fish with dip nets, before either fish wheels or traps were introduced, than I ever did with wheels and traps. I am sure that I can do it again. My fish is as common as grass on May 1st each year, which will give all the fish necessary to change to pass up their spawning grounds, and have no close season at all, not even Sundays, and when fishing is not profitable it won't require us to stay open to sell."

Items From Sherman County.
The year 1892 has passed away, and with it have gone many pleasures as well as many sorrows. A bonfire of the year came and went with the old year. For the first time in five years my well is running out at the top, with more snow storm to thoroughly wet the top of the ground later in the winter, we will have the heaviest harvest in memory ever known in Sherman county.

Ben Hogan.
In an interesting conversation with the gentleman we learn several facts in relation to his life that are quite interesting to the general reader. During the days when he was in the army, he fought with General Allen and other celebrities, and at one time was a personal friend to Jim Fisk, Stock and others. After he returned he visited England, Ireland and Germany. Spoke in Spargano's tabernacle in London to a crowded house, and interested thousands in Belfast. In Berlin he inaugurated an enterprise work in the shadow of the statue of Frederick the Great, under the direction of the students of the university and of every European. He has a kind word for the great Spargano, whom he describes as a man of large hearted charity and open-handed benevolence. Being a native Swede, he spoke in German in Berlin, and found the emperor a very approachable man wrapped up in the best interests of his people. These pleasant days are very enjoyable, and Mr. Hogan many words of encouragement. His work in New York city was an extensive scale. At one time he received $1000 from Jay Gould for benevolent enterprises and the same amount from Cornelius Vanderbilt. Mr. Hogan was about circled the world in his reform work, and appears to be in earnest. He is rather unique in his methods, and frequently clashes with the established churches. There is an effort being made to secure him one or more discourses in the Dalles, and the court house will likely be secured for that purpose. Mr. Hogan is a man of high character, and we expect to see a large house greet his appearance.
