The omination will probably be sent to the enate before the end of the next week. The president consuited at the White House today about this subject with Vice President Morion and Senators Manderson, Pistt, Dolph, Higgins and others. His conversation with the vice president is supposed to have been with reference to forcing a confirmation, and the pre-siding officer of the senate is believed to have satisified him that it is within the power of the Republican majority in that ody to compel the confirmation of any men who is up to the high standard of he previous judicial appointments made by this administration.

"The president considers that the apintment ought to go, if possible, to the South, masmuch as Justice Lamar was be only distinctly Southern man upon he supreme bench; and, finally, the president, under ordinary circumstances would regard it as almost imperative to fill the vacancy by the promotion of some republican judge of a southern circuit court. Such a promotion, however, would cause a vacancy of the lower federal beach, which, on account of the lack of time between now and March 4, would almost certainly be left for President Cleveland to fill. During the coming weck President Harrison will examine carefully the names of prominent Southern Republicans, both on and off the federal bench, which may be submitted o him, and it he finds among them a man who meets his stanbard as to private character and professional acquirements that man will undoubtedly be nomina-

The Queen Deposed. HONOLOLU, Jan. 18-The downfall of the Hawaiian monarchical government has finally occurred. Yesterday a provisional government was organized, com-simed control of all the functions of the government, and now awaits the decision of the United States government, whether it will accept the Hawaiian selands as a portion of its domain. The events which led up to this situation commenced im mediately before the departure of the steamship Mariposa for Han Francisco, and were occasioned January 11 by the passage of a bill which gave a concess for the establishment of a lettery in the kingdom. This franchise was given to six people, on the promise of an annual pay ment of $500,000. This measure the ministers would not support. The proposition had the vote of only one white man, the other 25 votes necessary to carry it being contributed entirely by natives and half castes. This act was followed, the atternoon of January 12, after the departure of the Mariposa, by springing a vote of want of confidence in the ministry. This, after but little argument, was passed by a vote of 25, the exact number recessary. The defeated ministry had the confidence of the public and of the capitalists and bu-iness community, and, as the prorogation of parliament had been set for January 21 by the queen herself, their tenure of office was expected to run until 1894 Considerable excitement then followed among the white residents of the islands, which was highlened Jansary 13 by the appointment of a minis ry in which there was no confidence, and ov the fact that the queen the morning of the 14th aigned the lottery bill.
