

ITEMS IN BRIEF

"I'll give you the one," he said, "You have to give me the other."

From Welebury's Daily: The Columbia is rising quite rapidly.

The pleasant weather has stimulated enterprise in different directions, and houses are being repaired in the city.

Mr. J. P. McLeary, who has been confined to his house for several days past by a severe attack of pneumonia, was able to go on the street today.

Eastern tourists are making their annual visit west, and yesterday a party of six persons taken the train to view this narrow passage in the river.

The increasing volume of water in the Columbia river causes considerable high water talk; but wait till the latter part of June, and one can give a more intelligent opinion on the matter.

The following meeting was held with the county clerk today: J. P. Shannon and wife to Geo. W. McCoy; right way through the city.

A train of loaded dirt cars passed the city this afternoon to fill in the place washed out last week by the clear burst in that vicinity not only damaged wagon roads, but played havoc with the crops.

The East Oregonian claims that the Pendleton postoffice "will become a second-class one and be closed to free delivery."

We believe the editor is mistaken in this, for all second-class offices are not free delivery ones.

Mr. Geo. P. Morgan is making township maps for the assessor of this county. These are divided into large enough for the owner of each quarter to be written thereon.

An item is going around the press to the effect that Frank Hickey, arrested for the murder of Dr. Clayton in Arkansas, was in jail in this city when the crime was committed. This is a mistake. He was working in a restaurant in The Dalles at the time.

A Lin county man had a horse that slobbered so much as to excite the owner's disgust. He read an advertisement in an eastern paper where a man for a dollar promised to send a receipt that would stop the horse from slobbering.

Work has begun on the Christian church on Court street, and several loads of lumber and shingles have been hauled. The foundation walls were built last summer, and the building is rapidly as possible.

There are very many of this demolition in the city and a place of worship is very much needed.

Salmon fishermen: Yesterday Governor Penner and State Treasurer Metcalf started again for the Eastern Oregon country by the interior route.

They had already paid two or three visits to this section of the country, but as new applicants for the same come in every day they will be here in a few days and it may be expected, with considerable degree of certainty, that every next week the new season will be opened.

Salmon Journal: The newspapers of the state seem to think all the salmon fishermen belong to the union which has gone on a strike unless each of the state institutions will allow the union $5 for each service. But not all the fishermen are in it.

It is doubtful if half of the regular installed or organized members of the union are in it. He is here at all. For instance Rev. J. S. Kohler, of St. Joseph's Catholic church; Dr. W. E. Copeland, of Unity church; P. W. Knight, First Congregational minister and Elmer Matthews, of God's church, do not belong to the union.

The Union Whit Club closed its labors for the season last evening. Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Crossen were present, and passed a delightful time at the tables. Miss Virginia Williams was the lady of the hour.

After the prize fell to Mr. C. E. Byard, and the lady to Mr. W. H. Hobson. After the whole company returned to Miller's restaurant, where a sumptuous banquet was served. The dancing continued in until a late hour.

When the clock struck 11, the dancing was adjourned to meet in November for the next season's campaign.

Last Saturday morning about 10 o'clock Graves, Robinson, the 7-year-old son of Richard E. Hanson, who lives about six miles down the valley from Boise city, Idaho, was dropped to death by a horse.

Young Robinson was leaning over the side of the horse when he was thrown, and he was killed. The horse was being driven by a man named Hanson.

The horse pulled over the edge brush kicking and rearing, and the boy was thrown. The horse finally gave way the boy was mangled terribly. His head was crushed, and his body was mangled.

A physician was summoned, but the little sufferer passed away in a short while after the accident.

From Prida's Daily: Hon. E. L. Smith, of Hood River, is in the city.

Today is Arbor Day in our neighboring state of Washington.

How many Blackboard clerks are passengers on the Oregonian for Hagerman?

Mr. E. M. Shutt, of the Astoria Hotel, gave us a pleasant talk this afternoon.

Mr. J. A. Richardson, wife of Dr. Richardson, of Salem, arrived in the city on the Oregonian this evening.

The cloud that occurred in Sherman county last Saturday rendered the free bridge over the Deschutes impassable.

A carload of Japanese passed through the city this afternoon for Huntington, where they will be put to work on the Union Pacific.

The street sprinkler could make our streets in a better condition for pedestrians. But it takes up the water and electricity and wastes very promiscuously.

There are five U. S. prisoners in the county jail, arrested for selling whisky to Indians. These will be taken to Portland to be tried before the U. S. district court.

The funeral of little Martin Schroder was largely attended this afternoon, and there was a full representation of relatives and members of the Juvenile Temple people.

The river is still increasing in volume, and the freight house on the lower wharf at the Regulator landing is about half covered with water.

Mr. Frank Menzies and Mr. C. J. Oran have paid a visit to Portland to examine into the sewerage system of the metropolitan, and are now ready to make a report.

A family consisting of husband, wife and four children, who had stopped in the city of the S. P. R. Co. entirely destitute, and had received charitable donations.

Mr. J. D. DeWitt, of Waco, is in the city. He says the people in that vicinity have been blessed with heavy rains during the past few weeks, and the ground is in excellent condition; but too wet in places for plowing.

The spore of personal danger which embodies the game of football appears to be very rampant in England. During the three seasons from 1930-31 to 1932-33 there were 71 deaths through football, 121 cases of broken legs, 33 of broken arms, 54 of broken collars and 158 of other injuries.

len's minister in that city who would pray for the aged... Down this way salvation is free.

The Old Fellows of Pendleton celebrated yesterday with becoming ceremonies.

There will be a vocal concert next Tuesday evening in the court house.

The river increased its volume of water yesterday considerably, and the lower wharf at the Regulator landing was covered with water.

We were offered some "spring poetry" this morning; but, on consulting our waste basket found it full of scraps, so we declined with thanks.

Last night Deputy U. S. Marshal Jameson arrested a man for selling liquor to Indians.

Since the last few days of fine weather the leaves on shrubbery and bloom on fruit trees are in the appearance, and now our streets are lined with green foliage and our gardens with flowers and fruit blooms.

The run of salmon is very slight at present. There is a good demand in the east for Oregon salmon, and the season's catch will find ready sale at good prices.

Hon. John Wasmaker, ex postmaster general, passed through this city today.

He is a well known man in this city, and he is a member of the local chapter of the B. P. O. E. lodge.

Hepper Gazette: Surveyor Jas Brown was in Saturday, and suffering considerably from his recent experience with "black frost."

He is a well known man in this city, and he is a member of the local chapter of the B. P. O. E. lodge.

Thomas McKinney, of Spokane, forged a check for $230 and sold it to John H. Brown, of this city.

A report was circulated Saturday evening that the water in the Columbia river was so high that it was necessary to evacuate the city.

Salmon fishermen: Yesterday Governor Penner and State Treasurer Metcalf started again for the Eastern Oregon country by the interior route.

They had already paid two or three visits to this section of the country, but as new applicants for the same come in every day they will be here in a few days and it may be expected, with considerable degree of certainty, that every next week the new season will be opened.

Salmon Journal: The newspapers of the state seem to think all the salmon fishermen belong to the union which has gone on a strike unless each of the state institutions will allow the union $5 for each service.

It is doubtful if half of the regular installed or organized members of the union are in it. He is here at all. For instance Rev. J. S. Kohler, of St. Joseph's Catholic church; Dr. W. E. Copeland, of Unity church; P. W. Knight, First Congregational minister and Elmer Matthews, of God's church, do not belong to the union.

The Union Whit Club closed its labors for the season last evening. Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Crossen were present, and passed a delightful time at the tables.

After the prize fell to Mr. C. E. Byard, and the lady to Mr. W. H. Hobson. After the whole company returned to Miller's restaurant, where a sumptuous banquet was served.

When the clock struck 11, the dancing was adjourned to meet in November for the next season's campaign.

Last Saturday morning about 10 o'clock Graves, Robinson, the 7-year-old son of Richard E. Hanson, who lives about six miles down the valley from Boise city, Idaho, was dropped to death by a horse.

Young Robinson was leaning over the side of the horse when he was thrown, and he was killed. The horse was being driven by a man named Hanson.

The horse pulled over the edge brush kicking and rearing, and the boy was thrown. The horse finally gave way the boy was mangled terribly.

A physician was summoned, but the little sufferer passed away in a short while after the accident.

From Prida's Daily: Hon. E. L. Smith, of Hood River, is in the city.

Today is Arbor Day in our neighboring state of Washington.

How many Blackboard clerks are passengers on the Oregonian for Hagerman?

Mr. E. M. Shutt, of the Astoria Hotel, gave us a pleasant talk this afternoon.

Mr. J. A. Richardson, wife of Dr. Richardson, of Salem, arrived in the city on the Oregonian this evening.

The cloud that occurred in Sherman county last Saturday rendered the free bridge over the Deschutes impassable.

A carload of Japanese passed through the city this afternoon for Huntington, where they will be put to work on the Union Pacific.

The street sprinkler could make our streets in a better condition for pedestrians. But it takes up the water and electricity and wastes very promiscuously.

There are five U. S. prisoners in the county jail, arrested for selling whisky to Indians. These will be taken to Portland to be tried before the U. S. district court.

The funeral of little Martin Schroder was largely attended this afternoon, and there was a full representation of relatives and members of the Juvenile Temple people.

The river is still increasing in volume, and the freight house on the lower wharf at the Regulator landing is about half covered with water.

Mr. Frank Menzies and Mr. C. J. Oran have paid a visit to Portland to examine into the sewerage system of the metropolitan, and are now ready to make a report.

A family consisting of husband, wife and four children, who had stopped in the city of the S. P. R. Co. entirely destitute, and had received charitable donations.

Mr. J. D. DeWitt, of Waco, is in the city. He says the people in that vicinity have been blessed with heavy rains during the past few weeks, and the ground is in excellent condition; but too wet in places for plowing.

The spore of personal danger which embodies the game of football appears to be very rampant in England. During the three seasons from 1930-31 to 1932-33 there were 71 deaths through football, 121 cases of broken legs, 33 of broken arms, 54 of broken collars and 158 of other injuries.

DEPLORABLE ACCIDENT

Martin Schroder Drowned in the Columbia.

FELL FROM THE REGULATOR'S DECK.

All Efforts to Resuscitate Him Were of No Avail.

Wednesday afternoon when the Regulator was about five or six miles this side of the Cascade Locks returning from the excursion, a little boy named Martin Schroder fell from the deck of the steamer and was drowned.

Everything possible was done to resuscitate him by Messrs. W. Loehbe, H. F. Hage, Geo. Ruch, H. C. Nielsen, O. Kernerly, E. Jensen and others and the officers and crew, but to no avail.

The boy floated down in the current as the water, and two boats were struck by the wind blowing in and the swift water. As the boat backed down to get below the floating boy, a dark hand, named Wm. Scott, jumped into the river with a life buoy under his arm and a line attached, and battled manfully with the waves, but was unable to reach the boy.

This brave act deserves more than a passing mention and entitles Mr. Scott to lasting remembrance by every one who has honor in the body. The boy was finally pulled to the steamer by means of a boat hook, after it had been in the water about five to ten minutes.

Vento a telegram was sent for a doctor to meet the steamer at Hood River, and when that landing could not be obtained, the board and the remedies known to medical science were applied, but resuscitation was impossible.

When the Regulator stopped at her wharf in this city, the house doctor, who was in the remains and announced the following jury of experts: E. N. Chandler, H. Stone, M. E. Jacobsen, James Blakney, R. E. Salmars and S. G. Campbell. The first witness examined was

He was talking with Mr. Fige when cry was raised "man overboard." Had seen the boy a little while straddling the ledge above the gangway, holding on to the railing. Did not see him fall. Was standing on the deck, and saw the boy fall. He and crew did everything possible to save boy.

Was step father of the boy. His name was Martin Schroder, aged 11 years. Gave him a life buoy and a line attached to the railing. Fige. Boy was fall of life and liked to play.

Saw boy fall into the water from the lower deck and saw several lines thrown to strike the water in a heap. Watched body until it seemed to disappear under boat. Steamer stopped and backed up. Two boats were lowered. Officers and crew did everything possible to save boy. Steamer was on upper deck when accident happened.

Saw boy come out of doorway on port side, inside two steps on deck and fell into river. He had his hand up at the time, grabbing for his hat when he went off the deck. Did not think boy fell down stairs. Was walking or running when I saw him. Went at to the engine room and gave the alarm and first officer went forward and gave alarm to captain. Only stopped and backed. Saw man jump overboard with life buoy under arm and several fathoms of line attached. Telegram was sent to Hood River for doctor to meet them.

Dr. Bonias met them at Hood River. Officers started to run but was stopped by Mr. Fige. He was very rough and strong up stream wind blowing. Boat backed down and kept in such a position that the boy was caught by a boat hook and taken out of water. Lowered two boats, but these were unusable against wind and current. Men jumped overboard with life buoy and line attached, but could do nothing in the strong current. Landed at Vento and telegraphed to Hood River for doctor to meet them.

Captain gave orders to engineer to make all possible speed to Hood River.

Dr. F. FISKE: In first officer of Regulator. Boat was about five miles this side of Cascade Locks when accident happened. Was going about fourteen miles an hour and 200 yards from shore when boy fell overboard. The water was very rough and a strong up stream wind blowing. Boat backed down and kept in such a position that the boy was caught by a boat hook and taken out of water.

Lowered two boats, but these were unusable against wind and current. Men jumped overboard with life buoy and line attached, but could do nothing in the strong current. Landed at Vento and telegraphed to Hood River for doctor to meet them.

Captain gave orders to engineer to make all possible speed to Hood River.

Dr. F. FISKE: In first officer of Regulator. Boat was about five miles this side of Cascade Locks when accident happened. Was going about fourteen miles an hour and 200 yards from shore when boy fell overboard. The water was very rough and a strong up stream wind blowing. Boat backed down and kept in such a position that the boy was caught by a boat hook and taken out of water.

Lowered two boats, but these were unusable against wind and current. Men jumped overboard with life buoy and line attached, but could do nothing in the strong current. Landed at Vento and telegraphed to Hood River for doctor to meet them.

Captain gave orders to engineer to make all possible speed to Hood River.

Dr. F. FISKE: In first officer of Regulator. Boat was about five miles this side of Cascade Locks when accident happened. Was going about fourteen miles an hour and 200 yards from shore when boy fell overboard. The water was very rough and a strong up stream wind blowing. Boat backed down and kept in such a position that the boy was caught by a boat hook and taken out of water.

Lowered two boats, but these were unusable against wind and current. Men jumped overboard with life buoy and line attached, but could do nothing in the strong current. Landed at Vento and telegraphed to Hood River for doctor to meet them.

Captain gave orders to engineer to make all possible speed to Hood River.

Dr. F. FISKE: In first officer of Regulator. Boat was about five miles this side of Cascade Locks when accident happened. Was going about fourteen miles an hour and 200 yards from shore when boy fell overboard. The water was very rough and a strong up stream wind blowing. Boat backed down and kept in such a position that the boy was caught by a boat hook and taken out of water.

Lowered two boats, but these were unusable against wind and current. Men jumped overboard with life buoy and line attached, but could do nothing in the strong current. Landed at Vento and telegraphed to Hood River for doctor to meet them.

Captain gave orders to engineer to make all possible speed to Hood River.

Dr. F. FISKE: In first officer of Regulator. Boat was about five miles this side of Cascade Locks when accident happened. Was going about fourteen miles an hour and 200 yards from shore when boy fell overboard. The water was very rough and a strong up stream wind blowing. Boat backed down and kept in such a position that the boy was caught by a boat hook and taken out of water.

Lowered two boats, but these were unusable against wind and current. Men jumped overboard with life buoy and line attached, but could do nothing in the strong current. Landed at Vento and telegraphed to Hood River for doctor to meet them.

Captain gave orders to engineer to make all possible speed to Hood River.

Dr. F. FISKE: In first officer of Regulator. Boat was about five miles this side of Cascade Locks when accident happened. Was going about fourteen miles an hour and 200 yards from shore when boy fell overboard. The water was very rough and a strong up stream wind blowing. Boat backed down and kept in such a position that the boy was caught by a boat hook and taken out of water.

Lowered two boats, but these were unusable against wind and current. Men jumped overboard with life buoy and line attached, but could do nothing in the strong current. Landed at Vento and telegraphed to Hood River for doctor to meet them.

Captain gave orders to engineer to make all possible speed to Hood River.

Dr. F. FISKE: In first officer of Regulator. Boat was about five miles this side of Cascade Locks when accident happened. Was going about fourteen miles an hour and 200 yards from shore when boy fell overboard. The water was very rough and a strong up stream wind blowing. Boat backed down and kept in such a position that the boy was caught by a boat hook and taken out of water.

Lowered two boats, but these were unusable against wind and current. Men jumped overboard with life buoy and line attached, but could do nothing in the strong current. Landed at Vento and telegraphed to Hood River for doctor to meet them.

Captain gave orders to engineer to make all possible speed to Hood River.

Dr. F. FISKE: In first officer of Regulator. Boat was about five miles this side of Cascade Locks when accident happened. Was going about fourteen miles an hour and 200 yards from shore when boy fell overboard. The water was very rough and a strong up stream wind blowing. Boat backed down and kept in such a position that the boy was caught by a boat hook and taken out of water.

Lowered two boats, but these were unusable against wind and current. Men jumped overboard with life buoy and line attached, but could do nothing in the strong current. Landed at Vento and telegraphed to Hood River for doctor to meet them.

Captain gave orders to engineer to make all possible speed to Hood River.

Dr. F. FISKE: In first officer of Regulator. Boat was about five miles this side of Cascade Locks when accident happened. Was going about fourteen miles an hour and 200 yards from shore when boy fell overboard. The water was very rough and a strong up stream wind blowing. Boat backed down and kept in such a position that the boy was caught by a boat hook and taken out of water.

Lowered two boats, but these were unusable against wind and current. Men jumped overboard with life buoy and line attached, but could do nothing in the strong current. Landed at Vento and telegraphed to Hood River for doctor to meet them.

Captain gave orders to engineer to make all possible speed to Hood River.

Dr. F. FISKE: In first officer of Regulator. Boat was about five miles this side of Cascade Locks when accident happened. Was going about fourteen miles an hour and 200 yards from shore when boy fell overboard. The water was very rough and a strong up stream wind blowing. Boat backed down and kept in such a position that the boy was caught by a boat hook and taken out of water.

Lowered two boats, but these were unusable against wind and current. Men jumped overboard with life buoy and line attached, but could do nothing in the strong current. Landed at Vento and telegraphed to Hood River for doctor to meet them.

Captain gave orders to engineer to make all possible speed to Hood River.

OREGON WEATHER SERVICE

In Co-operation With U. S. Weather Bureau, of the Department of Agriculture.

Central Office Portland, Oregon. Oregon Weather Bulletin, No. 5, for week ending Tuesday, April 25, 1933.

Weather—Through the Columbia river valley spring has appeared. During the week there have been showers and much warmer weather. To the east and south the high mountains snow has fallen.

The soil is thoroughly saturated. More rain has fallen during the month of April than in any previous April. The temperature continues to be below the normal, but since the 20th there has been a marked rise and warmer weather has prevailed. On the 23rd several thunder storms prevailed.

Crops, Etc.—The peach, cherry, apricot and pear trees are coming into full bloom. The plum trees are in blossom along the Snake and John Day, but in other sections the buds are just beginning to show. The soil is thoroughly saturated. More rain has fallen during the month of April than in any previous April. The temperature continues to be below the normal, but since the 20th there has been a marked rise and warmer weather has prevailed. On the 23rd several thunder storms prevailed.

Local Forecast Official.

MEMORIAL

CAMPBELL—March 29, 1885, of pneumonia. Clara, nee Young, daughter of Wm. E. and Sallie Campbell, aged 48 years and 6 months.

She died at a little girl and her little form was laid to rest beside those of the graduates and uncles, who only a few short years passed on before, and were waiting to watch to guide her into the life of a bright and happy girl.

Put away the little dreamer. She will be missed on earth near. She has climbed the golden stair.

She is with the happy angels, looking down on her dear ones. Where her little feet are waiting. For the time to brighten her path. Close beside the golden stair.

Lay aside the little pain. How we miss the little one. How we miss the little one. How we miss the little one.

Fold the delicate little dreamer. That she never more will wear. For her little feet are waiting. For the time to brighten her path. Close beside the golden stair.

She is with the happy angels, looking down on her dear ones. Where her little feet are waiting. For the time to brighten her path. Close beside the golden stair.

MARRIED

RICHIE—CHES—April 24, at the residence of Mrs. J. H. Richie, in the city of Portland, Oregon, by Rev. J. H. Richie, Minister of the Gospel, Miss A. Pauline Blaker to Mr. Charles E. Corson.

BORN

FISH—In this city, April 23, to the wife of Mr. J. H. Fish, a son.

COOPER—April 23, in this city, to the wife of Mr. Charles Cooper, a son.

Castoria is so well adapted to children that it is used by the mothers of the most prominent families in the city. It is a safe and reliable remedy for all ailments of children.

Castoria promotes Digestion, and cures Colic, Diarrhea, and Feverishness. It is a safe and reliable remedy for all ailments of children.

Castoria is so well adapted to children that it is used by the mothers of the most prominent families in the city. It is a safe and reliable remedy for all ailments of children.

Castoria promotes Digestion, and cures Colic, Diarrhea, and Feverishness. It is a safe and reliable remedy for all ailments of children.

Castoria is so well adapted to children that it is used by the mothers of the most prominent families in the city. It is a safe and reliable remedy for all ailments of children.

Castoria promotes Digestion, and cures Colic, Diarrhea, and Feverishness. It is a safe and reliable remedy for all ailments of children.

Castoria is so well adapted to children that it is used by the mothers of the most prominent families in the city. It is a safe and reliable remedy for all ailments of children.

Castoria promotes Digestion, and cures Colic, Diarrhea, and Feverishness. It is a safe and reliable remedy for all ailments of children.

Castoria is so well adapted to children that it is used by the mothers of the most prominent families in the city. It is a safe and reliable remedy for all ailments of children.

Castoria promotes Digestion, and cures Colic, Diarrhea, and Feverishness. It is a safe and reliable remedy for all ailments of children.

Castoria is so well adapted to children that it is used by the mothers of the most prominent families in the city. It is a safe and reliable remedy for all ailments of children.

Castoria promotes Digestion, and cures Colic, Diarrhea, and Feverishness. It is a safe and reliable remedy for all ailments of children.

Castoria is so well adapted to children that it is used by the mothers of the most prominent families in the city. It is a safe and reliable remedy for all ailments of children.

Castoria promotes Digestion, and cures Colic, Diarrhea, and Feverishness. It is a safe and reliable remedy for all ailments of children.

Castoria is so well adapted to children that it is used by the mothers of the most prominent families in the city. It is a safe and reliable remedy for all ailments of children.

Castoria promotes Digestion, and cures Colic, Diarrhea, and Feverishness. It is a safe and reliable remedy for all ailments of children.

Castoria is so well adapted to children that it is used by the mothers of the most prominent families in the city. It is a safe and reliable remedy for all ailments of children.

Castoria promotes Digestion, and cures Colic, Diarrhea, and Feverishness. It is a safe and reliable remedy for all ailments of children.

Castoria is so well adapted to children that it is used by the mothers of the most prominent families in the city. It is a safe and reliable remedy for all ailments of children.

Castoria promotes Digestion, and cures Colic, Diarrhea, and Feverishness. It is a safe and reliable remedy for all ailments of children.

Castoria is so well adapted to children that it is used by the mothers of the most prominent families in the city. It is a safe and reliable remedy for all ailments of children.

Castoria promotes Digestion, and cures Colic, Diarrhea, and Feverishness. It is a safe and reliable remedy for all ailments of children.

Castoria is so well adapted to children that it is used by the mothers of the most prominent families in the city. It is a safe and reliable remedy for all ailments of children.

Castoria promotes Digestion, and cures Colic, Diarrhea, and Feverishness. It is a safe and reliable remedy for all ailments of children.

Castoria is so well adapted to children that it is used by the mothers of the most prominent families in the city. It is a safe and reliable remedy for all ailments of children.

Castoria promotes Digestion, and cures Colic, Diarrhea,