[John Ruskin was born in 1819, his ather being a London merchant. Phys ically weak, his mental powers have been remarkably great. His earliest literary efforts appeared when he was only 15. He graduated from Oxtord in 1839, and our years later published the first volume of "Modern Painters," criticism of which brought him prominently before the public. He turned his attention to English architecture with a view to re forming it, in which he succeeded in a marked degree. He studied the best architecture of Europe, particularly Venice, and in 1851 published bis "Stones of Venice," illustrated by himsell. Very popular among his works are "Ethics of the Dust," "A Crown of Wild Olive" and "Sesame and Lilies."]
