WASHINGTON, Dec. 7-It is not certain ret what course the executive will take in response to the resolution of the senate calling for information on the Haw aiian episode. The information will be given, but whether as a formal response to the senate resolution or in a special message from the president, which takes no note of the resolution, has not yet been determined. The information i prepared and can be sent in at any time. It was apparently put in shape to accom pany the president's forthcoming specia message before the resolution passed the senate yesterday. There is excellent authority for saying that Minister Willis' present orders are to employ no force of arms. It is probable the instructions by the Corwin are for him to proce d in his effort to persuade the provisional government to allow Liliuokalani to be restored. It is intimated from a responsible source that the ex-queen declines to go back on the throne unless by consent of the provisional government !eaders, or a guar antee of protection by the United States.
