

MCKINLEYISM.

Perhaps there is no man today who stands as high in the estimation of the public as McKinley.

When the Chicago platform was adopted the free-trade Democrats have been honest in denouncing protection, and claiming that it was unconstitutional except for revenue;

The people are fully aware of these facts, and since the Democratic tariff tinkering began, have anxiously watched to see what lines would be followed.

THE TICKET.

The nominations made yesterday by the Republican convention are such that should insure the full support of every member of the organization.

Every name on the ticket, from first to last, is worthy of support, and is well qualified for the position for which he is named.

As we have stated in the TIMES-MOUNTAINEER at different times heretofore, it is very important in this election, as upon the result may depend matters of national importance.

its own ranks, and since it has been clearly demonstrated that the only policy for the nation to pursue and be prosperous is that advocated by its leaders, every Republican should do his whole duty towards harmony and unanimity at the polls.

THE CASE STATED.

The Chicago Inter Ocean of last Friday thus stated the facts in the Carnegie frauds:

"The Carnegie case has its peculiarities. Carnegie, Frick and Hunsicker are the important personages of a firm that contracted to supply the naval department of the United States with armor plates."

"The information was given by workmen who had suffered during the famous 'bamboozled troubles' of 1892-3, troubles that contributed largely to the Democratic victory in the fall of that year."

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Populists are not gaining much strength in Eastern Oregon, and their vote in June will not offset the Republican majority but little.

"We have stated the case; we think it needless to argue upon it. The question submitted to the jury of the whole country is just this: Is there reasonable ground of suspicion of collusion between Carnegie's letter, Frick's aggravation of the Homestead trouble, and the president's favorable decision, in defiance of that of his secretary of war, in a matter affecting men who have rendered service to the Democratic party?"

Governor Flower's nerve has various aspects, says the Chicago Inter Ocean. When he sets about some radical executive act for the public good, politics or no politics, it is admirable; when he hoarsely denies the right of petition to fellow citizens it is detestable.

CRISP DECLINES.

Speaker Crisp has a strain of martyr blood in his veins. Offered a seat in the senate, he clings to the speaker's chair with all his tasks and tortures, says an exchange.

No doubt Mr. Crisp feels the same way, but it would never do to leave the Democratic sheep of that terrible wolf, Tom Reed. It is just all Crisp himself can do to keep from being turned into mutton, and wish any other speaker in the chair Thomas would have things pretty much his own way.

It is hard to be compelled to put aside the senatorial toga. One would suppose that in all that large assortment of Democrats, drawn from all parts of the country, there would be more than one man equal to the leadership of the majority. But the position is doubly exacting. To wield the gavel skillfully is no small task, but on occasions the speaker comes down on the floor of the house to take part in the debate. To be leaderless in both respects would be calamitous.

ANABOBY.

The present distressful times appear to be used as an excuse for the ruffian in the coke regions of Pennsylvania for riot and bloodshed, and already how the European woman war has been inaugurated by the killing of Chief Engineer Paddock, of the H. O. Frick Coke Company, and others.

The Republican majority saved the country from the Bland bill which was passed over the president's veto. Can the dissatisfied Democrats save the nation from the calamity of the passage of the Wilson bill?

The Republicans in this county should keep their ranks closed, and the least indication of friction should be smoothed over. Next June the majority should reach 500, and every man on the ticket should be elected.

A portion of the public have the most desirable moral of scandal in the Breckinridge Pollard trial in Washington they have tasted since the Beecher Tilton suit in New York, and they have been hungry for something of that kind ever since.

Hon. Q. W. Fulton, of Astoria, has been endorsed by the Republican convention of Clatsop county for governor. The state convention at Portland will undoubtedly name a good man for this position, and if Mr. Fulton is chosen, he will receive the full support of the party.

citizens. The law was never favorably received, and it is now time it was repealed.

The Republican state convention will meet in Portland next Wednesday, and we are fully satisfied a ticket will be nominated that will be supported by the full Republican vote in June. It is very important that at this time, while the Wilson bill is before the senate, that an emphatic congress who can vote a protective tariff on goods and merchandise to rob the laboring men and women of our country when God has shown in every way that he would like to see a free trader and loves all his children alike.

It is hard to be compelled to put aside the senatorial toga. One would suppose that in all that large assortment of Democrats, drawn from all parts of the country, there would be more than one man equal to the leadership of the majority. But the position is doubly exacting.
