

SENATOR HOAR ON COXISM

Mr. Morrion I. Swift, of Boston, is one of the gentlemen who have read much, theorized much and reflected little, says the Inter Ocean. To him and to such as he Coxism—using the word as applicable to all the so-called industrial army movements—is a new thing, a sign of the times.

It is not a new thing, and it is a product rather than a sign of the times. It is as old as the cave of Adulman into which David gathered every one that was in distress, and every one that was discontented.

And he became captain over them, and there were with him about four hundred men, which was quite a large number in a kingdom of, perhaps, 1,000,000 souls.

Whenever times have been "bad" it has been the custom of a thoughtful class to ask the government to make them better by spending money for the benefit of the comparatively few who were "in distress, in debt, or discontented."

The remedy proposed invariably has been one that would aggravate the evil condition. This is especially true of the remedial Coxism proposed to administer. The only effective remedy is that which will restore the conditions that existed when times not only were not "bad," but were unprecedently good.

Senator Hoar, in reply to Mr. Swift's shallow letter of exhortation that congress should accede to the Coxism demand, reminds his correspondent that less than two years ago "the people of the United States, especially the working people, were better off than they ever had been before, better than the people of any other country, either now or in any former time."

And he expresses his opinion that the present evil condition is due "wholly to fear on the part of employers of the overthrow of a policy which has prevailed for more than thirty years, and under which the country had prospered until it became the first manufacturing, agricultural and commercial nation of the world, the wealthiest nation, and the nation in which labor got the largest proportion of the joint products of labor and capital, and where the purchasing power of wages was continually increasing."

The conditions prevailing prior to the election of 1892 could not be better described than in the words that we have quoted from Senator Hoar's reply to Mr. Swift. Restore those conditions and you restore the old-time prosperity. There is no other way of restoring it.

ITEMS IN BRIEF

From Sunday's Daily.
Ex-Gov. Moody is in the city.
Mr. T. H. Johnston, of Dallas, is in town today.
The street sprinkler would be very welcome these days.
Mr. H. P. Mitchell, of Goldenale, Wash. is in town today.
Mr. C. Brock, of Wasco, Sherman county, is in town today.
There was quite a movement in real estate today, caused by the weather.
Mr. A. J. Gohm, wife and family returned last night from a visit to friends and relatives in California.
The Ellis Republican club of Eight Mile have a public meeting on Thursday, May 14th. Speakers are expected from The Dallas to discuss the issues of the day.
The Portland contingent of Cox's army are in camp in this city, and sickness is prevalent. The board of health will take the necessary means to improve the sanitary conditions of the men.
The Coyotes who have been in camp at Puyallup, Wash., according to Northern Pacific train this morning and arrived at Yakima this afternoon. There will be more work for the marshals and regular troops.
It now transpires that this "Gerald" Fry, of the committal movement, is the same fellow who told the people to keep away from the river, and the party to keep their eyes on Fry and men like him.
The horticulturalists of this vicinity held a meeting this afternoon in the council chamber. It was not largely attended, and it is a great mystery that people engaged in the great industry take so little interest in this matter.
The drama of "Eldest for the War" will be produced at the new opera house by the Dramatic League on Thursday, May 15. The proceeds will be for the benefit of the U. S. W. C. U., and will be devoted to charitable purposes.
In a conversation with the fruit-growers in this vicinity we learn that very little, if any, damage has been suffered by orchardists on account of the recent cold weather. Some tender vegetables and tomatoes have suffered, but all indications point to good crops of orchard and garden products.
Yesterday the Ripulator on her trip from the Cascades encountered the roughest weather she has ever experienced. At times the waves were like ocean swells, and the spray dashed into the pilot house. Some of the freight got wet, but little damage was done, however.
Mr. Henry Hedson, of Nanceus, is in town today. He headed one wagon with goods for Grant county during the week, and threw them into the river, to save the trouble of buying them, which is a practice that ought to be stopped.
Yesterday today have furnished rough experiences for railroad men, especially the section men between this city and Umatilla. In conversation with an engineer today he informed us that they were forced to make their way through a perfect storm for the past two days, the sand completely darkening the atmosphere. Fortunately no accidents happened but trains were forced to move very slowly. The company has used every precaution to guard against sand covering the track; but it seems impossible to furnish complete protection, and every summer delay of this kind means a loss of money to the company.

While the engineer of the Mount Scott and South Mount Tabor railway was at lunch yesterday in Portland, a crazy man took possession of the engine and ran it into a ditch. He proceeded to crawl out of the engine and looked up in the iron cell in the county jail.

Mr. E. Greiner, a professor of languages, committed suicide by hanging himself yesterday. Since the present depression he lost the position of professor of languages at St. Helen's hall, and has been dependent on giving lessons to a few families as a means of support, and becoming despondent as his existence here was highly educated but was of a melancholy disposition.

There was one lonely and native individual who so far forgot his native dignity as an American citizen as to become intoxicated last night. In consequence of this set of indiscretions he was arrested by the officers and lodged in the newly repaired city jail. This morning he was brought before the recorder, and on promise of good behavior, was given his freedom.

There have been "ruined losses" in Wood Gulch, near Smythe's place, two pairs of geese, one pair of ducks, and a pair of turkeys. These are the first game birds in the United States, and all lovers of the game will be glad to hear that they are not disturbed and allow them to propagate.

Mr. W. G. Gibbons, the photographer, secured a good picture of the Coxites as they guarded the captured engine down to the coal bins. The picture, which is taken just as the locomotive is entering the company's yards, and the background, consisting of the river and green hills beyond, makes the scene very picturesque. It is an instantaneous view, and the crowd in the foreground is very much excited by the excitement, can be seen in different attitudes as they watched the proceedings.

From Monday's Daily.
County clerk in session.

New dress-making parlors have been opened on Liberty street. The new parlors, where a competent dress maker guarantees a fit and makes designing a specialty.

The funeral of the late Miss Jennie Hedger, aged 22 years, who died last Saturday of consumption, took place yesterday from the residence of her sister, Mrs. H. H. Hill, on the creek. Services were conducted at the house by Rev. O. D. Taylor.

Readison Thomas: There is talk in railway circles that the Oregon Pacific will again inaugurate the double train system, running a fast mail train to Portland. It is said such a plan has been discussed at headquarters.

There were two loads of merchandise taken to the warehouse today for Dayville in Grant county. The Dallas is the distributing point for a large portion of Eastern Oregon, and our warehouses handle freight for the entire country.

The babe born at Weston without eyes in a family named Ours, several years ago, and taken away for the purpose of euthanasia, is now a pretty girl. She lives with her parents who are prospering, and attends a school for the blind.

The Oregon Telephone and Telegraph is about completed. The contractors will turn the building over to the commission on the 8th of May, and it will be formally dedicated on the 10th. The annual state commencement of the G. A. R. will be in progress at the time, and the building will be one of interest and note for Southern Oregon.

Two loads of wool were received today from the shearing camps on Pacific northwest. Work is progressing very rapidly at these camps, and a large force of shearers are busy every day. There are thousands of sheep to be sheared, and shearing is convenient to the Dallas the fleeces will be loaded immediately and brought to the warehouses in this city.

Mr. W. C. Johnston, the proprietor of the Telephone company, informs us that he will be forced to leave the city without there are more subscribers to the exchange. There has been a w. switch board put in the central office, and this will be necessary if there are more telephones. Any one desiring the exchange may have the phone put in free until Tuesday, but after that date extra charges will be made.

Elisabeth, Localizer: A man by the name of Fred J. J. was arrested while foraging the Chees on the 25th of April. He was accompanied by three other men, but was behind at the time. The incident was caused by the horse falling down, the horse of the saddle striking him on the head. At last account the body had not been recovered. There is a reward of $1000 offered to anyone who can furnish information as to the whereabouts of the man.

On Tuesday last, at Colfax, Charles Hendrick and Loyd Welch, aged 18 and 19 respectively, were arrested for horse-stealing. The charge was that they unitched a horse belonging to H. W. Hill, and drove it to their own near town. They were charged with grand larceny. During the progress of the trial, the jury returned a verdict of guilty, and the men were committed to the jail for 30 days.

Prisoners: J. H. Shearer and wife arrived in this place Wednesday of the last week. They are being held on the charge of looking over the roads which the county court have advertised bids for, especially the one known as the Sichel road. The charges are presently very unprofitable, and that the survey should be changed so as to make the grade higher up on the road, and it is good news that the survey on roads and it might be well to hear his council.

The destruction of fruit in the east is greater and more extensive this year than ever was known before. Ordinarily this loss of fruit in the east opens the way for a market for that of the Pacific northwest, but we cannot hope to be supplied to the extent of the west. The loss of fruit is due to the fact that the fruit is being taken from the trees before it is ripe, and is being sold at a low price. This is a great loss to the fruit-growers, and it is a pity that the government should not take steps to prevent this.

On the evening of the 21st of May, it being the 25th anniversary of their wedding, and many and hearty were the congratulations they received on the occasion. Mr. A. Dietrich, our new physician, stated in well chosen words the lack of the matter, and surprised every one by the majority of the wedding party as the celebration of a silver wedding was least thought of. He concluded by saying that the matrimonial life of the honored couple had not only crystallized into "cheese and butter," but into a happy and model family life upheld by the bonds of love and appreciated by the whole community. May they live to celebrate the golden wedding and all ways be happy and prosperous.

Appropriate speeches were made by Squire Brigham, Mr. An. Erson, Mr. Johnston and others to which the groom responded, and in a most touching manner he gave a short resume of his wedded life, the conclusion of which was: "And so we will proceed with the travel through this life with hearts and hands joined in true love, and then I think when the end comes we can look back with satisfaction, knowing that at least as far as Mary and I are concerned marriage has not been a failure, but a complete success."

Mrs. C. B. Balch, who was on the sick bed for a few days, is up and around again. Bicycles, the vehicle of modern times, are becoming quite numerous. Our druggist has been seriously ridden by one of them on various occasions, which furnished considerable sport to the lookers-on. Get there, Charley, next time you will be on top!

Mr. Peabody, the artist, has adorned the Central House with a new and most elegant sign. Mrs. Louis Klinger, who has been sick, is improving and will soon be able to go out.

Dr. Dietrich performed two surgical operations on Saturday. One was the correcting of a complicated deformity of lip and palate of a child belonging to C. T. Green, and the other was the suturing of a wound of a finger of Mr. J. A. Anderson, which had been lacerated and almost torn off while he was shoeing a horse. In both cases Dr. Dietrich proved himself a competent surgeon. In connection with this it may be said that the doctor is gaining the esteem and confidence of the community more and more every day.

Dufur can now boast of a private telephone line. The condition of the crops is quite hopeful, and our farmers are wearing a smile on their countenances which we hope will not be disturbed by any adversity in the weather. N. R. N. R.

The "industrial," who came here Sunday, have had comfortable quarters near the old power magazine in the East End of the city. The child is rendered healthy and a number still here. The city has furnished provisions, and the Coxites have no reason to complain of their treatment at the Dallas.

Rev. W. C. Curtis will make an exchange of pulpits with Rev. Wm. A. Trow, of Albany. He will leave Thursday for Albany, and will occupy the pulpit of the Congregational church near the depot. The exchange is a good thing in anticipation. Several Republican speakers will be present, who will discuss the issues now agitating the American people.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Myers, Mrs. J. M. Patterson, Mrs. J. W. Lewis and Mr. J. H. Brown left for the Grand Army convention which will be held there tomorrow. Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Myers, Mrs. J. M. Patterson, Mrs. J. W. Lewis and Mr. J. H. Brown go as delegates from the Grand Army, and Messrs. W. S. Myers, J. M. Patterson and J. W. Lewis from the Women's Relief Corps. The soldiers' home, lately erected in Roseburg, will be dedicated by the delegates assembled.

The run of salmon has been very light in the Columbia river during the present season; but this has not been true of other streams in Oregon, as the following from the Gold Beach Gazette will demonstrate: There are thousands of salmon butting their heads against the Pkagones river, just below the dam, in the Klamath river. This winter's treshet took away the fish ladder, and the Klamath river, just below the dam, is composed of as much silt as it is of water. All the creeks, streams and brooks, and mine's sluice-boxes in some instances, are fairly gorged with salmon trying to go further up.

They Want Names. The editor of this paper has already received copies of "Above Pictures and their discoverers really 'Gems of Art.'" In Memoriam. In loving remembrance of Mable D. D. Griffin, who died at Nanceus May 2, 1894, aged 10 months, 18 days. Asleep in Jesus! blest sleep, From which none ever wakes to weep! A calm and undisturbed repose, Unbroken by the last of foes. Asleep in Jesus! Far from these Thy kindred as thy graves may be; But there is still a blessed sleep, From which none ever wakes to weep. J. R. G.

Saved Her Life. Mrs. C. J. Woodruff, of Wortham, Texas, saved the life of her child by the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. "One of my children had Croup. The cough was so bad that it was supposed to be a case of whooping cough. It was started by the child's bad breathing, but the cough became so bad that it nearly ceased to breathe. I had nearly given up, but I had become persuaded in spite of the medicine given, that I would give the child three doses, at short intervals, and I gave the first dose. The cough was given, the child's breathing improved, and in a short time the cough was given, and the child was saved. I am now well, and I am very grateful to Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for saving my child's life."

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Sold by all druggists, or sent by mail on receipt of 25 cents.

Dufur Items. DUFUR, Ore., May 5, 1894. Editor Times-Morning Star. Candidates of the several political parties are now and then visiting our town with a view of getting in their work. "Have a cigar, boys!" Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Dufur were the recipients of a surprise party on the evening of the 21st of May, it being the 25th anniversary of their wedding, and many and hearty were the congratulations they received on the occasion.
