

ITEMS IN BRIEF

Mr. John Brookhouse, pioneer farmer of Kingsley, is in town today.
D. Co. O. N. G. will be inspected by Gen. Compton and Capt. Butterfield this evening at the St. Paul's Episcopal Guild are requested to be present at the meeting this evening at the vestry room at 7 o'clock.
The late inclement weather has stopped the progress of street improvements, and also a great deal of work being done on residences.
Flowers are still in bloom in the gardens, notwithstanding the fact that the season is far advanced, and "the seed, the yellow leaf" has not yet fallen.

Grant's Pass. During the hard winter of five years ago it was well nigh exterminated, as the snow covered their feeding grounds for several weeks.
Horses are dirt cheap in Eastern Oregon now. J. W. Howard, of Prineville, recently sold 1500 head of cattle on an Omaha packing house for two cents a pound, but for horses he says there is absolutely no market in the invention of the cable and electric car, and that he has the best of many horses in the large cities.
Ashland Tidings: Heavy freight trains are now passing through Ashland southward daily. The freight consists of Oregon products consigned to points in the east over the S. P. R.—mostly hogs, canned salmon and wool. Occasionally a train will have heavy enough to carry ordinary engines to pull it over the Sixkiyou mountains.
The phenomenal barley yield reported of 4,000 bushels on 30 acres of ground by Robert Stiel, near Astoria, is not to be taken as a record, as the soil is a piece of less than five acres, could only be sown with a mower, and 1,400 bushels were threshed from it. It is a fine grade of brewing barley, the price of which in the Portland market is 55 cents per bushel.

Wm. Lee, Klickitat county's stock inspector, has been in Arlington for several days inspecting sheep that cross the river from Arlington, says the Record. During his stay here he has inspected 10,000 head, and has found none diseased. He will be here about a week longer, and will inspect Coffin Bros' sheep and any others that may be here at that date. Mr. Lee's postoffice is in Arlington, and he can be reached by telegram via The Dalles.
Sausage Incident: Two prisoners were brought to the state prison today and one was turned loose. The first was John Tharp, the notorious cattle thief, and Oscar Root, both from Umatilla county, the former having been sentenced to a term and four years for the larceny of a cow, and Root will serve three years for the theft of four horses. The second was a man named John D. Baker, who was arrested at Astoria for larceny.
Corvallis Herald: Charles Hecker marketed Friday two bags that turned him off a neat profit for both the wheat he fed them. The pigs were purchased early in the summer at a cost of $5. He fed them 18 bushels of wheat and sold them at 5 cents per pound.
Arlington Record: Wm. Head of Book Creek went with a severe accident a few days ago. He was riding his horse at full speed when the animal stumbled and threw Mr. Head, falling on him and almost crushing the life out of him. What makes it worse for him is he has but recently recovered from a spell of sickness, in which his lungs were involved. While there are no hopes of his recovery, it is believed that he will require long and careful treatment to restore him to his normal condition.
A land slide occurred last night between Cascade Locks and Besserville, and it is stated that the track of the O. R. & N. Co. was covered for about 100 feet. A force of men were sent to work immediately, and as soon as possible the debris was cleared away. The mixed train arrived in the city about 3 P. M. today. This is the most difficult part of the road, and it is almost impossible to guard against slides because of the nature of the soil which washes down by the rains of spring and fall. This is the celebrated moving mountain, about which so much has been published in the press of the northwest.

Death of T. C. Fargher. Longfield, of Jas. export, and was here on a visit about 8 years ago. He then said he had been living in California and Oregon for the past 15 years and had there married and had a son named Kenneth, and a daughter named Mary. He said that his wife was dead and his children were living with a brother-in-law.
Said deceased was about 55 to 57 years old; about 4 feet 10 to 11 inches tall; dark eyes; dark hair and beard, considerably grey; was a doctor, also traveled repairing watches and watches. He was a man of very peculiar habits, dressed plain and wore very coarse, heavy shoes; seldom if ever wore to friends away. It has been ascertained that at one time in Illinois he was known by the name of Henry Reed or Dr. Newell.
Information for the above named children. Any one who can help me find them will be suitably rewarded. Address, C. H. LONGFIELD, Jamesport, Daviess Co., Mo.
Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde. Richard K. French, who will appear here on November 5th in Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde, is an actor of experience and is well known in nearly every city of America. He has appeared with all the best known artists, including Edwin Booth, John McCullough, Lawrence Barrett, John Janeschek, Lucile Western, Katherine Rogers and others. For three years Mr. French starred in his successful play of Montezuma, during which he was in London, London, and New York. He has appeared with all the best known artists, including Edwin Booth, John McCullough, Lawrence Barrett, John Janeschek, Lucile Western, Katherine Rogers and others.
Unique Epistle. The following unique request was handed to the postmaster in this city and the construction of the sentences being very strange we publish it verbatim. It was written by an aborigine, and was couched in the following language:
To The Dalles Postmaster:
Sir: I want you to give my name when my mail delivers to this postoffice by the name of J. E. Patrick and you must keep when I come to get my mail. Yours truly, J. Y. PATRICK, (Indian) The Dalles, Oregon.
Dime Social. The ladies of the Congregational church will receive their friends at the home of Mr. S. L. Brooks Friday evening of this week. They hope by this time to have secured some matters which especially belong to their department of church work, and to receive a good pro quo for whatever their friends give them. All are cordially invited.

The deceased was a cousin of C. H.

INFLUENZA, OR LA GRIPE, though occasionally epidemic, is always more or less prevalent. The best remedy for this complaint is Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.
AMATEUR STRONG MEN. Herman Oelrichs Stronger Than Sandow. William Steiway a Giant.
I know of no other men who do not pose as sons of Hercules, and who never made a penny by spectacular exhibitions, who, I think, could hold their own with the quartet of foreign strong men, Sandow, Samson, Atlas, and Romulus, in trials of strength. These men are Herman Oelrichs, principal owner of the North German Lloyd Steamship Company; Editor William Harry Buermer, Editor William Harry Buermer and Piano Manufacturer William Steiway. These Herman Oelrichs, millionaire and champion, is the strongest and strongest, I firmly believe, than Sandow or any of the other professional strong men.
Two of these men, too, could come very near to giving Corbett or Jackson a trouncing in the squared circle. Oelrichs and Steiway are both of these gentlemen were adjudged by competent experts fully capable of holding their own, even with the mighty John L. Sullivan when that renowned champion was in his prime. If they could do this with the Bostonian, they might go a shade better with the Californian or Australian. Of this "big four," as I will call them, Oelrichs, Steiway, Buermer and Curtiss were and are as good as any other heavy weight athletes as this or any other country has ever seen. The fourth, Steiway, despite his 48 years, can perform downright feats of strength—not juggling tricks—that only of the professional strong men would find it hard to duplicate.
Once, on a wager with friends at a private party, Oelrichs entered a lion's cage, and properly accounted for the fray, of course, actually overcame and reduced to a state of exhaustion by his physical resources a full grown monarch of the jungle. The lion was quipped with a leaden strap, but was not hampered in any way. Oelrichs thus did better than Sandow, who only dared recently to try with a tame and crippled old lion at the same exhibition.
When John L. Sullivan was in his prime 10 years ago, knocking out men nightly in four rounds on his exhibition tours, Oelrichs offered to meet the great Bostonian in private and give him $10,000 if he Oelrichs did not beat him. Sullivan was not one whit afraid, but as he was making $100,000 a year just then he listened to the voice of his manager, the famous sportsman Al Smith, and determined to take no chances, much to Oelrichs' chagrin.
Frank Bill Curtis and Buermer, rank next to Oelrichs as strong men. Another "strong man" in private life is Giovanni P. Morosini. In early life he was a sailor before the mast. He is over 50 years of age, yet he is a perfect Hercules in strength—William Steiway, Hayes in Bowling and Cycling Gazette.
They Were All One. There was a maning up the east side of Brush street the other day as another man was coming down on the west side on the same block. Both had their heads down and looked mad. As they came opposite they both looked at each other, and pretty soon the east side man growled out: "I can punch your blamed head in just one minute."
"And I can knock yours off in half a minute," replied the other.
"Don't stand there looking at me. Get on!"
"I'll go on when I get ready."
Just then a policeman came out of the alley and took in the situation and asked:
"Now, then, what's the matter here?"
"Why," said the east side man, "I was coming along here with the toothache and that galoot looked at me so mean that I was just going to punch his head."
"And I was coming along with a splitting old headache," added the other, "and that feller stuck out his tongue and come near being smashed for it."
" Gentlemen," said the officer as he spat on his hand and drew his club, "I've got three corners on the right foot and four on the left, and all are aching like 60 miles an hour. If you both don't get up 'n' fly, I'll run you and sweat you up for three months."—Detroit Free Press.
Modern Youth. Father (visiting at college)—My son, these are better cigars than I can afford.
Son—That's all right, father. Take all you want. This is on me—Yale Record.
Free Water. The free watering trough in the East End, which was erected by the city for the benefit of stock, was broken, the water commission charged $5 a month to supply. As the council considered it a benefit to the public that body wisely refused to pay the amount, and the commission proceeded to shut off the water; but John, Collins & Co., at the corner of whose store the trough is situated, paid the amount charged, and the water trough will remain free to the public as heretofore. JOLES, COLLINS & CO.
