until the action of the free-silver bolters forced us to a different conclusion. If the Sun is correct in its statements in other articles in the same paper from which we have quoted, if an elec tion were held tomorrow the Populists would carry the state by a rousing majority on the issue of unlimited comage of silver.

Again, it says, that Mr. Dolph is not American because he is in favor of the "English fad of a single gold standard." Then the American congress is not American, neither is President Gleveland, nor the majority of the members of the two great leading parties in the country. Silver was the most available of these demonstized in 1873, and for over twenty years the government of the United States has been following an "English fad." This fact was not ascertained until 1895, and the honor of the discovery must be accorded to the Portland Sun.

Another discovery that the editor of the Sun has made is that the people of the United States will not pay in "gold" what they agreed to pay in "coin." This is something wonderful, for the bonds of the government have always been redeemed in gold. What a saving it would have been to the treasury if the "English fad" had not been followed by all administra tions since Lincoln, and the securities of the nation had been redeemed in silver or greenbacks. There would have been millions in it if the knowledge had only come twenty years sooner. This $100,000,000 limit to the treasury is an "English fad," and something should be done to abolish the notion,

But the heaviest onslaught of the Sun on the windmills is given in the paragraph where it says that "the majority of the Oregon legislature, true to the United States, true to the west true to their instructions from the people of Oregon, will not vote for Mr. Dolph and his English 'fad.'" The fact is there are eighteen Populists and Democrats in the legislature, who are not in harmony with the Republicans on any public measure, and are diametrically opposed to them in the election of U.S. senator. The Republicans have seventy-two members in both houses, and forty-two have supported Mr. Dolph for re-election on twenty-four ballots. In other words the legislature is largely Republicans, and there is a strong majority of Republicans in favor of re-electing the senior senator. The majority should govern, for they represent the voice of the people. In the Oregon legislature, Republicans rule, and in the election of a U.S. senator the members of the dominant party should not consult with or consider the preferences of Salem. It is the fortieth of the sea-Democrats or Populists.
