The Canadian government has decided to foster the smelting of silver and lead ores. For this purpose the sum of $150,000 has been set apart for the Kootenay smelters, as a bonus on the bullion extracted. This money will be spread over five years, no one year to exceed $30,000. The Kansas City works will secure the same favors

Mr. T. A. Uren, of Prineville, will soon leave that place for South Africa, where he will go into business. From Oregon to Africa, is quite a change, and we do not expect that Mr. Uren will be perfectly satisfied. It will be no surprise to hear of him returning in a few months determined to remain in Eastern Oregon the remainder of his allotted time on earth.

At a meeting of the regents of the state university held in Portland yesterday Profs. Bailey and Collier were elected professors emeritus. These are honorary positions, and may or may not have salaries attached. Prof. Narrigan was elected dean of the preparatory department; Prof. Letcher, of paratory department; Prof. Letcher, of mathematics; Prof. Friedel, of Leip-aic, of physics; Prof. Washburne, bi-ology; Prof. Young, economist.

The examination of John Dalrymple was held before Justice Davis yesterday afternoon, and after two witnesses had been examined by the state, the case was dismissed by motion of Mr. G. W. Phelps, who was counsel for the prosecution. There was not sufficient evidence of the crime having been committed to hold Mr. Dairymple to await the action of the grand jury, and he was discharged.

One of the Large Elephants in the Great Wallace Show Has a Tooth Extracted. To pull an ordinary tooth requires more skill than muscular exertion; but when a molar from an elephant has to be jerked out physical force has to be exerted. Jeanette, the largest quad-ruped, was afflicted with tooth-sche, and a remedy had to be applied. This occurred at Peru, Ind., a few months ago, and to perform the operation a dentist was sent for from Detroit, Mich. Jeannette's measurement was taken from her tail to her neck. Just that listance from a corner in a brick building with a fourteen-inch wall was sort of stock, with an adjustable top piece. She was backed into the corner and her head put through the timbers which were then closed on her neck. The wall of the building held her body and she would have to pull her head of to get away from the timbers.

Dr. Upshall produced a pair of forceps that would make a blacksmith's tongs look like small plyers. He then mounted the scaffold built in front and ecured Jeannett's trunk back over her body with strong straps. Then he passed a strap iron through her mouth and fastened her lower jaw firmly. All

He then gripped the great forceps onto the tooth and with a ratchet device on the handles he screwed them tight as possible. Three other strong men mounted the frame work with him. At a signal all began to pull. Jeannette groaned and tried to break away. At The tooth came, but it was a mon ster, and the doctor held it in his for ceps with considerable gratification. It was the largest one he had ever superintended the pulling of, and the animal, when relieved of the pain, appeared as docile as a kitten.

Myron Taft, who was arrested in Portland Monday and brought to the city by Sheriff Driver Tuesday night, had his examination before Justice Davis last evening, and was held in $200 bail to await the action of the grand jury. It was produced in evidence that Taft took the grain from the barn of Mr. Geo. Rice, and that wagon in town and sold the wheat and received the money. In his defense Taft claims that he was the dupe of Morehouse, and was not aware of the fact that Morehouse had not bought the grain from George Rice. But, after Taft had sworn out the complaint against Morehouse, he came to the city, and, fearful that he himself took French leave of this vicinity. Moorehouse claims his innocence in the entire transaction, and says Taft induced him to take the grain, and gave him the horse and saddle with which he went to the Locks. A jury will decide these cases, and we have no poubt full justice will be done and punishment be meted out to the crim-inals.

There is un-questionably numerous rattlesnakes in that vicinity, and they are forced to pass the camp to get to the water. Charlie amuses himself, during leisure moments, killing these, and he has a string of rattles of considerable length, which he intends to fasten on his clothes as a charm against head-ache, malaria and billious fever. Their potency to ward off the former ailment is vouched for by several who have tried the experiment; but they must be so placed in the rim of the hat so as to mingle with the hair, and they have a more potent influence with auburn or red locks than with blonde or brown. The novel feature of this popular drama being rendered under was witnessed last evening in this city.
There was a large attendance, and every seat in the tent was occupied.
The play was not above criticism, and in many parts was not up to expecta-tion. In the first place there was not the scenery that was adapted to the loca-tions. The old plantation, or the ice in the river were not attempted to be repesented, and the characters were not well taken. Miss Eva was good and so was St. Clair and Marks, the lawyer, while the Quaker and Topsy were fair. It did not give satisfaction in any manner, and those who have read the book and sympathize with the author's creations will prefer seeing the drama on a stage in a building, with the proper

It invigorates the liver and rouses every organ into healthful action. In the most stubborn forms of Skin Discases, such as Saltrheum, Eczema, Tetter, Erysipelas, Boils and kindred ailments, and with Scrofula, in every shape, and all blood-taints, no matter from what cause arising, it is an unequaled remedy.

SCROFULOUS ABSCESSES. Mrs. Belle Sweet V. Co., W. Va., writes: took scrofula, and did everything that doctors and others prescribed, but only got worse. Bevern abscesses formed our years ago I procured some and commenced using them and soon began to mend. In six months my sores were all healed up. I am forty-five years old and believe I am as stout as I ever was in my life. I used about one dozen bottles of the 'Golden Medical Discovery' with the 'Pellets,' and used nothing else after I began using your medicines."

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutinal treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby de-stroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and as-sisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative power, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testi-

Just What's Needed

Exclaims thousands of people who them relief from that tired feeling, waning appetite and state of extreme exhaustion after the close confinement of a long winter season, the busy time attendant upon a large and pressing business during the spring months and with vacation time yet some weeks dis-tant. It is then that the building-up powers of Hood's Sarsaparilla are fully appreciated. It seems perfectly adapted to overcome that prostration caused by change of season, climate or life, and while it tones and sustains the system, it purifies and vitalizes the blood.
