We invite the attention of those our readers, that paper says, and especially those of our country readers, who a few years ago, a very years ago were deceived into a belief that free trade, or low tariff, would "open the markets of the world" to the farme and afford him new outlets for his grain and provisions, to the following

When the tariff debate was raging we told our agricultural friends that the free-trade theory of internationa commerce as a game of swapping European manufactures for American grain and meat was irrational. The argument is ended. We present the facts in proof of our side of it. We are importing more from Europe and exporting less to it. Meanwhile our increased imports of manufacture are lessening the employment of labor in American factories, and so restrict ing the home market of the American farmer, and the European merchant is using the gold that comes to him from the United States to buy more wheat and meat from Russia, Argentina British India and Australia, and less from its best customer the United States. This is as that paper predicted that it would be as a result of Democratic tariff tinkering. The figures that we have quoted from the report of the secretary of the treasury monstrate that this is as it is in con sequence of Democratic tariff tinker-

The O. R. & N. Co. Objects duction. The railroad commissioners want reduction of the rates from points east of Umatilla to Portland. They have been endeavoring for several months to have the company effect a general reduction of grain rates, but up to the present time they have not wholly accomplished their purpose. Last Monday the O. R. &. N. put into effect new rates from points between Heppner and The Dalles to Portland. The reduction was from 10 to 11 per cent of the former rate. Whether or not credit for this reduction is due to the ommissioners is a question over which there is some dispute.
As Umatilla county is where the largest quantity of grain is grown, and from where it is shipped, the commissioners have persisted in their deter mination to secure lower rates from Mr. McNeill explained to the commissioners that through their efforts a schedule of grain rates from points east of Umatilla was put into effect last year, by which the revenues of the company were reduced $75,000. "The present schedule," said he, "which only affects points west of Umatilla, will reduce the revenues by $38,000 for the present season."

One of the chief objections of the O. R. & N. to a reduction from Umatilla county is that it would have upon adjacent points in Washington. Should the Umatilla people be given lower rates, those in Walla Walla and Columbia counties on the Washinnton ine, would at once demand reductions As these points are about the same distance from Portland as the places in Umatilla county, it would be almost im-possible to refuse to lower the rates.

J. W. Allen, who lives on the Deschutes, gave this office a call this morning. He says grasshoppers have destroyed large fields of grain in his neighborhood, one farmer losing fully 300 acres of wheat. Gardens have been left bare of all vegetables, and in some places they have made inroads on fruit they are much worse than crickets. Their depredations have not been general, and notwithstanding the fact they have feasted on ripe grain in

Mr. W. F. Pinkham, the manager in this city of the Oregon Fruit Union will finish loading a car today with peach plums, and will send it east tonight, its destination being Cleveland This will be the first shipment will be a good advertisement for early fruit in this vicinity. The fruit is placed in refrigerating cars kept at a temperature of about 40 degrees, and can be transported thousands of miles in as good condition as when picked from the trees. This is the beginning of the peach plum season, and many carloads will be shipped before it ends. These plums are choice fruit, and are highly valued at the east. When they are first placed on the market sales are very brisk at a good figure. Other ruit will follow as the season opens, and The Dalles will do a good trade
