Jules Verne thought he was writing of an altogether new and unique thing when he told his famous story of "The Underground City." A sign that marks the actual entering into the honorable profession of the law of two young men, brothers, and native sons not only of Oregon, but of The Dalles. The sign bears the legend 'Sinnott & Sinnott'' and the members of the firm are Nick and Roger, sons of Col. Sinnott, mine host of the Umatilla House. It is worthy of more than passing notice, the entrance of our boys into their chosen life pursuits and it awakens in an entire community an ardent hope for the welfare and prosperity of all such. Here, the boys attended the public schools, and hav ing mastered the grades there, graduated at the Academy. From here both went to Notre Dame College, Indiana, the classical course and earned the admitted to practice in the supreme court of Indiana. Nick returned to The Dalles and began the study of the law under the direction of Hon. A. S. Bennett, one of the brightest lights of the Oregon bar. In due course of time he was admitted to practice by the supreme court of this state, sitting at Pendleton, and since that time, a few months only, he has been taking a rest before taking up his profession. We predict for the new firm a bright career, for they bring to their work clear, logical, analytical minds, backed by strong, vigorous, physical bodies. The TIMES-MOUNTAINEER wishes them all manner of prosperity and predicts for them, and each of them, a future that will be an honor to their relatives, a pleasure to their friends

Why Crook County Cattle Increased the past year might be briefly summed up as follows: The increase in cattle has been 5000 head, or about the number of emigrant cattle driven into the county, principaaly yearlings from the Willamette valley. The past year has been a grass year, consequently the increase in calves branded during the year has about equaled the number of cattle marketed. Sheep have increased 50,000 for the reason of light winters, followed by large increase in lambs, together with the fact of low prices for mutton, so much so that dry ewes were unmarketable.
