The convention yesterday was democratic love feast, and ought to be an object lesson to some of our republican brethren. There seemed to be, even in the rather exciting contest for the sheriff nomination, no display of bad feeling, and after the race had narrowed down from a free for all, with five entries, to a neck and neck struggle between Morse of Hood River and Woodcock of Wamic, it was a hard matter for the delegates to decide be tween two such good men, and oculity had to settle the question

The Battleship Oregon has been completed, and is now ready for her trial trip. It is claimed that she is the best fighting ship affoat. She is the first vessel to be built and completed since the Japan-China war, wherefore all the defects of the older ships, as developed by that struggle, have been remedied in the Oregon. In that war it is said more lives were lost due to slivers set flying by shot and shell from the inside woodwork, than by the wicked projectiles themselves. In the Oregon the use of wood for the inside finishing has been replaced by metal. All the partitions are of sheet steel, covered with cork, which dispels

The Democratic Convention Sends Out : Free Silver Platform The democratic and republican state conventions met in Portland vesterday. The democrats adopted a plat form favoring the free and unlimited coinage of silver at a ratio of 16 to 1. adopted a resolution commending President Cleveland for his courage and honesty, and elected delegates to the national convention pledged to vote for a man for president who favors the free coinage of silver. The republican convention accomplished little, the contest of the Multnomah county delegation having consumed the time of the committee on credentials from noon till 8 P. M. The convention finally decided to divide the delegation.
